Library Assistants To Be Feted at Party

Library assistants will be feted at a Christmas party at the Tingelstad home, Saturday, December 15, at 8:00 p. m. Plans for this yuletide party, an annual affair, include the showing of home movies and Christmas "eats."

Those who will attend the party are Rosalie Wolgemuth, Anna Anderson, Anita Roth, Telma Metzger, Lois Pennini, Marion Lindstedt, Jocelyn Lynne, Daphne Hellman, Geraldine Olson, Virginia Isvick, Blanche Donahue, Emily Sholseth, Mr. Stuen and Mrs. Barofsky.

Active Group Chosen As Saga Staff Assistants

One of the really important events of the year for every PLCitie is the appearance of the yearly "Saga." And so we trailed around our recently chosen editor to see "what's cooking" this year! Carol confesses that "It's quite a job," and she has chosen to help engineer it an active and experienced group. Lois Tolfeldt is assistant editor. Walt Kunschak advertising manager, Ken Etorasli circulating manager. Arleen Cordes is in charge of write-ups and Rumohr Gulhaugen of the snapshot contest. "Take 'em and save 'em," Rum says.

The business manager is Ruth Jensen. Carol promises us our Sagas sometime in May.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.
And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.
— Luke 2: 11, 12

Vikings Will Celebrate Yule in Northern Style

Hey there, all you Viking Club boys and girls—You better watch out, you better be good 'cause Santa Claus is coming," but this time to the Viking Club Christmas party on Tuesday afternoon, December 18, to present gifts to all of you good children.

Yes, and besides gifts there will be a Christmas program, including the reading of the Christmas story in Swedish, games, and real Scandinavian Christmas food. Planning this yuletide event are the following committee chairmen and members: Program, Doris Storaasli, Thelma Swensen and Amy Lou Johnson; food, Brita Skoog, Evelyn Paulson and Grace Elaine Gulhaugen; games and exchange of gifts, Melvin Osterli, Carolyn Severid, and Afton Hjeltn.

With such a program of events, not one of you Viking Clubbers can afford to miss the Christmas party—faculty members are especially invited—so see you all the 18th.

DR. P. E. HAUGE TO RETURN TO PLC

Dr. (Major) Philip E. Hauge, who has been home on terminal leave from the Army for some weeks, will return to the PLC staff after an absence of three and one-half years, President S. C. Eastwood announced in Chapel, Wednesday, Dec. 5. He will resume his duties as Dean of the College on January 1, 1946.

Dr. Hauge was the Chapel speaker on December 5. Basing his remarks on the familiar 121st Psalm, he told the students "two remarkable incidents from army experience."

Annual Banquet Held Next Week Day and Dorm Students To Gather Dec. 20th

Climaxing the last week of school before holiday vacation, the annual student body Christmas banquet will take place Thursday, December 20. A formal affair, it will be held in the college dining hall beginning at 6 o'clock.

Major Philip E. Hauge, on inactive status and soon to return to the College, will be guest speaker. Anita Roth will act as toastmistress.

Included in the evening's entertainment will be vocal solos by Lydia Lentz, accompanied by Rumohr Gulhaugen, and selections by the string quartet, consisting of Betty Lou Rieke, Marion Soltman, Francelle Schoch, and Albert Kuhn.

The theme for the evening, "Winter Wonderland," will be carried out in the decorations, consisting of Christmas trees, candles, etc.

Faculty members as well as day students are invited to join dormitory residents for the occasion. Banquet tickets are 25c for dorm residents and 90c for all others.

Co-chairmen in charge are Ruth Bjerkkan, dorm sophomore, and Georgina King, day sophomore. Their committee chairmen are the following: Alice Brude, program; Alice Kjesbu, food; Leta Metzger, decorations; Mabel Thoren, publicity; Lorraine Lundquist, programs and invitations.

Alice Ford Writes of "Melting Pot of Pacific"

"Do you long for bouquets of orchids or gardenias, tree ripened bananas, coconuts, tangerines, and fresh pineapples?" Alice Ford, '42, writes that these are to be had in abundance in Kauai, Hawaii.

Miss Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris E. Ford, principal of Parkland Grade School, was a star reporter for the Mooring Mast in the late '30's and early '40's. She is now teaching on a grade school campus of fourteen buildings on the "Garden Island," Kauai (pronounced, she says, as cow-eye).

Miss Ford, in a letter to Editor Anita Stuen, describes her first day in her classroom of clean, well-dressed, bare-footed children, in the "melting pot" of the Pacific. The largest percentage of her students are Japanese.

