Schaffer Reveals Stage Door Cast

Mrs. Pauline Schaffer has released the cast and directors of the all-college play, Stage Door, as follows:

Director.....Mrs. Schaffer
Asst. Director.....Miss McGregor
Student Director.....Dick Svare
Stage Manager.....Howard Shull
Business Manager.....Bob Brass

Kieth Burgess—Mal lead, a young idealistic playwright in New York who shows his true colors when faced with reality. Stan Elberson.

Terry Raudall—Feminine lead, a young actress having a tough time working her way up on the New York stage. Finds that those things you truly believe in are worth working for. Joyce Taylor.

David Kingsley—A Hollywood producer whose first love is the legitimate stage. (Morrie Hendrickson).

Mr. Gretzel—Another Hollywood producer but definitely a different breed. He is an artificial big-shot, flamboyant and egotistical. (Phil Falk).

Dr. Randall, Glen Clark; Milhauser, Robert Ericson; Powell, Don Graham; Sam Hastings, Phil Thordielson; Jean Maitland, Marguerite Eastvold; Mrs. Orcott, Jo Ann Nelson; Madeline, Mary Ann Wick; Bobby, Myla Lund; Kay Hamilton, Olive Knutson; Olga, Natalie Lund; Big Mary, Harriet Olsen; Miss Mary, Lil Leikauf; Bernice, Helen Jensen; Mattie, Margaret Kutz; Louise, LaWanna Wellandt; Kendall Adams, Barbara Jonson; Frank, Paul Timpling; Larry Westet, Leon Peersboom; Billy, Bob Christenson.

The play is about the legitimate theater in New York City. It is a character study showing that the things we really believe in are worth fighting for and are far more precious than the artificial values that come and go.

Johnson New AWS Head

The first meeting of the Associated Women Students for this year was held in the Student Union Building, Thursday, October 6. The vice-president, Margie Anderson, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president. The main purpose of the meeting was to nominate candidates for ICC representatives. Those nominated were Pexey Ramberget and Shirley Wall. Plans for the homecoming float and the homecoming tea were also discussed.

Officers were introduced and the aims and purposes of the club were given. Also on the program were readings by Jan Olson and Elaine Simons, and a vocal solo by Annie Isaacson.

The officers are: Doris Johnson, president; Margie Anderson, vice-president; Joan Nodtvedt, secretary; Gladys Busacker, treasurer; Mary Ann Wick, publicity chairman; and Glenna Nelson, social chairman.

Meet Your Student Council: Del Zier, ASB President

(This is the first of a series of articles presented as a student service and offered to acquaint the readers of the Mooring Mast with members of the Student Council. The men and women associated with the Council are but a few of the leaders and loyal supporters of PLC. The first of the series is that of the student body as a whole).

By Glenn Clark

Del Zier, senior from Renton, Washington, is president of the Associated Student Body. Del graduated from Walla Walla High School.

He is 25 years old, single, and saw service with Uncle Sam during the recent war. He is a sociology major and plans to attend Capitol Seminary at Columbus, Ohio, upon graduation. When asked about certain hobbies or outside interests, Del replied that he was particularly interested in all types of athletics. This is borne out by the fact that Del has always shown a vital interest in all school activities of this nature and has been among the first to advocate ideas and suggestions for improvement of facilities offered to the student body.

DEL ZIER

Del has always been a leader on the campus. He has held offices in several clubs and organizations while a student at PLC. Last year he was business manager of the Saga. At the present time Del is an active member of Tawasi, the German Club, L.S.A., and Fireside, as well as being Student Council chairman.

Some of Del's many hopes and aspirations which he would like to see achieved this year are listed:

First and foremost, Del said, "I would like to see the Inter-club Council become an active group." He mentioned a well planned schedule of all events as far as could be determined in advance in order to better schedule those events which might be planned in the future. He stated that this would also give the students a better chance of planning their weekends and would save the cost of many trips home which would be far as the student was concerned. Del was emphatic in his plea that all students vote in all elections for which they are eligible. He stated that all students should have an overall picture of the entire student body in mind when thinking of, or discussing any action. And finally, for the umpteenth time, Del mentioned the need for yell-leader support and cooperation from the students.

