Rev. Ordal Visits Vancouver and The University of B. C. In College Interest

Pres. O. J. Ordal and Rev. J. A. Asgaard, D. D., President of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, met with the board of trustees of Pacific Lutheran College and Pastors in Seattle, Wednesday, October 20. President Asgaard outlined what he and some of the leading men in the church are going to do for the Pacific Lutheran College $250,000 Endowment Fund Campaign.

The meeting was in every way encouraging and the board of trustees and President Ordal are very grateful to President Asgaard for the interest shown and the valuable suggestions given.

In the interest of Pacific Lutheran College, Pres. O. J. Ordal, together with Rev. Geo. Henriksen, spent the greater part of the day, October 27, at the University of British Columbia. The object was to establish a point of contact between that institution and Pacific Lutheran College.

Rev. Overt Skilbred of Vancouver, accompanied them to the university where they spent considerable time in conferring with President L. S. Kinck, M. S. A.; D. Sc.; L. L. D., who showed them the plans for the new college building and the grounds.

Pres. Ordal also reports meeting with H. T. J. Coleman, B. A., Ph. D., dean of the faculty of Arts and Sciences, with Stanley W. Mathews, M. A., registrar, and John Ridington, librarian. The meetings with these men was a part of his

IMPROMPTU TALKS AT DEBATE MEET

The first meeting of the Debate Society was held on October 30. The opening program was conducted in comedy as an "introduction of interest. Two short humorous debates were given and several speakers were called on impromptu.

The first question was "Resolved that chewing gum is beneficial to the mental and physical development of the present generation." For the affirmative Margaret Jacobson and Teddy Evjenth were the speakers and on the negative Garvick Olson and Ida Hinderlie.

The second question was "Resolved that the airplane is safer than the automobile."

Irene Dahl and Marguerite Folco upheld the affirmative while Peter Grambo and Edna Brottow spoke for the negative.

The judges for these two debates were Christine Knutzen, Gladys Jorgensen and Otaf Ordal, who unanimously voted affirmative in both cases.

The impromptu speeches were also on comedy order as:

Why the "line" is more important than the "backfield." Art Knutson.

A reception room for girls where they could meet should be provided, Peter Flott.

Why I so rarely recite in class, Ruth Matson.

What the Debating Society has done for me, Henry Keil.

After the program the meeting was given over to business and the

D. O. R. ORGANIZE FOR THE YEAR'S PROGRAM

The Daughters of the Reformation, a religious organization of the Lutheran church, has taken a prominent place among P. L. C. activities.

The second meeting of the school year was held Oct. 27 in the apartment of Mrs. Geo. Henriksen. Nina Okness, last year's president, gave an interesting review of the work accomplished last year.

The following officers were elected for the year: Ruth Matson, president; Leola Hagen, secretary; Nina Okness, vice-president; Victoria Rasmussen, treasurer. Mrs. Ramstad was elected adviser for the society. Ruth Matson was chosen delegate to represent the society at the Women's Mission Federation to be held in Seattle on Dec. 7. Plans for an active year were discussed. Nearly all the girls of P. L. C. have now joined the society.

The next meeting will be held the first Tuesday in December at the apartment of Mrs. Edwards.

OPERETTA TO BE GIVEN BY GIRLS' GLEE CLUB SOON

On the evening of November 20, in the college gymnasium, the Pacific College Girls' Glee Club will present "Feast of the Red Corn," an American-Indian operetta in two acts. There are five soloists representing the main characters of the operetta which are as follows: Weeda Wanta, Queen of the Wanta Tribe; Cornelia Goplerud, Impee Light, the Queen's younger sister; Louise Henriksen, Fudgee; Ida Hinderlie; Mary Holmes; Victoria Rasmussen; Old Squaw, sorceress of the tribe; Esther Towe.

The chorus will consist of about thirty voices accompanied by a ten-piece orchestra.

The theme of the operetta is based on the yearly custom of the Wanta Indian tribe to celebrate The Feast of the Red Corn. The one who finds the first ear of red corn in the feast will be granted any wish.

