VOLUME 31 PACIFIC LUTHERAN COLLEGE, MAY 28, 1954 NUMBER 44

Commencement Recital Will Be Held Sat.; Newnham, Symphonette Featured

The final musical event of this school year will be the Commencement Recital to be held in the C-M-S Auditorium this Saturday, May 29, at 8:30 p.m. The public is invited and there will be no charge.

To begin the evening's program the PLC Symphonette, direction of Frederick L. Newnham, will play the following selections: Fugue in G Minor ("The Lesser") and "Sheep May Safely Graze," by J. S. Bach; "Blue Danube Waltz, Opus 314," by Johann Strauss; "Knightsbridge March," from ("London Suite") by Eric Coates.

Joanne Schwarzwalter, mezzo-soprano, will sing "The Fuchsia Tree" and "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal," by Roger Quilter, and "One Tone," by Peter Cornelius. She will be accompanied by Eunice Swenson.

"Halling Aus Dem Hallingtal—Rotnamsknut—Halling," by Edvard Grieg, and "Walzer," by Eugen d'Albert, are the piano pieces Constance Hanson will play.

The organ solo will be played by Mary Ensborg. "Tocatta in C Major," by J. S. Bach, is her selection.

Engel Presented Debate Award

This year for the first time, the Debate squad has presented an Inspiration Award; given to Edith Engel in recognition of four years of hard, but outstanding work in debate and dramatics.

Edith has been a member of Curtain Call for four years, Pi Kappa Delta 3 years, was secretary this year, Alpha Psi Omega 2 years, acting president this year. She was also director of the Omnibus of the Arts, 1954, and was selected among the fourteen students from PLC in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, 1954.

In the dramatics program, Edith has played in "Now and Forever," "Good Housekeeping," "Noah," "Joan of Lorraine," and was co-director of "Job," presented at the Student Festival last year.

Among other awards and trophies, she has achieved four firsts in debate at Saint Martin's and three years in a row has placed first with Janet Klippen and Janet Carlsen there; then at the Western Speech Association Tournament in California, which included 11 western states, she took second place in Interpretative Reading and third in After-dinner Speaking.

Among the other awards she has the Linfield Tournament: second received this year are those from in Debate, second in Interpretative Reading, second in Salesmanship, and third in After Dinner Speaking.

At the brand new David Douglas High School opening in Portland next fall, Edith will be putting all these awards into practice, teaching English and debate. The following year she will teach debate and direct dramatics at the same place.

Seniors Donate Scoreboards For Gymnasium

The Senior class of 1954 donated two scoreboards which will be used in the gymnasium. The scoreboards are the latest three-sided boards, featuring extra large clocks, horns, and seconds, flashing in green and gold. Other gifts considered by the seniors included a brick bus shelter and additional walks on the campus.

The scoreboards each cost $450, and all senior students contributed $10 toward the gift.

In past years the seniors have aimed very high in their gifts to the school, and therefore were not always able to present them without continued delay. This year the graduating class is keeping the gift within their financial limits to prevent this impediment. The payment for one scoreboard is completed, and with the future contributions the second board will be purchased.

The senior gift committee consisted of Don Keith, chairman; Charlette Brandt, Gloria Evenson, Darlene DeJardine, Dave Roe, Eugene Perry, Ernest Piehl, J. P. Carlstrom.

Larson Receives Trophy

Dick Larson received the George Fisher Memorial Trophy on Awards Day. This trophy is presented annually to the male athlete on the basis of athletic ability and school citizenship.

Dr. S. C. Eastvold Presents Awards In Friday Chapel

Award Day was held Friday, May 21, with Dr. S. C. Eastvold presenting the awards during the chapel period in the CMS.

Fourteen seniors were chosen jointly by a student committee and the faculty on the basis of the students' excellence and sincerity in scholarship, their leadership and participation in extracurricular and academic activities, their citizenship and service to the school, and their promise of future usefulness to business and society. These students will appear in the 1953-54 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. The students are John P. Carlstrom, Janet Carson, Edith Engel, Jeanette Foss, Joyce Genz, Glen Johnson, Donald Keith, Janet Klippen, John Osburn, John Rydgren, Richard Stuhlmiller, Joanne Schief, Priscilla Asper, and Kathleen Rinrichs.