This has been a vignette of your Student Council president, Del Zier. Work with him and help him whenever you can. Next week we will introduce to you another member of the council.

FOOTBALL BROADCAST

The PLC-St. Martin's football game that takes place tomorrow night at Lincoln Bowl will be broadcast by two Tacoma radio stations. Game time is 8 p.m., and Howie Clifford will broadcast over KTNT-FM, while Rod Belcher will broadcast over KMO. Prof. Theodore Karl will keep the fans informed of the events during the game via the public address system.

DRG Installation Impressive Rite

Delta Rho Gamma held its annual installation of officers and a tea Wednesday noon in the DRG room.

Ann Demers, president of the group, who conducted the candlelighting ceremony, installed the following officers: Beverly Sjoboen, secretary; Betty Jacobson, treasurer; and Bonnie Heen, Inter-club Council representative. Those girls who will act as representatives to the DRG cabinet are Signe Bahen, senior; Dolores Hall, junior; Dolores Johnson, sophomore; and Lenora Surface, freshman.

Amy Brown, who was elected vice-president last spring, poured at the tea which followed the impressive installation.

Plans for the homecoming float are being discussed by a committee which is headed by Amy Brown.

Winged Group Brings Legitimate Theater From Broadway; Two Performances Set

Harold Winston, who once played juvenile roles in a Shakespearean repertoire company, has big plans for the American theater. He hopes to bring back to the American cities and towns the original playhouse.

Mr. Winston's recently formed "Theater on Wings" will present Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie," October 14, at 3:00 and again at 8:30 for an evening performance, in the Student Union building.

Sohos Plan For Corsage Sales

The girls sophomore organization, Sohos, has outlined a busy program for itself in the form of service to the students and the school. At last Thursday's meeting the group completed plans for the sale of corsages to be worn at the homecoming game with Whitworth College, and placed Mary Ann Wick in charge of the ice cream bar sale that will be held in the girls' dormitory this week.

The past activities of the Sohos have been decoration of the goal posts and the posting of signs at the football games, and roping off the reserved section in the stadium in addition to performing the duties of ushers.

They have just recently completed an intensive "Hello Day" campaign designed to help new and old students acquainted with each other.

Hedin To Head Journalists for Fall Semester

Helen Hedin, editor of the Saga, was elected president of the College Press Club at the meeting held by the organization last week when they adopted a constitution and elected officers. Phil Falk was elected to the post of vice-president. He is the business manager of the Mooring Mast. Jo Ann Nelson, Mast advertising manager, was elected to serve as secretary-treasurer, and Jon M. Ericson was elected to fill the ICC representative's position for the balance of this year. Mr. Milton Nesvig, journalism instructor and publicity agent for the college, was elected to the adviser's position.

The set of principles upon which the group will base its activities is embodied in the statement of their purpose as revealed in the constitution: "Pursue and increase the adherence to the principles of honest and accurate reporting, truth, and human justice, with malice toward none, and to report the facts that concern students and their activities without fear or favor."

The organization has set regular meetings for 7:30 each Thursday evening.

Contrary to most road companies which require a box car or two for their scenery and props, Mr. Winston and company travel exclusively by air. The entire cast, along with the necessary props and scenery fit neatly into one airplane.

This mode of transportation is made possible by a revolutionary idea which Mr. Winston conceived while grappling with a camera tripod. "I thought of a camera tripod of aluminum and played with the idea that out of strips of aluminum a portable stage setting could be constructed. We have done just that and our total scenery weight is less than 500 pounds."