This year the Indian Queen is in trouble and wishes to secure the ear of corn, and informs the sorceress, an old squaw, to invoke the four winds to give the skin for the feast. She is informed that a member of the tribe has committed an offense and that no wish can be granted until the guilty one has atoned. The younger sister of the queen is suspected and threatened with punishment. She flees into the forest pursued by the Indian maidens, but is caught and found guilty. The old squaw weaves a spell over all. Night falls.

The next day the maidens are aroused from the spell and all go for a canoe ride preparatory to the feast. A boat overturns. The queen's sister rescues the unfortunate. The queen recognizes this as an atonement and makes an appeal to the winds to help the wish granted. The feast is held and the Indian queen finds the ear of red corn. Her wish is granted.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF RESIGNS DUTIES

The "Mast" staff was quite upset last week when Alfred "Cap" Anderson tendered in his resignation of office and announced his withdrawal from school. Under the executive hand of "Cap" the paper was getting into swing and his leaving was very untimely.

"Cap" has been a student of Pacific Lutheran College for three years and he is well known to all alumni of those years. His jovial good nature won for him a place in the good grace of every student and every one will note the absence of his smile and brown curls.

Furthermore, being a very active member in the student body his place will be hard to fill. He has held the place of official yell leader for the three years he attended and led many teams to victory. He took interest in the student body as a whole and was always an inspirer of enthusiasm.

SPECIAL COURSE IN ENGLISH HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

The special English short course commenced November 3 for an eighteen weeks session. This course has been introduced to accommodate students who are unable to attend the full year sessions. Some fifty or sixty students were enrolled in this course last year and a similar enrollment is expected this year. The classes organized are: a class in elementary English, a more advanced class in English composition, classes in reading, spelling, writing, citizenship, and mathematics. The course as planned affords an intensive study which enables a student to cover considerable subject matter in a short time.

MISSION SOCIETY GIVES THE OPENING PROGRAM

The P. L. C. Mission Society, under the supervision of the president, Nina Okness, presented a very interesting and instructive program at its regular meeting in the College chapel rooms October 27.

Peter Grambo was the speaker for the evening. He chose I Cor. 1:18 for discussion. "For the word of the cross is to them that perish foolishness, but unto us who are saved it is the power of God." Paul, the apostle, was shown as the man of learning. As a young man, he faithfully embraced the old Jewish religion. After his conversion Paul became one of the most faithful laborers in Christendom. His learned manner was set aside and he preached the words of Christ in simplicity. His preaching was more powerful than all the oratory and philosophy of the heathen world.

The speaker showed how men of humble lives and following took up the gospel message and preached in simplicity and understanding. In his humble way, you and I may also in simplicity and truth be instrumental in spreading the gospel.

P. L. C. WILL GIVE A PROGRAM AT CONVENTION

The South Puget Sound Circuit of the Lutheran League will hold its convention at Central Lutheran Church in Tacoma, Nov. 12-13-14. On Saturday evening Pacific Lutheran College will give the program.

The following arrangement has been chosen: Organ Prelude—Prof. J. O. Edwards; Hymn—Congregation; Scripture Reading and Prayer; Piano Solo—Esther Towe; Advantages of Pacific Lutheran College—Henry Kiel; Song—P. L. C. Male Quartet Trio; Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. Hamstad, Rev. Svare.

The Essence of Education—Ruth Matson; Vocal Solo—Mrs. J. O. Edwards; Why am I glad I am a Graduate of P. L. C.—Martha Hjernesud; Vocal Duet—Esther Towe, Cornelia Goplerud; Address—Prof. Ph. E. Hauge; Song—Faculty quartet; Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. Ramstad, Mrs. Zayler.

MANY NEW BOOKS ADDED TO P. L. C. LIBRARY

New books which have been added to the P. L. C. Library since the beginning of the school year are as follows:

Non-fiction and Educational Books: Essentials of Psychology—Pillsbury; Psychology of Childhood—Norris; worthy and Whitley; Dietetics for Nurses—Proudfit; Healthful Schools—Ayres, Williams, and Wood; The Lure of the Labrador Wild—Wallace; The Book of National Parks—Robert Sterling Yard; In Africa Forest and Jungle—Paul DuChauell; The Odyssey of Homer—Palmer; Fiction: Main Street—Sinclair Lewis; Katherine Laderdale—Marion Crawford; Rose O' the River—Kate Douglas Wiggin; Fair Harbor—Joseph C. Lincoln.

