

Five PLC Coeds Listed in College Who's Who Book

Five senior women from our campus have been chosen to have their names and biographies printed in the 1943-44 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. Rating the honor are Catherine Morrow, Carrie Person, Alice Pflaum, Priscilla Preus, and Charlotte Swanson.

THE FAMOUS FIVE

Catherine Morrow transferred from St. Helen's Hall Jr. College in her Junior year. She is a Senior class representative to the Board of Control and has been active in LDR, Fireside, Mission Society, and drama. Last year she was on the editorial staff of the Saga.

Carrie Person has been prominent in Girl's Sports, and is President of WAA this year. She is business manager of the Mooring Mast and a member of the Choir of the West. Last year she was Junior representative to the Board of Control and a member of the Linne Society and Glider Club.

Alice Pflaum has been prominent in Girl's Sports and last year was president of WAA. She has also taken an active part in DRG affairs, and is president of that group at the present time. She belongs to the Glider Club and to Alpha Psi Omega. This year she is assistant manager on the business staff of the Mooring Mast.

Priscilla Preus is vice-president of the Student Body this year. She has been a member of the PLC Choir of the West. She was president of the Ski Club and a member of Linne Society.

Charlotte Swanson is associate editor of the Mooring Mast this year and was on the Saga staff for the last two years. She has been a consistent member of the Honor Roll, and is active in the religious groups of the campus.

ELIGIBILITY FOR HONOR

The candidates were recommended by the faculty scholarship and curriculum committee and elected by the entire faculty. Last year, members of both junior and senior classes were chosen, but since a student can be listed but once in this

Choir, Orchestra Meet 'Mike'

The Choir of the West sang over the radio for the first time this year on October 22. The opening number was "Beautiful Savior," followed by "Rainbow Bridge of Prayer," "Praise to the Lord," and "The Lord Bless You." After the broadcast, Director Malmin discovered that the last number was sung off the air.

Tuesday, October 26, the choir sang the Reformation Cantata in chapel. This cantata was also sung at Central Lutheran Church the following Sunday.

The orchestra was heard over KTB1 on Thursday, October 21. This enthusiastic organization has worked on all the suitable music at hand and Prof. Malmin is buying some new pieces.

M.M.s Sent to Service Men

Copies of the Mooring Mast are being sent to PLC boys in the Service. Approximately 100 copies of the last issue were sent to former students both in the United States and overseas. Contributions to help pay for the cost of printing and mailing extra copies will be taken when the Mooring Mast is distributed.

GHOST WANTED!

The persons pictured above were all at the scene of the mystery of Ramshead Rock, a. are suspects of aiding the Ghost! A DOLLAR FROM EACH PLC-ITE IS WORLD STUDENT FUND GOAL

PLC students will be asked to contribute at least one dollar each toward the World Student Service drive, co-chairmen of the local drive, Betty Bates and Rhoda Lee, announced after a meeting of student leaders with Miss Sarah Webb, traveling secretary of the organization, on October 14. Contributions will be received from November 8 to 12. Miss Webb outlined the association's threefold program of bringing relief to student prisoners of war, internees, and refugees.

Last year's drive for funds, to which the students of PLC contributed along with 533 other colleges, netted $160,000. The coming campaign is launched with the hope that the funds will increase as have the needs.

At the local meeting Miss Webb stressed the point that funds are now needed to buy reading material (to provide mental nourishment for the unfortunates of the war) as well as food and clothing. This will enable former college students to continue their education and, in some instances, receive credit for it. British prisoners of war are now sending in examinations to Oxford, Cambridge, and the University of London. Books that have been sent overseas have gone via the neutral ship Gripsohm. In this country German and Italian student captives have been supplied with textbooks and other reading material.

The fund is sponsored by the World Student Christian Association and is registered with the President's War Relief Control Board. Already student captives in Germany, China, Greece, as well as Polish refugees in Switzerland, have received aid from the fund.

