

Mu Phi To Present 'Hansel and Gretel'

"Hansel and Gretel," the well loved German Folk Opera by Engelbert Humperdinck, will come to the PLC campus next Tuesday at 8:00 p.m. in the C-M-S building. This is the third pre-holiday season that the Tacoma Alumnae Society, Mu Phi Epsilon, has produced the opera. Nominally priced tickets will be available at the door.

Mrs. Robert H. (Katheine) Gronen, who is a graduate of the University of Washington, has done graduate work at the Juillard School of Music and Columbia University and has coached operatic roles with Rolf Gerard of the Metropolitan Opera Company. She will portray Gidd.

Mrs. Jack (Kris) Powell, who portrays the part of Hansel, attended Pomona College and spent three years in the Women's Army Corps as a vocalist and director of entertainment in Army general hospitals in and around Fort Sam Houston, Texas. She now studies voice with Mrs. Donald Dilts.

Mrs. Conant (Edith) Dodge, who is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, a former junior high school teacher and a student of Mrs. Dilts, will play the part of the Witch. Mrs. Paul (Esther) Jones will be the Sandman. She is a graduate of the University of Oregon, a former high school teacher of music and is a past president of the Mu Phi Alumnae chapter.

The piano score will be played by Mrs. Paul Margelli and Mrs. Stewart Van Clyke. Mrs. Margelli is a Northwestern University and a former public school music teacher, while Mrs. Van Slyke is a graduate of Washington State College and a past president of Tacoma Alumnae chapter.

The pantomime will be given by following students of the Heatherland Studios, directed by Mrs. LaEta Heath: Tamara Merrick, Sherry Holmes, Adrienne Allen, Ethel and Celia Pascoe, Sally Hovee and Nora Sullivan. The narration will be given by Mrs. E. Albert Morrison.

Staging of the performance has been carried out by Messers R. D. Voth, Frank Anarde, John Travis, Joe Beckman Jr., Lloyd Buchanan, James Shook, John Gill, and Jane Powers.

The performance is being sponsored at PLC by Epsilon Sigma, the new chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon on the campus, of which Miss Jeanette Foss is president.

Proceeds will benefit the Epsilon Sigma Chapter and the college music scholarship fund of the Tacoma Chapter.

Rydgren Concludes Trip to Reed College

Returning from his trip to Reed College in Oregon, where he represented the Evergreen Conference of schools, John Rydgren, student body president, reported that the proposed purpose of the meeting was completed.

John and another representative from Washington met with two representatives from the Oregon Federation of Schools to draw up a constitution for the proposed merger of the Washington and Oregon organizations of colleges and universities.

All-College Play Opens Successfully

By John Shannon

The Department of Speech can place another trophy in its hall of fame, after its production of "Gown of Glory," the center-staged, all-college play, held Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of this week.

A large amount of credit is due Miss Jean McGregor and Stanley D. Elbersen, co-directors, for the work and long hours they spent directing and rehearsing the play.

Humor, ranging from slight chuckles to outbursts of laughter, besides a touch of sadness, captivated the crowd attending the performance. Comments, ranging from the conservative to the liberal were heard, all praising the fine performance given by the cast.

Glenn Johnson and Sean Christenson held the lead roles, Pastor and Mrs. David Lyall. Their facial expressions, body positions and movements, besides their fine acting, enabled them to hold the attention of the audience to extreme. The crowd cried as they cried, and laughed as they laughed.

Stewart Morton, Carol Falk and Diane Bassett were cast as the Lyall children, Jeremy, Lucy and Faith. Carol and Stewart did excellent portrayals of their characters, giving the audience a true-to-life impression.

Walter K. Nealon, in his portrayal of Mr. Dilling, appeared to be at his best. Comments in his praise were heard from many.

To get a view from the players' point of view, toward the audience reaction, Nealon, a veteran actor for seventeen years and now a student here, said, "I believe the audience enjoyed the play immensely. They were both attentive and responsive, making them an easy audience to perform for."

Ted Carlstrom did a very good job in his portrayal of Ninton. His facial expressions fell in with the direct thought of his lines as he gave them.