Her classroom she describes as a gratifying place. The school is progressive, the children are seldom absent from school, very few wear glasses, and everyone has beautifully formed teeth. Each child must present a yearly health certificate. Teachers and parents, together, are responsible for enforcing this rule. Her living conditions are somewhat difficult, although cottages are furnished teachers.

Miss Ford gave, in her letter, a source of information on teaching in Hawaii. This may be obtained from Anita Stuen. Miss Ford wishes "Mele Kalikimaka and a Happy New Year to all."

PLC Students Attend First Lyceum Program

Thirty-five PLC students attended the first concert of the Lyceum series Wednesday, December 12, and enjoyed the performance of seventeen year old Leon Fleisher, piano soloist, who opened the season for the Tacoma Civic Music Association. Fleisher has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic orchestra, the San Francisco Symphony, and the Chicago Symphony.

"Peace On Earth"

"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

With the ending of World War II, this should be the happiest Christmas the world has known in many years, the kind of Christmas dreamed about by men on the far flung battle fields and by us waiting at home. Re-united loved ones will gather around the Christmas tree to read the beautiful message of the Christmas gospel, and to worship Him in prayer and song.

Christmas, 1945 — we have dreamed of this Christmas of Peace. Yet the end of the war has not brought us its full realization. The conquered nations have lost the power, but scarcely the will to do battle. We have the task force, the atom bomb, the armies to quell the hatred which is still prevalent. Thus we have the same kind of peace as there was in the Roman Empire when Christ was born.

It is evident now that there are two types of peace — Christ's Peace and temporal peace.

Temporal peace may come about through many factors — by the inability to wage war, by man's hatred of war, by anti-war propaganda. The power and resources of a nation may keep a world at peace. But this is not the Peace of Bethlehem.

Christ's Peace, motivated by love, is the true peace on earth as sung by the angels long ago. It is evident in brotherly love, charity and Christian fellowship. This is the peace of all time — Bethlehem's Peace.

The path is clearly charted for us as Christians seeking peace. General MacArthur summed it up in speaking of peace at the Japanese surrender. He said, "It must be of the spirit if we are to save the flesh."

The Christmas season to the commercial world, and sometimes even for us, means a spree of shopping for gifts to relatives and friends. Very often we are so occupied by the flurry and excitement of the season that we lose the deeper purpose of Christmas — the giving away of a part of ourselves. God gave of Himself when He gave Jesus to the world and we in turn should — and must — in order to live spiritually — give ourselves to the accomplishment of His work.

As little children, we used to ask the question "What can I give Him?" and answer "I'll give Him my heart." And now that we are older let us not lose that child-like simplicity of thought and deed.

During the Christmas Season much happiness is spread around. But why should the Holiday time with its infectious and radiating joy end with a date on the calendar? Why don't we give Christmas presents all year long? The little things in life which can not be measured by the dollar sign can be given away every day and yet we will always remain on the credit side of the ledger. By saying a cheery "good morning" even when the day isn't so bright, or by being sympathetically interested in someone else's joys and sorrows we can carry on the Christmas Season every day of 1946.

Sometimes we feel like giving ourselves a present since we are giving everyone else one. Well, why don't we this year? We can, simply by being true to our best aspirations. How often we don't complete an assignment as well as we could, or fail to "stick-up" for what we think is right. Let's be good to ourselves this year by having the courage of our convictions and by conquering that laziness which "doth so easily beset us."

WITH THE LUTE IN THE SERVICE

Sgt. Robert Kruger, '40, who taught at University Place School before entering the service, was among the happy veterans who arrived in the Port of Tacoma, Wednesday, Oct. 31, aboard the U.S.S. Sea Flier. Sgt. Kruger has seen action in the Pacific Theatre and sailed from Leyte early in October. His wife is the former Mildred Tollefson, ex '39.

Charles V. Richter, ex '40, was recently discharged after four years, eight months service in the army. He is now working for the Oregon-Washington Plywood Company as assistant to the secretary-treasurer in the accounting department.

Gordon Husby, '41, after being discharged from the Navy, has gone back to the good, solid earth. He and his wife, the former Arlee Ruttila, '41, are now farming in Stanwood, Washington.

Ensign Fred Heaney, '38, has been detached from his ship and is now home on leave, his first in 14 months.

Jesse Pflueger, '37, is now visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Pflueger, in Parkland, after being discharged from the Navy last week. Jesse was a Chief Radio Technician and had served off and on in the South Pacific for 2½ years.

Merle Pflueger, '40, with the Army in Manila, has been recently promoted to the rank of Sergeant. He writes of a new Lutheran Service Center which has been opened with great success in Manila.

