Worth Noting

 [Table of Contents ]

Schnackenberg lecture tonight!

"History Through Tears: Endangered Children in Modern American History" will be presented by Leroy Ashby, history professor at Washington State University, at the Walter C. Schnackenberg Memorial Lecture. Ashby is an expert in the history of child welfare, and has written a book on the dependency, neglect and abuses of children in modern America. The lecture will begin at 7:30 pm tonight in the Scandinavian Cultural Center. Admission is free.

Academics under the microscope: three forums focus on real changes in a PLU education

"To be prepared against surprise is to be trained. To be prepared for surprise is to be educated," wrote author James Carse. PLU has long discussed education of the whole person, and not just training a student in a highly specialized professional degree nor in a liberal arts degree that has no tie to service, leadership and care. In that vein, PLU's Long Range Planning Committee has developed two initiatives for PLU's academic program: a focus on active learning and on the integration of liberal and professional studies, particularly through strengthened and complementary minors and second majors. This discussion is presented in the draft document "Building a More Distinguished and Distinctive Academic Program: An Addendum to PLU 2000," and will be the topic of three forums this week. The forums are a chance to share ideas and discuss

Sharing the wisdom of women world leaders

Laura Liswood, a 45-year-old Seattle lawyer and management expert on leadership, began a journey several years ago to talk with nearly every living woman president or prime minister. Through her interviews, she explored issues such as why women are underrepresented in government and why traditionally feminine qualities of nurturing and cooperating are not more active in world politics. Liswood will share the personal and political wisdom she learned from women such as Corazon Aquino, Margaret Thatcher and Eugenia Charles, the prime minister of Dominica, at a 7 pm on March 6 in the SCC. The event is sponsored by the Women's Center in celebration of Women's History Month.

Getting there is half the fun

It's time again for Pierce County's Oil Smart campaign. Beginning this week, PLU employees are encouraged to try commute trip alternatives. Each Wednesday in March, you are encouraged to take the bus, carpool, bicycle, walk or telecommute instead of driving to work alone. Everyone who participates will be eligible for fun prizes. Watch for your participation form in campus mail or call Nancy Scott, 7233, for more information.

"What's in a Middle Name?" discussion continues

"How Does the Lutheran Tradition of Higher Education Intersect with the possibilities of how academic learning and liberal/professional integration can be implemented.

The meetings will be 12-1 pm on March 4, and 8 am on March 5, both in the Regency Room, and at 4:15 pm on March 6 in Ingram 100. All students, faculty, administrators and staff are invited. Copies of the document are available in the Provost's Office.

Classroom?" will be addressed by Wendy McCredie, chair of the language department at Texas Lutheran University and presenter at the 1996 Vocation of a Lutheran College conference. Faculty and administrative staff are invited to hear McCredie and join in the conversation from 3:30 to 5 pm on March 6 in the Faculty House. Light refreshments will be served, hosted by the Church Relations Advisory Task Force.

J-Term '98 out and about

Interested in backpacking New Zealand, from ancient volcano craters to mountain lakes to ocean beaches? Then attend an interest meeting for the J-Term '98 study abroad class "Tramping the Tracks of New Zealand," at 6:30 pm on March 4 in UC 210. Also, an interest fair for all J-Term classes for 1998 will be from 4:30 to 6:30 pm on April 10 in UC 206 and 210.

Abracadabra, it's Dessert Theater

Delicious treats and illusory feats will make the spring Dessert Theater an event not to miss. Enjoy a selection of desserts while magician John Amidon amazes you at 7 pm on March 4 in the CK. Tickets are $2 and are available at the UC Info Desk or at the door.

Give blood, give life

Make time to donate at the campus blood drive from 1-6 pm on March 3, and 9 am-2 pm on March 4 in the CK. First-time donors need to bring a photo ID card. Questions? Call Scott, 8000.

Fast for world hunger

A 30-hour famine will be held on March 7 and 8 to promote world hunger awareness. The famine begins with a praise and worship service at 7 pm on March 7 in Xavier 201, and ends with a Eucharist service at 7 pm on March 8 in Tower Chapel. Donations may be made to World Vision, in care of Ryan Alexander in the RHA office. Call Patty Milton, 8469, for more information.

Nominate inspiring PLU women

Have you been inspired by a past or present PLU woman? Nominate her to be honored at a banquet sponsored by the Women's Center at 6 pm on March 12 in the CK. The banquet is part of the campus Women's History Month celebration in March, and will celebrate those women of PLU who have inspired others through their work and commitment to community building and outreach, support for individuals, leadership and participation, and justice and equality. Nominations of any former or current female faculty, staff or administrator are due March 7, so contact the Women's Center, 8759, soon!

ID card-makers find new home

Remember, the ID card office has left the Student Services Center in the administration building for its new home next to the UC Info Desk. It's open 8 am-6:30 pm on Mon.-Thurs., 8 am-5 pm on Friday, and 12-2 pm on Saturday. Call Mark Stevens, ID card manager, 8874, if you need any special arrangements.

