W. M. F. MEETS IN SEATTLE

Faculty Trio Partake in the Program; College Chapter of D. O. R. Are Represented

The Women's Missionary Federation of the South Puget Sound district convened in Seattle on Tuesday December 7. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. L. Nesvig in which she spoke of the aims and duties of the Federation and welcomed all the delegates. The response was given by Mrs. Holte, president of the district, who further stressed the object of the federation in the home and church. The usual convention committees were appointed and the business meeting adjourned. Several new measures were adopted to further benefit the work of the federation. An announcement stated that the West Seattle congregation had joined the district. Several musical numbers were given at the day's program including a vocal duet by Mrs. Hauge and Mrs. Stavig and a solo by Mrs. Hauge. An interesting paper was given by Mrs. Hokenstad of Bremerton entitled "Needy Pastors and Widows Fund."

The afternoon program opened with devotion by Rev. Nesvig. An invitation was extended by the Parkland Young Ladies' Guild for the Federation to meet in Parkland the last Friday in March. Discussion on mission boxes, self-denial boxes, home and foreign missions were held during the afternoon's program. The Ladies' Trio consisting of Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. Ramstad and Mrs. Edwards sang "The Peace of God" by Gounod. An interesting talk on "Current Events" was delivered by Mrs. Hovik. Dr. Pankoke spoke stressing the value of the church schools. He said that Pacific Lutheran College must grow out of the people's understanding and interest in the school. He quoted statistics recorded by our Lutheran schools in the East regarding financial matters. The meeting closed by the singing of the Doxology, followed by the benediction given by Rev. H. Holte of West Seattle.

Among those who attended from Parkland were: Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Ramstad, Rev. Ordal, Dr. Pankoke and Ruth Matson.

GIRLS DEBATE TEAM IS DIVIDED AS TO SIDES

The women's college debate teams have been chosen and the members are busy at work gathering material for their speeches. The question for debate has finally been decided upon, namely, 'Resolved,' that The Direct Primary Law in the State of Washington Justifies its Retention.' The affirmative team is composed of the following members: Alice Davie, Christina Kuntzen, Louise Henriksen, and Marie Espeseth. Those making the negative team are: Ruth Matson, Leola Hagen, Arleida Allen, and Victoria Rasmussen. The high school teams and the boys' college teams are also preparing their speeches and the schedule for the debates will be announced in the next issue.

SWEET ANGEL VOICES

(Set to music by Prof. J. O. Edwards)

How sweet those angel voices ring,
The Savior's birth to tell
To sons of earth good news they bring
Now God with man doth dwell
All glory be to God and praise
For his good will to man
And peace to bless a fallen race
Shall reign on earth again.

Let anthems ring from far and near
Let songs with praises glow
The promised Savior now is here
His mercy to bestow.
O wondrous love! O mystery!
Behold Immanuel's birth
This is the year of Jubilee
To all the sons of earth.

—Rev. O. J. Edwards.

DR PANKOKE AND PASTORS MEET

Endowment Drive Fund Discussed at Meeting in Seattle. Plans Progress

At a call from President Ordal a meeting was held Friday Dec. 10, at one o'clock at the Rainier-Grand Hotel in Seattle. Dr. Pankoke who had come to the Coast to make a preliminary survey for the $250,000 Endowment Fund Drive wanted to meet as many of the pastors of the Pacific district as could be called together on short notice.

About twenty-five pastors answered the call and Dr. Pankoke was given the floor to explain the method of campaign for the Endowment Drive. The doctor gave a splendid talk on what the Lutheran Church has been doing to endow its colleges during the past decade. Leading up to the need of an Endowment Fund Drive for Pacific Lutheran College, he stated emphatically that the Pacific Coast needed such a Christian school as P. L. C. and emphasized the fact that to secure the future of our school an endowment drive was absolutely necessary. He stated that with the thirty men, pastors who conducted the Lutheran St. Olaf Drive in the middle states, who will come West during the campaign to put in one month for the drive with a group of experienced workers and with the local men of the Pacific Coast, he felt sure that the Drive under the hand of God would be a splendid success.

As to the details of the plans as presented by Dr. Pankoke and adopted by the meeting they will be given in a later issue of the Mooring Mast. In regard to the time of the Drive, however, it is found that the best time would be the month of June for the present.