The basic set can be used for five or six different plays. It takes only a few minutes to assemble the collapsible aluminum rods and to stretch the fabric scenery over the frame.

Mr. Winston, Theater on Wings director-producer, has had a long career in the theater and film field. He was associated with Frank Capra at Columbia Pictures, Warner Bros., and at M-G-M for nine years and assisted in the shooting of many films including two Academy Award pictures.

The Theater on Wings cast includes: Barbara Ann McKenzie, a native of Boston, Mass., who has studied with the Metropolitan Opera Company, and has appeared in several New York productions.

Naomi Stevens, a UCLA graduate, has done radio work since 1937 and has played in every production at the Circle Theater in Los Angeles for the past two years. Miss Stevens has been acclaimed by the Los Angeles Daily News as one of the finest actresses of the Circle Theater.

Bob Burns, Jr., technical director, has also played on the Circle Theater stage. Mr. Burns' capability in his work is an asset to the company.

Tickets for students will be sold in the hall of Old Main from 11:30 to 2:00 today.

'Campus Theater' On Radio Sat.

Pacific Lutheran College students put on the premiere broadcast for the 1949-50 school year of "Campus Theater" over radio station KMO, Tacoma, Wednesday evening at 6:30. The program will be rebroadcast over KTBI, Tacoma, Saturday morning at 9:30.

The program was planned and produced by students under the supervision of Prof. Theo. O. H. Karl, head of the department of speech. Morris Hendrickson is the announcer. The program includes piano solos by Marilyn Hanich, Everett freshman; flute solos by Carolyn Kjelstad, Eatonville freshman; and numbers by the college male quartet composed of Jason Boe, Richard Svare, Harold Jensen and James Williamson.

If someone disagrees with you, then be stubborn, because it saves you the trouble of stopping to think.

Get Hot — And Vote!

Homecoming Queen elections are slated as the first general student body election to be held this term. The elections will be Wednesday, the 19th, and one girl from the total number of the junior and senior classes will be chosen to reign over the Homecoming ceremonies.

Who will be the one girl? That decision is up to you, and it is up to you in more ways than one. To those of us who are interested in the Homecoming festivities the election of the queen will be an important decision in which we will take part and urge our friends to take part. We realize that our college career cannot be complete without participation in the affairs of the student body and the general college activities. We know that a course of studies in one field coupled with one activity does not give us an understanding of our fellow humans, and that to be a part of the people with whom we live, associate and work we must take an interest in the general programs in which we are all involved.

Those people who feel that they must hold themselves apart and aloof from the activities of the student body are people who are holding themselves apart from the very essence of full development in education. Those people who feel that voting in student body elections is a waste of time, and that their vote is bound to be ineffectual are the same people who make up the nearly fifty percent of our voting population who feel the same way about our civic and national elections. They are also the same people who complain about "the way our country is run," and who do precious little to acquaint themselves with the issues at hand so that they can vote intelligently if they do work up the energy to vote.

The Homecoming celebration is an important function of any college, and those people who take part in it are realizing the cooperative spirit and oneness that goes to make up a community of thinking and civic-responsible people. The Homecoming plans have been made for an All-College affair, and for those of us who don't work on the committees for floats and for the accomplishment of other tasks, we can do our part by voting for our choice for the queen, and by taking part in the program as a whole.

The elections are being held this coming Wednesday. Get hot—and get out and vote.—LAI.

No Excuse

The editor offers no excuse for last week's erring prediction of the PLC-Western football game. The crystal ball can be blamed for lying, but rather than take that way out we will run all of the editor's predictions on the sports page from now on, under the heading, "Crystal Ball."—LAI.

Duanne Uilleland Is Blades Pres.

Duanne Uilleland was recently elected as the new president of Roller Blades, according to a recent announcement of the organization. With John Leque presiding over the meeting, Norman Knutson gained the position of vice-president, and Carol Sayer was elected secretary. Beth Schreler was elected to serve as treasurer, and, according to information received from the organization's press representative, Bob Christiansen volunteered to be the Inter-club Council representative. Doris Jensen was appointed as press representative to the Mooring Mast.

