Dr. Foss Officiates At Recent CUB Dedication

"A year ago today, we had no idea that there was going to be such a thing as the College Union Building." These were the words of Dr. Eastvold at the dedication of the new CUB. This dedication was not only the blessing of a building, but a thanks to God for the great work put forth by Dr. Eastvold in making such a building possible.

Ground was broken for the new Union on May 6, 1955, by Dr. J. C. K. Preus, executive secretary, department of Christian education, ELC. Under the able leadership of the Northern Construction Company, general contractors, the work of raising the building was started.

The greater part of the building was completed to the point of being used by September. On October 13, 1955, the cornerstone was laid under the hand of Dr. Orville Dahl, executive secretary, Division of Higher Education, ELC. The greatest day in the history of the building was February 5, 1956, the day in which the building and all that is within the walls were given to God for His service.

The dedication service was held in the dining room with about 250 people present. The program was opened with the hymn, "Come, Thou Almighty King." The scripture and the opening prayers were read by the Rev. F. J. Motter, pastor of Luther Memorial Church; the Choir of the West, under the direction of Gunnar J. Malmin, sang "Our Father," by Gretchaninoff, and "Advent Motet," by Schreck. In his address, Dr. Foss said that the new building had not only the greatest functional use, but also had a great spiritual use, that of bringing groups of people together in Christian fellowship.

The closing prayer and benediction were said by the Rev. Carl R. Rydell, pastor of First Lutheran Church, Tacoma.

Delta Iota Chi Hosts

Dr. Oscar Hanson, the speaker for Spiritual Emphasis Week, will address nurses of the Greater Tacoma area Wednesday, February 13, at a dinner meeting to be held in the small dining room of the College Union Building.

Of vital interest to the speaker is the work of the National Lutheran Nurses Guild, and he will bring a message which should challenge every nurse to realize the importance of the goals of this group. A main purpose of the Guild is to unite Lutheran nurses in Christian fellowship and service and to help them develop an understanding of the patient's spiritual needs.

It is expected that a chapter of the Guild will be organized during the meeting. The members of Delta Iota Chi will be hostesses at the meeting.

Alpha Psi Sponsors One-Act Play Contest

After last year's successful venture with the one-act play contest, Alpha Psi Omega, the national dramatics organization on campus, is again promoting this contest. The date for the event is February 18, with seven high schools being represented. They are Bethel, Franklin Pierce, Puyallup, Roosevelt of Seattle, South Kitsap, Stadium, and Toledo.

Library Receives Grant of 54 "Great Books"

Our library has just received a set of "Great Books of the Western World," as a gift from the Dominion Foundation. There were 1600 sets distributed to colleges and universities in the United States, although 30,000 different school libraries were contacted.

There are 54 volumes in the set, including the unique idea-index, the Synopticon. Mr. Haley says, "The Synopticon is a jewel for anyone studying philosophy, theology, sociology, or doing research work." The complete work was produced by the Encyclopedio Britannica in collaboration with the University of Chicago. The American Library Association is doing the distributing.

Dr. Hanson is a graduate of Augustana College, Sioux Falls, S. D., and Luther Seminary, St. Paul. He received his doctor of divinity degree from PLC. He is the author of two books, "Live to Win" and "March to Win."

Augsburg Band Thrills Audience

Fifty-two well-trained musicians, comprising the Augsburg College Band, thrilled and impressed a near-capacity audience in the CMS auditorium last Thursday.

In four years, Director Mayo Sebold has produced a versatile concert band at the Minneapolis school. The repertoire of the group was well-balanced, including numbers ranging from Handel's overture to the "Messiah," to the classic marches of Sousa and the sprightly "Bugler's Holiday," by contemporary composer Leroy Anderson, and designed to offer a pleasant variety.

Two unique innovations in programming contributed to the success of the concert. In the middle of the first group of numbers, the band members laid aside their instruments and switched to choral music.

Miklos Rosza's Triumphant March from "Quo Vadis," the opening number of the latter half of the program, stirred the audience, and set the mood for a series of bombastic and novelty selections.

