

1929 Enrollment Exceeds Records Of Former Years

Formal Opening of School Held September 10; New Instructors and Students Come From Spokane College

With an enrollment of 129 for the first two days, Pacific Lutheran College started on the new school year with a larger enrollment than during any corresponding period. By last Monday noon, the enrollment had reached 157. The students registered last year for the first two days numbered 106.

The formal opening was held in the chapel, Tuesday morning, September 10. Dr. Tingelstad had charge and introduced several Lutheran pastors, who spoke briefly.

Spokane College has been closed for this year, and several of its students have enrolled here. Three teachers were also transferred from Spokane to P. L. C. The question of the permanent consolidation of Spokane College with Pacific Lutheran College will come up for settlement at the bi-annual convention of the Norwegian Lutheran Church at the next meeting, which is to be held in June, 1930.

The new instructors who have been transferred from Spokane College for this year are the following: Carl L. Foss, serving as field agent this year, Walter H. Hellman, the new dean of men, and Clifford O. Olson, the new head coach and assistant dean of men.

The number of states and territories represented at P. L. C. this year are as follows: Alaska, Washington, North Dakota, Oregon, Montana, California, and British Columbia, Canada.

Mrs. Louise B. Taylor is teaching in the high school at Sumner, Washington, where she is living with her husband's parents.

P. L. C. GRADUATES STRIVE FOR STILL HIGHER GOALS ALL ACTIVITIES NAMED

The 1929 graduating class is steadily passing on to higher goals. While a few are at home this year working for their college expenses, the majority are teachers, and a great many are attending some university or college.

The graduates of the Normal Department hold the following positions: Ingeborg Holstad, grades one to four in the Tanner School, near Kent, Washington; Ladelle Winnie, the intermediate grades in the East Stanwood school; Walter French, the fifth grade and athletics at Yelm, Washington; Leah Grass, music at Yelm; Rudolph Sanderson, the principalship and the seventh and eighth grades of the school at Chamber's Prairie, near Olympia; Marvin Howick, the principalship at the Collins school; Mæe Wolzschner and Irene More, the intermediate grades in the school at Edgerton, near Eatonville, and Millwood, Washington, respectively; Helen Westby, at Hooper, Washington; Verna Gano, the lower grades at the Vall school, near Rainier; Marie Gardlin, the lower grades at the Lincoln school, near Paulsbo, Washington; Ines Arneson, the school between Spanaway and Roy; Martha Cline, the intermediate grades at Othello, Washington; Irene Giesch in Toole County,

MALE QUARTET WILL REPLACE THE OCTET

The Male Octet that was successfully tried out last year will be discontinued this year and replaced by a male quartette. For the smaller number, transportation can be more easily arranged, and longer trips will be made. Since the director's time has been centered upon the choir tryouts, the quartette has, as yet, not been chosen. But plans for a quartette tryout have been made to take effect soon.

All students who obtain membership in either of the three musical divisions—the choir, the orchestra, or the male quartette—will receive credit for their work.

Number of Faculty Increased by Eight

New Field Man, Secretary, and Teachers Come to Pacific Lutheran College

As the result of several changes made in the administration at Pacific Lutheran College this year, there are six new teachers, a new field man and a new secretary.

In view of the decision of Spokane College not to operate in 1929-30, three members of that college accepted the invitation to join the Pacific Lutheran faculty. President Carl Foss will work in the field, especially among prospective students. Fred Foss is a graduate of Pacific Lutheran academy and a former teacher here.

Vice President Walter Hellman is dean of men, and professor of English and Christianity. Mr. Hellman, a representative of the Joint Synod of Ohio received his M. A. degree at the State College of Washington.

Clifford O. Olson is assistant dean of men, athletic coach, and teacher of high-school Latin and history. Mrs. Clifford O. Olson, a graduate of St. Olaf, is the assistant in the high-school English department.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Bondy, of Seattle, is the new teacher of languages, having (Continued on Page Four)

Montana; Ethel Johnson, the intermediate grades at Othello, Washington; Bertha Ror near Pullman, Montana; and Rena Strandberg the first four grades at the Loveland school.