The Roller Blades will meet twice a month on Wednesdays, and they have stressed that anyone interested in ice or roller skating will be welcome to attend.

Trustees Meet Here

The board of trustees of Pacific Lutheran College met in the SUB auditorium yesterday for their annual business meeting on the campus. Dr. Eastvold delivered a message of welcome, and Dr. H. L. Foss, president of the board, presided at the meeting.

A smorgasbord luncheon was held in the board's honor later in the day.

As We See It

A Tawasi Feature

Our library here at PLC is a beautiful building. It has been built for a purpose. It is perhaps the most important building on the campus. Yet, to some of us it has become, rather than a place of quiet, concentrated study, a place for finding or meeting a girl friend, or simply a place for a gang of friends to gather for a bull-session. To others among us with too much time and curiosity, it is a place to sit and waste some time and see "who's got who?"

Be it understood that while the library is not the campus commons, it is entirely legal to meet someone there, and if students wish, it is possible for a group to study aloud together. It is not permissible to do so in the reading room. The lobby has tables especially provided for those who wish to study aloud. The lobby is also the place to arrange to meet your gal friend, thereby not having to enter the reading room and disturbing the students who are studying, depriving them of the peace and quiet to which they are entitled.

Our librarians are there to assist us. They give us their utmost in help and cooperation. Let us in turn cooperate with them. It is for our mutual benefit.

Orchestra Group Selects Nysteen

June Nysteen was elected president of the orchestra during a recent practice session. Assisting her will be Lee Bishop as vice-president and Carolyn Kielstad as secretary-treasurer. The latter will serve as publicity manager for the orchestra.

The plans for orchestra activities have not been announced as of this date, but will appear in an early issue.

Girls Scheduled For Hygiene Lecture

The first of a series of health lectures to be sponsored by the Student Health Service, under the direction of Dr. William Strunk, will be presented by Dr. Phyllis Backup, M.D., of Tacoma.

The lecture by Dr. Backup will be attended by all of the female students by administrative requirement. The text of the talk will be on the "Hygiene and Anatomy of the Female, and the Place of the Female in Society," and will be presented in the SUB auditorium at 7:30 p.m., October 20, a Thursday.

GAMES THIS WEEK

Puget Sound vs. Central at Ellensburg, 8 p.m., Friday.
 Eastern vs. Whitworth at Spokane, 2 p.m., Saturday.
 Pacific Lutheran vs. St. Martin's at Tacoma, 8 p.m., Saturday.
 British Columbia vs. Western at Bellingham, 8 p.m., Saturday. (Note: British Columbia games do not count in league standings.)

After games last weekend the College of Puget Sound Loggers and the Whitworth Pirates are tied for first place in Evergreen standings, but the convincing manner in which the Loggers defeated Eastern left little doubt that CPS is the team to beat as far as the Evergreen race is concerned.

John Heinrich's talented Puget Sound crew led in first downs, 15-3; in total yards, 237-59; and allowed Eastern to score only on a 97-yard run following a pass interception by Dewey Doe in the final three minutes. The Whitworth-Central game Friday night was a see-saw affair with the accurate try-for-point booting of quarterback Bob Cruzen giving the Pirates their 14-13 win.

Key games coming up this weekend find CPS playing Central at Ellensburg, and that could be a close one with the score going either way, especially since they are playing in Ellensburg. Whitworth plays Eastern in Spokane, which is an important game for Whitworth.

From The Bench

HARD-LUCK HARRY—This year might well be classed as Harry Malnes' "hard-luck" year. So far this season, Harry has seen action in one ball game, for one play. He started out fine until he was sidelined with a sprained ankle, a few days prior to the inter-squad game. After only a couple of plays in the pre-season mix-up he was again put out of commission, this time with a twisted knee. Malnes then watched the first two games from the stands.