Gerald Farmer, Judy Bureker, Myrna Berg and Paul Jordan played their parts very well, and it is the opinion of this writer that they could handle bigger parts.

One of the highlights of the show

LSA Members Band Performance Will Sponsor Will Honor Grieg

By Barbara Leaf

Forty-eight PLCites will embark this afternoon for nearby Lutherland, where they will attend the regional L.S.A. retreat. PLC is host for the week-end affair, on the shores of Lake Killarney, located ten miles north of Puyallup.

Between 150 and 200 students are expected to attend the annual fall retreat, which begins tonight with a get-acquainted mixer, and ends with a Communion Service Sunday forenoon. Collegians will represent the University of Washington, Washington State College, Western, Eastern and Central Washington Colleges, Whitworth, CPS, Lewis & Clark, University of Oregon, Oregon State, University of Idaho, Emanuel Hospital in Portland and General Electric College of Nuclear Physics in Richland.

Representing PLC will be Grover Akre, Walter Ball, Delores Beck, Dick Bersie, Kathryn Biery, Joann Bon Durant, Charlotte Brandt, Dick randt, Alan Carlson, David Churness, Gordon Christensen, Jeanne Frieske, Ronald Feness, Owen Flatberg, Donald Goorden, Ruth Hansen, Ellen Henry, Gerald Hickman, Jack Hoover, Connie Hustad.

Avis Jensen, Milt Jeter, Helen Jeter, Dick Knutson, Georgia Ann Larson, Peter Leraas, Bud Lester, Reinhold Miller, Allen Moen, Anna Marie Neilsen, Thelma Nygaard, Clarene Osterli, Joyce Puffert, Barbara Rice, Ramon Rierson.

Paul Running, Orville Siegler, Norman Schnaible, Myrna Shelver, Conrad Simonson, Ery Sivertson, Marlys Solterbeck, Lina Taber, Allan Twidt, Phil Wigen, K. Kverne, and Jeanne Frieske.

Many additional PLCites will be attending on Saturday or Sunday. Bud Lester, local LSA prexy, said, (Continued on Page Four)

The following is an exchange editorial written for the Mooring Mast by Scott McArthur, editor of "Trails," weekly newspaper at the College of Puget Sound.

Last week a dual outrage was committed against PLC and CPS. Under the cover of darkness and driving rain, raiders from CPS stealthily removed the Pacific Lutheran College sign from the entranceway to the campus and gave it a new home in the basement of a fraternity house. Shortly thereafter the CPS campus was liberally besplattered with paint, advertising its well-known cross-town rival.

As a result of the thoughtless actions of the students, both schools were faced with extensive, and expensive, clean-up and repair bills.

On the campuses of both schools, and too, upon some of the students, can be seen scars of previous paint and knuckle throwing escapades.

After thirty years of evading the issue, we, the students of both schools, must look the problem squarely in the eye.

While it is true that we, students of PLC and CPS, have not fallen for the rash of highly ridiculous mob actions that is sweeping the nation's colleges and universities, the continuing destructive vandalism is causing both institutions an equal amount of embarrassment.

Despite the statements of some campus hotheads, cooperation between schools is possible. For example, we have only to look to last Friday's joint pep rally. The colleges and their students certainly benefitted more from that display of cooperation than from the purposeful disfigurement of buildings dedicated supposedly to "higher education and Christian religion."

We at CPS feel that such atrocities must cease. Let us, instead, devote our efforts to improving our own schools, rather than tearing apart that of our rivals.

Debators Will Travel To Fresno

By Jo Hanssen

Representing Pacific Lutheran College among some six hundred contestants, eight students from the Department of Speech will travel to Fresno, Calif., to participate in the Western Speech Association Tournament, November 23, 24, 25.

Those students attending are Edith Engel, Janet Carson, Joyce Genz, Joanne Schief, John Osburn, Gene Jerry, Stuart Gilbreath and David Hestenes. All are members of the science debate division chair of the senior debate division.

The debators will be accompanied by Stanley D. Elbersen, assistant in the department of speech, while Professor Theodore O. H. Karl, director of the department of speech, will join the group on November 23, after departing from a meeting of the Evergreen Conference. Professor Karl is assistant coordinator of the tournament, and will remain in Fresno until November 28, during the time which he will address the group three times.