Several of the high-school graduates have returned to P. L. C. and enrolled in the Junior College Division. They are: Wilbert Nyman, Margaret Padness, Nelma Gulleson, Ida Hinderlie, and Dorothy Lehmann.

Robert Knutzen is attending the Mt. Vernon Junior College, and John Johnson and Armand Thomsen are expected back at P. L. C.

Elna Truison, Lillian Anderson, Peter Flott, and Erling Jacobson will attend the University of Washington, while Olaf Ordal, Ivel Kreidler, and Raymond Hoff have entered the Washington State College at Pullman.

Gerhard Lane is continuing his studies in the East at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. According to last reports Evans Carlson will enter school at Springfield, Massachusetts, to specialize in coaching. Dagmar Hegness is attending the University of California, at Berkeley.

Warren Bowman is working at Port Angeles. John Wise is also working. Gertrude Eide is taking a course at St. Joseph's Hospital in Tacoma.

Choir Membership Has Been Decided

Plans for Concert Tour Not Yet Completed; Number Limited To Forty

Aside from a few changes which may be necessary to make later, the membership of the choir has been decided, according to Director J. O. Edwards. The choir this year will consist of only forty members because of the difficulty of transportation when on concert tours. Last year there were about forty-five members.

As yet, V. E. Elvestrom, choir manager, has not completed the plans for this year's tour, but he promises a very interesting trip. Last year the choir's concert tour extended north to Bellingham and south to Silverton, Oregon. The choir will hold three ensembles per week besides two-part rehearsals.

Following are the members of the choir to date: Anna Mikkelsen, Elvera Hokenstad, Mildred Nelson, Solveig Wangen, Dorothy Lehmann, Ruth Jacobson, Inga Colperud, Thola Anderson, Irene Dahl, Edna Dagstad, Cora Lopperud, Uesny Aljertstad, Eleanor Loftus, Evelyn Olsen, Ruth Brown, Helen Tingelstad, Irene Hoskins, Nelma Gulleson, Ida Hinderlie, Berdine Knutsen, Ruth Norgaard, Marie Omdal, and Cora Vista, accompanist.

Arthur Olsen, Ted Evjenst, Carol Svare, Harold Skaar, Stanley Benetson, John Opperud, Fred Lee, Sigurd Holland, Warner Quale, Sigur Bjeke, Paul Heim-Jensen, Willis Milton, Berger Jacobson, Alton Ellingson, Edwin Haugen, and C. A. Pellett.

Profs Enjoy Rest By Staying on the Job All Summer

Those students who believe the life of a teacher is one of uninterrupted ease during the summer months will undoubtedly change their minds upon hearing how the faculty at Pacific spent their vacations. In fact, one can see why teachers wonder what the word vacation really means.

Doctor Tingelstad remained at the school throughout the summer, directing the campaign for funds made through the Development Association. J. U. Xavler and O. J. Stuen spent a great deal of time in the library, classifying new books and re-arranging shelves.

N. J. Hong, with Doctor Tingelstad, edited the annual school catalog. Mr. Hong also taught six weeks of summer school.

Ph. E. Hauge and Victor A. Elvestrom were in the East, working with the Development drive.

Mrs. Lora B. Kreidler and A. W. Ramstad took up special work at the University of Washington.

Miss Lydia Blirud directed the summer course at Pacific Lutheran College. H. J. Hoff and J. O. Edwards taught during the summer session here. Later Mr. Edwards cleared some lots he purchased in Parkland, where he will build a home next year.

Ludwig Larson worked faithfully in the office all summer.

Esther Towe, 22, and Gladys Jorgenson, 28, of Silverton, Oregon, will enter the University of Washington this year.

GIRLS' DORM PEP CLUB ELECTS YEAR'S OFFICERS

At the first pep meeting of the dormitory girls held in the reception room Wednesday evening, September 18, the following officers were elected: Elvera Hokenstad, president; Emma Kaaland, vice president; Ruth Jacobson, secretary; Eleanor Loftus, treasurer. The program consisted of a talk by Mrs. Kreidler, a vocal solo by Elvera Hokenstad, a comic vocal duet by Ruth Brown and Mildred Nelson, and a piano solo by Eleanor Dahlberg.