P. L. C. DAY AT SEATTLE CHURCH

Rev. Neavig's Congregation Host to College Delegates Presenting Program

A Reformation program was given at Rev. Neavig's church in Seattle by Pacific Lutheran College on Sunday evening Oct. 31. The program was given in two parts, one at 5:30 a. m. with the Reformation for its theme; the other at 7:30 p. m. in form of a P. L. C. Day program with Christian Education as its theme.

At the afternoon program Pres. Ordal was the speaker using "The Work of the Reformation and some of its Blessings" as his topic. In the address Rev. Ordal touched upon the early training and education of Martin Luther before beginning his great work. The biggest blessing of this great reformation was the return of the open Bible to the public, and with it, the return of liberty of thought, worship, word and press. And to the present day where these liberties are enjoyed Luther's name is honored. Next to his translation of the Bible—through which he created the official language of Germany—the small Catechism that he wrote as a handbook for the priests has been productive of untold blessings. Luther's power lay in his unwavering faith, of which faith the central doctrine is justification by faith. This liberated his conscience and from the moment the Holy Spirit implanted this truth in him—from that time dates the beginning of the Reformation. "The depth of his faith is most keenly shown," believes Pres. Ordal. "Through the incident at Wittenberg when the extremists began their destructive removal of all Catholic symbols in the churches Heinrich of L. Luther hurried there from Wrothburg and after preaching for seven days, these same people left the city and peace reigned." That is the power of an absolute faith.

Among other headlines the Reformation brought about is that of our wonderful school systems of today. Except for it free schools would never have been introduced. "Luther was a courageous fearless man, for he realized he was but an instrument in the hands of God."

STUDENT PARTY HALLOWE'EN EVE

A Halloween party was given by the students on Saturday night, October 30, in the assembly room. The decorations were autumn leaves and Halloween novelties.

Beck, the chairman of the entertainment committee, was assisted by Norris Langlow, refreshments: Ruth Matson, decorations; and Chris Nelson, clean-up. The group was divided into sections, the orange and the black, for the contest games. The victorious group was awarded a stick of candy. Palma Langlow dressed as a young man, and Victoria Rasmussen dressed as a cowgirl, were awarded prizes for wearing the best costumes.

The best part of the evening's program was the refreshments, consisting of pie, punch and apples. The committee in charge deserves a raise for the well-planned and novel entertainment.

School activities, such as football, baseball, basketball, receive the whole-hearted support of the students. Another school activity, debating, does not receive the support of the student body as a whole. Most students do not realize what debate means to them and to the school. A successful debate team gives as much renown to the school as does a football team. Debate trains the participant to be an able speaker in public and to argue his point well. The research work helps to broaden his mind.

Pacific Lutheran College started, by its work in debating last year, a successful forensic department in the curriculum of activities. This work is being revived for another season. Let this season be even more successful than last.

Friday, November 12, the first turnout for the teams will be held. The spirit of debating has not caught hold in your ranks, students. The pep and enthusiasm so essential to winning teams is not present. Think of what debating means to you and to the school. Let the work begun last year be carried on to a greater perfection this season.

Every one turn-out for a place on the team. Do not let the attitude of stage-fright or under-estimation-of-self gain a hold on you. You may be a debater—you may increase the chances of P. L. C. making good in the forensic field. Students, we appeal to you—turn out for debating.

ARMISTICE DAY

Today we are to commemorate one of the civilized world's greatest holidays.

This day, which we choose to call Armistice Day, does not signify to us any longer the victory of the Yank over Hun or one army over another. Far deeper significance is attached to that memorial event. It is the proof that right not might shall triumph when a worthwhile cause is involved. It is furthermore, the victory of civilization over savagery, the victory of education over military power, the victory of christianity over materialism.

Germany in her self-sufficiency, forgot to whom the power was due she did not fail in her tremendous plan for a world power, because a few khaki-clad men met her army face to face on the field of Chateau-Thierry, but because in her glory she forgot her Master and He removed His hand, the only true power.

In the Armistice, German not only put her seal on the orders of the Allies but she put her signature to the truth that "Without Me ye can do nothing." R. M.

