Congress Directors Express Gratitude

By John Shannon

"I would like to thank the Spurs, Blue Keys, debate squad and other PLC students that participated in our fifth annual Student Congress on Saturday. The Spurs, who had charge of the coffee hours and acted as runners, and Blue Key members worked very hard, and I appreciate what they did," said Edith Engel, director of the Congress.

Professor Theodore O. H. Karl, director of the Department of Speech, also expressed his gratitude toward the student workers, and said, "Through the help of many PLC students we were able to have a very successful Student Congress."

Led by John Osburn, vice-president and speaker of the Senate, and John Rydgren, speaker of the House, the following high school students were chosen as leaders: Senate floor leader, Robert Lamb of Bremerton; Senate minority leader, Spencer Stokes, and House floor leader, John Spear, both of which are from Highline; and House minority leader, William Turner of Lincoln (Tacoma).

"We should not buy our friends, but win them on the basis of genuine interest and friendship," said Congressman from the Sixth District, Thor Tolleffson, in his State of the Union address.

Tolleffson's twenty-minute speech was comprised mostly as to what his ideas were on how he thought the students should participate and his views on the program which the students would follow.

Bills passed in the Congress are the following:

That the U. S. should cut all foreign aid to Great Britain.

That all farm subsidies should be abolished.

That 18-year-olds should be accorded voting rights.

That the U. S. should adopt a federal policy of free trade by abolishing all tariffs between the U. S. and non-Communist countries.

One lady remarked, "We accomplished more here in one day than we did in three days at Boys' State."

Students from Gresham Union High School in Oregon told Miss Engel how they left their homes at one o'clock in the morning, so they could get here on time.

"Everything ran according to schedule," Miss Engel said, "although I was slightly worried in the last session."

"Also," she continued, "the students stuck more to straight party voting than in past years."

This year, students were judged

Rydgren Will Travel To Reed Conference

John Rydgren, president of the Associated Students here, will leave for Reed College, Oregon, to attend a meeting on November 13 and 14. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss a merger of the Evergreen Conference of Colleges, of which PLC is a member, with the Oregon Federation.

"We will consent to this merger, only if we are allowed to retain our identity as the Evergreen Conference," said Rydgren.

John was one of two students chosen from the Evergreen Conference to attend. He was chosen at last spring's conference.

Lutes Organize Bowling Groups; Schedule Party

At a recent meeting of the inter-club council, it was reported that a bowling club has been organized on campus. The group, consisting of from four to six leagues comprising six bowlers, will meet on Wednesday evenings.

The monthly club activity schedule was distributed and some discussion was held. It was announced that a Clover Creek Christmas party will be held on December 11 after the game. There is to be a freshman-sophomore Christmas party on December 12.

Al Freed announced that all organizations should make sure they have a projector before time for their movies to begin.

Bill Utzinger tentatively scheduled Saturday, November 21, for a Toastmasters' movie.

The Organ Guild representative announced that the Organ Guild members are available for accompanists at all times.

Glenn Johnson gave a short talk on the noise condition in the library, and stressed that something be done about this. He also announced that Christmas decorating will be done on December 7 and committee lists will be appointed at a later date.

Curtain Call Party Draws Large Crowds

The hard-working committee for the Curtain Call Halloween party was rewarded with a large crowd attending their party held this last Saturday. Judd Doughty, chairman of the affair, was pleased to note that "everyone looked like they were having a good time."

Judges for the costumes were Miss Wickstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Schnackenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Solberg and Mr. and Mrs. Karl. They awarded the prizes to those chosen for the following costume divisions: most horrible—John Rydgren, who came dressed as the hunchback of Notre Dame. The most humorous—The Squawjon family, composed of James Johnson, Jirayr Kayian, Elmer Knudsen, and Jerry Sundby. Those taking second in this division were Mary Lou McDonald, Jean Christiansen, and Eunice Swenson.