The tournament will play host to between sixty or seventy colleges and universities from the western states, and offers forensic competition in the following five divisions: (Continued on Page Two) the Norwegian theme.

A reception immediately following the concert to be held in the upper SUB is being planned by the Viking Club.

The finale of the program will be the joining together of the choir, chorus and band in presenting a choral work called "Land Sighting." Mr. Frederick Newnham, baritone, will be soloist for this number. The complete program consists of:

PROGRAM

Sigurd Jorsalfar Suite, Opus 50

1. Introduction (Musical Portrait of Sigurd).
2. Intermezzo (Borghild's Dream).
3. Huldigungsmarsch (Triumphal March).

"Gown of Glory" Is Merit to School

Another feather was added to the already highly decorated cap of the Department of Speech this week, as they presented their first dramatic production of the year, "Gown of Glory."
 The fine acting by the students and the obviously thorough guidance of Stanley Elberson and Miss Jean McGregor, faculty co-directors, were commented upon by the appreciative audiences.
 The unique central staging was shown to advantage. This was the first time that the new stage had been used for this purpose.
 It was a real merit to the school, and here's wishing the Department of Speech many more triumphs throughout the year.

 The topics for the five divisions are as follows:
 Debate—Resolved: "That the U. S. should adopt a policy of free trade."
 Oratory—Subject to be chosen by speakers.
 Extemporaneous Speaking—"Taxation."
 Interpretive Reading—Subjects will be chosen from the Holy Bible, modern poetry and a soliloquy.
 Discussion—"What can be done to improve the congressional investigation committee?"
 The PLC students are entered in the following divisions:
 Oratory (men)—Hestenes and Gilbreath.
 Oratory (women)—Schieff, Engel, and Carson.
 Extemporaneous (men)—Osburn, Perry, all women.
 Discussion—Hestenes, Perry, Gilbreath, all women.

Many Attend Lettermen Show

The annual Lettermen's show, "Anything Goes," was held last Friday in the SUB for a capacity audience of over 200.
 Though brief, the show contained several humorous acts, participated in by members of the club. Those taking part were: Robert Ross as master of ceremonies; Brian Price, Philip Nordquist, and Jack Hoover as Hawaiian artists; Ronald Roberts, Claire Egvedt, and Robert Marvonek in a typical scene from the President's office; Theodore Siek and Roger Larson in a western duet; Vernon Hanson as the show's pianist; Harold McLaughlin in a basketball exhibition; and the Lettermen's band led by Robert McAdams.

Others who participated were Peter Luvaas, Ray Lester, Dale Homestead, and Jack Ellington.

Spurs Welcome Candidates For 'Lucia Bride'

The Spurs are inviting all the clubs on campus to sponsor a candidate for their Lucia Bride Festival which will be held on Friday, December 4, in the upper SUB.

The qualifications are only that she is a member of the Student Body, and she may be selected from any class—Freshman through Senior. Campaigning will start November 23 and voting will take place on Tuesday, December 1.

The Lucia Bride Festival is primarily a Swedish tradition which officially opens the Yuletide season for them. According to the tradition, Lucia was a medieval saint who went about carrying food and drink to the hungry folk of her district. Now they picture Saint Lucia in a white dress, crimson sash and the traditional lingon-leaf crown adorned with lighted candles as she awakens each member of the household early in the morning and leaves steaming coffee, newly baked bread and buns at the bedside.

We do not intend to have our Lucia Bride do all these things, but we would like to have a festival honoring her so we are planning this program on December 4. There will be gay Scandinavian decorations, a program honoring the queen and refreshments following.

With the support of the various clubs on campus we are hoping that this festival will be a success, and that it may even become one of the traditions of PLC.

Yell Leader Likes Small School; Says PLC 'Greatest'

A lad noted for his quips, such as "Crazy, no?" and "zorch," is Stewart Morton, a sophomore here. He hails from Berkeley, California, and came to Pacific Lutheran College after attending one semester at the University of California, which he thought was too large.