President's Home To Be New Addition

Plans for Enlarging Campus Buildings Being Thought Over by Board

That Pacific Lutheran College shall soon have a new President's residence, to be financed by the Development Association, was the decision reached by the Executive Committee of the College when it met on September 17.

Mr. Charles Altfillich, landscape and architectural designer, was here yesterday. He brought with him plans for the campus, indicating the location of future buildings, as well as plans and specifications for the President's residence.

The Board of Trustees plans, some time during the year, to construct a biology laboratory in the basement of the gymnasium. This will be similar to the chemistry laboratory built last year. The construction committee for the new laboratory consists of the following: Dr. Tingelstad, J. U. Xavler, V. E. Elvestrom, and a biology teacher to be appointed.

The committee in charge of the erection of the President's residence consists of H. E. Alderson, treasurer of the Board of Trustees, and B. L. Kirkebo, a former member of the Board.

Rev. C. H. Norgaard of Everett has been called as a third field man, to assist Mr. Elvestrom and Mr. Foss, but it is not known yet whether he will accept. He will have special charge of endowment collections and will work for the Development Association.

STUDENT ORGANIZATION NOTES

The first meeting of the Daughters of the Reformation, an organization of the girls interested in promoting the work of the Lutheran Church, will be held at the home of Mrs. Ramstad, October 1. The purpose of the organization and the topics for the following meetings will be discussed. All girls are welcome.

P. L. C. KIDDIES ROMP THE ROUNDS TO OBSERVE FUNNIES AT THE FAIR

P. L. C. students went back to their childhood Monday, September 15, and attended the Western Washington Fair at Puyallup, for educational purposes (?).

The buses left at one o'clock and among the students were several notable guests, Colleen Moore, Clara Bow, and Amy McPherson and several others. However, the fact was noted that the guests didn't "go over so big."

The P. L. C. children ran around the fair buying everything they saw until their money ran out. Motto: "If thou wouldst collect overdue bills, hold thy patience a few months longer."

The merry-go-round, caterpillars, and ship served as light forms of amusement for the enthusiasts. Some of the boys spent the whole afternoon

Great Strides for Development Goal Taken in Summer

Approaching 4,000 Mark in Subscriptions; Money Amounts to Almost $20,000; Last Year's Deficit Wiped Out

Since school closed last spring great forward steps have been taken by the Pacific Lutheran College Development Association. The goal of the workers for the Association was partially realized when through the summer months the membership in the association was raised to 3,322 with a total subscription of $19,683.20.

In June Rev. O. J. Ordal and O. A. Tingelstad secured the endorsement of five district meetings in the middle West for soliciting funds in that section during the month of July. The committee in charge of this work was composed of Rev. L. M. Stavig, of Northfield, Minnesota, Dean Phillip E. Hauge, and Victor A. Elvestrom. Under their direction about $14,000 was collected by the following nine solicitors: Rev. T. O. Svare, Rev. Mikkel Looe, Rev. L. C. Foss, Rev. T. Hokenstad, Rev. C. H. Norgaard, Rev. O. E. Heimdahl, Rev. H. L. Foss, Rev. O. Lane and Mr. L. G. Nuhus.

The friends of Pacific Lutheran College in the states of Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, and South Dakota responded cheerfully. As a result of their support the operating deficit for last year was wiped out and the continuation of the development plans made possible.

Boys Dorm Union Has First Meeting

The Boys' Dormitory Union held its first meeting Tuesday evening, September 17.

As many of the boys were not acquainted with the Dormitory rules, the main purpose of the meeting was a discussion of the rules to be observed. Fred Scheel was elected to fill the position of treasurer left vacant by Robert Knutsen. At the close of the meeting three cheers were given in honor of Dean Hellman.

The officers of the Union this year are: Fred Lee, president; Berger Jacobson, vice president; John Gardlin, secretary; Fred Scheel, treasurer and Conrad Kirchoff, sergeant at arms.

In the grandstand where with mouths wide open they watched the drunk elephants and horse races, B. Jacobson won a bet from B. Nyman, but the former will have to wait some time for his forty cents.

Many of the girls observed their future husbands by making use of the penny slot machines. By the looks of some of the pictures a few of the enterprising young men in this school will be flatly refused.

All dusty and stuck together with taffy, cones and hamburgers, the tired young makers returned to the bus where the meeting was adjourned.