First in the most original group went to Kathy Biery for her "Man from Mars" costume. Second in this group went to those girls who dressed in U and I sugar sacks. They were Avis Jensen, Barbara Rue, Donna Simkins, and Bonita Mulholland.

After the costume judging, refreshments were served and the movie "The Invisible Man," put an appropriate close on the evening.

"We are put on earth to fulfill a two-fold purpose—to love God with all our heart, mind, and soul, and to love our neighbor as ourself."

—Mr. John Osburn

'Gown of Glory' To Be Centrally Staged

By John Shannon

Drama in the form of the Greek theater, arena style; this will be the impression given to the audience, as they step on the stage of Pacific Lutheran College, to see the all-College play, "Gown of Glory."

The play, with a cast of twenty, will be presented on the C-M-S stage on November 17, 18 and 20, at 8:30 p.m. The audience will also be seated on the stage, around the acting arena.

'Awful Annie' Is Chapel Play

(Editor's Note: The following is an article written for the Mooring Mast by the secretary of the Lettermen's club. The staff is not responsible for any misleading connotations.)

The chapel show, that will be held on November 10, will feature the heart-rending tale of a child dope addict—"Little Awful Annie." This will touch the hearts of all present. For an added attraction, a romantic baritone will sing several songs. He was brought at great expense to the club but we are unable to divulge the name at this time.

There will be several top-notch acts in addition to these. Well known thespians such as Garnet Lund, Richard Larson, Robert Ross, Philip Nordquist, and Jack Hoover will be taking part in this show of shows. All in all, it is a stage classic you won't want to miss.

The all new Lettermen's Club extravaganza, "Anything Goes," with a tremendous collection of talent, will be held Friday evening, November 13, at 8:00 p.m. in the upper SUB. The charge will be a mere 25 cents per person. No costs have been too great. The club tradition of giving the very best in entertainment has been fulfilled to the letter. "We confidently expect an academy award," said the program committee. The Lettermen's Concert Band, under the direction of Maestro Theodore Siek, will present a "Pops" concert. The Lettermen's Band, as you will remember, added much to the cultural achievements of the school last year. As predicted by the club officials, "the band will be among the top ranking instrumental groups in the state." Many other great acts are planned which must be kept secret at this time.

Treasurer Philip Nordquist said, "You had better come early as a sell-out is expected. We have the services of one of the finest M.C.'s in the entertainment field and have one of the largest groups of excellent talent ever seen under one roof. Truly a breath-taking show."

"Knowledge consists of two things—know yourself and know where to find a thing when you want it."

"The free exploring mind of the individual is the most valuable thing in the world."

"All the processes of the ages are God's science."

—Dr. Strunk

Fiedler Thrills Large Crowd

Last Tuesday evening, the capacity audience in PLC's Chapel Auditorium heard an outstanding example of one of the unique features in America's musical growth—the "pops concert." The Music Department presented Arthur Fiedler conducting the Seattle Symphony Orchestra in a program of symphonic, operatic, and popular music.

Mr. Fiedler injects great vitality and color into anything he conducts. The oft-heard "Greensleeves" melody regained much of its freshness and tranquil beauty under his baton. The intensity which characterized the Suite from Bizet's "Carmen" made one wish to hear Fiedler conduct the entire opera; in this work, however, the orchestra seemed to have some difficulty following the conductor's tempo. Under his direction, the Song from "Moulin Rouge" and the "Blue Danube Waltz" became almost tone poems, while the more popular numbers showed the versatility of the Fiedler touch.

The applause of the audience demanded three encores at the conclusion of the program, and the enthusiasm of all concerned demanded that more such events be brought to the Tacoma area—with PLC leading the way, of course.

Roe Works With Confirmation Class

"The students will become devout church members," was the answer received from Reverend Kilmer N. Roe when he was asked what the intentions of his confirmation class were.

Pastor Roe's class consists of 11 members, only one of whom he knew last year. This class deals with Bible doctrines and the doctrines of the Lutheran Church.