D. O. R. GIRLS HOLD MEETING

Report Given on Federation Meeting in Seattle; Work for Year Discussed

The Daughters of Reformation held their monthly meeting in the Edward's apartment Tuesday afternoon, December 14. Mrs. J. O. Edwards acting as hostess.

After a musical number by Miss Esther Towé, Miss Ruth Matson reported from the D. O. R. convention recently held in Seattle. She said among other things, that it was the most interesting convention of its kind that she had ever attended, and that she hoped by the suggestions she received to be better able to fill the office of presidency. The senior organization seemed vitally interested in the P. L. C. organization of D. O. R. as well as in the school itself.

Plans for the convention to be held in Parkland this coming spring were discussed, and all girls were urged to take active interest in the work of the organization. Here again our motto must enter in, "United we stand, divided we fall."

KID PARTY IS BIG SUCCESS

All Children Turn Out To Meet Santa; Gifts, Candy and Nuts in Evidence

The editor wishes to express the Radford 'Art Players' of the undersigned frosh who are being here introduced into the literary world. Their willingness in assisting to fill this space is indeed appreciated.

"Gee, wasn't it great to be kids once again tho?" I'll say so. For at eight o'clock a host of little girls in short skirts trooped gaily down the hall, chewing frantically at their lollypops, which were indeed very good. At the same time, groups of little "chaps" were assembling in the chapel.

When we were all seated, a country school scene was given in which little "Algernon," "Iva Cold" and many others took part, where dramatic ability was shown. But too bad, poor little "Algernon" forgot his recitation because of stage fright. The six little "tots" from Silverton gave some very fine musical selections. As a whole the school children were very well trained and much credit should be given their teacher, "Miss Prim."

Then it was decided that we little folks play some skipping games, these were indeed amusing to us all. The Farmer in the Dell was enjoyed by all to such an extent that it was played over and over.

Oh, yes, the Christmas presents, did you get a doll or a little drum? We did too.

The squeaking of toys and the blowing of horns played an important part in the party.

Soon Mr. Ramstad's gentle voice was heard, and what he said made him "popular in a few minutes." Wonder why? Nope you're wrong, guess again. He had the candy and apples. That's a good way to get popular—just try it, and we'll be there.

—Gladys Knutzen.

STUDENTS SEE ENTERTAINMENT

"The Power Within" and "Disraeli" Draw Students From P. L. C.; Good Program

"Disraeli," a drama by Louis N. Parker was presented at the Lincoln High School Stadium by the Radford Art Players of the Radford Drama School, on Friday evening, December 10.

"Disraeli" is not a historical play, but a picture of the days in which Disraeli lived. It is a picture of some of the racial, social and political prejudices that Disraeli fought against and conquered.

Among those from P. L. C. who attended the play were: Miss Parr, Miss Amundson, Alice Davie, Marguerite Folco, Victoria Rasmussen, Mae Fredrickson, Esther Towé, Arnt Oyen, Edna Brothov, Lyell Kreidler, Chris Nelson, Alvar Beck, Garvik Olsen, Louise Henriksen, Margaret Jacobson and Dorothy Lehman.

"The Power Within" a picture produced by the Luther Film Corporation of New York, was given at the Central Lutheran Church of Tacoma on Friday evening December 10, under the auspices of the Men's Club of that church.

"The Power Within" pictures a man who worked up from moderate means to wealth. He felt that he had done this by his own strength and ability and that he owed thanks to no one. But a calamity came and he lost everything.

Different tragedies soon occurred and as time went on he regained what he had formerly possessed. Through the different calamities and tragedies his heart became softened and he became thankful to God for what he had regained. The Holy Ghost was the power that had worked within.

Among those who attended the showing of the picture from P. L. C. were: Prof. Ramstad, Rev. Svare, Prof. Xavier, Abraham Anderson, Gerhard Lane, John Wiese.

"YE POLLYANNA"

The Glad Players presented "Pollyanna," a four-act comedy, in the college gymnasium December 11. The story of the glad girl which is almost as familiar to the average individual as the story of "The Three Bears" was produced in a most convincing manner. In fact one of our Professors will find it hard to convince his students that he is ever angry in the future and not repeating his role in Pollyanna.

