Alumni Annual Fund Report

Looking for the traditional Report to Investors? We believe the growing generosity of our PLU alumni and friends can be more appropriately acknowledged with two, more focused reports: this one, which recognizes Alumni Annual Fund giving, and another — to be mailed in November — that recognizes all contributions to PLU (annual, capital, and programmatic) of $240 or more.

Supporting Academic Quality and Scholarships Through the Annual Fund

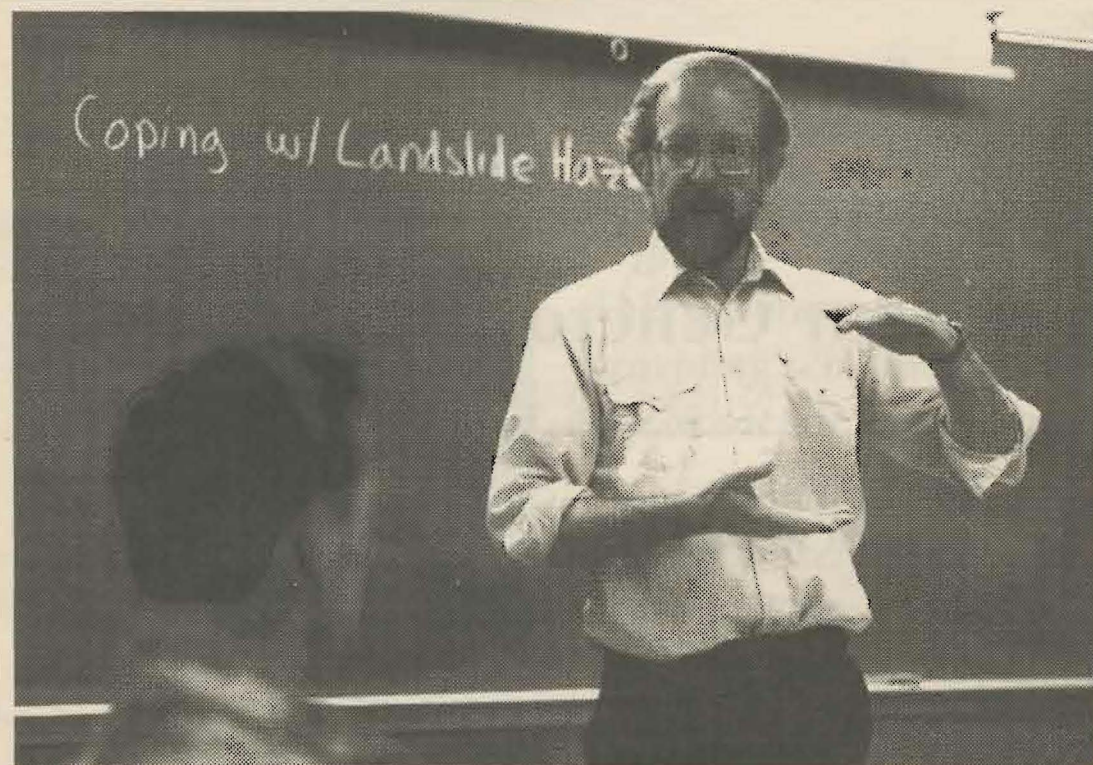

Unrestricted Operating Support*

*excludes bequests, national church support and gifts from ICW (Independent Colleges of Washington)

By providing Scholarships Gifts to the Annual Fund provide scholarships to help attract top-notch students and ensure access. Seven out of ten PLU students both need and receive financial assistance to attend the university.

Alumni Annual Fund Report

By supporting Outstanding Faculty

PLU's educational mission is carried out in the classroom. Annual Fund gifts help keep faculty salaries competitive. As a result, PLU can continue to attract and retain highly qualified faculty who are dedicated to teaching.

By funding Student Programs and Activities

Annual Fund gifts support a wide range of student activities from athletics to debate and The Mast to student government. Other gifts help fund programs like academic advising, the volunteer center, campus ministry, and the Artist Series.

