NO. 22

PACIFIC LUTHERAN UNIVERSITY

April 3, 1964

FORMER U.N. AMBASSADOR WADSWORTH
TO SPEAK ON "PROSPECTS FOR PEACE"

"Prospects for Permanent Peace" will be the subject of a discussion by James J. Wadsworth, former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, tonight at 8 p.m. in the Eastvold Chapel auditorium at Pacific Lutheran University.

The discussion, part of the PLU Associated Students Lecture and Entertainment Series, will deal with the developments in international relations which give clues as to the foreseeable future of peace. He also will discuss the role the United States should play in exerting world leadership for peace as well as the many pitfalls in the way.

Wadsworth is the scion of an old New York family devoted to politics and public service. His father, James W. Wadsworth, served in Congress for 30 years. The Yale-educated younger Wadsworth sat in the New York Legislature for 10 years.

Prior to his appointment to the U.N., he served in a number of posts in the Federal government. He represented the U.S. at the nuclear test ban talks in Geneva and for three years was the U.S. representative on disarmament. As head of the American delegation to the U.N. in 1960, he parried Khrushchev's shoe-pounding thrusts at the historic October General Assembly session.

Since his on-the-spot participation in the U.N., the Ambassador has served as President of the Peace Research Institute. He has written a book, "The Price of Peace," which deals with the steps to be taken on the path to disarmament and world peace.

The discussion, which is open to the public, is complimentary.

PLU ORCHESTRA TO PRESENT
ANNUAL SPRING CONCERT SUNDAY

It will open the program with Handel's "Grand Concerto in B Flat Major" followed by Mozart's "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra No. 28." Mrs. Tina Tossey, a senior music major, will be featured on the piano for the latter number.

Following the intermission, the 27-piece group will conclude their program with "Symphony No. 40 in G Minor" by Mozart.

THE COPY HOOK

The 1964 catalogues are here. Faculty members, pick up your copy at the Information Desk in the administration building.

This is Christian College month. Next Sunday, April 12, is Christian College Sunday.

All employees are reminded that PLU office typewriters are not for private, commercial use. It costs considerably to maintain one typewriter (perhaps $100 a year) above its original cost. Understandably, the University cannot allow these machines to serve non-University purposes, except by special permission of the Business Manager.

OPEN SEASON FOR HUNTING TEACHERS
IN FULL SWING; 276 INTERVIEWED

A total of 276 interviews with senior teaching candidates were conducted during the month of March according to Miss Anna Marn Nielsen, director of teacher placement.

Miss Nielsen stated that some candidates were interviewed by three districts while others have not yet been interviewed. A candidate makes his own choice as to when he wants to be interviewed.

Some 36 districts--29 from Washington, four from California, two from Oregon and one from Alaska--made contacts to schedule interviews. One district had 33 candidates sign up for interviews while in three cases no candidate signed up. Others ranged between these figures.

Some districts sent as many as five administrators for their interview sessions while several sent four and many three.

Many candidates have applied in many other districts in-state and out-of-state and are now negotiating contracts. Several have already signed their contracts.

Interviews and other contract arrangements will continue until all candidates are placed, according to Miss Nielsen. This will probably continue into the summer.

Miss Nielsen said that beginning salaries range from $4,700 to $5,100. She added that elementary teachers are much in demand and 85 per cent of the contracts to date are for teachers in this division.

"Interviewers tell us they go out to hire four elementary teachers to one secondary. However, they find candidates who wish interviews are one elementary to four secondary. A real concern was expressed in this area."

"Our candidates impress the interviewers as exceptionally fine young people who are well prepared professionally and academically," she added.

PLU TO HONOR AREA SCHOOL
ADMINISTRATORS, TEACHERS
AT BANQUET TONIGHT

Administrators and teachers from ten area school districts will be honored guests at one of two Teacher Education Banquets to be held by Pacific Lutheran University.

Because of the increased number of individuals involved in the practice teaching program of PLU, the annual "thank you" dinner has been split this year. One banquet will be held tonight and the other April 10.

Approximately 600 superintendents, principals and teachers of the various school districts, where PLU students did their student teaching, are expected to attend the identical banquets. Both events will be held at 6 p.m. in Chris Knutzen Fellowship Hall.

Theme for the banquet is "Education is the keystone in the area of freedom and progress," a statement by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Dr. Robert Mortvedt, PLU president, will be the guest speaker while the University Singers will present several musical selections.

Mrs. Joyce Chatman will be the toastmistress tonight while Ronald Swift will act as toastmaster for the April 10 banquet.

Dr. Philip E. Hauge, academic vice-president, Dr. John Amend, dean of the school of education, and Miss Anna Marn Nielsen, director of teacher education, also will take part in the program.

Student co-chairman for the event are Kathleen Anderson and Kaye Whisler, senior education majors. Assisting are Mary Ekstrand, decorations chairman, and Shirley Carlson, program chairman.

School districts assisting PLU with the student teaching program are Bethel, University Place, Tacoma, Fife, Clover Park, Franklin Pierce, DuPont, Sumner, Puyallup and North Thurston.

BASEBALL, TRACK, TENNIS SQUADS OPEN 1964 SCHEDULES SATURDAY

Three PLU spring sports teams will open the season Saturday afternoon.

The baseball squad will entertain Western Washington in a pair of seven-inning Evergreen Conference games. All PLU home games will be played on the Western State Hospital diamond. Action begins at 1 p.m.

Coach Roy Carlson has eight lettermen back from last year, plus added depth in pitching so there is some ray of optimism in the Knight baseball camp.