Our official broadcaster announced "that a good time was had by all," whereby the students address did agree with the said official broadcaster.

WELCOME

Welcome, students, back to P. L. C.
As this copy goes to press, 161 students have registered for this school year. Among them we see many old students and also many new ones, including several from Spokane College. We are glad to see them all. The increased number and the less superior type of students mean a better school to meet the splendid opportunities in store for them during the coming year.

The Mooring Mast extends to all its best wishes for a successful school year and joins the rest of the institution in bidding them a hearty welcome. We feel sure the new students will enter into the spirit of the institution and vigorously pursue the work which has been planned for the coming school year.

SUPPORT THE TEAM!

One week from tomorrow our varsity football team plays C. P. S. Reserves on our own field. Our new coach, Mr. Olson, and the team have worked hard for this game, and deserve our loyal support.

C. P. S. boasts a strong team. They are coming out here to put us down in defeat. They beat us last year. Are we going to let them repeat it this year? Come on, team, play your best. That is all that can be expected of anybody. Come on, fellow students, and help defeat C. P. S. And last, but not least, let us show them what good sports we are. After all, that is better than winning any game.

MAKE INTEREST

What is it that makes a college paper interesting to read? Isn't it the pictures which make it attractive? Certainly. There is nothing "drier" than a page full of monotonous reading material. This paper belongs to you, students, and it is up to you in great part to make it possible for these pictures to appear in the Mooring Mast.

The remedy is simple. No, you don't have to pose for a camera man or make yourselves notorious to help. There is a subscription contest on among the students, and the number of pictures printed will depend upon the subscriptions turned in.

So, students, each one of you, should get busy and do your best to help your side win. Then you will be proud of your paper.

HOME SPIRIT

Vacation is over. Once again we resume our studies where we left off last spring. It is good to enjoy a vacation now and then, but it is also good to return—home.

Home! you say? Yes, it is home to those who have been here before; and to the new students who are entering, it should be soon. Since Pacific Lutheran College is our home, it devolves upon each one of us to do our best to bring credit on our institution. We are all one big family. Therefore any good thing done by one member will bring credit to the whole group. Likewise, any wrong committed by one member will bring discredit on the rest.

Therefore, let us all enter into the spirit of the place. Let us get acquainted with our teachers and with one another and have a good time. Above all, let us not forget our reason for being at P. L. C.

If we keep these things in mind, we shall be able, when the end of the term comes, to feel we have not only enjoyed ourselves, but have also brought credit to our school and benefit to others.

Chapel Talks

In extending words of welcome to teachers and students at the opening exercises held September 10, in the college chapel, Doctor Tingelstad chose as his text the words of Christ recorded in Matthew 6:10, "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

He pointed out that the goal of all our activities is the advancement of God's kingdom, and that we should daily ask ourselves, "What is God's will?" He urged students to try to discover their purpose in God's plan, and to make use of the opportunities offered them while attending an institution of this nature, the only one of its kind in the western half of the United States.

After the devotional services had been closed with hymn singing and the Lord's Prayer, the President made a brief statement of what had been accomplished during the summer through the Development Association. He stated that the Normal Department had received class A accreditation, that the accreditation of the high school will be continued, and the Junior College will be fully accredited at the next meeting of the University officials following inspection here in October.

As the President introduced the new teachers, each rose and gave a word of greeting. Rev. Pfueger, of Seattle, representing the Joint Synod of Ohio, Rev. O. L. Haavik, of Seattle, President of the Board, Rev. T. C. Foss, who was present at the first opening of Pacific Lutheran Academy in 1894, and Rev. T. O. Svare, the college pastor, were also called upon by the President and responded briefly.

Prize Offered for Best School Song

That rules for a contest to secure a school hymn will be announced as soon as a committee of judges has been appointed, was the announcement made by V. E. Elvestrom and H. E. Hellman last Monday.

It is hoped to get a hymn that will, as nearly as possible, express the spirit of Pacific Lutheran College.

The winner of this contest will not only have the honor of being the author of the school hymn, but will receive a prize, which has been offered by a friend of the College. The nature of the prize, and the identity of the donor are at present being kept secret.