While in that city Merle met Sgt. Walter Young, husband of Mrs. Rhoda Young, with whom he has had several visits.

Don Abner, '38, who as a gunnery officer in the Navy has been in the South Pacific for about a year, arrived in San Francisco last week. His wife (in Tacoma) expects to see him soon.

Local LSA-ers Guests Of U. of W. Luther Club

The Luther Club of the University of Washington was host to the LSA of Pacific Lutheran College and of Western Washington College of Education (Bellingham) Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9, at the University Lutheran Church, Seattle, the Rev. L. H. Steinhoff, pastor.

PLC students presented the devotional program with Ted Reitz, local LSA president, as leader. LaVerne Linnerson gave a devotional address on "Sincerity in the Christian Life." The musical numbers included a vocal solo by Arne Aakre, a piano solo by Telma Metzger, and two numbers by the mixed quartet (Francelle Schoch, Miriam Hopp, Albert Kuhn, and La Verne Linnerson). Over 30 students attended.

The LSA was in charge of the Chapel program, Thursday morning, Dec. 13, presenting the Lutheran World Action appeal for impoverished Europe. A committee of three members from each of the religious societies planned the program. At the close of the period a collection was gathered which was sent to LWA Headquarters.

The LSA has sold three dozen boxes of Christmas cards during the past week. The proceeds of this sale will go to the LSA treasury.

The LSA Council is part of a national Lutheran Students Association found on many college campuses in the United States. In the state schools the Lutheran students form an LSA group, but since there are four religious organizations at PLC already the set-up is different here. The LSA Council is a coordinating body for the societies and because each of them elects two members to the Council, it is representative of the religious life on the campus.

Former Stude Tells of Flying Indian Hump

Flight Officer John B. Wall (known as Jackie at PLC) was back visiting the campus on Monday and Tuesday of the week before last. Wall, former feature writer and star reporter for the Morning Mast, attended three years of high school and two years of college here, being graduated from the Junior College in the spring of 1940. He received his first flying instructions at PLC in the fall of 1939, belonging to the first Civil Aeronautics Association group organized here.

After beginning his service as an instructor in Portland, Wall was transferred to Great Falls, Montana, where he flew a variety of planes. About a year ago, as a member of the Air Transport Command, he began flying cargo consisting chiefly of oil and gasoline from India across the Himalayan Mountains to China.

Undoubtedly the most hazardous of Jack's experience was his serving in the Search and Rescue Service for some months, flying the Hump over the Himalayas to search for flyers who had bailed out and to pinpoint all wrecks. The rescue planes flew low over the estimated locations of the survivors and dropped small radios (called "handy-talkies") and the necessary supplies needed until they could reach an area where they could be picked up by small planes.

A smashup last June into a suspension cable strung across a river in Burma by the Japanese made it necessary for Jack to be hospitalized for 50 days in Burma. On October 26 he arrived in New York by ship from Calcutta, and he is now enjoying a 45-day delay enroute before he reports December 17 to Santa Ana for redistribution. He wears the Presidential Unit Citation, the Air Medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and three battle stars representing the battles of India, Central Burma, and the China Defensive.

Jack expects to be discharged within six months, and although his plans for the future are indefinite, there is a long-shot chance that he may return to PLC.

BOB HAUGE

Back on the campus after two years in the service is Bob Hauge, army infantry sergeant of the 29th Division.

Hesitant in telling of his exploits, Bob let his buddy Ernie Perrault describe those two years for him. We quote:

"Spent considerable time in England—landed in France in Aug. '44. Thought the climate damp; moved into Germany and received warm reception. Decided on rest; so moved back to England and recuperation in hospital."

Bob relates it in even simpler terms. "Got my feet wet and was sent home."

Resuming civilian life as a second term freshman in Lib. Arts, Bob can once again be seen in action on PLC's basketball floor.

Deck the Halls —

No doubt about the season that's at hand. The girls have been decking their halls with boughs of evergreen and sprigs of mistletoe, dreamers they!

Marie Lien and Elaine Enwiller have a luscious big red crepe bow with tinsel and evergreen on their door.

Ever Have a Hankover?

"Hanks for the Memories" — hums Nancy Fant as she goes about her tasks. Her roommate, Buttercup, claims that it's Hank for breakfast, Hank for lunch and Hank for dinner. We were happy to meet him, Nancy. Bring him around more often.

Was My Face Red?

The fellows piled out of the trucks after the skating party, their faces a bit more radiant than usual, for on each countenance they glowed a bright red tell tale smudge—Lipstick! The guilty parties were soon tracked down—howsoever. The clue? Lipstick on their fingers—from where it had been transferred—so the story goes—to the innocent faces.