In the last ten semesters from Pastor Roe's classes he has had a total of 116 students, 63 men and 53 women, 45 of which were baptized.

This semester's confirmation class will be confirmed at Trinity Lutheran church in the chapel Dec. 6. The service will be led by Dr. S. C. Eastvold.

"The students who are members of this class are a living testimony on the campus," Pastor Roe concluded.

"Gown of Glory" is a play of the early 1900's, and revolves about a small town minister, David Lyall, and his family, as he tries to move to a larger city.

"Due to the early period of the play," said Barbara Hedlund, costume committee chairman, "costuming has been a problem. My committee has been searching the Tacoma and Parkland areas for clothing."

Publicity chairman, Jo Hanssen, is making arrangements with local radio stations, and is placing posters throughout the Tacoma and Parkland areas, to publicize the event.

Harrie Olson was chosen as chairman in charge of all committees. She has organized all committees, appointed chairmen for the committees, and has also located all furniture for the play.

Assistants in the Department of Speech, and co-directors of the play, Miss Jean McGregor and Stanley D. Elbersson, chose the following people to fill the roles in the play cast: Glenn Johnson, Reverend David Lyall; Jean Christensen, Mary Lyall; Carol Falk, Lucy; Diane Bassett, Faith; Stewart Morton, Jeremy; Theodore Carlstrom, Ninon; Walter Nealon, Mr. Dilling; Gerald Farmer, John Harvey; Judy Bureker, Peggy; Myrna Berg, Minnie; Mark Freed, Josiah; Melvin Frantsen, Colonel Harrison; Marion Christensen, Mrs. Farraday.

Others chosen were Sylvia Kirkebo, Mrs. Cromblie; Mary Lou Biery, Mrs. Bellamy; Alden McKechney, Mr. Coates; Paul Jordan, John Jenkins; Marilyn Olsen, Mrs. Jenkins; Darlene Haugen, Mrs. Ross; and Jim Lokken, Mr. Ross.

No reserved tickets will be sold; all tickets may be bought at the door.

Band To Honor Grieg At Concert, Reception

An all-Grieg concert will be presented by the band, under the direction of Dr. Robert Larson, in commemoration of the 110th anniversary of Edward Grieg, Norway's famous composer. This concert is to be presented in the Chapel-Music-Speech building on November 22.

The program will feature only music by Grieg. Some of the selections include The Concerto in A minor, Opus 16, with soloist Connie Fuller, the Peer Gynt Suite No. 2, Opus 55, and various lyric pieces.

A reception following the concert is being planned by the Viking club.

"Martin Luther made this great discovery that Christ's redemptive work for mankind was completed on the cross."

Library Problem Confronts Lutes

Have you ever tried studying in the same room in which twenty people were holding a party? If so, then you know how difficult a task it is. This is much the same problem that confronts students who use the library as their study room.

Much has been said about this noise situation during the last few weeks, but the problem still remains. Common courtesy and consideration on the part of the offenders toward those who depend upon the quiet of the library to complete their class assignments would alleviate this condition.

It has been suggested that a library committee from the students be organized to look into the problem and, if there is no improvement in the near future, this will be done. This seems like rather forceful tactics, however, for a college campus which is supposedly composed of intelligent, mature people.

Chapel Quotes . . .

"There are hundreds of consecrated Christians in Norway preparing to go into the schools."

"They try to practice their Christianity in Norway in practical ways."

"The gospel of Jesus Christ is being proclaimed in all its purity by Christian pastors in all its power."
 —Prof. Gunnar Malmin

Council Discusses Library Problem

In the Student Council meeting, held last Tuesday, it was suggested that a library committee be formed, being composed of two representatives from each class, to look into the noise in the library.

"This committee would look into the problem, try to discover what the students want from the library, and what the library expects from the students," said Dean Hauge.

