FORMER PLCites TO BE WELCOMED AT HOMECOMING

Borrowing quaint dresses from obliging ancestors, homecomers, including alumni, students and friends, will begin festivities with a parade next Saturday, October 14. Beginning at 12:30 p. m. the parade, with all its horse and buggy trappings, will wend its way about Parkland, reminding inhabitants of the Golden Jubilee which climaxes 50 years of our existence as a school. Chairman of this event is Dorothy Rasmussen.

The front hall of "Old Main" will be the scene of an informal tea beginning at three. At this time the dormitory rooms will be open for inspection. Hostesses will be in the halls to greet the visitors and show them through the building.

The annual homecoming banquet, scheduled for 5:30, will be served in the College Dining Hall. Anna Anderson and Dorothy Neiman have charge of the program, which will be announced by Toastmistress Agnes Mykland.

Greetings will be brought by Acting Mayor V. Fawcett, and Mrs. C. C. Pratt, Head of the Presidents' Council of Service Organizations, Otis Grande '38, now director of Physical Education at the Y. M. C. A., will bring greetings from the Alumni. Brief messages will be brought by visitors and friends.

Music will be furnished by Grace and Rumbor Gulhaugen, Lydia Lentz, and the orchestra.

Closing a tightly packed schedule, the homecomers will repair to Trinity Church at 8 o'clock, where they will listen to a speech by Washington's Governor Arthur B. Langlie. His subject is "The Place of the Christian College in our Democracy."

Coming Events

Thursday, Oct. 12—Meetings at 2:00 p. m. and 7:45 p. m., followed by discussion groups.

Friday, Oct. 13—Morning and afternoon sessions under auspices of W.M.F. of the NLCA.

Saturday, Oct. 14—Foundation Day. Homecoming Banquet in College Dining Hall at 5:30.

Address by the Hon. Arthur B. Langlie, governor of the state of Washington, at 8:00 p. m. in Trinity Church.

Friday, Oct. 20—Freshman class Hayride.

Saturday, Oct. 21—Senior class party for student body, 8:00 in the recreation room.

EASTVOLDS ENTERTAIN STUDENTS AT HOME

P. L. C. Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Eastvold last Sunday evening, after the P. L. C. radio program. Dr. Eastvold gave a short welcoming talk which was followed by group singing, testimonials, informal talks and "visiting." The freshmen were entertained at the President's residence the previous Sunday evening.

College Head, Past and Present

The Rev. Bjug A. Harstad, founder and first president of the then called Pacific Lutheran University.

Dr. S. C. Eastvold, present administrator of Pacific Lutheran College.

EVENING CLASSES GET UNDER WAY

Courses in English, Speech, Education, History, Physical Education and Art are offered in the evening classes which began this week. Classes are held weekday evenings from 7:15 to 9:15 p. m. or Saturday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.

Following is a list of course offerings: English 112: Contemporary Literature. A study of the main trends in recent English and American literature. Three credit hours. Dr. Herbert Ranson. Thursday evening.

Speech 110: Dramatic Production. Basic principles of producing and directing plays. Make-up, acting, organization, lighting, scenery, costumes. One or two credit hours. Mrs. Carol Ladwig Johnson. Thursday evening.

Torvend, Larson Elected Saga Heads

Eunice Torvend and Bob Larson will be this year's Saga editor and business manager, the ballot box revealed after yesterday's voting.

Eunice, a junior in the liberal arts division from Silverton, Oregon, has been active in campus affairs. She served last year as LDR treasurer, I.S.A. representative, AWS publicity manager, Soph. class president, and played one of the leading roles in the all-school play "Brother Goose." This year Eunice is LDR president and has charge of the student chapel programs.

WHEN THE GOOD OLD DAYS WERE NEW

Edwin Tingelstad, professor in education, now on leave at PLC, was graduated from PLC in the good old days - - - 1909 to be exact - - - when courses bore formidable titles, study hours were long and rigorous, and campus activities consisted mainly of Literary Leagues and debating societies. Your editors asked him to "remember back when" as a special homecoming and Golden Jubilee feature. Here it is, and we hope you'll enjoy it as much as we did.