"PLC is the greatest," he said. "The people in Washington make up for the weather, which is good for ducks."

Stewart's many extra-curricular activities include being a cheer leader, a member of the student council, and at present, he is cast as "Jeremy" in the all-college play, "Gown of Glory." He is very enthused about being a cheer leader, and says he is looking forward to basketball season. He expressed his gratitude to all those students who have been attending the games and yelling, but hopes that more students will attend the basketball games.

Our peppy student has few peevess and many interests. He washes dishes in the cafeteria, and lists as the headliner, "those people that complain about dirty coffee cups," as his main dislike. His interests include swimming and skating, but as far as a hobby, "I have been looking for a hobby since grade school when I was told that I should have one," he said.

Stewart is a speech major and pre-seminary student, and plans to attend Augustana Seminary in Rock Island, after completing college.

Grays Harbor J. C. Beats Lute Jayvees

The inexperienced Pacific Lutheran College jayvees dropped a 19-0 decision to the powerful Grays Harbor Junior College Chockers last Friday night at their home field in Aberdeen.

A number of the Lute players showed the potentialities of making good on the varsity squad next season. One player in particular who shows promise is Don Gaarder, a transfer from Montana State. Don broke loose for many nice gains, one almost getting into touchdown dirt. Halfback Jim Bricker also turned in a good performance. Dick Griswold, standout guard last year's championship team, showed he still had the old fight in him.

Art Swanson, Oliver Magnuson, and Ray Barnes coached the team. "Rinny" Miller was the manager for the evening.

News from the Bench

By Ted Siek

It wasn't a great finale for the Gladiator gridders last Saturday, but they still were the only team that beat Whitworth. The Whitworth-PLC affair was one of the craziest games ever seen in Lincoln Bowl. Very few fans actually saw the winning touchdown; they just saw a Karwoski pass disappear into the fog towards the end zone. After Billings split the uprights, I saw (Salzman take note) an unidentified Lute leap ten feet into the air.

I know you want the facts, so here they are: Team leaders—Rushing offense, Frank Karwoski, 261 yards; passing offense, Frank Karwoski, 19 completions in 54 attempts, gaining 305 yards; punting, Dick Larson, 38 punts, 33.7 yards per kick; punt returns, Frank Lancaster, 13 returns, 104 yards; kickoff returns, Billings, 7 returns for 151 yards; pass receiving, Billings, 21; pass interceptions, Billings, 5. Scoring, Billings, 23 points (three touchdowns and 5 extra points). Louis Spry, team statistician, submitted these figures.

About forty anxious cagers have been hooping it up at the PLC gym this week under the critical eyes of Harshman and Salzman. Lettermen Bob Ross, Vern Hanson, Garnet Lund, Phil Nordquist, Don Koessler and Larry Eggen head the list of candidates. Also in the picture will be Ron Billings, who dropped basketball last year to catch up on studies. Harsh has lost only one starter from the team that came in second in the State N.A.I.A. Tournament. Bob Ross, a 6'2" forward, was named on 1953's all-conference second team. He led the Parkland quintet in points last year, registering 246 in league play.

Mentor Harshman has spotted no McLaughlins or Lundgaards among those turning out. However, some frosh are showing promise. Del Brown and Sam Gange of Clover Park and Lowell Haeffels have scrimmaged with the varsity; Jim Ball is out again after a year lay-off. Dick Clare, Sacramento, Calif., and Jack Sinderson, Richland, Wash., have had considerable high school experience.

The first game is on November 24, with Western Washington, at Bellingham. Since this game is only days away, Harshman indicated he will name the squad as soon as possible.

Sidelights: St. Olaf has done it; they marched through eight opponents without being beaten or tied. In their last game the Oles went on the rampage and won by a 8-0 score, which was slightly better than their 45-points per game average. University of British Columbia debaters voted 8-5 to continue play in the Evergreen football loop. This may be an indication as to how the whole UBC student body will vote in a general meeting early in 1954. Whitworth as yet has received no bowl bids. The Pirates' quarterback, Wayne Buchert ranks about 20th in the nation in total offense—783 yards. Lou "Alphabet" Grbadziewski is the people's choice at CPS; they are pushing Grzadziewski for Little All-American honors. The Logger end plays a terrific defensive game, but All-Americans this year must excel in offense and defense. Look for my all-conference team next week.