The Central battle was next on the list and Harry thought he would get into this contest, but due to a "charley horse," received that week in practice, he was forced to watch this one from the bench.

"It'll be okay for the Western game," was the only comment he could make last week. Harry was ready alright, but he wasn't prepared for the banged up shoulder he received on the first play that he was in. The extent of his most recent impairment is unknown to this author, at the time of this writing, but we are all hoping for a speedy recovery and hope to see "Light-Horse Harry" back in the battle soon.

HAGEN'S BACK IN THE FIGHT

Roy Hagen is another boy who's been having more than his share of tough luck this season and last year, also. "Haer" (no relation to "Haig & Haig"), missed the opener of the '48 season because of a twisted knee and then was out, later on in the year, with another injury. "This year will be different," said Roy, at the opening turnout. It was different, in that he made the opening game; but in the CPS tussle, he got on the wrong side of a good solid block and found himself with a fouled-up shoulder. Hagen is back at the old grid again this week, so here's wishing him "good" luck for the rest of the year.

SPEAKING OF INJURIES

There is always the fellow walking around the campus with a cast on his left arm. "Ole" Magnuson is the fellow in question. "Ole," a frosh this year, was doing all right for himself until he got his arm in the wrong place while playing against CPS and found himself with two bones broken.

Hal Fallstrom got in for one play in the same fracas, when someone stepped on his ankle and gave him a bad bruise on his ankle. We hope to see these boys back on the squad pretty soon.

Managers Are Unsung Heroes

Some of those men you see at the football games carrying footballs and helmets are not football players. They also may be seen carrying towels and numerous other things needed to run a football team. They don't score the touchdowns directly, but indirectly they are a great help. They handle the little things such as the adhesive tape, which every squad needs, and put in long hours after the football players finish. Equipment is their business and good equipment never hurt anybody's football team.

This year there are four managers. Roy Larson, a senior from Tacoma, is the head manager. He is a brother-in-law to Assistant Coach Marv Harshman. His three assistants are Jim Kerns from Tacoma, Ernie Tempelin from Puyallup, where he played football instead of handling the million and one chores; Nick Glaser, the new frosh manager, who, at Lincoln last year, managed track and basketball.

So when you see these men on the field, remember that without them the team would not be able to function correctly.

New Gridmen's Histories Given

In last Saturday's game at Bellingham two new men played outstanding ball for the Lutes. One is a freshman and the other a transfer from a junior college.

The freshman was Harold Lyckman from Puyallup, who played practically the entire game at quarterback. This was a big test for Lyckman and he came through in good shape. He is a place-kick specialist and will probably handle this chore for the rest of this year.

In the line, Ray Green played outstanding ball. Ray is a junior transfer from Olympic Junior College, via the University of Idaho. He is the tallest man on the squad, standing over 6 feet, 6 inches. He also competes in basketball and track. He prepped at South Kitsap.

Leland Amondson, a graduate of Queen Anne in Seattle, is one of the tall ends you see down on the field. He played in the State All-Star high school game two years ago and was all-city end in Seattle. He is especially good in snagging passes and may figure in quite a few of the Lute offensive plays this season. He scored the first touchdown PLC made this year on a pass from Jurkovich in the PLC-PU game down at Forest Grove.

Harvey Burger, a freshman from Mount Vernon High, is a rugged defensive player. His prep coach, ex-Lute John Fadness, ranks him as one of the finest ends he has ever coached. In high school he also lettered in basketball and baseball.

Glen Waerner, a freshman from Queen Anne in Seattle, played in the Seattle vs. State all-star game in '49. He is a good blocker and tackler, and may see a bit of action this season.