RON AND FUN CLUB

Sometimes I'm tired; sometimes I'm lazy; but today I'm shot. I have to scribble out this column, and I have absolutely nothing to write about.

Many people think that it is impossible to write very much about nothing, but I think it can be done. I'm always writing something; letters to a certain girl, or assignments for classes. They are about nothing, and I always get answers. Sometimes the answers are bitter, but at least I get an answer.

Some writers, when desperate, tell jokes. I never will resort to humor, because I'm not a humorous writer. "Schultz is back," may get a laugh from somebody, but I doubt it.

I like to sing, too, but I decided to go to college instead. Dick Haymes once said that I had the most unusual voice he had ever heard. To quote him, "You are the only person I have heard that has a voice that sounds like a Model T Ford in an echo chamber." Very nice of him to compliment me so highly.

I'm always rambling with a pen, and I usually accomplish something that very few of you readers are able to do. I can write page after page and accomplish exactly nothing. This particular column is a prime example.

I would like to accomplish something with this column, but I can't think of a solitary subject to write on tonight.

Pardon me, there's someone at the door. It's Marilyn Monroe. No, it's three-thirty in the morning. James, bring my sleeping tablets, I believe I'll retire.

P. S.—Pogo is found in the Times, not the P-I; sorry!!

Actor Becomes PLC Student

The world of classes and homework must seem fairly dull after a life of curtain calls and grease paint, but Walter K. Nealon, PLC student, doesn't seem to resent the transition too much. He is a student here after a long life on the stage.

"I guess I'm just a ham at heart," he laughed, when asked why he decided upon acting as a career.

He comes from a theatrical family, as his mother was a concert pianist. He has been an actor and director since the age of 15.

Some of the plays in which he has participated are "Oklahoma," "Private Lives," "Glass Menagerie," "On Your Toes," and he recently directed the televised "King Midas of the Golden Touch."

Nealon has toured with an English company from the Royal Academy of Drama, doing "King Henry VIII." He has also worked in the Boston Summer Theatre, Provincetown Playhouse, Old Orchard Beach Playhouse, Shreveport Little Theatre, and has done television work on "Suspense" and "Studio 1."

"I'm working now to get my degree so that I can better use the stage to bring life to people—to show them things that they might not otherwise notice," he concluded.

News from the Bench

By Ted Siek

The football squad came back from Vancouver in high spirits, and for good reason. The Gladiators had beaten UBC 19-6, amassing 300 yards via land and air. It was a team victory and a decisive victory. Coach Marv Harshman, commenting on the game, said that better passing was the thing that helped considerably; he added that the downfield blocking, which was sharp at times, will have to be consistently good to beat Whitworth. The only injury in the game was suffered by Captain Jim Ball—a broken nose. The Lutes should go into the game at full strength with the possible exception of Don Morris. Frank "Toriano" Lancaster has been slowed down by a leg injury this week, but he'll be in his regular halfback slot tomorrow.

Harshman indicated he would use the same line-up that started at UBC. Backs: Billings, Lancaster and Larson. Karwoski and Gubrud will probably share the quarterback position. Ends: Nordquist and Ball. Tackles: R. Larson and Borden. Center, Gary Gale. Guards, McGrath and Egtvedt.

There's a group of players on the football team who never receive the recognition they deserve. These boys, called the "meat squad," scrimmage against the varsity during practice sessions. They put the pressure on the regulars for their positions, and the competition in making the 25-player traveling team sometimes gets real rough.

The error in last week's column is acknowledged. The name of Western's coach is Charles F. Lappenbush and not Joe Lappenwick.

Sidelights: St. Olaf is one of the nine teams in the nation that is unbeaten and untied in seven games this year. Oregonians can celebrate this week. The Oregon Ducks from Eugene pulled the upset of the day last Saturday in knocking off University of Southern California, 13-7. Yuba Junior College has probably the best football team in the land—in its class. They have scored 248 points to their opponents' 13. Jack Ponfret, basketball coach at UBC, has a fine prospect this season in 6'8 1/2" Jeff Craig.