Predictions: A run-down on forecasts convinces me to stay out of the fortune telling business. I've picked only six winners out of eleven. Gazing into the crystal I see UCLA over USC; Washington over Washington State; Oregon over Oregon State; Stanford over California; Illinois over Northwestern; Wisconsin over Minnesota, and Notre Dame over Iowa. Bob Garrett, Stanford, will receive All-American honors.

Graduating Lute Gladiators Recall Biggest Football Fright

Football squads all over the nation will be suffering from the loss of some of their best members when graduation ceremonies roll around, and PLC is no exception. Eight of the "Harsh-men" finished their seasons against CPS Saturday night and will receive their scrolls this coming June. They are Roger Larson, Richard Larson, James Ball, Frank Karwoski, Ronald Billings, Douglas McGrath, William Borden, and Robert McAdams.

In four years of play, these men have had some close calls as far as injury is concerned. But fear of an injury is not as likely to make a player panicky as is fear of a foolish blunder or fumble. The following are instances when each has been the most concerned about

CPS Upsets Lute Team

With a string of fleet backs and a hard-charging line working to perfection the College of Puget Sound had little trouble in handing PLC a 27-6 drubbing. Thus, the Loggers took home with them a share of the title with Whitworth, as well as the Totem Pole.

CPS showed they weren't fooling around as midway through the first quarter they scored on a 30-yard sprint by fullback Spike Schrette. The second touchdown was scored after one of three pass interceptions by CPS set them on the Lute 28-yard line. Loren Irwin went into the end zone from the 2. deCarteret converted for the second time.

It looked as if PLC was finally coming to life in the second quarter as Gary Gale, Lute center, tore through the line to block a CPS punt and recovered it on the Logger 24. The Gladiators worked the ball to the 9-yard line, but the busy deCarteret intercepted a Karwoski pass in the end zone to end the threat. The half ended with the Loggers on the long end of a 14-0 score.

It was the Loggers again in the third quarter who put together the longest march of the evening, going 61 yards to pay dirt. Espeland carried it over from the 2. deCarteret converted for a 21-0 margin. The Lutes were still trying to find themselves as deCarteret went over with the Loggers' final touchdown midway through the fourth quarter.

PLC, with 3:50 remaining in the game, finally broke into the scoring column with a three yard pass from Karwoski to Billings. Ron missed the extra point. Jack Ellingson set up the Lutes' single touchdown with a recovered fumble on the CPS 23.

CPS has been the only team to crack the Lute defense for 20 points or more; they pulled the trick twice. The loss of Bill Borden in the first quarter undoubtedly contributed a part in it. Be that as it may, CPS just had too much power for the Lutes to cope with. The Loggers ground out 278 yards on the ground; 18 first downs to the Lutes' 4.

Bidding farewell to Lute football spangles in this last game of the '53 season were Ron Billings, Frank Karwoski, Bill Borden, Jim Ball, Roger Larson, Dick Larson, and Doug McGrath.

Lutherans Defeat High Whitworth

People were walking away from Lincoln Bowl wondering if what they had seen was true. What they saw was true if they did see it! An underdog PLC team had come from behind to knock Whitworth from the ranks of the undefeated in a blinding fog. The fog had settled on the field during the fourth quarter and anxious fans hurriedly left the stands to form along the playing field. The players were not yet visible, evidence of the fog's density.

Looking at the game from the scoring angle, both touchdowns were confined to the last minute of play. The first three quarters saw neither team able to score, though Whitworth threatened several times. The Lutes, on the other hand, did not penetrate beyond the Pirate 32-yard line. Whitworth, however, was unable to find the break they needed, and Dick Larson's fine punting time and again drove Whitworth out of striking distance.

In the fourth quarter, after a Larson punt had seemingly put the Pirates in a hole on their own five yard line, Whitworth began to move. With Buchert and Ward eating up yardage the Pirates moved 95 yards to score with a minute remaining in the ball game. The extra point try hit the goal post and bounded to the side. At the time it didn't seem to matter, as for all practical purposes the game was over. Whitworth, however, didn't take PLC's one-two punch of Karwoski and Billings into consideration.