"One, Two; One, Two"—"Wrist leads; wrist leads." "Roll on, thou deep and dark blue ocean, ROLL." "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" "Yes, I can hear him and see him yet, that dignified, stern, yet kindly and just teacher of ours away back there thirty-five years ago as he struggled in his elocution class to strike a faint spark from our unimaginative souls or to drill a trifle of grace into our clumsy movements. And again I see him in the full dignity of the Principalship of Pacific Lutheran Academy and Business College—Nils Joseph Hong, attired in the traditional Prince Albert and white vest, reverently reading the Scriptures to us on Sunday mornings in his beautiful voice which he used with such artistry. And once more I hear him as he exhorts us to use our time diligently, to refrain from conduct unbecoming Christian young men and women, or deep in one of those intimate talks which left on the young an impression never to be forgotten.

Street Cars and Lutefisk

Yes, the Old Main was newer and in better repair back in 1909; the prairies were open to wander where fancy listed; the old street car rattled noisily with sinuous turns to Tacoma, "The City of Destiny"; Seattle beckoned to its Alaska Yukon Pacific Exposition; the Flyer and the Indianapolis plowed their watery furrows exposition-ward; Oregonians risked riding the train to Tacoma despite its plunge into the old Kalama-Goble ferry; young pastors came from their scattered little country parishes to visit "Parkland skolen"; ladies' aids put on lutefisk suppers for the benefit of "our dear school," and the spirit of sacrifice burned brightly

PLC Celebrates Golden Jubilee

Gov. Langlie to Speak At Saturday Banquet

PLC's Golden Jubilee Days opened last night with a special "Rally Session for Pioneers" at the College Church. The Rev. O. L. Haavik, pastor of Ballard First Lutheran Church, Seattle, was chairman for the evening. The Rev. S. J. N. Ylvisaker, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Stanwood, delivered an address on "Christian Education on the Pacific Coast through Fifty Years."

The Rev. Carl H. Sandgren, pastor of Gethsemane Lutheran Church, Seattle, was chairman for this morning's exercises, and Dr. Carl A. V. Lund of Gresham, Oregon, President of the Columbia Conference, Augustana Synod, gave the devotional address. At the 10:30 meeting the Rev. A. R. M. Kettner, pastor of Luther Memorial Church, Tacoma, served as chairman, and the Rev. E. C. Knorr, pastor of Queen Anne Lutheran Church, Seattle, spoke on "A Sociological Approach to Problems of Family Adjustments," after which a discussion was held.

Press to Speak

This afternoon's program begins at 2:00, with Dr. H. L. Foss, President of the Pacific District of the N. L. C. A., acting as chairman, and Dr. J. C. K. Preis, Director of Education, N. L. C. A., Minneapolis, delivering the main address on "Christian Higher Education Between Yesterday and Tomorrow." This evening at 7:45 Mr. A. A. Mykland, Supt. of Public Schools at Issaquah, will be chairman and the Rev. R. C. Burke, President, California Conference, Augustana Synod, Los Angeles, California, will discuss "What the Church Expects of the Christian College."

W M F Day

Friday, October 13, might be called "Ladies' Day" because the morning and afternoon sessions are under the auspices of the South Puget Sound Circuit of the Women's Missionary Federation of the N. L. C. A. with the W. M. F. members of the three cooperating Synods as guests. Mrs. P. B. Hoff of Tacoma, President, South Puget Sound Circuit, will be chairman for the day. Registration begins at 9:30 a. m., followed by the opening sermon brought by the Rev. Carl E. Rydell, pastor, First Lutheran Church, Augustana Synod, Tacoma. The business session will begin at 10:15 a. m., and at 11:00 Mrs. H. M. Normann of Arnegard, North Dakota, President of the Women's

Students to Make Hay While the Moon Shines

Attention hayseaters! A hayride, sponsored by the freshmen, will be on the calendar for Friday, October 20. This will be an authentic jaunt with horses, hay and wagons. The wagons will leave the campus at 4:30 en route to Lake Spanaway, where a werner and marshmallow roast will be the order of the evening.