Every student and faculty member will be contacted by one of the following solicitors: Dorothy Rasmussen, Marian Butler, Anna Anderson, Ruth Nestegard, Dorothy Nieman, June Belew, Ruth Wallen, Alice Kaaland, Virginia Seaburg, Marlon Soltman, Carl Fynboe, Paul Funk, Chester Torgerson, Helen Flodstrom, Millie Brodland, Anita Stuen, Bernice Bernhartsen, and Janet Hauge.

Coming Events

- Friday, November 5—WAA ice skating party.
- Monday through Friday, November 8-12: World Student Service Fund drive.
- Friday, November 12: Movie, Laurel and Hardy. "Chumps at Oxford."
- Monday through Friday, Nov. 8-13: Mid-term exams.
- Saturday, November 13: DPK soldier party.
- Friday, November 19: "Ghost Wanted." All-School play.
- Thursday through Monday, Nov. 25-29: Thanksgiving vacation.
- Sunday, November 28: Inauguration of Dr. S. C. Eastvold. Homecoming.

Chills and Laughs In Mystery Comedy Obtained for Nov. 19

"The living are not wanted here. You'll see. You'll all see. Not one of us is wanted." With these words Madame Zolga (Catherine Morrow), who is one of the few people who can raise a zombie, closes the first act of "Ghost Wanted," student produced play now under rehearsal, with I Lee Rod directing.

This action-packed, suspense-filled mystery is slated for presentation November 19 on the stage of the college gymnasium. Filling a double role as the drama's scared ghost and as business manager, Herb Niennstedt is able to show his true versatility. As Hugo Bromley of the white-sheeted clan, he is aided in his haunting by the Monster of Ramshead Rock. In his capacity as business manager he has chosen the following committee heads: Tickets—Mildred Brodland; publicity Anita Norman; programs—Thilda Hellman; and house—Hjordis Rogan. Director Rod has named the other committees who will help with the backstage work. Daubing powder and rouge on the bewildered cast members will be the job of Marion Butler, Bernice Bernhartsen, Hjordis Rogan, Mildred Brodland, and Corinne Fosso. Their work will be under the supervision of Miss Blomquist.

Paul Funk is stage manager, with Assistant Carpenters Ted Reitz, John Baglien, Fern Erickson, and Cecelia Gardlin to hold the nails while he pounds.

The set paraphernalia is in charge of Dorothy Nieman, who will be aided in her search for furniture and the like by Agnes Roleder and Dorothy Garber. Chairman of the property committee is Virginia Seaburg, her cohorts on the job being Virginia Michelsen and Lillian Thorleifson.

If you find one of your coats, a hat, a pair of slacks, or the like missing near November 19, it might be that Ruthie Nestegard has authorized her deputies on the wardrobe committee to confiscate the missing item for the use of one of the spooks in GHOST WANTED. Anita Norman, Grace Birkestol, and Miriam Hopp are the coeds who will help Ruth decide what the well-dressed zombie will wear in November, 1943.

W. A. A. HIT THE ICE CONTEST TOMORROW

Don your red flannels November 5, and come to the WAA ice skating party at Lakewood Ice Arena!

This is the first PLCite venture into the frigid this season. Studes can skate from 10:00 until 12:00 p. m. for 50 cents. Standing room only in Baker-You Drive trucks, so buy your tickets early.

Betty Hatlen is general chairman. Assisting her are Rhoda Lee, advertising; Alice Pflaum, transportation; Maggie Hill, chairman, and Bernice Bernhartsen and Ardis Severson, tickets.

If you can't cut the figure eight, or if you don't feel chummy with your skates, there's still that "Worst Skater" consolation prize, you know.

Student Broadcast

Nora Kjesbu, Paul Funk, and John Baglien were speakers at the last three Monday morning broadcasts from PLC over station KTB1, sponsored by the associated students under the direction of Marion Soltman. Helen Flodstrom, Muriel Baird, and Emma Thoren were soloists.