A pair of Swedes, Hans Albertsson and Verner Lagesson, should give PLU track enthusiasts plenty to cheer about. Both have performed well in two pre-season outings.

Albertsson, who won the NAIA high jumping title in 1962, took first place in both the WSU Indoor meet and the Willamette Relays while Lagesson, a javelin specialist, had respective finishes of second and third.

The Knight thinclads host the Seattle Olympic Club at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

PLU's tennis squad, which has absorbed 22 straight setbacks, will be trying to reverse the tide when it faces Western Washington on the PLU courts Saturday at 1 p.m. Four lettermen return from last year's team.

USAF SYSTEMS CAREER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM BEGINS FIRST COURSE SATURDAY

The first course of the new U.S. Air Force Systems Command Career Development program, being offered by the PLU School of Business Administration, will begin tomorrow.

The first two-week course is entitled "Elements of Production and Operations Management." Instructors will be Dr. Gundar King, assistant professor of business administration at PLU, and Prof. Douglas Cochran, a member of the faculty at the University of Oregon School of Business.

The class will meet three days per week for eight hours per day. It will be limited to 28 participants.

TWO PLU STUDENTS SELECTED TO CHALLENGE BUSINESS LEADERS

Two Pacific Lutheran University students are among the 14 representatives from Washington colleges selected to take part in a panel discussion with four business leaders during the annual Association of Washington Industry's meeting in Seattle April 24-25.

Representing PLU are two juniors--William Juneau (Bremerton) and David Ekberg (Bellevue).

The students will challenge the business leaders with questions on politics, government and economics. They were selected on the basis of their knowledge of political science and politics. Between them, they have won many honors and virtually all carry high grade-point averages and participate in various extracurricular activities.

AMS SPRING CARNIVAL BEINGS; BEAR CONTEST JUDGING TONIGHT, LETTERMEN'S CLUB JUBILEE SATURDAY

The Annual Associated Men Students spring carnival will be held this weekend.

Activity began Thursday with the crowning of the King and Queen of Spring, Gus Kravas and Julie Danskin. Other finalists in the competition included Karen Lund and Phyllis Peterson for queen and John Templin and Doug Mjourn for king.

The festival continues on tonight and Saturday evening with an old-fashioned community carnival, consisting of home-made games and booths. This portion of the program will be held in Memorial Gymnasium.

Highlight of the tonight's program will be the judging of the beard-growing contest. For the past few weeks PLU males have been growing some semblance of a beard. Prizes will be awarded for various sizes and shapes.

The Lettermen's Club will present its annual "Jubilee" program Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Eastvold Chapel auditorium.

UNIVERSITY IN PROFILE

The PLU School of Nursing will be featured on this week's UNIVERSITY IN PROFILE program Saturday at 3 p.m. on KTNT-TV, Channel 11.

Appearing on the program with producer Judd Doughty will be Mrs. Eline Morken, director of nursing, and Miss Josephine Fletcher, an instructor of nursing. They will discuss the need in nursing, the procedures to obtain a degree and how PLU's School of Nursing is meeting the need. This is the first of a two-part series on the School of Nursing.

"PIRATES OF PENZANCE" TO BE PRESENTED APRIL 16-18

The Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Pirates of Penzance," will be presented by PLU's department of music opera workshop April 16-18 at 8 p.m. on the stage of the Eastvold Chapel auditorium.

Directed and conducted by Fredrick L. Newnham, the opera is the story of young lad, named Frederic, who was mistakenly apprenticed as a pirate instead of a pilot and his efforts to have his fellow pirates join him in embracing a more lawful calling.

The plot is spiced by the development of a romance between Frederic and some of his pirate friends and a group of lovely ladies, who are wards of the Major-General.

Stephen Cornils, a sophomore music major, will play the lead role of Frederic.

PIANO SEMINAR SCHEDULED
THURSDAY, KNAPP TO INSTRUCT

A piano seminar will be presented at PLU Thursday at 10:30 a.m. The one-hour session, which is complimentary to the public, is being presented in cooperation with the University Society of New York.

Calvin Knapp, instructor of music at PLU, will conduct the seminar. The first of its kind to be held on the west coast, the seminar will stress more effective piano teaching methods, dealing with many of the basic fundamentals of playing piano.

It will be conducted in room 228 of Eastvold Chapel.

ARCHITECT BUSY DESIGNING
NEW DORMITORY FOR MEN

The Tacoma architectural firm of Lea, Pearson and Richards has been engaged to design the new dormitory for 180 men to be built on the lower campus adjacent to Pflueger Hall. John Richards of the firm, who has designed most of the buildings on campus, has submitted several preliminary floor plans to the administration. Final plans have not been adopted.

It is expected that construction on the new building will begin by September and that the work will be completed by the fall semester, 1965.

Tentative approval has been given for a loan to finance the building by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. Loans from this agency made possible the construction of South, North, West, and Pflueger Halls and Columbia Center.

Several architects have been contacted in regard to designing of the swimming pool and physical education complex to be centered around the present gymnasium.

TASSELS TO HOLD ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIP TEA SUNDAY

The Tassels will hold their annual scholarship tea Sunday afternoon in Chris Knutzen Hall at 3 p.m.

Each semester the Tassels honor all women students who achieved a 3.0 or better grade point average the previous semester.

Those in attendance at the tea will hear Mrs. Thomas Swayze, a member of the Washington State Legislature, give a brief address.

Kathy Taylor is in charge of the program.
