

Knightletter

VOL. 9 NO. 19 Pacific Lutheran University, February 26, 1971

THE DWIGHT JUDSON ZULAUF ROSTER OF ACCOUNTING SCHOLARS

is maintained in recognition of the contributions made at Pacific Lutheran University to professional accounting by Professor Dwight Judson Zulauf, Doctor of Philosophy and Certified Public Accountant, who integrated concepts from the field of accounting with economics, finance, industrial relations, and law in academic studies at the University of Oregon, Columbia University, and the University of Minnesota; who has taught a generation of accountants in his distinguished career in teaching; who has earned an outstanding reputation in supervising and editing scholarly research in accounting for scholars now active throughout the United States; and who, above all, has exemplified in his own person the kind of educational ideal that succeeds in combining Christian commitment and academic excellence into a single noble and humane vocation.

This roster lists alumni, faculty, and students of the School of Business Administration of Pacific Lutheran University who have passed all examinations leading to Certified Public Accountant designation at the first sitting.

• DWIGHT ZULAUF •

• DANIEL BATY •

• KENNETH CUBBAGE •

See page 8. . .

ROUNDTABLE

Mrs. Judy Baker (Testing) published an article entitled, "Shh-Discussion Time" in the January issue of Grade Teacher Magazine. . .Want a home close to the campus? Prof. Josef Running (emeritus) and his wife have their place at 420 S. 122nd up for sale. . .phone LE 7-5070. . .Jefferson Yang (Engineering) attended the annual conference of the Institute of Mechanical Engineers held recently in New York City. . .Drs. K.T. Tang and Harry Adams (both physics) traveled to San Francisco recently for the West Coast regional conclave of the American Physics Society. . .LOST, a framed reproduction of Rembrandt's painting "Girl with Broom" by Dr. George Arbaugh (Philos.). . .the missing object d'art was left in a classroom of the Admin. Bldg. by the absent-minded prof whose extension is 257. . . Drs. James Halseth and Arthur Martinson (Hist.) have been appointed Adjunct Professors (sounds nice, doesn't it?) by President Rolland Dille of Moorhead State (Minn.) Teachers College. . .their duties will include the planning and directing of a Conservation Workshop on National Parks next August. . .Rev. Edgar Larson (Dev. & Alumni) attended an American Alumni Council workshop in San Francisco last week. . .Welcome back on the staff to Arlene Thompson as a full-time secretary in the Alumni office. . .prior to leaving last October she was in Admissions. . .Dr. Kenneth Johnston (Pasha of the School of Ed.) is a speaker at the national conference of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education in Chicago this week. . .A hearty welcome to Gay Soldano, new employee in data processing. . .President Wiegman has managed to keep out of mischief this week . . .Sunday he conferred an honorary doctorate, Monday he was a guest at the roll-out of SAS's first 747 at Boeing's Edmonds plant, Wednesday he represented the private colleges of the state by addressing a hearing in the State Senate in Olympia and this weekend he will be attending sessions of the Lutheran Committee on Public Policy and Church Related Higher Education in Chicago. . .Dr. Robert Mortvedt (pres. emeritus) gave the invocation at the SAS roll-out program and Clayton B. Peterson (v.p.-Development) represented the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce Industrial Bureau. . .Photos of glass figures of people made by Dr. Robert C. Olsen (chem.) have been accepted for publication in the Journal of Chemical Education. . .The German consul from Seattle visited the campus Wednesday for a luncheon with Dr. Rodney Swenson and other members of the foreign language dept.

* * * * *

BIRTHDAYS

Samuel LaGrave	March	1
Mieko Johnson, and Wilma Peterson		3
Glenna Wusterbarth		5

* * * * *

OPERA WORKSHIP
TO BE REPEATED
SATURDAY NIGHT

The second performance of Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas" is tomorrow night, Feb. 27, in Eastvold. Connie Koschmann (Dido), Stewart Hanson (Aeneas) and Karen Wraalstad (Belinda) study the score over the shoulder of director-producer William Sare.