Twin girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O. Haavik (Art Haavik '42) in Seattle. The third alumni duet were named Janice Louise and Joyce Lynn. Mr. Haavik is the son of Rev. O. L. Haavik of the Ballard Lutheran church in Seattle and is teaching at the James Monroe Junior High at Seattle. Former alumni two-somes—Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kreidler, twin boys and to Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Dammel, twin girls.

Military Funeral Held For Warren Hokenstad

Warren Hokenstad, '37, brother of Rhoda Hokenstad Young, women's P. E. instructor at Pacific Lutheran College, was killed in the crash of a navy blimp which he was piloting Saturday, October 16. The crash occurred off the coast of New Jersey during a severe storm and heavy fog in which two blimps collided.

The military funeral service was conducted by the Rev. C. H. Norgaard, Monday, November 1, in Everett. Interment was made in Snohomish. Command Pilot Hokenstad is survived by his widow, one sister, a brother, his mother and father, and a grandmother.

In December, 11942 a cousin, Ted Hokenstad, was lost in a plane crash off the coast of Tunisia.

Miss Mary Botten, assistant librarian for the past three years, is employed at the University of Washington this year. While at P. L. C. she taught the library science course in addition to her duties in the library.

With the Boys in Service

Lyle Severson, ex-'42, now stationed at Farragut Naval Training Station, was home during a recent leave.

Martin Gulhaugen, '42 member of the Choir and M. M. reporter, is now in North Africa. His address: Pvt. Martin R. Gulhaugen, Co. B 5th Repl. Bn., APO 763, New York, N. Y.

M. followed after him from Arkansas, to Missouri, and finally to Massachusetts.

book of memories cannot be measured in dollars and cents. You will have to raise more money than ever at your Saga Carnival. But an evening of fun and frolic should come just right in these serious times. The student organizations to which you belong must double their support to pay for their display. But what is team work for if not to handle the extra load? And last and most important, your contribution to the work end of the Year Book must begin before you stand around in the halls, pen in hand, ready to give and collect signatures on publication day. Pictures do not take themselves nor do stories write themselves. We had two efficient editors last year, and they were faced with no student-power shortage. But it was touch and go to get all the material assembled to make the printers' deadline.

HOW TO HIT IN A PINCH

We're still printing the Saga? O. K.—then we will not let the afore-mentioned difficulties make us afraid to begin the task, for not one of the problems will be left unsolved if we attack them with real student cooperation and support. But we can make a better Saga if we know and face all the facts before we start.

Casey Comes To Bat

THE PITCHER'S WARM-UP

At the last student body meeting we decided to publish a Saga this year, if the annual enterprise gets the go sign from the faculty committee. Sentiment on the matter seemed unanimously on the pro side.

We couldn't help but wonder if this majority who were so sentimentally in favor of the undertaking realized what the score was on publishing a Saga, especially this year. Understand, your editor is not taking the negative view on this matter or dashing cold water on another school publication. Rather, because he knows what it means to get something into print, he wishes to point out a few headaches and elbow greasings we students must take on if we are to publish a Saga that will not need a "war-time excuse."

STRIKE ONE

The first problem facing the proponents of the Saga is the organization of a competent business staff that will solve the financial problem of publishing an under-par number of Sagas with a smaller field from which to get support. As the bulk of the expense comes in putting the book together, not in printing extra copies, it will cost almost as much to publish 250 Sagas as to put out our normal quota. Figure out, you math experts, what this will do to the per-copy price of the volume.

It took plenty of skill, ingenuity, and leg work on the part of last year's excellent Saga business manager to come to speaking terms with a $1306 dollar budget. And don't forget the situation that will confront our staff ad solicitors this year. When the merchant begins hiding his merchandise under his counters to protect it from the onslaught of customers, he no longer needs to advertise. He therefore will probably not fall on your ad runner's neck when he appears with a nice, fat but still unsigned contract. And remember—we have to keep out of the red this year!

