MARINE BAND TO VISIT AT PLU OCT. 12

The striking appearance of bandsmen in scarlet full dress uniform will be matched only by a faultlessly executed program of marches, classics, and popular music when the world-renown United States Marine Band performs in concert at PLU on Monday, Oct. 12.

Under the auspices of the Lute Club, the PLU athletic booster organization, "The President's Own" will present two thrilling concerts in Olson Auditorium, a 1 p.m. matinee for school children and an 8:15 p.m. performance.

Under the directorship of Col. Albert Schoepper, the Marine Band is know to millions of Americans through its frequent radio and television appearances, and its concert series in the Nation's Capital.

Tickets, priced at $2.50 for reserved seats, $2.00 general admission, and $1.00 for students are on sale at the University Center Information Counter and also at the Athletic Department Office.

"MAN OF LA MANCHA" IS FALL MUSICAL

Tickets are now on sale for Pacific Lutheran University's "Man of La Mancha" described by executive producer T. O. Karl as "a play within a play." The PLU fall musical will run Oct. 15, 16, 17, and 24 in Eastvold Auditorium.

The curtain will rise at 8:30 p.m. over a unique "raked island stage" which symbolically represents the prison that held Cervantes during the Spanish inquisition. It is in the setting of this prison that author Cervantes employs the tale of "Don Quixote" as his defense, both of his life and his ideals.

"The life of Don Quixote is a quest," says director Eric Nordholm, "a quest for the impossible dream to do right, to do good, for mankind. The only way Cervantes can get out of prison is to be tried by his fellow prisoners, so he and his man servant put on the play he wrote as their defense."

Nordholm points out that Cervantes himself was imprisoned by the Church for the offense of tax collecting.

Karl and Nordho m are members of the PLU Communication Arts Dept.

The original production, according to the PLU director, is still playing in New York where guest artists from different countries are invited to play the Don Quixote-Cervantes role. The success of the long-playing production is very hard to explain, according to writer Dale Wasserman, who sees it as "plowing squarely upstream against the prevailing current of philosophy in theatre."

Life magazine, which describes the production as a "metaphysical smasheroo" explains that it is the "achingly human ambivalence of Quixote, who is both a criticism and a defense of man's idealism" that makes us love him. There is little doubt that the man of La Mancha (La Mancha is the province in Spain where Don Quixote was born) is one of the greatest dreamers of all time.

The music from "Man of La Mancha" is highlighted by one of the most popular numbers of the last decade "Quest" which is more widely known as "The Impossible Dream."

Other numbers include "Man of La Mancha," "The Psalm,"

"What Do You Want of Me," and "Aldonza."

Music for the PLU production is being handled by music instructor David Robbins who says he is "well pleased" with the brass-percussion orchestra.

The lead role of Cervantes is played by Bruce Bjerke, a junior from Walla Walla. Playing opposite Bjerke as Aldonza is senior Connie Koschmann, Juneau, Ak. Sancho is junior Mark Schultz, Sacramento, Calif.; Padre is Doug Parker, a Marysville junior; and Craig Huisenga, Billings, Mt. is a senior cast in the role of Dr. Carrasco.

The supporting cast and their respective roles are: John Svendsen, innkeeper; Karen Wraalstad, Antonio; Beth Sommers, housekeeper; Norman Carlson, the Captain; Sandra Haugen, Maria; Susan Logan, Fernima; Ed Amundson, the barber; Don Yoder, Jose; John Hunter, Paco; Frank Payn, Juan; Arden J. Olson, Anselmo; and Jim Derck, Pecho.

Tickets for what the NY Daily News described as "the finest and most original work in the music theatre since 'Fiddler on the Roof'" are available now at the University Center. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The SAS (Scandinavian Airlines System) Symphonic Band will appear in concert at Pacific Lutheran University's Olson Auditorium Oct. 9 at 8:15 p.m. in conjunction with the organization's first American tour.

The SAS Band, which is celebrating its 10th anniversary this year, is an amateur orchestra whose 45 members are SAS employees recruited from all departments of the airline's Norwegian region. Since its formation in 1960, the band has given hundreds of performances, but has never before traveled to another continent.

Olav Grønskaer, chairman of the Band, says the tour was undertaken "to further the good relationship between Scandinavia and the United States."

SAS SYMPHONY
IN CONCERT HERE
THIS EVENING

Mr. Karl Varstad, conductor of the Band, got his basic musical education in Belgium where he was born 61 years ago. He studied oboe and bassoon at the Conservatory of Music in Malines and was later a student at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Brussles.

Varstad was appointed conductor of the SAS Symphonic Band in 1960, just months after it was founded. Since some band members work shifts, and others travel as part of their job, quite frequently attendance at rehearsals is irregular, putting heavy demands on the conductor's patience.

LOGGERS HERE ON SATURDAY

The Three Stumps and Company, who were sawed down 20-0 by the Loggers last year, will be out to avenge the defeat when PLU and UPS clash at Franklin Pierce Stadium this Saturday at 2 p.m.

Dave Halstead, Dan Pritchard, and Gary Hammer will have to be in top running form to combat the Logger attack, which revolves around scrambling Bob Cason, the erratic yet spectacular quarterback, who as a second-stringer established the UPS season total offense record last year.

The Loggers, with a 1-3 record this season, hold a comfortable 32-10-5 margin in this cross-town rivalry which dates back to 1931.

Clover Park High School's Marching Band will provide the halftime entertainment.