By purchasing Equipment and Library Resources

Computer labs and software have been added to the learning resources today's students require. At the same time, Annual Fund gifts continue to fund library acquisitions to keep PLU's collection abreast of growing curriculum and research demands.

Profiles of Quality Alumni Annual Fund Gifts at Work The Results of Your Generosity

Tamara Grunhurd

Jack Peterson

Students:

Fulbright Scholars: Tamara Grunhurd and Jack Peterson

Every year since 1975 at least one PLU student has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship - there have been 28 in the past 18 years.

This year's Fulbright Scholars were Tamara Grunhurd of Bellingham and Jack Peterson of Issaquah, both May graduates. Tamara, a future teacher, will study playwright Henrik Ibsen in Norway, the land of her ancestors. Jack, who looks forward to government service - preferably in the international arena - will return to Venezuela, where he previously studied under the auspices of PLU's Study Abroad program. He plans to study environmentally sensitive development projects.

Scholars are selected on the basis of academic and professional qualifications, as well as their ability and willingness to share ideas and experiences with people of diverse cultures.

Faculty:

Sheri Tonn: Puget Sound Water Quality Authority

Sheri Tonn, PLU's new dean in the Natural Sciences, was appointed last fall to a third term on the Puget Sound Water Quality Authority by then Washington Governor Booth Gardner.

Originally appointed by Governor John Spellman, she is the only Authority member who has served continuously since 1983.

A well-known hazardous waste expert, she was in Albany, N.Y., for a panel discussion on citizen participation in hazardous waste disposal, sponsored by the New York Energy Agency. At a Department of Ecology symposium in Spokane, Wash., she discussed public waste reduction participation and waste reduction in academic chemistry laboratories.

Sheri Tonn

K.T. Tang: Humbolt Research Award

PLU physics professor, K.T. Tang, has returned to PLU this fall after 12 months of research at the Max Planck Research Institute in Gottingen, Germany. His work there was funded by the prestigious Humbolt Research Award for Senior U.S. Scientists from the Alexander Humbolt Foundation in Bonn, Germany.

New Equipment:

IBM Grant Matches Employee Gifts

PLU recently received a $25,000 equipment match grant from IBM. This grant was the result of a five to one match generated by the Annual Fund gifts of PLU alumni and friends who work for IBM. The PLU computer center plans to use this grant to complete the upgrading of student computer user rooms. This upgrade will include networking the PCs for improved access to the university's mainframe. The change will enhance printing capability, communication, and software access for students. It will also enable faculty to assign specific software for student use.

Alumni Annual Fund Report

Leigh Eric '77
Alumni Board President

"It was a tremendous year for the Alumni Annual Fund. The number of alumni donors increased to 4,598 and participation reached 23%. Gift income also hit new highs. This generous response makes a real difference at PLU by providing scholarship support and improving the quality of our academic programs."

"Special thanks are also due to the many, dedicated class representatives who make this annual effort such a success. Your work and personal attention to your classmates are deeply appreciated."

Class Representatives Are the Key Factor in the Success of the Alumni Annual Fund.

Each has a unique way of appealing to classmates to make these vital contributions.
Here are five top performers:

Stan Dahl '30
100% Participation

Stan has been his class representative for seven years. He contacts his classmates personally or by telephone. His class has repeatedly led in percentage of participation; he has achieved 100 percent participation in three of the last four years.

Stan is a former teacher, principal and road striping contractor. The word "retired" doesn't fit him well; he owns a 31-foot Airstream trailer that he rarely uses; he's too "busy."

Paul Carlson '60
Top Class in Gift
Support

Paul Carlson joined the Navy after he graduated from PLU. Never in a 27-year Navy career was he stationed in the Northwest, so he lost touch with many of his Lute friends.

Now retired from the service, he has served for five years as director of administration at First Presbyterian Church in Seattle, where PLU's annual Christmas Festival Concert has been performed for the past six years.

The former Choir of the West and Ambassador Quartet member is enjoying his class representative role as a way to get back in touch with old friends.