STRIKE TWO

Finally, there is the war-time material restrictions. Paper and film shortage constitutes the biggest problem. These items, of course, are basic material for any year book. However, at long last, the question remains—Do you want your Saga, and if so, how much? Nothing is impossible that you want badly enough, for there are always ways and means where there are energy and will. You might literally have to cut your coat according to your rationed cloth, but local WPB boards are prepared to give certain concessions to school publications.

WILL HE BUNT OR TAKE A SWING?

You will certainly have to pay more for your Saga—but a

DAYERS BEST DORMERS IN WILD CASABA TILT

In a basketball game on October 21 the Day Boys licked the Dorm Boys by a score of 39 to 34.

As the score shows, the game was a close one. However, with a decided advantage in height, the Day Boys kept the lead from the beginning to the final gong.

The teams were composed of the following men: for the Day Boys, there were La Monte Hedland, Carl Fynboe, Wesley Hillman, Kenneth Lobeda and Les Storaasli; for the Dorm Boys, John Baglien, John Larsgaard, Jerrol Enge, Stan Gilge, Ivar Pihl, and Karl Bachner.

The game was played after the regular Thursday evening P. E. Class, which is under the direction of Coach Cliff Olson.

REMEMBER 'S' DAY

Whoop! Ghosts, goblins, and witches ruled the festivities at Lutherland Saturday, October 30. At the climax of a mystery-ridden campaign for "S" (spook) Day, PLCites traveled in trucks to Lake Killarney for a day of LSA sponsored fun—All Hallow's Eve style.

Of course, food was served, for whoever saw a group from PLC that didn't eat? When the trucks left with the tired but weary students, it could be truly said, "And a safe and sane Halloween was had by all."

Returning Lute Navy Men Capture Charm

A part (June Belew says the best part) of Uncle Sam's Navy dropped anchor on the PLC campus last week and the local femina almost didn't notice that the plain clothes men were growing beards in preparation for "spook" day. Returning to their old stamping grounds after their initial amphibious training were Hartman Hoff, Dick Langton, Gerry Lider, Paul Pflueger, and Al Nordeng.

Dick Langton, former star on the PLC "divot-diggers," reached the Old Main long before Harty Hoff had figured out whether he should set his watch ahead one hour or back two hours since the train from Dickinson was five hours late on a twelve hundred mile journey traveling at the average speed of 20 knots. While shaking the extended glad hand of every student and teacher in sight, Dick related the experience of his first and last golf game on the North Dakota prairie. He still insists that the mosquitoes kept packing his golf balls out into the rough, thus forcing him to retire from the game at the end of the fifth hole.

A FRIENDLY NAVY FEUD

Before the day was over Al Nordeng, V-12er at Whitman College, hit the campus, and after a short feud with Dick Langton on the standing of the Whitman College Navy jazz band vs. the Dickinson State Teacher's V-12 jazz outfit, he proceeded to bawl out his former debate partner, John Baglien, for not starting a debate team this year. Having enrolled in a three hour debate class, Al would like to meet some of PLC's best in a "friendly" clash of wits.

THE SECOND-HAND MAN ARRIVES

On the following day Hartman "The Big Heart" Hoff, made his return debut to his alma mammy and after seeing so many new faces, decided that it was safe to bring out some of his canned corn from last year's Mirth and Mysteries show. But before he could get started, Anne Nelson, Corinne Fosso, Fern Erickson, and company ordered a command style review of the sailor uniform with Harty in it . . . reluctantly parading before them.

The next Lute sailor to appear on the scene was Paul "Blankets" Pflueger with his former roommate Hal Reitz, shipyard worker at Seattle. Paul, a former dining hall waiter, returned to his old job to help serve the evening meal—endeavoring to serve eighty girls without showing partially.