Mrs. Harshman appeared on TV last Tuesday afternoon. She gave her recipe for that after game lunch, which she always serves to Harsh.

Whitworth, the Lutes' opponent tomorrow, figures nationally in football statistics. The Pirates are fifth in total defense. Their fullback, Jack Ward, has a 40-yard punting average, one of the highest averages in college football.

Predictions: Checking up on last Saturday's scores, I find that I picked five winners out of six. Eastern Washington and College of Puget Sound showed their power last weekend. Eastern dumped Central 39-9 (our prediction was a tie), and CPS rolled over WWCE 33-0. Tomorrow's forecasts: CPS over EWCE, UBC over WWCE (this is the Thunderbirds big chance), Whitworth over PLC (I hope I'm wrong on this one), Stanford over USC, Washington over California.

PLC Downs UBC 19-6

Last Saturday the PLC Gladiators chalked up their second league victory by defeating the UBC Thunderbirds 19-6.

The offense for the Lutes got into high gear for the first time this season, rolling up 227 yards rushing and 66 passing.

The Black and Gold scored in the second quarter when Karwoski hit Billings for a gain of 38 yards and a touchdown. Billings' kick was good and PLC led 7-0 at the end of the first half.

In the closing minutes of the third period the Thunderbirds' quarterback, Gordon Flemons, tallied from the 1-yard line. Roger Cronquist's try for point was blocked by Billings. The score at the end of the third period saw the Lutes leading by one point, 7-6.

With only 1:34 gone in the final period Price climaxed a 65-yard drive by taking a pitch-out from Karwoski and roaring 25 yards into pay dirt. Billings' try for point missed and the score stood 13-6.

On the last play of the game Karwoski scored from the 1, ending a 64-yard drive by the Lutes in the closing 4 minutes of play. The kick was short and the final score stood at 19-6.

Freshman Claire Egtvedt, starting his first varsity game, was commended for his play.

Bill Borden played the full sixty minutes even though his knee was bothering at first. Billings, the outstanding Lute back for the afternoon, showed his Little All-American form, averaging around 7 yards per try.

Roger Larson, starting his first game at tackle, played a creditable game as Dick Larson, Phil Nordquist and Gary Gale came through with nice defensive jobs.

The Lutes' next game will have the Whitworth Pirates coming to Tacoma. The Pirates are boasting an undefeated season and are presently leading the Evergreen Conference. It promises to be a real donnybrook, so let's all go and support our team. Game time is 8:00 o'clock at Lincoln Bowl.

Player of the Week

Veteran backfield man Dick Larson will be rounding out his football career against Whitworth and College of Puget Sound this Saturday and the following one. Dick Larson, along with Ron Billings and Frank Karwoski, is one of the fine athletes that has come to PLC from Tacoma's Lincoln high. Dick lettered in football and baseball at Lincoln; at PLC he has lettered three years in baseball and this fall he'll receive his third football emblem. Although an experienced basketball hand, Dick isn't going out this year, explaining that he has other interests. (Three guesses what those interests are).

Larson packs a solid 170 pounds on his 5'9" frame; his speed, drive and versatility has made him a fixture in the Lute backfield. He not only runs, passes and punts well, but plays a sound defensive game, too. The halfback rates last year's Eastern Washington game as his top thrill in football. PLC won that contest because of Larson's accurate extra point kick. It won't be easy for Harshman to find a replacement for "Lars" next fall.

Lutes To Compete With High Ranking Pirates

From cellar-dwelling U.B.C. to Whitworth's pent-house gang. That will be the story Saturday night when PLC meets the Pirates at Lincoln Bowl in Tacoma.

Their best offensive effort of the season propelled the Lutes to a 19-6 victory over UBC in last week's game. The Pirates were successful also, as they left college competition to defeat the Seattle Ramblers 14-13. The Pirates will carry a six game winning streak with them into Saturday's game.