Webster defines commencement as the beginning; origin; the day when, or the ceremonies at which degrees are conferred; also, the period of festivities at this time. It is all these things; in a sense it is an end and a beginning. It is the end of the formal education for many, but for all it is only the beginning of their life's work or plan of existence. On Sunday, May 30, the 1954 graduates of Pacific Lutheran College will wend their way, arrayed in the traditional cap and gown, down the hill from upper campus, across Clover Creek, and to the Memorial Gymnasium to receive their degree for their four years of study.

Some of the graduates will be going into the armed forces, others will continue to study, and some will begin their chosen vocation or profession. The commencement program for 1954 will be similar to those held in previous years but for the graduating class it will be the most important day of the year.

The Commencement program for 1954 marks the Sixtieth Anniversary Year of Pacific Lutheran College. It will be held Sunday, May 30, at three-thirty o'clock in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Academic Dress Is Traditional

It has always been a matter of curiosity why the college graduates and the college faculty wear the various academic gowns, the cap or mortar board, and the many different colorful hoods.

The academic dress was instituted primarily: 1) to cover up the individuality of the wearer; 2) to let a person identify himself with others of his academic group; 3) to indicate in turn the specific school from which the wearer obtained his degree, be it B.A., M.A., Ph.D., M.D., etc.

We find the following facts which may be of interest to all of you: Historically we are indebted for this honorable custom to St. Peter's College (of Cambridge University, England) circa 1284 A.D. In this famous school academic clothing was first worn and here specifically were gowns given their pristine appearance. Between 1284 and 1892

The Academic Procession will be to "Pomp and Circumstance," by Elgar, and will be played by the College Band under the direction of Mr. Robert Larson. Then the audience will join in singing the hymn "Praise to the Lord." The invocation will be by Dr. J. C. K. Preus, Executive Secretary, Department of Education, The Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The Anthem will be presented by the Choir of the West, under the direction of Mr. Gunnar J. Malmin, and will be the well known "Psalm Fifty," by F. Melius Christiansen.

Next on the program will be the Commencement Address, "Horizons of Promise," by Dr. H. L. Foss, President, Pacific District, Evangelical Lutheran Church, and Chairman, Board of Trustees, Pacific Lutheran College.

Then the long awaited moment, the Conferring of Degrees, will be performed by President S. C. Eastvold. After the distribution of degrees and honorary degrees, The Reverend E. Arthur Larson of Augustana Lutheran Church will pronounce the Benediction.

Finally, the College Band will play the Recessional, "Coronation March," by Meyerbeer. At this time the graduates of 1954 will march out of the gym and to whatever the future holds for them.

Those receiving degrees in Bachelor of Arts in Education are the following: Priscilla Louise Asper, Inga Mae Astrup, James Charles

To the Students . . .