Mrs. Joseph Edwards in the role of Pollyanna, the girl who was always glad, won her audience with her first appearance and kept it with her to her final appeal for more aspirants to play the "glad" game. Prof. Hauge, the chronic victim of a thwarted romance with Pollyanna's mother, gave a masterly presentation of the man who professed to despise the person who was habitually optimistic—yet, how beautifully he capitulated and became the willing disciple of the "glad girl." We pitied Prof. Freed who bore the brunt of his, professed humor, in the role of Bleacher the butler.

Mrs. Ph. Hauge, as Pollyanna's aunt gave a capable interpretation of a difficult role, a woman who was not bitter but subdued by repression. Emmy Colton as her servant was delightfully Irish and generous hearted.

Some of the most animated acting in the play took place in the scenes between Alfred Samuelson, as Pendleton's friend and Professor Hauge as Dr. Chilton. It appeared so natural that one would have called it spontaneous had not Prof. Hauge become attached to a huge black stool.

Mrs. Valborg Bailey, Mrs. Lora Kreidler and Solveig Rynning played their parts well as proverbial smit town "ladies-aiders."

Jimmy Bean, as an orphan of 12, was played by Hilmi Masell, and at the age of 17 by Prof. Joseph Edwards. Both were very well adapted to their roles.

The play was particularly well received by the amused audience.

XMAS OR CHRISTMAS

The word Christmas has no longer the charm of formerly. Men have taken Christ out of their lives and placed in His stead Mammon. Marvel you then when they substitute X for Christmas? It ought to surprise you more that they capitalize the X.

X almost universally stands for the unknown quantity. Perhaps men have unconsciously written into the word Xmas an algebraical equation of their insincerity and false Christianity. If that is the case it serves at least in some capacity. Put back Christ into Christianity!
 Put back Christ into Christmas!

The world and you and I as parts thereof need to do that; we must do that if we desire to survive the deluge of sin and indifference which surround us. We need Christ. He alone can give us hope when there seemingly is no hope. He alone can give us peace when there is no peace. We are living in a desperate age, and we suffer, all of us; we will perish all of us if we do not return to the old love which we once had.

The world is solving the great problem of life, slowly, very slowly. It has ignored the laws of God without which all its labor is in vain. The laws of God are as exacting as the laws of mathematics. He who endeavors to solve a mathematical problem without the latter laws inevitably fails. He who tries to solve the problem of life without Christ will still more inevitably fail.

The reason why men have not succeeded to prepare for themselves a happy world is their stupid method of procedure. Instead of substituting the true value of the X in their lives (and Xmas) they have substituted values of their own design and invention. They have placed their own wisdom and their own experience above all other things in heaven and on earth. Why ask God's advice when they have possessed the supreme truth, the grand solution? Like children, they have built their dikes of sand on the uncertain shore and have challenged the ebbing tide to overthrow the ingenious engineering of their hands and minds. How great their chagrin when the tide did come!

The great problem of life, the great X of life, can be solved only when the true value is substituted. Put Christ and religion and brotherly love back into your heart, and you will find that the great equation which has been your pain so long, will solve itself; and the answer will make earth and heaven rejoice.

(From the Christmas, 1927, number of the Gustavus Adolphus College Bulletin, St. Peter, Minnesota.)

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The history of P. L. C. has been swelled by one more organization and the progress of P. L. C. has passed one more milestone in this form of the new Boys' Student Council. It is an experiment in our ranks but a worth while one, for its advantages so far outweigh its handicaps.

The organization is so constructed that each member is a check on the other and this will result in a maximum of good and a minimum of hard feelings. The purpose is not one of primarily punishing offenses committed but is that of an advisory body, to help not punish, to prevent not cure. Being composed of student boys who are daily and intimately associated with one another, the members are better fitted to see and forestall little accidents and also to understand the motive that promotes those moves and so check them.

It will make them a united body instead of a group of disinterested individuals, "a well built ship rather than a jumble of logs." It will subdue the "I" spirit and promote the "we," making selfish ones see their faults and consider the fellow next door. It is a basic foundation for many characters and moulds for a worthwhile life.

The responsibility of its success or failure remain in the hands of the boys themselves, they make or break it just as they choose.

So grab your oar fellows and PULL!