An important factor in the Pirates' success has been Wayne Buchert, their fine quarterback. Buchert can run as well as pass and was the Pirates' leading ground gainer last year. Bob Ward, Whitworth's hard running fullback, is another scoring threat for the Gladiators to check.

PLC's defense, however, will be a hard nut to crack. The Lutes have the second best defensive record in the league. Opponents have crossed the Lute goal line for a total of only 34 points in conference play. A secondary, headed by Ron Billings, has made it tough on the enemies aerial game. Bill Borden is also back in the lineup to bolster the line.

Coach Harshman will probably go with his "new" backfield of Billings at full, with Larson and Lancaster at the halves. Frank Karwoski and probably Al Gubrud will be at the quarterback position.

I know I am subjecting myself to controversy in placing Billings at fullback. He might be playing guard this week! One thing is certain about Ron, however, and that is wherever he does play, that position will be well taken care of.

The game is being played here in Tacoma. Let's all be out to the game and help the team upend Whitworth. Don't forget the pep rally at 7:00 in front of Old Main.

Frank the Great

By Roger Bjerk

If you have been attending any of the PLC football games this year you undoubtedly have seen a small but aggressive package of dynamite operating in the Lute backfield. His name is Frank Karwoski.

This five-foot-six, 155-pound little giant has turned in many fine performances this season. His breakaway running and sharp passes have kept opposing teams on the alert at all times. Not only is Frank a good man on the attack, but he is a menace to opposing teams' runners. I don't have to say anything about Frank's tackles because you have seen him in action, but just as a reminder, watch him against Whitworth.

Versatile Frank should be his name. He can play all the positions in the backfield; in one game he even played defensive end. Playing one position is hard enough, but playing in three or four different positions puts Frank in a class by himself.

Frank attended Lincoln high school in Tacoma, where he played two years of varsity football. He made the varsity here at PLC as a freshman; the rest is football history.

As an added attraction, Frank once took violin lessons. If you should hear the name "Maestro Karwoski" over the public address system next Saturday, remember it is still the same Frank who has been grinding out valuable yards for PLC.

This and That

By Al Freed

Many students have been taking advantage of the facilities of the Erickson Music Library during the past two weeks. The music library has made several excellent acquisitions which have attracted many students to the center of music listening. Among acquisitions during the past week are a long-playing record of Afro-Cuban music, which in addition to being musically interesting, is exciting music to the casual listener; several new hymn books, donated by Tacoma churches of various Protestant denominations; and a new book, autographed by the author, Hans Moldenhauer: Duo-Pianism. The author is a Spokane pianist of wide renown.

Featured in the music library during the coming week for special recommendation to student listening are the symphonies of Haydn and Mozart, of which the library not only has a nice selection, but also has footnotes for these works to aid the student in understanding to greater appreciation of what he is listening to.

To music education students goes a special invitation to come into the library and see a rapidly expanding collection, loaned by Dr. Larson of the music faculty, of music education materials, including books and pamphlets on all phases, theoretical, practical, and pedagogical, of education in the public schools.

Reserves Will Play Grays Harbor Friday

The reserves will have their opportunity to show their skill under fire when they play Grays Harbor JC at Aberdeen. The game is slated for November 13 at 8 p.m.

Those boys who haven't seen varsity action will mainly compose the team. The following boys will play: ends, Larry Sholberg, Dick Brown, Carl Meyers; tackles, Dale Storaasli, and Jim Clifton; guards, Bob Schackle and Roger Bjerck; center, Gerald Berg; backs, Dale Homestead, Ron Hasely, Jim Capelli.

If rules of eligibility permit, backs Don Goddard and Gerry Sambila will also play. They are both transfers. Goddard is from Montana and Sambila played football at Washington State one year before coming to PLC.

Marriage is an institution in which a husband loses his bachelor's degree, and his wife acquires her master's degree.