ROOMMATES' REUNION

Finally, Gerry "Smiles" Lider arrived on the campus with Millie Hanson, and John Larsgaard greeted his former roommate with more enthusiasm than should be showed by a dignified student body prexy. George "Guff" Anderson, showed up in civilian clothes to be with his classmates before leaving for the Army.

On student day in Chapel, Wednesday, October 27, special recognition was given to PLC men in the Navy, with Harty Hoff bringing the greeting from our Navy boys to PLCites. Dick Langton also was a representative for the Navy group.

As these boys slipped away from the campus to return to Dickinson for orders that will send them to advanced training centers and the field of combat, they left upon every student and faculty member stimulation of their presence here. Come again, fellows; it was swell to have you . . . and other service men like you who love their alma mater.

Roughnecks Win Volleyball Games

The WAA volleyball tournament got under way Tuesday, November 2, when "Mike's Roughnecks" defeated "Dot's Flashes," 11-9 and 11-2. On Thursday, November 4, the "Rushin' Refugees" will meet "Kelly's Zoot-Suiters."

Alice Kaaland, volleyball sportshead, has announced the following teams:

Team 1, "Mike's Roughnecks": Virginia Michelsen, captain; Jean Lovvold, Carrie Person, Bernice Bernhartsen, Virginia Seaburg, Mildred Brodland, Marilyn Pflueger, Lorraine Akehurst, Helen Peterson, and Annabelle Birkestol.

Team 2, "Dot's Flashes": Dorothy Nieman, captain; Thilda Heilman, Fern Erickson, Anne Nelson, Elizabeth Fynboe, Gladys Anderson, Marjory Carlson, Arlene Lindsay, Marilyn Vanderlute, and Marjorie Winblade.

Team 3, "Rushin' Refugees": Cecelia Gardlin, captain; Charlene Martins, Alice Pflaum, Alice Brudie, Ollie Tweeden, Ardis Severson, Amy Munz, Corinne Erickson, Inga Johnson, and Esther Velsvik.

Team 4, "Kelly's Zoot-Suiters": Carolyn Hawley, captain; Lillian Thorleifson, Rhoda Lee, Priscilla Preus, Catherine Morrow, Jyrdis Rogan, Janet Hauge, Ruth Wallen, Mary Elin McDaniel, and Florence Howarth.

Kampus Kombings . . .

Schnackenberg versus Funk. No, this battle wasn't a foot-race or a fight, nor was the Dean catching Funk climbing the fire-escape. This was the battle of chess. Although the former check-mated his opponent four games, the latter rallied in the last one and won his only game of the evening.

MORE LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT

During the last two weeks the black kalsomine on windows around the campus has disappeared. Dim-out regulations enacted during Christmas vacation in 1941 were relaxed a short time ago by the defense authorities.

We wonder if the former sailor who living among us was in the camouflage corps of the navy. At least someone has been the brain of the outfit that is now wearing shoes of rainbow hues.

WRONG WAY CORRIGAN AGAIN

Misdirected energy was Virginia Seaburg's difficulty at volleyball turnout the other night. By her remarkable shots in the wrong direction Virginia proved herself the star player of the opposing team.

Wonder what became of that beautiful friendship between Amy Jean Munz and Louis Johnson that began at freshman initiation? Ask Amy to let you see that chummy picture she has.

Two more customers for the Kicking Post—Francelle Schoch and Herb Nienstedt.

When Florence Reiman sold her last ticket to the A. W. S. skating party, she was quite ready to tackle the Brooklyn bridge auction.

WALKATHON RECORD CHALLENGED

Marion Soltman and Waletta Hornshuh have challenged that record set by Biddy Brodland and Company the other day. They are going to walk into town on the first nice day. (Bet they hope it rains for a good long time.)

When you hear Frank Pavia and Wesley Hillman talking about lifting the diaphragm or checking the body, you wonder whether they are on their way to anatomy class or if it's just that limousine that needs overhauling again.

We sort of wonder if someone is entering P. L. C. young enough to graduate before draft age or if the present gas shortage is the reason for the conveyance parked in the gym—a baby stroller.