Faculty guests will be Miss Blomquist, Mrs. Young, and Mrs. Johnson. Committees in charge of the hayfest are Naomi Truesel and Roy Larson, transportation; Lois Tollfeldt and Ardy's Bredvold, food; Alma Heen and Arno Steino, tickets; Telma Metzger, publicity; and Ivar Pihl, general chairman.

They Led the Way

The year is 1890. A man thoroughly convinced that Christian education is the cornerstone of democracy comes to the West. He is the Reverend Blug A. Harstad, a builder and a man of vision. One of his granddaughters, Isabel Harstad, is with us now.

The Reverend Harstad was sent from Minnesota to aid in establishing a Christian school on the Pacific Coast. At a conference in Seattle a site in Tacoma was decided upon as the proper location.

Also in 1890 the Pacific Lutheran University Association was incorporated, with Rev. Harstad as president. Construction was begun in March, 1891, at Parkland, which at that time consisted of a single house, the one now occupied by our engineer, the one now occupied by our engineer, T. H. Olson. Transportation to the "big" city was chiefly by horse and buggy, but a street-car line to Tacoma was in the making. This was the line that was recently supplanted by the now familiar "bus."

The cornerstone of Old Main was laid on October 4, 1891, and three years later, October 14, 1894, the building was dedicated in the presence of about two thousand people.

Mr. N. J. Hong became president in 1898. Times were hard and the responsibility great, but rather than see the school discontinued, Mr. Hong and two other teachers carried on the next year without financial assistance from the Board. Gradually times improved and in 1914 Pacific Lutheran Academy, as the name had now become, was fully accredited in all its departments.

We wish to express our heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Carol Ladwig Johnson, upon the death of her brother, Lt. Loran R. Ladwig, Lt. Ladwig, U. S. Marine Corp Reserve, was recently killed in action in the Pacific area.

Mrs. Mary W. Hong, 78, of Parkland, widow of Nils J. Hong, former president of Pacific Lutheran College, died last week in a local hospital after an extended illness.

Professor Hong was head of the English department here for several years before his retirement, at the close of the school year 1938. He died five years ago.

Mrs. Frank Lorenz (Louise William, 37) became the mother of a baby-boy in July. The new arrival is named Richard.

Thelma Thureson, 42, is now teaching at Puyallup, Wash.

Meanwhile Columbia College was founded at Everett, Washington, by the United Norwegian Lutheran Church of America and classes began there October 18, 1909. For eight years these two schools were operated by their respective church bodies, but in 1917 the groups united. This led to the amalgamation of the two institutions and in 1918-19, the students of Pacific Lutheran Academy were transferred to Columbia College. The next year both schools were closed, pending permanent unification.

The new school, Pacific Lutheran College, began in 1920 with the Reverend J. U. Xavier (professor emeritus here since 1942) as acting president. Professor Xavier has put in more years of service at P. L. C. than any other man.

In 1921 the Reverend Ola J. Ordal assumed the presidency. It was during this time that the Normal Department was placed on the accredited list.

Dr. O. A. Tinglestad came to Pacific Lutheran College in 1928. Among many other innovations, he inaugurated the Pacific Lutheran College Development Association with the slogan "At least one dollar at least once a year." Our present educational standard was reached under Dr. Tinglestad's direction.

Last year was Dr. S. C. Eastvold's first year with us. Under his guidance, material gains have been abundant, and Pacific Lutheran College is looking forward to fruitful years ahead.

Much has been accomplished by these pioneers who have marked off fifty years of progress. Much remains for us to do, as the heirs of their faith and vision.

CHAPEL QUOTES

"The Christian religion isn't a product of our own beings, it isn't a product of our own emotions, but it is a historical thing that has taken place in the history."
 "We do not want to put our faith in life on something that is as unstable as the emotions of man."
 —Professor A. W. Ramstad.