Lutes Tie Vikings

By Robert Ferguson

Coming from behind in the third quarter, the Lutes tied the Western Washington College Vikings 13-13 on a wind-swept field in Bellingham last Saturday night. The Vikings had several chances to score in the last quarter but were held at bay by the Lutes. Wally Clayton missed three field goal attempts, once in the second and third, and again in the last period with a couple of minutes left to play.

In the first quarter Western drove from its own 37 yard line for the first touchdown. A 25-yard pass from Richardson to Partlow topped the drive. The conversion was blocked as the whole PLC line came roaring through.

In the second quarter the Lutes came back to score and go ahead on Lyckman's conversion. Ray Green, Lute Lutheran tackle, blocked a Western punt on the 38 and recovered it on the Viking 17. A holding penalty pushed us back but a Jurkovich to Knutson pass set the ball on the six yard line, and after two line plunges Brock scored off right tackle.

Then Western did almost the same thing. A partially blocked punt gave the Vikings the ball on the PLC 37 and after hitting the line for nine plays, Norm Hash piled over and Clayton made the conversion this time.

In the third quarter Brock passed to Knutson who rambled 50 yards before being nailed from behind on the Western 17 yard line. Line plays carried the ball to the one-foot line but the Viking line stiffened for awhile, and three plays later Jurkovich plowed through guard for the score. Lyckman's attempted conversion was wide.

Everybody was kept on edge the rest of the game with passes being thrown all over the field and the wind raising havoc with all of them.

Outstanding for the Glads were Captain Jack Guyot, Jurkovich, Knut-

X. NADY, coach of St. Martin's, will bring his team roaring into the Lincoln Bowl tomorrow night with high hopes of upsetting the Gladiators. He has a big line and a fast shifty backfield, and if it is not raining you can expect a fast, rough game.

son, and Lyckman in the backfield. Lyckman, a freshman from Puyallup, played almost the entire game and did a fine job at quarterback.

John Abrams, who attended here in '47, and Jim Shook, who was here last year, were my hosts at the Men's Residence Hall at WCCU where I spent the weekend. The boys' dorm is only a few years old and a nice building, and rather large for the 70 some boys that stay there. The food was of an excellent quality and on Sunday we had baked ham which was delicious.

Saturday I walked around the campus and it sure is a big one. Their library is by far the most beautiful building they have. They are building a new science hall which will be finished in a couple of months and a new million dollar Auditorium-Music building which is huge. The girls' dorm looks like a southern plantation owner's home with large pillars in front and a long driveway leading up to the door. It is old but picturesque.

At the game Saturday night, we sat on the Western side of the field and I didn't mind it one bit. The noise from the other side was nice and loud and the band sounded good. The people around me remarked how much racket the PLC students made and were surprised at how many did journey up for the game. Also, they thought that our yell leaders were very good and noticed how good their timing was.

I had an enjoyable weekend and the students at Western received me warmly, along with a few other PLC-ites.

It promises to be a rip-roaring battle tomorrow night when Coach X. Nady Jr. pits his St. Martin's Rangers against the Lutes of PLC. Game time at Lincoln Bowl is 8 p.m.

Although neither team has been particularly impressive to date—St. Martin's has lost three out of four while PLC has lost two and tied two—tomorrow's tussle is sure to produce championship ball. Traditional rivals, victory staved, both teams are gunning for their first blood in the Evergreen Conference chase.

Word has it that Coach X. Nady Jr. is freely predicting a St. Martin's victory, and this time it may not be all wild speculation. The Rangers are power-laden. Spearheading the forward wall is Bob Basich, winner of Little All-America mention at center last fall. Basich, a 195 pounder, is flanked by such dainty linemen as Gordie Brown, 257 pounds, and Ernie Linnekohl, 245 pounds.

In the Ranger backfield watch out for Don Ditz, Joe Tyson and John Donahue. Ditz, a hard running full-back, played two years at Oregon State College and has gained the deepest respect of opposition Evergreen coaches. All three of these Rangers are adept pass pitchers.