Peaches and Creamy

It really does one's heart good to see our lads go after those wholesome, good dairy products we find on our tables. But Pete, isn't it going a bit far to pour cream over everything?—main course, folks. Not dessert.

Homework

Anita Roth seems more than just a little wrapped up in her Shakespeare course. Why all the interest? Walt "Bo" Kunschak spends his Sunday afternoons patiently reading her "lit." assignments to her. Incidentally, Anita made this request of Santa last year, via the Mooring Mast. Wonder if it still holds good?

This time I want a little doll—
A rag one if you can.
On second thought forget the doll
I'd rather have a man.

Dear Santa:
Please bring to us on this Christmas day so near
A basket full of goodies and lots of good cheer;
To Mr. Franck a red tie to match his red sweater;
To Harry Carlson, a raincoat for this Washington weather;
To Mr. Fritz, some new lectres, for orientation;
To Walt Logsdon, some Old Golds for his chronic irritation;
To Bud Thorpe, just one A—
(Perhaps Irene Brudie will give one of hers away);
To Doc Shaefer, a way to get his studies to class on time;
To Mrs. Franck, some blue pencils for this terrible rhyme.
A chest of drawers for Marilyn Peterson;
Some better arguments to LaVerne Linnerson;
To Anita Roth, The Odyssey;
To Doc Pfeueger, a lollipop for passing me;
To Taffy Shere, a frame for THAT photograph;
To the day room, a better photograph;
And as for me,
I need a book on "How to Write Poetry."
Yours truly,
MARY DOOLEY

Camera Fans, Attention!

Let's get those cameras out of mothballs—the opportunity to win an original camera study by the world-famous photographer, Captain Edward Steichen, USNR, is knocking at our door.

It all ties up with the Victory Bond Drive. To qualify for this award, you must snap some pictures of any phase of the college bond program and send one or more to your State War Finance committee. Mark them COLLEGE PHOTO CONTEST, and send them before the closing date, December 20. The winner may be either a student or a faculty member.

Ft. Lewis Five Down Lutheran Hoopsters

The PLC Gladiators dropped their first basketball game of the current campaign to the Fort Lewis Warriors by a score of 54 to 29.

The Warriors, enjoying a distinct advantage in height, led throughout the game with the score by quarters reading in favor of Fort Lewis 10 to 1, 26 to 8, 35 to 16, 54 to 29.

The floor work of the Lutes matched the efforts of the winners, but the collegians could not make up for their disadvantage on the backboards.

Perrault of PLC and Fletcher of Ft. Lewis tied for individual scoring honors with 12 points apiece. The game was played at North Ft. Lewis and was a practice tilt for both clubs.

Volleyball team 4, captained by Ruth Pflueger became the PLC volleyball champions this season by defeating Daphne Heilman's team 36-31 in a very close match on Tuesday, November 27. Team 1 suffered only one defeat in the entire season. The lead was not kept by one team very long and only at the end of the game was there more than a 4-point difference. The half time score was tied at 24 all. Members of the winning team are Selma Gunderson, Irene McComb, Edna Swartz, Blanche Donahue, Margie Carlson, Catherine Yandell, Marian Lindstedt and Captain Ruth Pflueger.

On Thursday, November 29, two teams chosen by the W. A. A. cabinet played an exhibition game. The winning team was captained by Carol Elefson.

The W. A. A. basketball season began with a general turn out for all girls. There will be two or three weeks of practice before the teams are chosen and the tournament begins.

You can always tell a Freshman By the girls he takes on dates.

You can always tell a Sophomore By his intellectual traits.

You can always tell a Junior By his two-bar pin and such.

You can always tell a Senior But you cannot tell him much!

Lutes Topple Totems By Score of 56 to 35

Paced by Ernie Perrault who found the hoop for a total of 20 points, the PLC Gladiators scored their first victory of the current season when they defeated the Salishan Totems by a score of 56 to 35 on their home floor at Parkland.

The collegians took the lead shortly after the opening whistle as Harkness sank a field goal to put the Lutes into a lead which they held throughout the contest.

The game was closer most of the way than the score would indicate. The half-time intermission found the Gladiators leading by the narrow margin of 19 to 16.

NEW MAN JOINS CASABA QUINTET

Expressing the hope that "there will be a good turnout tonight," Coach Marv Harshman pointed out that there would be a new man to watch in the game with Everett Jr. College, beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the Parkland gym. The new player is Jim Mills, a graduate of Kennewick High School, eastern Washington, who has just been released from the Army. Jim measures six feet two, and his extra inches should be just what the College team needs at the backboard, where it has suffered a disadvantage from lack of height in former games.