A full-length production of Henry Purcell's opera, "Dido and Aeneas," featuring a performance by the Concert Ballet Group of Tacoma, opened last night, Feb. 25, and plays again tomorrow night, Feb. 27, in Eastvold Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

The libretto for "Dido and Aeneas" is taken from a chapter in Virgil's epic poem "The Aeneid," which describes the imagined origin of the Roman nation. Najum Tate, the librettist for Purcell's opera, altered Virgil's writing to make a Baroque comment. The Greek gods, in the revised version, serve as puppets in the hands of the Sorceress and witches.

The power struggle seems to be between Dido and her love, as good, and the Sorceress with the power of destiny, as evil. Aeneas hangs in the balance, experiencing both forces strongly within him.

William Sare, director of opera workshop at PLU and producer-director of the production, says "Dido and Aeneas" was selected because "to my way of thinking, it cannot be surpassed anywhere for the sheer beauty of the music."

The Tacoma Concert Ballet Group, one of 30 regional honor groups in the country, has given some 200 performances in the Pacific Northwest over the past six years.

The all student cast is complemented by a chorus of 30 voices and the University Orchestra. All performances are complimentary.

* * * * *

Lorin Hollander, acclaimed by the New York Times as "the leading pianist of his generation," appears in concert tonight in Olson Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. as the third of five PLU Artist Series attractions this season.

HOLLANDER HERE
TONIGHT

In a Copley News Service article in last Sunday's News Tribune, Hollander said he wants concert-going to be an emotional experience.

The article quoted Hollander as saying, "It is only when people well permit themselves to experience music as an organic, sensual experience that man will start to come to a closer chance of finding himself."

In tonight's concert, Hollander will perform "Two Sonatas" by Domenico Scarlatti, "Sonata in B-flat" by Franz Schubert, "Piano variations" by Aaron Copland, and a fourth piece that is yet to be announced.

At age 26, Hollander is in his 14th season as a concert pianist and has been compared to Franz Liszt by some critics. He has performed with more than 50 American symphony orchestras and has appeared more on television than any other classical performer.

The young musician seeks an informal concert atmosphere to attract a wider audience, especially the young. He also gives much time and effort to education, believing that re-opening the lines of communication with young people is critical to the future of the arts.

A student of Prof. Edward Steuermann at the Julliard School of Music for 10 years, he was selected the "Artist of Tomorrow" in 1965 following his debut at Carnegie Hall with the National Orchestra Association. He has since played more than 500 concerts on five continents.

* * * * *

Dr. Philip Nordquist (history) is currently in Geneva, Switzerland, enjoying a sabbatical leave.

Following are portions of a letter he wrote President Wiegman two weeks ago:

"I have now begun my sixth month away from duties at PLU. It seem appropriate, therefore, to send belated greetings, briefly recapitulate some experiences, and remind you of the continued existence of the Nordquist family. The memories of those on Sabbatical Leave are, I am sure, selective, like those of old athletes. They remember only the good things and embroider them a little. Be that as it may, our experiences have been interesting and good and trauma has been minimal.

"Our flight over was without incident. We picked up our VW camper in Hamburg and began a leisurely but facinating trip down the storied Rhine. I do not think anything could stir the mind and imagination of an historian of European affairs any more. We arrived in Switzerland early in Sept. and like Geneva very much.

NORDQUIST WRITES FROM GENEVA

"The trauma that has afflicted us has come from periodic bouts with Swiss bureaucracy and the housing problem. We have seen the interior decor of many bureaucratic offices-- customs, le Controle De L'Habitant, the auto license bureau, etc. We have, thus far, come out of these experiences amazingly well.

"Housing was a serious matter. There is an extreme shortage of housing throughout all of Switzerland and Geneva. We had visions of camping all Winter, but actually found an adequate, centrally located apartment in slightly more than a week. We are sub-leasing the apartment from an Italian diplomat posted to Libya. He has furnished it with what the inventory describes as "old" and "valuable" antiques; a literal translation would read lots of knick-knacks, frequent electrical malfunctions and an ornate but painfully short bed.