ATLAS INC.

Dorothy Blandau doesn't know whether to be sad or glad that her history book finally arrived. Adding it to her already high stack of literary volumes makes her look like Atlas, with the world and its trouble as his burden.

A PLC alumna, Jenny Bardon, '38, is back this semester to complete the requirements for a B. A. degree. Jenny, whose home is in Seattle, has been teaching music and other subjects at the grade school in Port Orchard.

LEND ME YOUR EARS!

Have you been hearing weird sounds around the campus lately? Don't be alarmed, for there are two non-occult possibilities. It might be our musical pooch who stations himself outside Mrs. Dilt's door and competes with the aspiring voice student inside in reaching high C; or it may be some student in Dr. Pflueger's fundamentals of speech class, ambitiously practicing "pitch exercises" or a dramatic poem.

Inauguration Day Calendar Released

Dr. Seth C. Eastvold will be formally installed as the President of Pacific Lutheran College, on Sunday, November 28, in the Trinity Lutheran Church, Parkland. The program for this important occasion has been released early so that students and friends of the college can make arrangements for being present. Homecoming for former PLC students is being scheduled on the same day in order that the alumni might be present for the inauguration as well as for the program planned by the student body.

INAUGURATION AND HOMECOMING SCHEDULE

- Sunday morning, November 28
- 10:45—Homecoming service in Trinity Lutheran Church with Rev. J. A. Aasgaard, president of N.L.C.A., as guest pastor. The entire service will be broadcast over radio station KTBI, Tacoma, 1490 Kc.
 - Sunday Afternoon
 - 12:30—Dinner served in church parlors by Trinity Women's Guild.
 - 2:15—Academic procession from the college campus to the Trinity church auditorium.
 - 2:30—Inauguration of President S. C. Eastvold with messages from Dr. J. A. Aasgaard, president of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America; Dr. P. O. Bersell, president of Augustana Synod; and Dr. Leonhard Ludvig, representing the American Lutheran Church of America. Dr. Aasgaard will install Dr. Eastvold, who will deliver his inaugural address.
- Greetings from prominent civic, educational, and church leaders. Music by the Pacific Lutheran College "Choir of the West" and orchestra.
- Radio stations KTBI, Tacoma (1490 kc.), and KRSC, Seattle (1150) will broadcast this service from 2:30-4:30 P. M.
- 5:30—Informal reception and homecoming buffet supper in the college recreation room with a program arranged by the PLC student body.

book, the faculty voted to select members of the senior class only this year. Basic qualifications for this honor are character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society. John Larsgaard, ASB president, and Mildred Reese, AWS president, as juniors last year, gained this national recognition. The first edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS was printed in 1935. The purpose of the book is to create a means of national recognition for deserving students that is free and impartial. WHO'S WHO also offers the free services of its placement bureau to those listed. This service has placed thousands of graduates and is used by 500 personnel directors of progressive firms.

EX-STUDENT LEADER IN V-12 MEDICAL CORPS

Marcus Stuen '43, son of Prof. and Mrs. Stuen and brother of Anita, reported to Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, October 25. He will study medicine under the Navy V-12 program.

MARK STUEN

On his arrival he checked in with the Navy, and was given a five-day leave after the usual tests, as no classes were scheduled until November 1.

Packing his grip, he caught the "Hiawatha" for Minneapolis where he visited relatives. While there, he had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Satre. Mr. Satre taught Greek and Latin at PLC in '40-'41, and is now attending theological seminary. Mrs. Satre (Elizabeth Dahl) was graduated from the Normal department here in '40.

Last year Mark was business manager for the "Saga," and was prominent in other school activities.

Mark is optimistic about his prospects in surgery. In a recent letter home he wrote: "In two years eight months (the present curtailed training period) maybe Dad will let me operate on a chicken."

CHAPEL QUOTES

Letting our lights shine for Christ will kindle a flame in the lives of others.—Dr. S. C. Eastvold.