After returning the kickoff to the PLC 35 yard line, ill' Frank calmly stepped back and fired a pass to freshman Dale Homestead, who galloped to the Whitworth 12 before being knocked out of bounds. The play covered 53 yards.

Then, with PLC rooters screaming their lungs out, Karwoski went back a second time and found Jim Ball in the end zone for the game-tying score. First silence and then pandemonium reigned as Ron Billings kicked the extra point that spelled victory for PLC. It was a heartbreaking game for Whitworth to lose and all but doomed their hopes of getting a bowl bid.

Credit is due the Gladiator line, which held Whitworth, a team that had averaged 26 points a game, to a single score.

Western Defeats Tacoma

By Wally Burton

In the final game of intramural football, the Western team overcame Tacoma, 12-0, to tie with them for the championship.

It was a scoreless first half as neither team made a serious scoring effort. The tune changed in the second half, however, as Bud Lester scored two touchdowns on two center "smashes" behind some fine blocking. Dwaine Brandt passed one to Clyde Genz in the end zone to sew up the victory for the winners.

Western was anxious to win this

Early Birds Gather To Eat, Speak

By Bill Utzinger

As the golden disk of the rising sun squinted sleepily o'er the eastern horizon, fourteen other sons nodded sleepily o'er rich, brown steins of Boyd's best brew.

President Dave (Fish) Roe's gavel banged the meeting to hors d'oeuvre and fourteen pairs of eyelids fluttered to quarter mast. After the first course, namely coffee, the lids were fully at half mast and the meeting was enjoying full sail. What else? . . . with numerous glib orators.

President Roe won the Toastmaster's position by default and introduced Topicmaster D. Dalton Dahl. Following 3-D, we heard some superb examples of how to stammer through two-minute impromptu speeches.

game as Tacoma had squeezed by 12-6 in their first encounter.

In other games last week, Clover Creek beat So. Barracks 30-12, to retain their third place position. Tacoma overpowered Eastern 24-18, and Clover Creek 12-0.

Donn Koessler led the league in passing for touchdowns. He threw seventeen, while Bud Lester was second with eleven. Bob Lester tied with Koessler for scoring honors with 22. Closely following was Clyde Genz with 30.

The All-Star team chosen by the officials is:

First Team—Backs, Joe Trabucco, So. Barracks; Donn Koessler, Tacoma; Iver Eliason, Tacoma. Center, Virgil Weed, Tacoma. Ends, Len Nelson, Tacoma; Clyde Genz, Western. Linemen, Walt Trolson, Tacoma; Al Twidt, Western.

Second Team—Backs, Ted Siek, Clover Creek; Bud Lester, Western; Stan Jacobson, Clover Creek. Ends, Garnett Lund, Eastern; Don Hefly, Clover Creek. Linemen, Pete Luvaas, Eastern; Jack Hoover, Clover Creek; Dwaine Brandt, Western.

Marines To Offer Course

"The United States Marine Corps is looking for the best caliber of college women this country has to offer, to serve as commissioned officers in the U. S. Marines."

This was the main theme of a recent conference in which Colonel Julia E. Hamblet, Director of Women Marines, was interviewed for college campus publications.

"We've found that college women fill a vital role in the Marine Corps as command and administrative officers," said the head of 2700 Women Marines. She feels that service in the Armed Forces is one of the most rewarding opportunities in life. In addition, as Colonel Hamblet pointed out, a career in the Marine Corps is a profitable one, since a college woman can earn up to $4,250 upon appointment to the rank of second lieutenant.

some experience on the gridiron.

Doug McGrath—During the Whitworth game, when Karwoski's pass to Homestead went out of sight in the fog.

Roger Larson—While playing for Washington State, when he hurt his knee in scrimmage. He was afraid he wouldn't be able to play again.

Bill Borden—During the Whitworth game, he thought the score stood at 7-6 in favor of Whitworth, so he was really frightened when Billings tried for our conversion.