"Geneva is a fine place to be located. In a city about the size of Tacoma there are a couple hundred international organizations, the European headquarters of a number of American corporations, one of Europe's fine orchestras, opera, twenty-five movie theatres, several major publishers and more good bookstores than in all of Western Washington. I have been accorded visiting-scholar status at the University and have the privilege of using the facilities of both the University and the Institut d'Histoire de la Reformation. I am participating in the activities of the Reformation Seminar at the Institut. I have also had the good fortune to meet and chat with some of Europe's best Reformation scholars. I cannot begin to describe the importance of these contacts and experiences.

"I frequently work at the Ecumenical Center Library of the World Council of Churches. The WCC staff is a highly competent bunch and Emmet Eklund will have a fascinating stay here next winter. I have also gotten to know many people from the LWF who have asked me to send greetings to friends at PLU. They include: Oscar Rolander, Herb Neve, Carl Mau, Herb Schaefer, and LaVern Grosch.

"We will conclude our stay here about May 1 and then begin extensive travels in Europe. We have enjoyed our Sabbatical Leave thus far and we anticipate more of the same. We look forward with even greater enthusiasm to our return and another year of teaching.

"If you have occasion, extend greetings to our friends at PLU. Tell them we are happy and well and consider PLU a pretty happy place to be the more we see and hear of other places."

DEADLINE DATES

LETTER RECEIVED
FROM ROBERT OUKO

"THE EMPEROR'S
NEW CLOTHES"
STARTS MARCH 4

MARIAN HALVORSON
RECEIVES DOCTORATE

Attention: Deans, Directors, Division Chairmen, Department Chairmen. The deadline for Course proposals for the 1972 Interim is March 1.

* * * * *

President Wiegman has received a letter of thanks from Robert J. Ouko, Minister for the Common Market and Economic Affairs for the East African Community. Ouko received an honorary doctor of laws degree from PLU on Jan. 27.

Dr. Ouko's letter read in part:

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank you once again for the honour I received from your University and also for the kindness with which I was received and looked after during my brief stay.

"It was a matter of regret that I could not stay longer, but I hope you understood my inability to extend my stay. I enjoyed every hour of that visit, and hope that an opportunity will present itself in the future for a repeat visit.

"Please convey my greetings to all the friends I met."

* * * * *

"The Emperor's New Clothes," a delightful tale by Hans Christian Andersen, will be presented by the PLU Children's Theatre in five performances starting March 4.

Afternoon performances are slated for March 4, 5, 6, 12 and 13. Those for the general public are on Saturdays the 6th and 13th at 2:30 p.m. in Eastvold Auditorium. There will also be an evening performance Sat., March 13, at 7:30.

Chris Boerger will play the role of the Emperor and Paul Landsverk will be the Minister of Robes. Others in the cast include Sherri Stein, Gwen Larson, Otto Peterson, Chuck Hewitson, Greg Thompson, Susie Sheridan, Carol Malvin, Dave Carlson, Doug Parker, Becky Shear and Peggy Treften.

Reservations for the play may be obtained by contacting the Communications Arts office, Ext. 305.

* * * * *

In spite of vast educational programs, the literacy rate is dropping in some parts of Africa, according to Miss Marian Halvorson an LCA missionary and literacy expert who made the statement in accepting an honorary doctor of humane letters degree from PLU last Sunday, Feb. 21.

Dr. Halvorson, who has conducted literacy workshops in nearly every country south of the Sahara Desert, explained that the population has tripled in Africa since the turn of the century and educational programs have not kept pace. "There are more than 300 million people on the continent today," she said.

Dr. Arne Sovik of New York, executive secretary of the Board of World Missions, LCA, gave the address at the special convocation. He said that the church's literacy program in areas such as Africa makes up for an impoverished past, helps people keep up with the changing present and will help people to adjust to the elusive future.

Dr. Sovik stated that literacy fosters justice and brings liberation. "It aims to help people become more human," he said, "and give people the capacity to see themselves as redeemed children of God."