Ground yourself in databases

There is one more spring workshop to help sort out your database questions on topics from CD ROMs to the Internet. Sponsored by the library, the session teaches the basics of database searching and includes time for hands-on searching and demonstrations of some databases used most heavily at PLU. The workshop is 7-8:30 pm on March 5 in the Library Instruction Center (library basement). Call 7507 to register.

Exhibits change in University Gallery

It's transition time at the University Gallery in Ingram. Join the party for the closing of the annual faculty exhibition, "The Known, the Unknown and the Unknowable" from 5 to 7 pm on March 6 in the gallery. Return a few days later for the opening of David Keyes' show, "Small Monuments and Techno-Archaic Devices" from 5 to 7 pm on March 11. The show features cast-bronze and found-object pieces depicting whimsical views of machinery from this century. Keyes' works will be on display through April 11. Gallery hours are 8:30 am to 4:30 pm, Mon.-Fri.

The Sustainability of Urban Agriculture

From Nairobi to Bangkok to Hartford, Conn., Rachel Nugent (Economics) has studied urban agriculture and its sustainability. In cities across the nation and throughout the world, there are places where people are able to grow their own produce, in vacant lots, on rooftops and in their backyards. Nugent examined why people choose to raise gardens in the city, and if it is economically, socially and environmentally sustainable. She will present her findings from 2:30-3:30 pm on March 14 in Xavier 114 as part of the "Perspectives in the Social Sciences" lecture series.

Stroll through the arts

The Society for the Arts and the School of the Arts sponsor the annual Stroll Through the Arts on March 16. The evening begins with a sit-down dinner and entertainment at 4 pm in the CK, and ends with a dessert buffet and more entertainment in Ingram. The event is $15 for Society of the Arts non-members and $10 for members. Call 7150 for more information and reservations.

Eat at the Table Française

Join the Table Française for good company and discussions about francophone culture and how it relates to life at PLU. The French Club meets on Fridays at 12:30 pm through May 9 in UC 214, except on March 14 and April 4, when the club will meet in the Washington Room. Call Suzanne

Final week for diversity competition

There's still one week until essays, poetry, short stories, film, performance art, music compositions, web pages or whatever other forms you use to express what it means for PLU to be a diverse community are due in the Diversity Prize Competition. The student competition is sponsored by the Faculty-Staff Diversity Committee, and awards a $500 scholarship, a $200 scholarship and two $50 gift certificates to the Bookstore and PLU Northwest. The committee encourages participation from all disciplines and a variety of approaches to the topic. For specific guidelines on entry submission, contact Denis Arnold, 8107. The contest deadline is noon on March 10.

"Streetcar Named Desire"

University Theatre presents "Streetcar Named Desire," Tennessee Williams' masterpiece about a fragile Southern gentlewoman who struggles to retain a way of life that is doomed to extinction. The play begins at 8 pm on March 6-8, 14 and 15, and at 2 pm on March 16 in Eastvold. Tickets are $4 for PLU students, staff and faculty. PLU students may preview the show at 8 pm on March 6 for $2.

Read any good books?

New in the Bookstore is John Grisham's latest novel, "The Partner." Come and check it out.

Coming Attractions at MBR

Choir Ensembles March 4

Choir of the West breaks ranks to perform madrigals and other light-hearted songs in three-to six-voice ensembles at 8 pm.

Wind Ensemble March 9

Raydell Bradley conducts the Wind Ensemble's homecoming concert, featuring the works of David Holsinger, Karel Husa and Paul Hindemith at 3 pm.

Violin Recital March 11

Guest artists Leonid Keylin of the Seattle Symphony and Michael Hentz of the Paris Conservatoire perform an all-Bach concert at 8 pm, including solo Bach sonatas and Bach's Double Concerto for Two Violins assisted by Jane Harty on piano.

Toczyski, 7219, with questions. Venez nombreux!

Faculty & Staff

Roya Sabeti (Physics & Engineering) presented the paper "Microfabricated Interlock System for Precision Alignment" at a Society of Optical Engineers conference on Feb. 11 in San Jose, Calif. Micah Dilley, PLU junior, helped with computer graphics for the presentation.

Workplace Safety: Plant Services presents two workshops to help you be safe at work. A Personal Protective Equipment Training class for positions identified in PLU's safety manual as requiring training will be from 8:30 am to 3:30 pm on March 4 in UC 210. Call Jennifer, 7385, for a detailed schedule. Two sets of classes in ergonomics and lifting (materials handling) will train supervisors, who will then take the information back to their employees (non-supervisors are welcome as space allows). Ergonomics will be held at 1:30 pm on March 10, and 8:30 pm on March 11 in UC 210, and Lifting will be held at 3 pm on March 10, and 10 am on March 11, also in UC 210. Space in each of the programs is limited to 20 participants. Call Nancy, 7233, to sign up, or fax attendee lists to 535-8328.