Newest of Faculty Family Is Christened

The newest member of the Pacific Lutheran College faculty family was christened at Trinity Lutheran Church, by the pastor, Rev. T. O. Svare, on Sunday, September 15. The new member is Heleen Ruth Lydia Ramstad, born to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ramstad, in Seattle, July 15.

She was carried to the font by her aunt, Mrs. T. B. Burkes. The other sponsors were the Misses Janna and Mamie Ramstad, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hallberg.

Daily Diary

Sept. 12: No doubt by this time, many of the freshman dorm girls know what is to live where there were no sophomores. Life is just one bump after another. How about it freshies?

Sept. 13: The first student-body meeting was opened by the president, Warner Quale. Fred Lee was elected boys' athletic manager.

Sept. 14: Oh the joys of school on Saturdays! What is comparable to rising for an 8:15 class when one is accustomed to sleeping until noon? (Ask Stanley Berentson.)

Sept. 15: Irene Dahl was running a jitney bus from P. L. C. to Spanaway for the benefit of those who could not find their way "Service with a smile."

Sept. 16: Mildred Nelson decided that after all it would be pleasant to miss Latin class once a week. She is now heard singing merrily throughout the afternoon.

Sept. 17: Day after the fair! Assignments for Wednesday classes on "What did you see at the fair?"

Sept. 18: Prof. Beck declared that football practice is not so good for one's disposition in class.

Sept. 19: No wonder it was so windy around this part of the country—John Goplerud has at last returned to school.

Dear Mom & Pa,
 It's sure to be back to school again and see all the kids. It seems like old times already cause I'm just about broke. About everyone is back and J. Goplerud just came last Thursday. They say that during the summer he went thru college or Colegate's and specialized in soap and is graduating with honors in cosmetics and shaving mugs. We have some very dear freshmen up here but they drink an awfully lot of pop and must have spilled some in Inga's fiddle, cause in orchestra, it just gave thin watery sounds. When I played the piano, Ed said, "That'll do, but you ought to do better." He played a historical piece—the greatest tragedy in history of music—"Fall of London Bridge," which began softly, then crescendo, on up till it ended with three loud blasts from the fire siren. The other piece was played was a waltz composed of mostly whole notes and whole rests in honor of doughnut me. Of course ma, if you sent me some money I could buy paper & write more.

Football Aspirants Start Exercising

Thirty-One Now Turning Out; Hopes High for Producing Championship Team

Football training has started with more than its customary aches and pains. The new coach, Clifford Olson, is going to develop a team, which through light, he hopes will be fast and clever. As a result of practice toward this end, the boys are just getting over the first effects of the vigorous exercises they have been put through during the past week.

On the first day of practice, when only eleven men turned out, the prospects of having a football team were very discouraging. Another disquieting factor was that Ben Palo, star full-back of last year's team, was unable to take part this year.

But with thirty-one men now on the field, hopes have been again revived. Just lately many very promising prospects have turned out, and it is now the general belief of every one that P. L. C.

MANY GAMES SCHEDULED

Pacific Lutheran College football team will see plenty of action this fall if the number of games already scheduled means anything. Games will fall on either Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays of each week, starting October 2 and ending November 16.

The College of Puget Sound Reserves prefer their games on Thursdays, Centralia Junior College has arranged for Saturday football, while dates for games with Tacoma's High Schools, Lincoln, Stadium, and Bellarmine, will fall on Fridays.

The schedule to date is as follows: October 3—C. P. S. Reserves here; October 11—Stadium; there; October 16—Bellarmine, here; October 26—Centralia, there; November 1—Lincoln, there; November 7—C. P. S. Reserves, there; November 16—Central, here. More games may be arranged this week.

will have a championship team this year.

The team has not yet been determined, but with the nucleus of seven or eight, and many new prospects, Pacific Lutheran College should make a name in football this year.

Coach Olson Gave Much Time, Energy To College Sports

Mr. Clifford Olson graduated from the Glenwood High School, Glenwood, Minnesota, in 1923. Being a great lover of all forms of sports, he gave athletics a great deal of his time and energy. As a reward he succeeded in making the first team in his junior and senior year, in both football and basketball.