In accepting the honorary degree, Dr. Halvorson said, "Reading is having a light turned on inside and brings a new sense of achievement, of self-respect and person-hood."

In relating how much it means to be able to read, Dr. Halvorson quoted one man, who said upon being able to read the first primer, "Now I am a person."

Dr. Halvorson will return to her offices in Arusha, Tanzania, in March. She is already booked for nine months of literacy workshops in the East African Community in 1971.

PLU Provost Dr. Richard Jundkuntz read the citation at the ceremony, and president Wiegman conferred the degree. Dr. Paul Reigstad, Chairman of the Division of Humanities and Miss Margaret Wickstrom, Dean of Women, placed the doctoral hood on the candidate.

Dr. Halvorson was awarded the doctor of humane letters degree for her contributions to world literacy. Dr. Arne Sovik (left), ex. sec. of the Board of World Missions, LCA, delivered the address, and President Wiegman, right, conferred the degree.

Dr. Marian Halvorson admires her honorary degree between two former fellow-missionaries, A. Dean Buchanan (left) who served as treasurer for the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Tanzania and the Rev. Leighland Johnson, who was a co-worker with Dr. Halvorson in Africa.

RENOWNED RELIGIOUS LEADER COMING

Dr. Carl F. H. Henry, editor-at-large of "Christianity Today" and one of the nation's foremost religious leaders, will give a series of lectures here March 2 & 3.

Dr. Henry, who is also professor-at-large at Eastern Baptist Seminary, is the first scheduled lecturer to appear on the new Staley Christian Scholar Lecture Program at PLU. The lectureship is made possible by a grant from the Thomas F. Staley foundation.

"Divine Revelation: What Can Be Said for It" will be the topic of Dr. Henry's first lecture Tuesday, March 2, at 9:50 a.m. in Chris Knutzen Fellowship Hall. In the evening he will speak on the topic, "Tensions Between Personal Evangelism and Social Justice" at 7:30 o'clock in Xavier Hall auditorium. There will be a no-host dinner at 6 p.m. in the University Center with Dr. Henry. Reservations may be made by calling Ext. 229 or 300. The price will be $1.65.

Wednesday morning, March 3, at 9:50 a.m. in Trinity Church Dr. Henry will give a devotional message.

* * * * *

CHOIR SINGS
FOR LAW MAKERS

Prof. Maurice H. Skones took his 72-voice "Choir of the West" to Olympia Feb. 15 to participate in Memorial Services held in the House of Representatives in the State capital. The occasion was a joint session of the Senate and House in which former members of those bodies who had died during the past two years were memorialized. The choir sang three selections.

* * * * *

ZULAUF ACCOUNTING
SCHOLARS PLAQUE
PRESENTED

Dr. Dwight J. Zulauf, professor of business administration, was honored recently when a plaque was presented bearing his name which lists alumni, faculty and students of the School of Business Administration who pass all examinations leading to the CPA at the first sitting.

There are six names on the original plaque and others will be added through the years.

Richard Hildahl, '65, part-time faculty member and a CPA who is management services supervisor for a national accounting firm in Tacoma, was master of ceremonies at the presentation dinner held Feb. 12 in the Sherwood Inn.

Dr. Zulauf joined the PLU faculty in 1949 and left in 1953 for the U. of Minnesota to work on his doctorate. He returned in 1959 to establish the School of Business Administration of which he was the founding dean.

In the above photo Zulauf, center, is shown with two others who are on the plaque, Kenneth Cabbage, left, and Alan Pedersen.

* * * * *

WHO'S WHO ON CAMPUS
(Political Science)

Donald R. Farmer
Chairman

Paul W. Ulbricht

Frank B. Collinge

Dorothy M. Benedict

Someone new has been added to the Department of Political Science. He is Dr. Frank B. Collinge who is succeeding Dr. Lowell Culver who moved to Illinois at the end of January. Collinge has his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of California, Berkeley; and his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Washington. He has taught at San Francisco State, Simon Fraser U. and the U.W. His wife, Patricia, is a Tacoman. They have three children: Julie, 6; John, 4; and Alan, 11 months.