Prof. Hauke gave a short resume of the past work of the society and also briefly sketched his hope for the society and teams in the future. Prof. Hauke thought were very good and there was every cause to believe that P. L. C. can be a real figure in the forensic field this year. Teams for both men and women, high school and college, are expected to be formed and they hope to be able to debate both inter-scholastic and intercollegiate.

CHAPEL TALKS

In conducting chapel exercises last week, Dr. E. Hauke chose as his text, Luke 12: 22-26.

There is a period, of doubtful minds among the children—they first base their opinion on the father and mother; but opinion changes according to the type of worldly education received. Herein creeps the doubt. They begin to feel that everything must be one thing or another—either this or that—and cannot comprehend—that it may be a part of this and a part of that. Everything is based on their own little experiences and of these they have not had enough to be able to understand. Nor can they comprehend that religion is not a thing to be understood.

There is no reason why these things need to be explained. God does not expect us to explain them to Him—rather let us pray, "Oh, God! help Thon my unbelief."

Bill Hopper, Bill Nyman, Lyell Kriedler, and Arnold Thorstenson attended the Washington-California game in Seattle on Saturday, Nov. 6.

The Misses Olga Benson, Sophie Peterson, Victoria Rasmussen and Gladys Knutzen spent the week-end at their respective homes in Burlington.

Prof. and Mrs. Ramstad spent Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 6 and 7 with Mrs. Ramstad's parents at Bothell. A family reunion was held on Sunday.

Girls' Basketball Prospects Good

Many Old Members Back; New Experienced Material Will Battle For Positions

Prospects for a strong girls' basketball team are unusually promising this year, according to Polly Langlow, captain elect of this year's organization. Almost thirty good players are out, fighting hard for their respective places on the team. This is said to be one of the finest girls' basketball turnouts P. L. C. has yet experienced.

The girls on this year's team will have to work hard to maintain the record set up by last year's team. Eight games were played—P. L. C. winning five of them. The P. L. C. team scored a total of 239 points to their opponents. The Polly Langlow led in amassing this total, scoring 123 of the 239 points. Agnes Wierson hung up 92 points to her credit, and Edna Brotzov, as a sub, was third with a total of 24 points.

Coach A. W. Ramstad has the job of selecting a winning combination from the following experienced players forwards: Arleta Allen and Olga Benson; jumping centers: Edna Brotzov, and Christina Knutzen; side centers: Leola Hazen; Marie Gardlin and Victoria Rasmussen; guards: Esther Sidow, Margaret Jacobson and Thelma Benston. This is not a complete list for Coach Ramstad intends to keep the girls guessing as to who will make the team. It is now a case of "may the best one win."

FOOTBALL IS SUPREME TODAY

College; High School Game Will Be Played Sometime Today; Pick No Favorite

Hey! Hey! Get your red-hot copies of today's lineup folks! All for a nickel!

Yes children, as old Cicero would say, there will be a football game played this afternoon on the P. L. C. football field. At last the "Phantoms of the Football Field" will now be given a chance to "air their grievances" as Mr. Witwer would express it.

As I have already informed you, the game is scheduled for this afternoon.

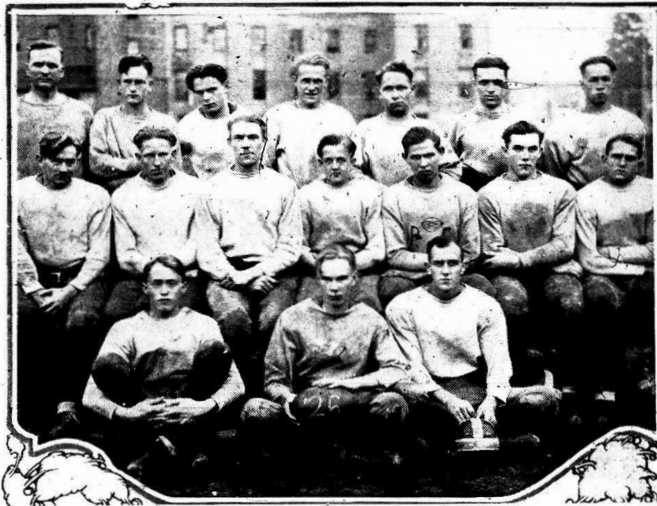

The opposing sides are the College "men" and the High School "boys." Ah, there is such a deep distinction! The "boys" are out to mop up the "men" and hang them out to dry. Well, I was ambitious once myself—so was Caesar. Now, what was that saying "concerning 'great minds run in the same channels'?"