On entering Luther College Olson continued his athletic career. He was one of the few to make four varsity football letters on the Midwest college team. He was twice chosen all-conference fullback of the Iowa and Midwest Conference. Besides his gridiron activities he was also a four-year letterman in track and basketball.

Following his graduation from Luther College, Coach Olson took his first position as head coach at the Marshall High School, Marshall, Minnesota. During his one year here he won six games and lost two. The following year he came west to accept the coaching position at the Spokane College, Spokane, Washington. Prospects for a winning team at the Spokane School were very poor when Olson arrived, but despite all handicaps he succeeded in turning out a winning team. Playing much larger schools, the Spokane College won four games and lost three.

Coach Olson has taken coaching lessons from some of the country's foremost athletic heads. Among these are: Thistlewaite, of Wisconsin, Nyman, of Michigan, Koegan, of Notre Dame, and Littlefield, of the Texas A. and M.

Mr. Olson's system of football cannot be regarded as that of any other coach. He has selected plays from the Warner, Stagg, Rockne, and Jones systems. His football is of a fast brand, with a number of spinner, wingback, reverse and pass plays.

Besides his activities at the College, Coach Olson has taken a keen interest in civic athletic affairs. He has become an active member of the Tacoma Officials' Union, an organization whose members are limited to only the best athletic coaches and authorities in Tacoma and Southwestern Washington.

Speaking of the prospects for a winning team, Coach Olson says, "We are going to give all we have toward a winning 1929 football team. New prospects are showing up every evening, and within a few days our material will be quite plentiful. The line looks especially good, with several men for each position. The backfield is light, but appears fast."

LINCOLN ELEVEN DEFEATS PORTLAND VISITORS 15-0

Portland pickup chasers were given the first setback on their first visit to the City of Destiny, in many years, when Franklin Eligh of the former city took a 15 to 0 drubbing at the hands of Lincoln High of Tacoma. The game was even more one-sided than the score indicates, with Lincoln in possession of the ball three fourths of the time.

Football Discussions Three Times Weekly For Improving Plays

In order that all the men turning out for football may become better acquainted with new plays and new callings, the period from 12:30 to 1:00 p. m. each Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons will be set aside for special football meetings. These will be under the personal supervision of the head coach, Clifford Olson, and the assistant coaches, A. W. Ramstad and A. J. Beck.

New plays are thoroughly discussed and diagramed at each meeting. All phases of new callings and possible questions which may arise on the gridiron, will be thoroughly thrashed out. Discussion of offensive and defensive tactics of each position take up half of each meeting.

"In order to have a team," says Mr. Olson, "we must have a group of men working together all the time. Each man must know exactly what he should do and do it. The idea that the backfield is the brains of a football team is long ago obsolete. The ends, tackles, guards, and center must know where the ball is going just as well as the backfield, for if the line fails to function, the backfield has no place to carry the ball. So, in order to have a machine, which works like a high-geared automobile, I want all my men to know football from beginning to end. This is why I insist that every football man attend these meetings."

In response to Coach Olson's plea for regular attendance, those out for the fall sport have shown up one hundred per cent.

Golf Course Draws Many P. L. C. Prof.

The Parkland golf course, which opened only last spring, is getting a representation from Pacific Lutheran College this year. Many members of the faculty are very enthusiastic about the game and consequently play whenever they have the chance.

The teachers find golf not only a very pleasant change from the daily routine of class and office work, but they feel that it offers the much-needed recreation, as they do not have many other opportunities to enjoy outdoor exercise during the day.

Besides the faculty there are many students who play golf regularly. Special rates are given the students to encourage patronage.

FREED WRITES TO FACULTY, STUDENTS

In a recent letter to the faculty and students of Pacific Lutheran College, W. J. Freed, former commercial teacher here, relates of his experiences since he left to take charge of the commercial department in the State Normal School at Dickinson, North Dakota.

He writes in part: "We had an excellent trip overlaid all the way, and should have had no trouble at all, as the car performed excellently, but, owing to the ignorance of the driver, who couldn't read the oil gauge, we burned out a bearing that caused some delay. Conditions at Dickinson, N. D., are somewhat different than what we expected. There were simply no houses at the time to rent for love or money, so we had to stay at the local tourist camp, until a house was to be vacated, which will be on September 30. In the meantime, after a 3-days stay in a tourist cabin, during which time we nearly froze to death, we are staying at the home of a kind-hearted fellow teacher, who took pity on us. It is next to impossible to get any place to live in this town, and two or three families are living in many homes in one and two room apartments, paying from $20 to $40 a month.