The Word of God is the only thing in the world that endures forever.—Dr. J. P. Plueger.

When we perceive the awe-inspiring vastness and minuteness of God's creation, we wonder with the Psalmist: "What is man that thou art mindful of him?"—Dr. Arlton.

It has been said that song is the handmaiden of worship.—Prof. G. J. Malmirn.

Through His resurrection from the dead, Christ spoke untold volumes.—Prof. E. Tingelstad.

To really live is to rise above the humdrum of daily existence and give forth the best of our God-given abilities.—Donald Eastvold.

We cannot have victory in our lives unless we have faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and His work for us.—Nora Kjesbu.

Add yourselves and your talents to the manpower shortage of the church.—Paul Funk.

CHAPEL GUESTS

Dr. Samuel Miller and Rev. Odd Gornitzka from the Lutheran Bible Institute of Minneapolis, who have been in Tacoma on a six-day Bible Mission, were guest speakers at Chapel last week.

CLUB NOTES

CAMPUS DEVOTIONS

"Come ye apart and rest awhile." Nora Kjesbu, president of Campus Devotions, invites you to share the cloistered quietness of the Reception Room, each Friday noon at 12:35, for a brief period of devotional singing and meditation from God's Word.

Dr. Arlton has been chosen faculty adviser, and Doris Jurgerson and Nellie Risa, L. S. A. representatives. Jeanette Burzlaff is program chairman for this month.

MISSION SOCIETY

Dean Ronning was the speaker at the meeting of the Mission Society, Wednesday, October 27. After relating many interesting experiences about missionary work in China, where his father served, Dr. Ronning closed his talk with a Chinese song.

Betty Hatlen was appointed secretary in charge of the Pocket Testament League campaign.

L. S. A.

Mrs. S. C. Eastvold, Mrs. N. B. Thorpe, Mrs. G. J. Malmirn, and Miss Dora Berg were hostesses for L.D.R. at the president's residence on Wednesday, October 20. The purpose of the L.D.R. was reviewed by Doris Jurgerson, and Dorothy Nelman gave a report of the district convention held in Seattle last May. Dorothy Ofstedahl read a poem and Gerry Olson sang two solos.

FIRESIDE

Guest speaker for the "singspiration" at Fireside Sunday, October 24, was Dean

Former PLC Teacher Passes

Miss May F. Crosno, "house mother" in the senior girls' dormitory and teacher in the high school department at Pacific Lutheran College last year, died in a Seattle hospital October 21. Funeral services were held in Yakima, where her pioneer parents settled after crossing the plains by covered wagon in 1865.

Miss Crosno came to Pacific Lutheran College with a rich background of teaching experience. She had taught in Colton, Wash., in the Oregon State Normal School, in the Washington State School for Girls, and in the public schools of Hartline, Washington. From 1917 to 1920 she was principal at Wrangell, Alaska. She was a graduate of the Ellensburg Normal School, and of the University of Washington, and had done graduate work at the University of California and the University of Hawaii. Last summer she continued her graduate studies at Johns Hopkins University.

Miss May F. Crosno

of Men Schnackenberg, who gave a brief talk on the history of hymn tunes. Mr. Schnackenberg pointed out that the Lutheran Church has been called the "singing church." Hymn singing concluded the program.

L. S. A.

Isabel Harstad and Albert Kuhn, both representing Fireside, will fill two of the three administrative positions of LSA for the ensuing year. Isabel was chosen to preside as president, Albert as secretary-treasurer, and Joan Satern as vice-president.

The Council is composed of two representatives from each of the religious groups of the campus. Virginia Mikelson and Betty Hatlen will act for LDR, Eunice Torvend and Joan Satern for Mission Society, Isabel Harstad and Al Kuhn for Fireside, and Nellie Risa and Doris Jurgerson for Campus Devotions. Lois Ludvig and John Larsgaard are ex-officio members.