Bob McAdams—When we played Bellingham this season, he ended up on the bottom of a stack and tore the ligaments in his leg. "It felt like my leg had been torn off and was lying on the other side of the stadium," Bob said.

Ron Billings—"At the CPS totem pole game last year, CPS was within the 10-yard line a couple of times, but we managed to hold them and to win 7-0."

Dick Larson—Three years ago, while playing Central for the Homecoming game, Al Fink was hurt and had to be replaced. "I was chosen to replace him and I played the whole game. The responsibility was what scared me."

Jim Ball—Last year against UBC, when PLC wanted Ramon Barnes to score a touchdown. "I aught a cpass and ould have scored, but stopped on the one-yard line to give Ray his chance to score. UBC thought I had crossed into the end zone and I had to ask one of their players to tackle me."

Frank Karwoski—After this year's CPS game. "I had to go home and face my relatives. This took real courage!"

I Am the Church College

By Warren Mathis

I am the oldest institution of higher learning in America. Before there had been state universities or other institutions of college rank, I had been founded. For three hundred years I have served my country well. Three centuries of achievement vindicate my right to be.

I stand for life's highest ideals. I search for truth, believing God's universe is fireproof and that I may light the torch of truth anywhere. I lay emphasis upon genuine scholarship. My graduates are among the nation's greatest scholars.

I believe in God. In the student's expanding circle of adjustment, I open wide the portal of the unseen world of spirit. My sons and daughters are men and women of vision and spiritual power.

I train for service. Upon me the church depends for its preachers, its teachers, its missionaries—all its leaders. Without me the work of the church could not go on.

I deserve your support. I receive from each student less than half the cost of what I give. From me the poor are not turned away. I still look to you, the members of the church, to make this possible. I cannot continue the splendid record of the past unless I have help.

I am the church college. I need your prayers and your gifts.

L.S.A. Members Sponsor Retreat Trip

"everyone is invited to come out for part of the retreat, even if you can't stay for the weekend."

Friday's activities center around getting acquainted. Following registration and supper, a mixer will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. and the day will end with a campfire at 10 p.m.

Saturday is the big day of the retreat. The day will begin in a worship service from 8:30 to 9:00. Following this, an introduction to the book of Jeremiah will be given by Dr. Nodtvedt, chairman of the PLC history department. After a quiet hour from 10-11, the LSAers will break up into groups and discuss Jeremiah. Pre-seminary students from PLC will lead the discussions.

The first part of the afternoon will be devoted to the discussion of three pertinent topics, "Lutheran Unity," "Comparative Denominations," and "Reasons for the Reformation." They will be presented by Anne Knudsen, PLC English professor, Rev. Robert Lutnes of Tacoma, Rev. Kuethe and Neale Nelson of Seattle, and Dr. Walter Schnackenberg, PLC history professor, and Rev. Ed Svensen, Corvallis, Oregon.

Recreation, including boating, softball, volley ball, hiking, tennis, swimming and ping pong, will keep the retreaters occupied from 3-6 p.m.

In the evening from 6-8, the traditional banquet is scheduled. Rev. Svensen will be the main speaker. His topic will center around the 25th anniversary of ISA retreats, which is being observed this year. A campfire will close out the evening.

A summary of the discussion groups by Dr. Nodtvedt at 8:30 a.m., followed by the Communion Service at 9:30, will end the retreat.

"Too many open spaces are entirely surrounded by teeth."

Mu Phi Presents 'Hansel and Gretel'

was the appearance of the church board on stage. Their lines formed a climax to the play, and added much humor. The board consisted of Sylvia Kirkebo, Alden McKechney, Mary Lou Blery, Melvin Frantzen and Marion Christenson.

Sylvia Kirkebo did a very good job of scene stealing; her acting was excellent, and nearly every eye of the audience focused on her as she lived her part to the hilt. Her expressions and movements were perfect and showed that she has talent that can be used in the future.

Mark Freed also built his character role to perfection. His voice shows much expression.

Although they played slight parts, Marilyn Olsen, Darlene Haugen, and Jim Lokken performed at their best, and while talking to members of the audience I discovered that the emphasis of the play was placed more on the acting done, rather than the play itself.