No, folks, you haven't spent your nickel in vain! Here are the lineups, which, of course, are subject to change without notice. (By the way, that's the same phrase Sears and Roebuck use—I hope it doesn't sound tripe?)

The lineups:
College "Men": High School "Boys":
Edwards REL French
Sannund RVL A. Lund
Kiel RGL A. Anderson
Beck C Thostenson
B. Kreidler LGR Wiese
G. Lund LTR Iverson
Langlow LER L. Kreidler
Olson (S. D.) Q. Lane (Capt)
Coltup LHR Sanderson
Fried RHL Nyman
Omdahl F Hopper
Available substitutes:
High School "Boys": Garvik Olson, Ordal.

College "Men": Prof. Ramstad, Dr. Hoff, Prof. Freed, Prof. Hauge, Mr. Hinderlie, Pete Flott, President Ordal, Prof. Xavier, Prof. Steun.

Editor's Note: The S. D. after Cliff Olson's name in the lineup stands for Slave Driver.)

FANTASTIC FOOTBALL FUN

No, mother, I'll never be a columnist!

Oh, if we had only followed this advice!

It do be whispered about that there will be one bloody battle fought to a conclusive climax this aft'. So let it be with Caesar! Howsoever, we, ourselves and us, the blokes that scribble this column have, in our own little way, accounted or arranged for the necessary "accoutrements" of a hospital-in-the-field. Here, she goes: Xavier and Hoff as stretch-bearers, Stuen and "Shrimp" Erickson as pall-bearers, and, if he only will, some one shall evoke the dead to their logical conclusion. Hoping that this arrangement of accoutrements, also hoping there is such a term, will meet with the approval of the opponents on both sides of the argument we beg to proceed!

They also serve, who only stand and wait!

Yes, girls, they'll all play in today's game!

If truth will out, all's well and

Athletic Managers Chosen
At the regular meeting of the student body on November 1, Ames Wiersan and Norris Lundlow were elected as managers of the girls' basketball and boys' basketball teams respectively. Nominations were made by the faculty athletic committee composed of Prof. Ramstad, Prof. Steun, Miss Parr, and Prof. Freed. Nominations were approved by the two captains, Polly Langlow and Carl Coltum.

Miss Sandwick Is Taken Ill
Miss Olive Sandwick caused her fellow students considerable anxiety a week ago when her slight began to fail her. The trouble became so serious that it was necessary for her to discontinue her studies temporarily and be taken to her home in Bellinchant, to receive medical aid. Encouraging news has since been received from Miss Sandwick and after a complete rest she is expected to return. Miss Sandwick, being the official yell leader, is sadly missed.

Lunch was served in the church parlors with Clara Lund as hostess.

The annual Lutefisk Supper given by the Trinity Ladies' Aid last Saturday evening was very successful. Serving began at six o'clock and a large number of persons, including many students and members of the college faculty attended.

A chicken Dinner was given by the ladies of the Ladies Sewing Circle of the Parkland Evangelical Lutheran Church on Saturday evening Nov. 6.

Mission Society Gives Program
A joint meeting of the P. L. C. Mission Society and Young Peoples' Lutheran League was held Sunday afternoon in the church parlors. Rev. Halverson of Tacoma was the speaker. Scripture was read by Ruth Matson. A piano solo by Esther Towse and a vocal duet by Anna Thompson and Hannah Anderson concluded the program which was followed by the social hour.

A basket social will be given in the church basement Nov. 16. All girls are asked to bring baskets. Proceeds will go toward a new piano for the basement. Students are especially invited.

The main address of the evening was given by Prof. Hauge. In his talk he divided the church activities into four main heads, Home Mission, Foreign Mission, Charities and Christian Education. The theme of the address was that Christian Education is the foundation of the other three. He used the picture of a beautiful edifice to represent the three activities and the foundation of that Christian Education.