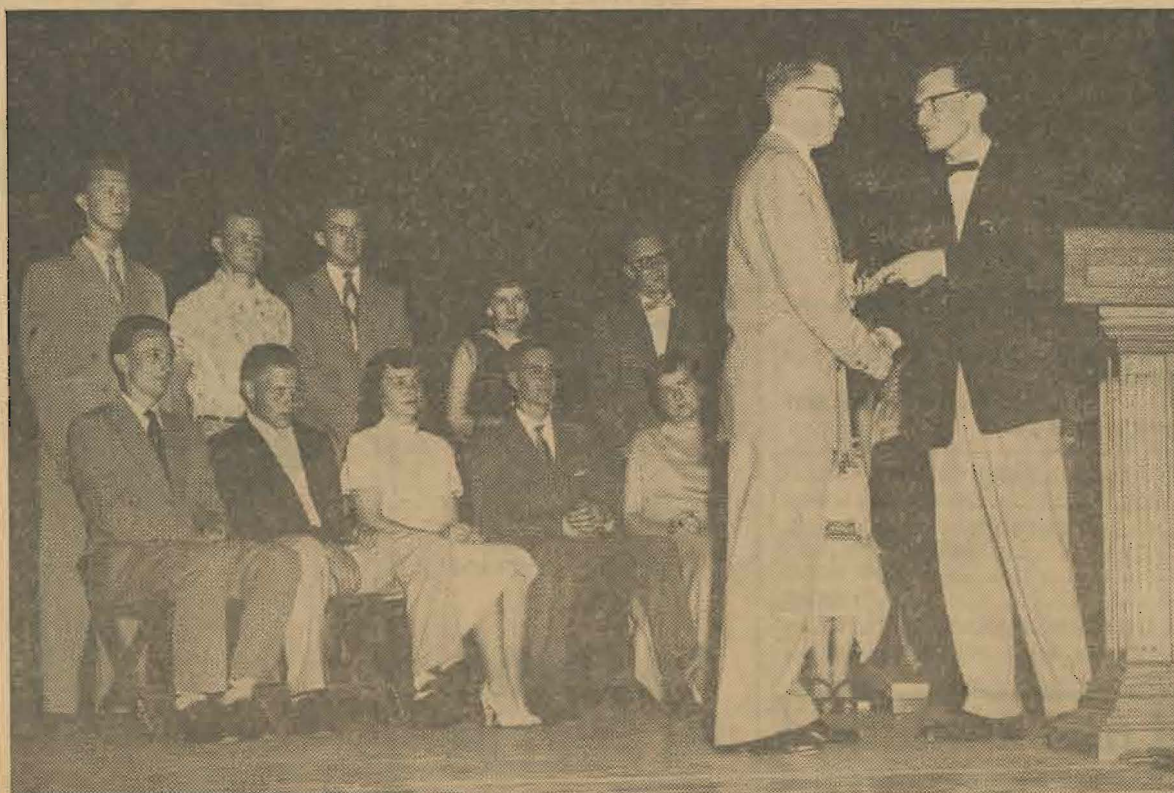

In concluding a term of office there naturally comes joy and regret. Joy over things that have been beneficial and enjoyable, and regret over things that might have been.

We wish to thank those of you who have cooperated with us and helped us realize our objectives. If we were to thank all individuals it would take a listing of almost every student.

As members of the outgoing council, we would encourage all of you to support Erv and his council. Give your interest and enthusiasm to Student government. You and I know many measures could be enacted to better our organization. But these will be dormant without your cooperation.

It is always difficult to say goodbye when people, a place and things have been so much a part of one's life. But we've got to keep on going lest Dr. Eastvold should have to build a few more PLC's to house sentimental graduates.

We ask God's richest blessing on this campus and on a student body that make inanimate buildings live with vibrance and memories that I'll never forget.

Severtson Receives His Gavel at Student Body Installation

To the Class of '54 . . .

To you graduating seniors we take this opportunity now to say thank you and good luck. Thank you for being the kind of people PLC is proud of: the kind of people everyone likes to know; the kind of people that move ahead in today's world. Good luck in whatever you do and come back often.

To the Returning Lutes . . .

And now for the rest of you Lutes—the worst is yet to come, but finals will fade away into summer and, inevitably, after summer, comes fall and the return of the natives to college. Start planning now that next year things will be different and better—try working on the Mooring Mast! Make next year your year.

Dorm Doin's . . .

By Euny and Joanie

This is be kind to seniors week! We pay tribute to them not because they have performed any great feats but because of the simple fact that they are leaving us and as unworthy underclassmen we wish to bid them adieu! (Uga uga boo, boo boo uga! We said it and we're glad!). In our scheming minute malicious malformed and malignant minds we have devised prophecies of our beloved senior girls in ten years to come.