"In order to advance our church, the kingdom of God must be with us. Let the spirit of Christ enter our lives and then let the Church of God unite."
 —Rev. H. H. Svenson,
 Member of Danish Lutheran Church of America.

"There is only one power that can really make the world better and that is the power of God, because it is the power that can transform man."
 "The only way to happiness is holiness, and holiness is its own reward."
 —Professor J. P. Pfeuffer.

Bill Ramstad, ex '42, lieutenant in the air corps, son of Prof. Ramstad, was home for a short visit last week. His father visited him in Texas several weeks ago, at the time he received his wings.

ALUMNUS WED IN SEATTLE

Helen Westby, 39, became the bride of Albert Windell last June 24. They were married in First Lutheran Church in Tacoma by Rev. A. W. Ramstad. Attendants were a sister, Mrs. Alfred Aus (Esther Westby 32), Mrs. Kenneth Jacobs (Stella Samuelson, 28), Mrs. Arling Sannerud (Victoria Rasmussen 28), and Mrs. Ola Hagness (Irene Dahl 30).

Skippy, complete with tailwags and a friendly canine smile, is usually among those present when inorganic chemistry class meets each morning. He should be able to pinch hit for his master, Professor Ramstad, soon, as he has faithfully attended the class for several years.

Alumni

Clarence Lund, ex '27, is teaching Industrial Arts at the Enumclaw High School. He sent in his subscription to the M. M. a short time ago.

Early in September, Miss Eunice Mae Cline of Puyallup became the bride of Kermit H. DuBois, USNR, ex '42. The couple are making their home in Berkeley while he is awaiting orders.

Joanna Manouos, who received her B. A. this spring, but who finished the normal course here at PLC in 1936, recently became the bride of John C. Tsapralls of the army medical corps. She was given in marriage by her brother, Angelo J. Manouos, ex '36, of Seattle. At PLC Joanna was active on the campus and held many offices in student organizations.

Harold F. Gray, '31, is now a member of the staff of the Pierce County School office. He has been appointed Pierce County film librarian on a part-time basis and he is also a member of the Clover Park teaching staff.
 John Johnson, '31, resigned his position at McKenna and is now principal at Clearlake School.

Mrs. Johnson (Emma Kaaland, '31) and husband have a turkey farm in Burlington.

John Larsgaard, '44, and Juleen Mattern, '44, are studying at Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul. Johnny was last year's student body president.

Leif C. Klippen, '33, returned to the educational system this fall and is the principal of Collins Grade School.

Erwin Dammel, '37, also returned to teaching this fall. He is teaching at Midland, Mrs. Dammel, '35, is Charlotte Gottschalk.

Rev. Lloyd Roti, '35, is pastor at First Presbyterian Church, Port Angeles, Wash. Earl Ahrens, ex '44, and his wife left this summer for South Africa as missionaries.

Arling Sannerud, '28, left for South America on August 5. He went for the Olin Corporation as assistant to the consultant engineer to help construct an aluminum plant in Ouro Preto, Brazil. Mrs. Sannerud is teaching at Parkland Grade School.

Otis J. Grande, '38, was recently named "Y" Physical Education Director to replace Felix Mantell, former director, who resigned to join the U. S. Navy. Otis was active in athletics, especially in football and intra-mural sports. He had been teaching for the past six years, the last two in Tacoma. Grande was president of the PLC student body during his senior year in 1937-38. He was married to Valbert Norby, '38, in 1940.

EARLY DAYS AT P. L. C. RECALLED

behind Harstad's vision in the young West, only a few years removed from Washington's year of statehood.