New Spirit

But don't count the Lutes out. A new fighting spirit has invaded the PLC camp. Lute fans at Bellingham last Saturday night saw a vastly improved Gladiator squad fight the powerful Western Washington Vikings to a standstill. Coach Marv Tommervik was liberal in his praise of backfield men Guyot, Knutson, and McKenna, as well as of linemen Green, Carbone, Daniels, and Waldorf. The PLC mentor, however, indicated Monday that the Glad pass defense needed considerable improvement. Drills this week have been pointed in that direction.

Two Lutes will definitely be out of the game tomorrow because of injuries. Tackle Oliver Magnuson came out of the Central game with a fractured wrist while Bob Dinsmore received a severely sprained ankle in the Western fracas. Tackle Hal Fallstrom, guard Roy Hagen and half-back Harry Malnes may see limited action.

Malnes, lately dubbed "hard luck Harry," after missing the first three games due to an ankle injury, finally got in against Western—for one play. He went back on the injury list after injuring a shoulder returning a kick-off in the second quarter.

In fourteen meetings with the Rangers in past years, PLC has come out on top ten times. One contest was tied, and twice—in 1937 and in 1942—the Rangers triumphed by identical scores of 19 to 7.

Some people still haven't learned the difference between philosophy and fool-sophistry.

Chest Drive On At PLC

The 1949 PLC Community Chest drive was opened Thursday morning when Dr. Jordahl presented to the students at chapel the purpose and program of the organization. He said that this drive was not for the benefit of any one organization, but one appeal for such organizations as the Boy and Girl Scouts, Children's Homes, Lutheran Welfare, and Salvation Army. Without these funds, they could not continue to operate as before. Lillian Leikauf, speaking for the local committee, made an appeal to all the students to help in this drive by generous contributions. The plan for gathering the funds was explained by Jon Erison. All clubs on campus will collect the money from its members and a wishing well will be placed in the main hall of Old Main for the benefit of those students that do not belong to any organization.

The local committee, headed by Co-chairmen Larry Hauer and Eugene Aftad, have worked hard to make this drive a success, but plans alone won't do the job. It's up to every student at PLC to do his or her part and make this school a 100 per cent Community Chest checker. Contact a representative of your club or see the wishing well in Old Main. Progressive Goal Project of A.L.C.

Visiting on campus this week was a group of committeemen meeting to formulate financial developments and operations of the college. The members, representing the Northwest District of the American Lutheran Church were: Dr. Henry F. Schuh, adviser of the group and director of Stewardship and Finance of A.L.C., from Columbus, Ohio; S. C. Sifkes, from Portland, Oregon, president of the Northwest District; Reverend S. F. Goldenman, Mullen, Idaho; Reverend E. G. Wuest, Oregon City, Oregon; Mr. H. H. Rieke, from Cashmere, Washington; and Dr. H. Meyer from the University in Seattle, Washington.

Purposes discussed converged around the 1950 "ingathering" for the Lutheran Christian colleges throughout the nation, which is the "progressive goal" amounting to an estimate of about three million dollars. Funds raised in a community were used for the development of the school in the relative area.

Dr. Schuh, who spoke in chapel Wednesday, revealed he is not a stranger to PLC, having been the first to teach leadership training classes here 19 years ago. Knowing Pacific Lutheran since its infant years, Dr. Schuh noted the increased financial support and great strides taken towards continual growth of the college.

Council Approves Funds For Mast

The Student Council held its regular weekly meeting Wednesday. The principal items of business were Mooring Mast funds and the Community Chest drive.

The council voted unanimously in favor of a motion by Lou Innerarity to grant the Mooring Mast $20 for each student body election. The funds are to be used to publish the pictures of candidates for the offices to be filled during the elections. The pictures of the Homecoming queen candidates will not be published this year because of the fact that the petitions are not filed in time for this edition, and the next edition will be published after the election has been held. The pictures of the queen and her attendants will be published, however.