It was May 25, 1964, when Joan and I ran into Darlene DeJardine on the streets of New Orleans, La. She informed us that she had just received a chain letter from some of her former classmates at dear old PLC. After telling us that she was managing an old folks boarding club there in New Orleans in which Jerry Sheffels and Rich Stuhlmeier were still living, she let us read the letter.

Inga Astrup is living in Buenos Aires with her airforce pilot husband, Robert McAdams, and will soon follow him to Indo China to help with the cold war. She will sell American deep freezes.

Janet Carson and Marian Christianson are in New York City working on their newest movie release of "I Was An African Spy," starring Edith Engel, who has recently been on a safari in Africa collecting information and observing African customs for the part she has to play in the picture.

Phyllis Bergren and Martha Coolick have revolutionized the carpentry profession. They have perfected a new kind of cottage for college campuses. They call them clamor cottages.

Mary Olsen and Winona Kroegar have set up business in Parkland raising cats for the biology department at PLC.

Several of our former musicians have reached fame and fortune in the music world. Jeanette Foss is in Carnegie Hall coaching Jacob Gimpel for his new concert series!

Connie Hansen is also in Carnegie tuning pianos for performances! Connie says once in a while she sees Jo Schwarzwalter and Maggie Thompson in New York. They are with the Metropolitan Opera Company working as house maids, cleaning furniture and picking up peanuts from the peanut gallery.

Barbara Hedlund, living in Hollywood with her film star husband, Jerald Hedlund, is co-starring with him in a new TV show called "I Hate Lucille."

In Washington, D. C., in collaboration with Albert E. Einstein, Janet Klippen is working on the hypothesis to the conclusion that there is a hydrogen bomb. Assisting her is Peggy Holbrook as financial secretary and Kathy Hinrichs as publication advisor to the president's cabinet secretaries.

Joyce Genz has been seen! That is all, that is all!

Jo Knudson is working towards a Ph. D. at the University of California. The subject of her thesis is "The Synthetic Bug and I!" Dorothy Agens is her personal chauffeur and drives her to the testing grounds each morning.

Barbara Thorson has invented an exclusive new type of steam table for the PLC dining hall! It is a push button affair in which you push a button and get out a dinner untouched by human hands and inedible by human stomachs.

With this we shall say goodbye! Goodbye seniors, goodbye Mooring Mast, goodbye, goodbye! (Goodbye especially to Proletarian Profiles! Too bad you didn't make it this week! I knew we'd get you out in the end!).

Yearbook Dedicated to Mother Holstad

By Barbara Leaf

"To 'Mother H' in appreciation for her 10 years of hard work, we dedicate our 1954 yearbook."

It was announced to Mrs. Holstad on Monday, May 24, that this year's book will be dedicated to her in appreciation for all she has done and for all she has meant to the girls during her stay here. It is hoped that as she looks over the book the activities of the past year will bring back memories of activities of the past 10 years.

In only a few days we will see and feel the end of ten hard years, and yet years of joy come to a close as we bid farewell to Mrs. Holstad—our "Mother H"—as we of the dorm fondly call her. At the end of this term she will be returning to her home in Minneapolis, Minn., where she will again participate in many women's organizations of the church.

Let us for a short time go back to those days in 1944 when "Mother H" came to the campus of Pacific Lutheran College. The school was only in a pioneering stage at that time and when she arrived there were no lights, roads, or sidewalks. The campus consisted at that time of three buildings, Old Main, the Old Chapel, and the gym, which later burned.

The student body, consisting of 43 girls, all living on third floor of Old Main, and 14 boys, all on second. Mrs. Holstad remembers time after time when the fellas raced through third floor.

Among her memories are times they stationed girls in halls to kill bats as they flew in from 4th floor, which was under construction.

At that time the meals were served family style and the fellas were required to wear ties.

On Wednesday nights they had a dress-up night in the cafeteria and everyone dressed up for the program of songs and taunt.

In those days faculty or students who had been gone had to be welcomed back by official welcome back song during meal time. At this time the faculty numbered 18.