The class of 1960 has been the top class in gift support for the past two years. Paul called his classmates' attention to their title of last year and counted on their pride to see the title defended.

Paul Wuest '71
Top Class in Combined Support (Dollars, Donors & Participation)

Paul Wuest, a pastor at Trinity Lutheran in Longview, Wash., the past two years has been writing to his class of '71 for six years and has placed that class among the top three in dollars raised all six years.

Twice they were number one in dollars; three times (including this year) they have been number one in combined support - dollars, donors and percentage of participation.

His letters usually focus on the campaign theme for the year and relate the success of the appeal to its impact on today's students.

Paul's father, Roland Wuest, is also a pastor and is the class representative for the Class of 1938. That class had the most donors among '30s decade classes.

Drew Nelson '81
Best Use of Humor

Drew Nelson is typical of his generation, a David Letterman fan. He came up with a Top Ten List of reasons why his classmates should contribute to the Alumni Annual Fund.

His strategy worked; he increased class giving 12 percent and participation 18 percent.

Both of Drew's parents have worked at PLU. Father Len retired from the math department last spring. Mother Suzie works in PLU's Mortvedt Library.

Drew works for Laser Ionics in Orlando, Fla.

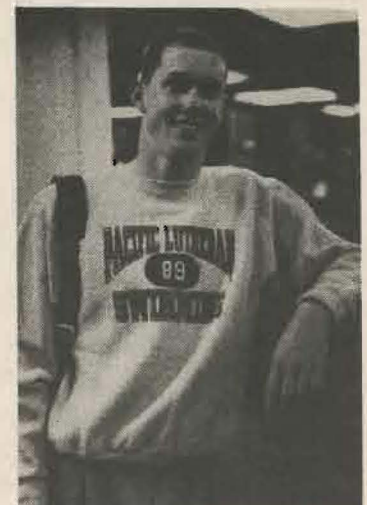

Marcus LeMaster '91
Top Class in Number of Donors

Marcus LeMaster was not only the NAIA's top scholar athlete two years ago, he was, according to swimming coach Jim Johnson, "the best we've ever had in this program."

"For him to be the valedictorian of the NAIA is the epitome of what we are trying to do for athletes in our program," said Johnson.

Now Marcus, who works for Safeco Insurance in Seattle, is helping his class set giving records. Under his leadership, the Class of '91 came in with the top number of donors and highest participation among recently graduated classes.

Like other successful class representatives, he told his classmates what they had done the year before and he gave them reachable new goals.

Alumni Honor Roll of Donors by Class

The following lists recognize Alumni Annual Fund donors by class for gifts received between June 1, 1992 and May 31, 1993. Where two alumni are married, the asterisk (*) indicates that their gift has been split equally and credited to their respective classes. A "Q" in front of a name indicates that the individual was a member of the PLU Q Club during the 92/93 fiscal year. PLU alumni who make contributions at or above $240 a year account for 70% of all alumni giving to the Annual Fund. (Alumni within four years of graduation may join the Q Club for $120/yr.)

Alumni and the PLU Q Club

"Well over half of the 2,100 members in the PLU Q Club are alumni. Q Club support provides scholarships and helps secure PLU's commitment to quality education - the "Q" stands for quality. Its purpose is to recognize and thank friends and alumni who make significant gifts to the Annual Fund. Donors qualify when their gifts reach $240 or more annually. Last year Q Club members gave over $1.1 million to the university"

Stan Brue: Selected to Receive Freedoms Foundation Award

PLU economics professor Stan Brue was recently awarded the Freedoms Foundation Leavey Award for Excellence in Private Enterprise Education.

Brue was honored for the book, Economics, which he co-authored with Campbell R. McConnell and the seminar he presented in Moscow last summer for Russian economists. His book has been translated into Russian and is expected to be used by up to one million Russian economics students. It is used extensively in collegiate classrooms across the U.S.