CHAPEL TALKS

Reading from chapter 11 in the Book of Deuteronomy Prof. Hauge gave the following discussion.
 "The thought found here and the one that is in harmony with this season—Christmas, the period of giving—is the one where Christ asks for the heart, not the mind, not the body but only the heart.
 "The Pope of Rome when asking for, the English people—asked for their hearts only; they were to be free entirely otherwise except that they give him their heart. That Pope was wise, he knew that the heart was all he needed, for having the heart he had all."
 "A pastor once called on a dying man and while performing the last rites, asked the man if he would not give his heart to Jesus—but the man answered that he had no heart to give to Jesus for he had already given it! So we should be able to say, that we had already given our hearts to Jesus.
 "Let us assume that each of us owns a watch. It is battered and dented and generally dilapidated—but we value it because it was given us by our father or mother. So with your heart—Christ values it whatever its condition and it is only just that we should give it to Him who shed his blood for it.
 "Let us consider it now in this season of good will and giving."

P. L. C. BOYS TAKE WIN AT ORTING

First Team Shows Real Ability In First Game on Sked; Orting Does Well

In their first scheduled game, the P. L. C. first team walked away from the fast Orting High School team with a 17-12 victory in their pocket. The game was played on the Orting floor on December 16. The game was interesting and thrilling throughout it being anybody's game until the whistle blew.

At the end of the first half, the score stood 8-6 in favor of the P. L. C. boys.

The Orting completed only two out of nine foul shots while the P. L. C. basketballers finished six out of thirteen free throws. Rough playing was in evidence on both sides, and foul shots were numerous. The Pacifics were a little weak on the tipoff because of the absence of the regular center. However, this was made up for by fast floor work and accurate passing. Both teams showed a tendency to run with the ball. All during the third quarter the score stood 12-12 and it seemed as if the game would end that way. But in the last quarter the Orting boys showed up and P. L. C. team took the opportunity to drop a few baskets. Sanderson for P. L. C. and Gibson for Orting were high point men. The work of Ford, P. L. C. forward was good, considering the fact that he has been out of the game for about two weeks. Knutzen at guard and Kreidler at center played a good brand of ball.

The lineup:
P. L. C. (17) Pos. (12) Orting
Sanderson F Schrack
Ford F Aron
Kreidler C Strankman
Knutzen G Kirk
Omdahl G Gibson

Substitutions P. L. C.: Lane for Omdahl, Omdahl for Lane, Orting: Roberts for Schrack, Chantry for Roberts, for Strankman, Referee: Rounds, Timekeepers: Colton and Wollan.

QUINLET QUIPS

Basket ball players sure have some speedy workouts these cold days they have to keep going to get warm.

There is some talk of flooding the gym letting it freeze and then playing basket ball on ice skates. However, you mustn't jump to conclusions for it is only an idle rumor.

Where is the faculty basket ball team? We've been waiting for it.

That's neither here nor there nor anywhere, but Rudy's girl sure is rough, judging from his late facial abnormalities.

Ramstad reports that it's a tough job getting the players to put pep and punch into the game. Well, ask yourself, how would you like to play a fast game after having been ice skating all day?

Neither would we.

The Student Council has refused Hopper's permission to organize the tumbling team. That's tuff.

Real enforcement of training rules has resulted out a good many undesirable.

Extra! Ramstad says that if we have any more cold weather we'll make our basket ball trips in a hay-rick! Won't that be delicious? Whooza! Free? I mean, who's gotta fire?

If the player don't all go home for the holidays, good basket ball practice will be in evidence I mean on the horizon.

Did you all know that we have arranged a game with Spokane College on February 19? We have, so! Start right now and save the date.

Bill Hopper is starting to study! He has evidently just learned that he has a chance of making the team if he makes his grades.

P. L. C. GIRLS WIN SECOND CONTEST

Orting Dianas Put up Game Fight But Lose Game; Furious Playing in Evidence

The P. L. C. girls put another feather in their hat last Thursday evening when they defeated the Orting dianas to the tune of 16-33. Excitement and thrills galore permeated the game. The Orting hair-pullers started off with a rush that almost swept our girls off their feet but when it came to steady playing well! The score speaks for itself. Also, they say that Orting so far has been hitting the teams they have so far played. However, we must not lose sight of the fact that the eggs hung in balance for the greater part of the game and that real basket ball was played on both sides. At the end of the first half the score stood 23-15 in favor of P. L. C. In the second half both teams stepped out and displayed real ability in hitting the basket.

Yoss for Orting and Langlow for Parkland were high scorers. Beatty for Orting and Wierson for P. L. C. played a good brand of ball at the forward position.