The council met in special session yesterday during the noon hour to consider a report by the Student Health Service on sanitation. Action on the report, if any, is scheduled to take place today or at next Wednesday's regular meeting.

Disband Fireside

To make the Lutheran Students' Association stronger was the main purpose of the disbandment of Fireside. In the future, LSA will meet every Sunday evening at 6:30. Marilyn Pflueger, LSA president, stated that an effort will be made to preserve the spirit of Fireside and to carry out the ideas and functions held by the club.

Fireside began approximately 20 years ago under the advice of Pastor O. T. Svare. Because it met in the reception room of the Old Main, and the meetings would take place around the fire, it adopted the name Fireside.

The group decided to distribute the treasury among several tract companies.

Pastor Svare, who was the speaker of the last meeting, spoke on "Personality." Hank Erickson led in devotions and Joanne Soper sang "Just for Today."

CRYSTAL BALL

By Lou Innerarity

Out of the murky depths of the crystal ball looms an image of a Gladiator romping against the Rangers' goal line tomorrow night to score a touchdown. As we peer a little deeper we see two more Lutes following in his footsteps. We think that through the clouded future we see PLC missing one point kick and thereby winning over St. Martin's by only 20 points.

The rest of the info from the land of the "Who Knows" is as follows: Whitworth over Eastern by 7 points. CPS over Central by 14 points. Western over UBC by 13 points.

If these predictions go wrong, then don't come into the Mooring Mast office to complain. If you want to help us out on these, then send us a new crystal ball.

Gregerson Is Frosh. Treas.

After surviving three tabulations, Bob Gregerson, from Everett, overcame his final opponent, Bob Marvinak, and was elected treasurer of the freshman class on Monday, October 10.

When the ballots first were printed, Bob's surname was given as Ferguson, while on the second ballot, much to his dismay, it was printed as Bob Gregerson. But when the final ballot was cast, his name appeared as Bob Gregerson.

So to all freshmen who voted for either Ferguson, Gregerson, or Gregerson, he's one and the same, and is now treasurer of the freshman class.

The up and coming class of '53 held its first class meeting of the year in the SUB on Monday, October 10, at 6:30.

After the introduction of the newly elected class president, John McBride, by Mr. Zulauf, class adviser, Mr. McBride took over the chair and introduced the following class officers: Stan Nogley, vice-president; Naomi Roe, secretary; Bob Gregerson, treasurer; and Herb Neve, ICC representative.

An organizational business meeting was then held, at which it was decided to levy the freshmen dues at fifty cents per person, which is payable within the next five days to the treasurer.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, entertainment was provided by Helen Jensen, Marilyn Hanich, Herb Neve, Harold Ruddick, and Kenneth Benshoof.

Linne Selects Float Committee

At its first business meeting of the year which was held last Tuesday, the Linne Society, science group, elected its representative to the ICC and established its homecoming float committee.

Paul Braafladt was elected to the ICC, and he will also serve as chairman of the float committee. Working with him on the committee will be Beverly Allen, Marian Cummings, and Carol Sletto.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held early in November. All interested persons will be welcome.

L.S.A. Will Meet Sunday Evening

Members of the Lutheran Students' Association committees will be announced for the coming year when the LSA meets in the Student Union auditorium Sunday evening at 6:30.

Highlights of the Ashram, LSA convention held in Interlocken, Michigan, which were postponed from the October 2 meeting, will be the main feature of the program. Marilyn Pflueger, Carolyn Johnson, Luther Steen, Les McKay and Miss Anne Knudson, who attended the convention this summer, will tell a few of the interesting facts.

Tentative plans for LSA-sponsored activities of the coming year will be discussed during the business meeting. In the future, LSA will meet every Sunday evening at 6:30, instead of alternating Sundays.

Peter Shennum now has a baby brother, Joel Gordon, an eight-pound boy, born to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Shennum on Sunday, September 18.
