LUTE NETTERS OPEN
SATURDAY AGAINST
COLLEGE OF IDAHO

At this level of tennis competition, where numbers one and two single players are often in the limelight, while three through six are generally categorized as "they also played," PLU Tennis Coach Mike Benson is finding greater depth than ever before as he attempts to trim his squad down to the six man player limit for the College of Idaho match here on Saturday, March 27. Action commences at 1:30 p.m.

With only one senior on the squad--Dave Anderson from Portland, Benson is putting many new faces through the paces and the outcome of early week intersquad matches should determine the rotation for Saturday's opener.

At this stage, the Lutes top four appears to be Ted Carlson, Jim Sheets, Tim Thies, and Dave Anderson, although not necessarily in that order.