The school has been growing rapidly during the past few years, and it looks as though my department will have to be reorganized to meet the increased enrollment and changing conditions which are in much more of an unsettled condition than at Parkland. I feel that the success here, the same as at Parkland, depends considerably upon the chief executive, and in that particular case both institutions are well blessed.

The buildings are new; my rooms are all that one could wish for. The immediate vicinity of Dickinson has had good crops for the past three years. The farmers are prospering. I am told, and the town (about 4500) is a very busy and growing place. Building, however, has not kept pace with the increased population, and residences are very badly needed.

Cost of living is somewhat higher than at Parkland. Rent is much higher, fuel is cheaper, and groceries are higher.

Believe this covers everything that I have time to write about. The family is well. The children are in school. Everyone happy. We miss the good people of Parkland, and there has been a little home-sickness. Our love and good wishes will always remain with Pacific Lutheran College. Enclosed find $1.00 for the Mooring Mast.

With kindest regards to all,
The Freed Family

Miss Martha Hjermstad, '26, is teaching in the high school at Anacortes, Washington.

Ladies and Gentlemen! May I have your kind attention one moment please. I want to introduce to you "Aristotle," who will serve as columnist on the Mooring Mast for the coming semester. "Aristotle" served in that capacity for the Aromaz of Spokane College last year, and will continue his column work at P. L. C. under the name of "Aristotle's Air Vent." Please stand by.

Howdy, folks: Just got here Friday, haven't had time to get acquainted yet, but I know I will like it here. I will try to call on the luses to amuse you, and my only request is that you help me by tipping me off (not bumping me off) on choice bits of interesting information, and bear with patience my efforts to find an interesting topic each week. My offering this week will be a jingle poem, concocted in honor of the occasion, and will have to take the place of something more humorous. I'll try not to preach or be dry during the coming semester. Thank you.

ARISTOTLE

I yearn to write the classic rimes.
My harp I vain would trace
To songs of Greece in ancient times,
Of Helen and Achilles.

With wreathed nymphs and dancing fauns
My verses would be filled.

The reader could be kept from yawning.

Paul Pry

Well! And it isn't so well, either!
Here I've been away all summer, with nothing to snoop into!

Now, isn't that a predicament? And so many of our old friends gone, too.

How can I be expected to write news when there are so many new faces out here? Should I dig up their pasts? I think I'd better leave the past, though probably be the best.

The day room sure misses it's twins or "inseparables"—Dot and Margaret—how can they stand to be apart?

And the day room misses it's dirty floor too—it's so clean and shiny now that there's nothing to talk about.

It rather looks as though Eleanor and Fred are doing their best to fill the place Marie and "Red" left vacant.

Mr. Stuen still drinks coffee and plays golf, and Mr. Hauge is still, or yet, talking "Intelligence." Doesn't he ever give himself a rest?

And now, mine readers, what more can I write? Haven't a young and inexperienced student-teacher enough worries to face with out this?

And anyway, I haven't anything to say—I hadn't when I started.

ANNUAL CHAUTAUQUA HELD ON CAMPUS

During this summer, from July 29 to August 5, the annual Pacific Lutheran Chautauqua was held on this campus. Features of the Chautauqua this year were the children's encampment, adult Bible classes, and a Luther League Institute.

Each day began with an inspirational service, followed by the Bible classes and the Institute. After dinner, the afternoons were given over to games, swimming, and various other forms of recreation. The evening service was the main event of the day, and closed with a Fireside hour. The main speakers were Dr. L. M. Gimmetad, Rev. Carl B. Yvisaker, and Rev. F. B. Anderson.

The members of the committee elected to arrange next year's Chautauqua are: Rev. O. J. Ordal, of Bellingham, Rev. O. Haavik, of Seattle, Rev. T. Hokendstad, of Bremerton, Rev. M. L. Newvig, of Seattle, and Rev. A. Kraebel, of Portland.