Faculty Makes Greatest Impression
Still, as memories come back, it was the men and women of the faculty who made the greatest impression. First of all, Principal Hong, but scarcely less the others: Rev. O. E. Helmdahl, who made the Bible live in his classes; handsome A. S. Peterson, dean of men, and young enough himself to laugh at an innocent prank; whimsical J. L. Clary, one time attorney and chatauqua lecturer, hater of wils, who held that "when a man is dead he should keep still," kindly Miss Bertha Hovestad, dean of women, arrayed in beautiful (if voluminous) silk dresses, deeply concerned about the welfare of her girls; sprightly Anna Tenwick, later a heroic China missionary, who struggled to help the newcomers with their "J's" and "W's"; Alma Hansen, happy tempered piano teacher and one of the best in the first fifty years; Inga Hong, typing and stenography teacher, so enthusiastic about perfecting her techniques that she busied herself in church taking Norwegian sermons in shorthand; and sympathetic Dr. L. J. Rynning, college physician, patient to the last with the minor ailments of student farm youth who had simply eaten too much. And, while not on the faculty, P. L. A.'s founder, Rev. Bjug Harstad, still in his prime, a frequent academy visitor and an inspiration to thoughtful students as he occupied the pulpit in the new Trinity church, then in the basement stage. Such were the men and women who engendered the "fanatical loyalty" which is said to characterize the product of the early years of our present P. L. C.

A Day in the Dorm

Such loyalty was no doubt further strengthened by the intimate ties which developed under the rigors of the dormitory life of our day. Up at 6:30, breakfast at 7:00, room inspection at 7:45 (and as early as 8:30 on Sunday) a school day lasting until 4:00 p. m., study hours from 7:00 until 10:00, little spending money, simple pastimes, truly stiff courses, a common background of middle-class and working homes—such were the influences which bound us together.

The Life of a Student

We were 162 strong in that year of 1908-09, a goodly number considering that up to that date the Academy had produced only 118 graduates since its opening in 1894. The first of these, Ette Kraabel (now Mrs. Vigo Jurgensen) was graduated in 1898. We of 1908-09 came from as far away as Alaska, California and North Dakota. Included were many from Parkland, some of them the "Gladlators" of their day. I can still see Oliver Harstad carrying the basketball up the wall of the little cracker-box gym in two long strides, or "Tony" Brottem doing mysterious things with a ball and bat. Yes, there were heroes in those days—and heroines too. Those poor girl graduates, heroically going through the tortures of a program of speaking or music all alone, a requirement for graduation. The bashful country boy speaking his first piece at the weekly Lyceum programs was scarcely less heroic, neither was the occasional disciplinary defender who faced the faculty in their just wrath. And how about the untutored student who faced his first choice of the five courses, Normal, College Preparatory, Luther College Preparatory, Commercial, Stenographic, and how choose, finally from among such formidable electives as Elements of Law, Surveying, Navigation, History of Scandinavia; Mineralogy, Mechanical Drawing, Assaying, Old Norse, Greek, Geology. But maybe these experiences helped build real men and women.

Less courage it took to face the costs of going to school. Two hundred dollars paid a full year's costs, tuition, board and everything—unless, of course, one got high toned and took music. That was extra. But things had to be cheap to make up for having to take orthoepy (464 if some of our modern B.A.'s get that one).

Well, such, in our allotted six hundred words, was the school of our day. Is it any wonder that some of us ended up with psychology. We should have started long ago. But we wouldn't have missed it for anything, and a sincere gratitude fills our hearts as we look back from the half-century mark and see visions of the men and women who made "our" school—men and women who were not afraid to do for a cause, a cause in which they believed, men and women who will bear emulation as we face the second fifty years together.

Rolling Time Had by All

Strike! Spare! Gutter ball!
It was "gutter ball" most of the time, but fun was the objective at the bowling party Saturday night, October 7, and fun it was.

The event of the evening was the strike bowled by our own Miss Blomquist. Three rousing cheers went up in recognition of her skill.

The committee for the party, which was held under the auspices of the Associated Student Body, was kept in suspense until the last minute. Apparently everyone had decided to forfeit such entertainment, but a full truck load of human T.N.T. was finally signed, sealed, and delivered to the bowling alley in high spirits, much to the committee's relief and everyone's enjoyment.

Plans for a skating party to be held January 12 were completed at a meeting of the A. W. S. held Monday noon, October 2. Vice-president Nora Kjesbu presided.