Of these incidents, Mrs. Holstad says, "Those were the days." Yes, they were the days and as the years come and go let us all remember Mrs. Holstad's words.

"It is the Lord's doing, this college of ours. He saw the need for it and so with the help of all he put this college here, through one man, for all to benefit by. This is the Lord's doing. It is marvelous in our eyes!"

So we say a sincere "Thank you, Mrs. Holstad—our "Mother H" for many wonderful memories and many more good lessons. Good luck from all the students and may God's blessing follow you.

Academic Dress Is Traditional

nineteen colleges were founded at Cambridge University and many variations in the design, style, and color of the gowns were created.

In a History of Oxford (by Wood) the origin of academic dress is stated thus: "The scholars are supposed in their dress to have imitated the Benedictine monks, who were the chief restorers of literature."

During the past 600 years of its use, the academic dress has developed many varieties in the colleges in England, classified under the "English Code." American colleges and universities simplified the academic dress and now adhere to a code known as the "Inter-Collegiate Code" (est. 1895).

Lutes Beat CPS, UBC In League Track, Field Meet

Whitworth College won the Evergreen Track and Field championship last Saturday afternoon in spite of Ron Chadwick's brilliant performance for Eastern Washington. Pacific Lutheran College finished fifth in the seven team field, with Ted Siek picking up six points, Jack Ellingson and Dick Griswold one each, Dale Storaasli 2½, and Galen Nusbaum 1½ points.

Chadwick started his afternoon by taking fourth in the 100-yard dash; then after catching his breath he proceeded to break his own conference record in the high jump, finally clearing the bar at 6 feet 4¾ inches. The 5 foot, 11 inch athlete also won the low hurdles, and took seconds in the javelin throw and broad jump.

Doug Kyle, University of British Columbia, left no doubt in the minds of the fans as to who was the best distance runner. The small, superbly conditioned athlete was like a machine in grinding out a 9:36.1 two-mile, shattering the old mark by 19 seconds, thus erasing the last record held by PLC. Ted Siek and Jerry Swan battled it out for second place in the 2-mile with Swan edging the former.

Western's Ted Wnah, after winning the 440 and 880, ran on the Vikings relay team, bringing them from second to first on his anchor lap.

Ollie Wright, Whitworth, broke the old broad jump mark of 22 feet, 9 inches by ½ inch for the third record breaking performance.

Team scores: Whitworth 63½, Eastern Washington 55½, Western Washington 43½, Central Washington 31½, Pacific Lutheran 13, University of British Columbia 11½, College of Puget Sound 6½.

Coach Marv Harshman will take his Lute baseball team to Ellensburg this weekend for a three-game series for the Evergreen Conference baseball championship. Central Washington will provide the opposition for the defending champions. The Lutes won last year's title by trimming Whitworth in two straight games.

Pitching has been the Lutes' forte this season. Vern Hanson and Dwaine Brandt ran one-two in the Western division pitching percentages. Hanson won three and lost one for top honors, while Brandt's record was 2-1 for second place. Hanson's ERA was a neat 1.21 and Brandt was close behind at 1.33.

Other probable Lute starters are: Sambila, Billings and Ball in the outfield, Lane, Larson, Karwoski and Ross in the infield, and Don Garder behind the mask.

Severtson, Johnson, Gaarder Travel To Whitworth College

PLC is more advanced than the majority of Northwestern colleges in the line of extra-curricular activities, it was discovered in a poll taken by the Pacific Lutheran representatives to the Evergreen Conference Students' Association held last weekend at Whitworth College.

The representatives were Erving Severtson, Glenn Johnson, and Don Gaarder.

The results of another poll revealed most colleges carried on more extensive campaigning during their student body elections and allowed a maximum campaign expense of 15 dollars. It was also discovered that a nominating committee, such as in use here, is unpopular with most schools.

It was proposed that individual players be given certificates of merit when their teams win conference championships.

A proposal for a press clinic was also heard. Awards would be given to both yearbooks and newspapers.

The boys were housed in the girls dormitory at Whitworth.