Goldwater Scholar: Jennifer Specht

A senior this fall, Jennifer Specht was the top pre-med student on campus last year. As such, she earned the prestigious Goldwater Scholarship and PLU's Judge Bertil Johnson Scholarship.

It happens that she was the valedictorian of her Kelso (Wash.) High School Class in 1989. Remarkably, the 1988 KHS valedictorian, Tom Kaneko, also attended PLU, also majored in biology, and also won both special scholarships. Congratulations, Kelso!

Angelia Alexander and Jill Whitman: Building Role Models for Women in Science

Two PLU professors, Angelia Alexander in biology and Jill Whitman in earth sciences, are represented in a new book, Northwest Women in Science, A Role Model Guide Book.

The book is published by the Northwest College and University Association for Science (NORCUS) and funded by the U.S. Department of Energy. It is intended to help educate young women about career opportunities available to them in science, math and engineering.

Available at no cost to junior and senior high women in the northwestern states, the book gives access to nearly 300 "role models" willing to share their career and educational experience and advice with interested students.

Jason Barritt: Post Graduate Study in medicine

May graduate, Jason Barritt, was among several of his classmates to receive offers for postgraduate study. He was offered full scholarships by Virginia Commonwealth University, Medical College of Virginia; University of Texas Health Sciences Center, San Antonio, Tex.; and Howard University in Washington, D.C.

Jason is one of those fortunate young folks who knew what he wanted to be from childhood on: a doctor. More recently he has refined that goal to working in pediatric trauma in a large emergency room. He began preparing for his career by serving as a medical volunteer while he was still in high school.

Colleen Hacker: Burlington Northern Faculty Achievement Award &
National Coach of the Year in 1992

Physical education professor Colleen Hacker received the 1992 Burlington Northern Faculty Achievement Award, sponsored by the Burlington Northern Foundation.

During the 91/92 school year at PLU, Hacker guided the women's soccer team to its third national NAIA title and was named conference, district, regional and national Coach of the Year. Last fall, Hacker again brought the team to the championship game, but lost 1-0 to Lynn University in a thrilling match.

She also received the Pathfinder Award from the National Association for Girls and Women in Sports.

"I remember walking out of my advisor's office into the early evening sunshine of a late fall day. I had just spent two hours talking with him about a psychology project. His excitement was contagious. When I stepped outside I was shaking with creative energy, and I thought, 'This is what college is all about.'"

"The professors at PLU are here because they love to teach. At many colleges you have to wait for your senior year to have a class with fewer than 25 students. I'm a junior at PLU and I've only had two classes with more than 25 students. I respect my professors, and at the same time I can call them by their first names. PLU professors want to get to know their students.

"A PLU education is unique because classes are small and most professors have a special interest in their students. I had one class with only two students. Because our schedules didn't allow us to take the class at the regular time, the professor decided to teach this additional class. This is just one example of the community spirit of PLU."

CLASS OF 1993

At May graduation, the class of 1993 presented a Graduation Gift of $21,000, to the University, pledged over five years from seniors. These pledges will begin in January of 1994. The following individuals have already made initial gifts prior to graduating.

- Ericksen, Brent A.
- Evans, Brenda J.
- Fornes, Mary J.
- Goodspeed, Susan E. Ferber (Ferber) *
- Hall, R. Scott
- Hill, Nathan R.
- Kragness, Cheryl
- Mac Donald, Heather A.

- Nakahara, Nancy (Nakahara)
- Oswald, Tom A.
- Peccia, Kimberly A.
- Rollins, Bryon K.
- Simonson, Julie A.
- Sundseth, Mark
- Veach, Susan J.
- Zapata, Karen L.

The gifts of alumni with masters degrees from PLU are listed with the undergraduates from their respective graduation years.

We wish to express a special thank you to John James, MBA '75 for his work as a class representative to masters only graduates in business.

"Coming to PLU has been one of the best decisions I've ever made. I was a little nervous in the beginning, but I soon found out how friendly the entire community is. Everyone you come in contact with treats you with respect and makes you feel welcome."