Kampus Kombings

Betty Hoyt was seen practicing for the ice skating party by doing a fancy figure eight on the waxed floor in the dorm. "Fall down and go boom," Betty?

Cecilia (Sis) Gardlin, one of those scarce seniors at P. L. C., spent a week's vacation in Chinook, Washington, visiting her brother, Ernest, home on furlough from a year's service in Alaska. Cecilia's brother, John, also serving in Alaska, was a student at P. L. C. in 1930.

Believe it or not—A horrible monster, a saint, a murderer, and a witch were recently seen walking down the halls here at P. L. C. But don't be alarmed, folks; it's just the drama class taking a try at character make-up. So in the future don't be shocked if you see Lady MacBeth exchanging campus gossip with Saint Bernadette.

Upperclassmen can tell some tall tales, but they can't make the Frosh believe that it was the wind that rolled those coke bottles down the hall—overtaken that bed—and articulated that blood-curdling scream Monday night. Memories of initiation day are still too fresh!

Afton Hjeim left last Monday for Seattle to visit with her brother, a first lieutenant in the air corps, home on furlough from overseas.

Seeing her brother has an added thrill for Afton, for last spring he was reported "missing in action" by the war department.

Choir Elects Officers

The Choir of the West will make four appearances during the Golden Jubilee celebration. The group will sing for the opening session on Wednesday, October 11, for the W. M. F. on Friday, the banquet Saturday, and Sunday afternoon.

The choir elected officers last week. Ruth Jensen is president; Russ Murray, vice-president, and Miriam Hopp, secretary-treasurer.

Lute Lassies IN ACTION

Oh those joints and hop on out! Grab a volleyball and pull up a net! Stir well and simmer for 50 minutes of fun and frolic and what have you got? One period of P. E. obviously, at PLC.

The P. E. classes have been engaging in the most rip-roaring volleyball games recorded in history. It's just one big happy family of screeching, scrambling girls.

The fifth period class is made up almost entirely of freshmen. In the midst of a game the rumor began, "Shhh, we're making too much noise. We gotta remember we're in class." The gab progressed in depressing silence, until Mrs. Young sensed that something was amiss. "You girls know there's no rule against talking, don't you?" And then the fireworks began!

The P. E. classes wish to take this opportunity to express their apologies to the instructors and studious students in the class rooms down below.

THUMP! CRASH! BANG!

PLC TO MEET LINCOLN IN GRID CONTEST

PLC's wartime gridsters have been hard at it for four weeks, and now their first game with the Lincoln High second string is scheduled for Friday afternoon on our field.

With the help of his brother Art, Coach Olson has put his men through an hour's practice every evening, Mondays through Fridays, from 6:30 to 7:30.

Norval Norton, former aviation instructor at Pacific Lutheran College, Mrs. Norton, and their daughter Mary Lee, 9, were killed in an airplane crash near Buffalo, New York on July 27.

For the last three years, Mr. Norton had been Civil Aeronautics Administration air service inspector at Buffalo, New York. The Norton home was at Williamsburg, just outside Buffalo. The three had gone to New York City where Mr. Norton attended a senior inspection conference. The fatal accident occurred on the way back during a violent electric storm.

Mrs. Norton was a niece of Mrs. R. Franck, PLC faculty member.

Roy McKinley Reported Missing in Action

Roy McKinley, ex '42, was recently reported killed in action while on duty in the French campaign. Roy was very active in student body affairs. He was one of PLC's star track men, and an active member of the Lute Boosters while he attended our college.

LITTLE SYMPHONY ADDS NEW MEMBERS

PLC's "Little Symphony" now boasts 17 instruments, and is settling down to serious work, although Prof. Malmrin is still hoping to add a bass clarinet, alto clarinet, and a string bass "to fill in the empty spaces."

The orchestra will play at several Jubilee sessions this week, including Thursday night, Saturday for the banquet, and two appearances on Sunday.

Al Kuhn, an old hand at the orchestra business, is doubling on the viola and violin, with violin as his specialty. Al has played in the Tacoma Philharmonic for two years.