At the other end of the altitude, but not the ability range, are Perrault and Hauge, who reach the five foot eight measure with their hair up. Perrault, who played ball with Harshman in the "old days," is high-point man this year, having to his credit 49 points in three games, 20 in the last game—a pretty good standing in any man's language. Neal, Nordeng, and Harkness follow Perrault's lead.

LUTES DEFEATED BY ENGINEERS

Lack of height again brought about the downfall of the Lutes as they bowed to a taller Fort Lewis Engineer quintet by a 46 to 33 score.

Kenally, rangy Engineer center, was the offensive star of the game, finding the hoop often enough to score 30 points.

Led by Perrault the College five played a superior floor game, but their inability to control the backboards cost them the victory.

The game played at North Fort Lewis showed the home team enjoying a half time lead of only 3 points, 21 to 18.

Studes Give Elephants For Victory Bonds

The white elephant status, it appears, is a matter of location—and white elephants may become useful members of society merely by changing hands.

Working on this thesis, the A.S.B. Victory Stamp and Bond committee will hold a sale next Wednesday noon, Dec. 19, in which a conglomeration of vases, books, pens, and jewelry will be auctioned off for the benefit of the sales drive now in progress at PLC.

These items were collected room by room last Monday by members of the Victory Stamp and Bond committee of which Virginia Isvick is chairman. Assisting members are Mabel Thoren, Mary Jane Brehon, and Eddy Swartz.

Up to Dec. 10, PLC has purchased $600 worth of stamps and bonds. The student body still has to decide what to do with the bond that will be purchased at the auction.

Something to Yell About

Rah! Rah! PLC! Rah! Rah! Brother, what a corny yell—but there's gonna be some 'changes made AS OF NOW! The Sophomore class is sponsoring a PLC yell contest to be held for three consecutive weeks, in which three winners will be chosen. The final winner within the lucky three will receive a prize for his contribution.

The object of the contest is to have a collection of bigger and better yells and eliminate the ones that "aren't so hot."

Students are to submit their yells, written, via a receptacle in the main hall, and await the announcement of winners, made each Friday in chapel. Each week's "battle" is over at 4:00 p. m. on Thursday.

The committee chosen to handle activities at games and promote pep inspiration this year includes Walt Logsdon, Gordon Gano, Grace Elaine Gulhaugen, Pat Purvis, and Lois Tollfeldt.

Former M. M. Reporter Is Navy Correspondent

Ralph Schillios, M.-M. reporter here in '39 and '40, writes in a letter to Mrs. Franck that he has been attached to the staff of Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific and Pacific Ocean areas, for the past four months as an enlisted navy correspondent. At the time his letter was written, he had received orders to join the command of the Naval-Air Transport Service in Asia, operating out of Shanghai.

Ralph, who wrote the humor column of the Mooring Mast in his PLC days and also wrote for an Army paper in the Aleutians earlier in the war, writes that he has had the opportunity to make a few recordings for the navy at the powerful Pearl Harbor broadcasting station. He is thinking of specializing at either Columbia or Medill upon his "release" in February.

Lute Greats to Battle in Ping Pong Tournament

We'll cut off my britches and call them knickers, if it ain't fer a ping pong tournament. Yep, this right folks, wer gonna have us a tournament. Let me give you a picture of some of the greats who will be knockin around fer the title.

First, there's Erling Nordeng, the man who does a fan dance with each game. Then there is Speedy Pete Peterson, not a janitor, but a ping pong player. Of course among the All Time Greats we have none other than beltin, boltin, Tiny Osterlie.

Say you're a ping pong player? Tell ya what I'm a gonna do. Just you see Mr. Gordon Gano, sign yourself up, drape out your tennis rackets, get yourself into shape, curve those balls, kill those setups, beat Mr. Linnerson black and blue, lick Ernie Perrault fer the practise, and top it off by walloping Coach Harshman. Then brother or sister you're ready to take on anyone who comes along.

Miss those setups, bloop them over, let Linnerson, Perrault, Harshman, Nor-deng and on down to Ted Reitz beat you, and then, brother, I'll take you on.

Remember to sign up with Gordon Gano pronto, and hurry before you miss the train and get left behind. Because of terrific demand of such an offer, a deadline must be set. Who knows, maybe you are destined to win the title. Oh, by the way, you wouldn't want to get caught with a skunk game, would ya. Well ask Mr. Ivar Pihl what happened when he played the coach the other day. Muider isn't it embarrasin also.