"The lack of interest in this last activity is due," explained Prof. Hauge, "not to the lack of feeling for Christian Education, but due to the fact that its cause cannot be presented with an emotional plea but depends upon clear reason. If we build our 'edifice' neglecting Christian Education the foundation, we are building upon sand and though beautiful at present its permanency is not taken into consideration and it must crumble."

The staff of this thriving journal was highly amused—yea, flattered—to receive a publication addressed to the "Moving Mash." Add that up!

To Me, By Me
For this is my duty: to strive to write.
To record each incident—of all make light.
To speed up the pace and do it up hot.
Do I think I can? Sure!

Avast, Gwendolyn, what would you do if I upset the boat?
Truly, Alonzo, I would say you were a "Vulgar Boatman."

He: I ain't.
She: Say, where did you want to school?

"Bark! Bark! The dogs do bark. The heggars are come to town. Some in rags and some in tags. And some in velvet gowns."

program.
"Every courtesy," says Pres. Ordal, "was shown us by the President of the University and all others met, and the day is one never to be forgotten."

From Vancouver Pres. Ordal and Rev. Henrikson returned as far as Bellingham where several days were spent in the interest of the College.

The reports are that keen interest and splendid loyalty is being shown everywhere for Pacific Lutheran College.
Several sermons and addresses were given by Pres. Ordal at Anacortes, B. C. on October 24. He conducted the Divine Services in the morning and also addressed the Sunday School.

In the afternoon he again gave a Sunday School address—this time at New Westminster.

A third address was given at 5 P. M. in Vancouver, B. C. before the Y. P. L. L. gathering.

Pres. Ordal took part in the dedication ceremonies of the Central Lutheran Church, formerly Rev. O. J. Edwards charge, at Everett, Washington, on October 17.

Besides being one of the speakers of the day, Pres. Ordal also announced the topic for discussion for the following day: "Come to Him the Living Stone."

P. L. C. is happy again to welcome Mr. Arnt Oyen who has been a student here for several years. He is a graduate of both the high school and the business department, and he will this year finish his college course. Mr. Oyen was assistant business manager of the Morning Mast last year and for the spring quarter was the business manager.

Rev. O. J. Edwards of Everett visited the school on Friday. He addressed the students during the chapel hour.

Rev. and Mrs. Geo. Henrikson and daughter, Theodora, returned from Portland, Oregon, late Tuesday evening.

Miss Evelyn Sorenson spent the week end in Seattle.

Miss Dorothy Thompson has discontinued her studies at the school.

Miss Ella Thostenson visited with her brother, Arnold, on Sunday, October 31.

Miss Ida Knutzen, of Burlington, was the guest of her sister, Christina, over the week end.

Miss Anna Thompson visited at the home of her parents of Marysville over the week end.

Miss Esther Westby visited her sister, Helen, last week.

Margaret Jacobson had as her guest, the later part of the week, Miss Ruby Dalgity of Auburn.

Miss Ruth Matson visited over the week end with Miss Helga Hanson, '24, of Seattle.

Rev. Skilbred of Vancouver, B. C. made a short visit at the school on Monday.

Mr. Anton Anderson, an uncle of Hanna and Abraham Anderson, and Mr. Ben Anderson, a brother of Hanna visited at the school on Sunday, October 31. Mr. Anton Anderson attended P. L. C. a number of years ago.

DAILY DIARY

Fri. 29: First debate meeting. Rising young orators orate eloquently, impromptu, some confusedly and consequently humorously.

Mon. 1: Didja have a good time Halloween? So'd we. Why were all the girls singing the "Prisoner's Song"?

Tue. 2: These boys! They will be boys, all right. Old clothes, (necessarily) patches and uncontrollable Big Bens—all of which made a successful "Old Clothes Day." Well, variety is the spice of life.

Wed. 3: Lots of new students here now for the winter course.

Thurs. 4: Day of profuse sunshine. The old Kicking Post decides that life is just one kick after the other.

Fri. 5: First quarter of school ended. Tests and grades in view. Ah, the joy of the anticipation!—Here's hoping.

Mon. 8: Prof. Xavier makes his usual plea for the library.

Tues. 9: Only fifteen more days till vacation—Ah!

Wed. 10: Almost time for our quarter grades. Wonder what the new teachers' marks are like, anyway?