The Lineup:
P. L. C. (16) Pos. (33) Orting
Langlow F Flowers
Wierson F Yoss
Knutzen JC Weyer
Gardlin SC Eche
Jacobson G Randeveugh

Substitutions P. L. C.: Benston for Jacobson, Jacobsen for Benston, Orting: Beatty for Flowers, Hencke for Yoss, Yoss for Chesterfield, Chesterfield for Cowdy. The same officials took charge of the girls' game as officiated for the boys' game.

Student Chronicle

Another new event in the history of Pacific Lutheran College took place at the student body meeting held on December 16, when Prof. Ramstad, amidst shouts and cheers, presented the football letters. He emphasized, in his speech, the fact that this was the first football team of P. L. C. and hence the letters were the first of their kind to be given out. He lauded the boys for the splendid effort and enthusiasm they put forth in every game.

Gerhard Lane, the first football captain of P. L. C. thanked the students for their loyal support. He stated further, that although no games had been won this year the boys had put up remarkable fights at every game, and they hoped for victories next year.

Yells were given by the student body for the players and Prof. Ramstad. The players concluded with a yell for their coach, Prof. Ramstad, whose leadership made them what they were.

Those receiving letters were: Lyell Kreidler, Clarence Lund, Alf Beck, Bill Nyman, John Wiess, Erling Samerud, Ingvold Fiedt, Cliff

ford Olson, Arthur Kautzen, Gerhard Lane, Alfred Anderson, Sverre Omdal and Bill Hopper

Holy Folks!
A word to the wise: Do your Xmas shopping early.

Early's a good time for birds. They like worms.
No, I haven't purchased a single present, have you?

Neither has Santa Claus, and to be colloquial, as well as almost obsolete neither has my old man.

Oh! to be the son of a dermatologist or the daughter of a gold-digger they understand the skin game.

One on Arling!
Mae F. Your father was an athlete, wasn't he?

Arling: What makes you think so?

Mae F. Lookit the dumbbell he raised.

The rest of the column will be devoted to the interests of the students of P. L. C. and Miss Idyle Wiseman will endeavor to answer some of the perplexing problems pertaining to school life.

ADVICE TO OVERWORKED STUDENTS

MISS IDYL WISEMAN

Dear Miss Wiseman:
After I have been playing a spirited game of basketball in the gym and have eaten a heavy dinner, I feel so tired and overworked that I must have some assistance to get from the dining room upstairs.

I usually then put my arms across the shoulders of some one of the girls and in this way they help me to get there.

My room mate tells me it is a bad habit and I say it is a great pleasure. Who is right?

P. S. Some girls say "quit that!" Others say nothing.
My dear M. A. Y.

You are both right and you are both wrong. I am sure your room mate is right when he says your practice is a bad habit and you may also be right when referring to it as a "great pleasure." However, you ought to be guided in your conduct by what "some girls" say, quit it!

I. W.

Dear Miss Wiseman:
I am a girl in my teens. Of late, that is to say, since I started school this year, I have formed the habit of leaving my book, papers, notebook, letters, chewing gum, powder puffs, candy bags, etc. around the building, almost any place—at the head of the stairs all to "come onto the living waters and drink." The price is paid. You may have a full supply of the water of which it is said, "Whoever drinketh thereof shall never thirst again."

A short business session followed and the following new officers were elected: President, Arling Sannerud; vice president, Arnt Oyen; secretary, Margaret Jacobson; treasurer, Peter Grambo.

in the library, in the class room, etc. One of my teachers brought an armful of these things to me the other day. He looked at me and smiled when he handed me the assortment.

Do you think the smile indicates that the poor, puny really likes me and thinks I look cute or do you think he pities my carelessness?

Dear Maybelle:
You are only one of the many girls who are careless in placing books and other articles around the school building in the way your letter indicates. As far as the professor and his smiles are concerned, I advise you to go to him and ask him what he meant by smiling at you.

Ask me no questions, and I'll tell you no fibs. Goldsmith

Tues 15 Marguerite's excuse for tardiness. "Well, it was so slippery that for every step we took we went back two." So when we got to town we turned around and walked backwards.

Wed. 15 It seems that every human being just naturally knows what to do when it snows. Hardly had the snow fallen before we were all out snowballing or building snowmen. Even the all-wise College Sophs cast aside their dignity for one day. (or also someone knocked it down.)

Thurs. 16 Several boys noticed walking around the halls un- easily, with trips at intervals to the laboratories. "Darn! why