THAT WILL BE 50
GRAND, PLEASE

Ross Boice, PLU grid star inked a contract with the Los Angeles Rams professional football team this week to play as a linebacker. Here he shakes hands with Norm Pollom, Rams representative. Looking on are varsity coach Roy E. Carlson, center standing, and assistant coach Tom Mays, left. Boice signed for a modest bonus as a linebacker with a contingency clause giving additional bonus if he makes the squad.

* * * * *

LUTES WIN LEAGUE
TITLE; GET BERTH
IN NAIA TOURNEY

Who'd a thunk it? By the first part of January the Lute hoop squad had managed to win two ball games and were picked to finish well down the line in Northwest Conference play. When they dropped a pair to Lewis & Clark and Willamette in mid-January it looked like the dopesters were correct.

But Coach Gene Lundgaard's Lutes started to click and proceeded to win eight straight league contests. Last weekend at home they blew the L & C Pioneers off the court, 93-65 and accorded the same treatment to Willamette by a 91-64 margin to wrap up the championship.

Those victories gave them a 14-10 season record (with two games remaining), assured the Lutes of another winning season, and earned them an invitation as the leading independent of the NAIA's Region One. They will meet the top team of the Evergreen Conference (either Western or Central Wash.) in a best of three series starting Monday, March 1, at Olson Gymnasium. The other game (or third if needed) will be played on the home court of the Evergreen entry.

This Thursday night the hoopsters will travel to Lacey where they will play the St. Martin's Rangers, and Saturday night they will be at home to the University of Puget Sound Loggers. Tipoff time for both games will be 8 p.m., preceded by 6 p.m. junior varsity tilts.

The Loggers, who have another outstanding club this year, have also been chosen for a post-season tourney berth. They will compete in the college division of the NCAA for the second straight season.

ROGER IVERSON NAMED TO NAIA ALL-STAR
TEAM

Roger Iverson, a 5-9 mighty mite whose fadeaway jump shot and aggressive floor game made him a crowd favorite, a four time all-conference guard, and a NAIA Mr. Hustle Award winner during the period 1955-1959 in Lute togs, was named Friday to the NAIA All-Time All-Tourney team.

Iverson, with 1920 career points, the second highest scorer in PLU history, sparked the Lutes to four consecutive Kansas City trips.

The ten man team was selected from 6,000 players who had competed in the NAIA National Tourney since 1952. Iverson, now a coach at Peninsula HS in Gig Harbor joins such luminaries as pro stars Willis Reed, Luke Jackson, Dick Barnett, and Al Tucker. The Lincoln HS (Tacoma) grad is the only player on the all-star roster under six feet.

* * * * *

BERNER, HERVEY
WIN CONFERENCE
CHAMPIONSHIPS

Gary Berner and Bob Hervey, conference champions in the 150 and 167 weight brackets, led the Lutes to a second place finish in the Northwest Conference Wrestling Tournament Saturday in Walla Walla. Paul Farnham (142) finished second, losing a referee's decision in overtime in the championship match. Ralph Neils also battled to a second place finish while Pete Overvold (158) was fourth. Pacific took top honors with 81 points followed by PLU with 54.

* * * * *

LADY LUTES WIN TWO

PLU's Lady Lutes upped their season record to 8-2 with two victories last week, tripping UPS 48-40 and stopping Everett Community College 34-26.

* * * * *

YE EDITOR
LAID UP

Jim Peterson, News Bureau Chief, who regularly edits this publication, became so carried away by the Lute's conference championship win Saturday night that he tried to emulate Ake Palm and dunk a basketball Sunday afternoon. He gets an "A" for effort, but he flunked the test. He strained about every back muscle he knew he had, plus a few others he didn't know he had, and he's spending the week recuperating at home. Get back soon, Jim, and when the conference swimming meet comes along please don't try to imitate the divers.