To single out an outstanding section in the group is not difficult. The cornetists are all virtuosos, as they proved in "Bugler's Holiday," by Leroy Anderson, and "Solloquio for Trumpet," by Morrissey.

Boy Scouts Offer Job Opportunities

The Boy Scouts of America are interested in employing twelve young men in the Pacific Northwest who see the challenge of youth leadership as among the greatest needs of today.

A lifetime of worthy service is awaiting the young men who qualify for the professional service of the Boy Scouts of America. If you feel that the long-range hope of world peace and understanding lies with youth and that the development of sound character, good citizenship, and physical fitness in the lives of the boys of today is worth your leadership, the Boy Scouts of America would like to hear from you.

Required qualifications for Boy Scout Executive include: (1) Age: up to 35 years. (2) Education: College degree or its equivalent. (3) Scouting experience: Reasonable experience as a Scout or Scout leader, or both, is needed. (4) Health: Candidates must have good health and be fit physically. (5) General: Candidates must be of good character with favorable personalities and interested in a career of service in Scouting.

Herbert R. West, Scout Executive of the Mt. Rainier Council, announces that a representative of the National Boy Scout organization will be in Tacoma in early February and Mr. West would like to get in touch with him to arrange interviews. Boy Scouts of America may be reached at Market 6101.

Alpha Psi Omega Initiates Seven New Pledges; Mu Phi Epsilon Receives Four More Musicians

Wednesday night, February 1, was an important night for both Alpha Psi Omega, National Dramatic Honorary, and Mu Phi Epsilon, National Music Sorority. Alpha Psi Omega initiated seven new members at a program held at "Luigi's" restaurant. After the blessing by Dr. S. C. Eastvold, Professor T. O. H. Karl extended the welcome. Tom Swindland, master of ceremonies, introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Morris Hendrickson, a former PLCite now teaching drama at Puyallup High School. The program concluded with a dramatic reading by Myrna Berg and an original play presented by the Alpha Psi initiates. The initiates were: Deyrol Anderson, Rod Basehore, Patricia Bondurant, Rod Kastelle, Neil Munson, Wayne Olsen, and Eric Nordholm.

Mu Phi Epsilon initiated four new members: Virginia Prochow, Mona Carlson, Yvonne Dietz, and Roxie Bergh. After the formal initiation ceremony, Eunice Swenson, mistress of ceremonies, extended a warm welcome to the new members. In honor of the new members, a short musicale was presented by Delphine Danieleon, Pat Gehring, and Onella Lee. Delphine played the first movement of Haydn's Piano Sonata No. 3, Pat sang two French art songs, and Onella concluded the program by playing a Bach choral prelude. Refreshments and a social hour followed.

A Letter to the Editor . . .

On February 4, 1956, a great thing took place, a thing that most of our student body knew nothing about. A man was honored, not just because of his name, but of the great things he has done.

The program went something like this: There were a few people who talked and got a great deal of thanks for their words; there was some special music that the people liked; and then there were other things done that meant little. Then there came a part in the program that had been planned for many days, in fact many months. A man got up and said something to this effect, "We are very proud that tonight we come to honor a great man, a man that we all love very much, not only for what he has done for this school in the past 36 years, but for the great love he has shown to all that have come in contact with him." A paper was read, there was a great deal of applause and then the Dean of our college got up, and walked to the speaker's stand.

He did not say too much, in fact what he did say is not important. There is only one thing that really hit home. After he had said a few words, he said, "There is only one thing that I can say," There was a long wait, and then he said from the bottom of his heart, "God bless all of you," and with all the emotions that are in a man he sat down.

It is now time for all the students on this campus to know just what happened. A great man was honored by the alums of PLC. It is now time for us who are here to honor him. Let us stop and have a look at the whole matter. He is not only the Dean of the college, but he is also a great counselor, will listen to anything that a person might bring to him, and will try with all his heart to give an answer that will be of some help. He is in some respects the "father" of us all at college. It is he who will tell you right to your face that college is not the place for you, or that you will not be able to do so much outside work, and spend more time at the books, or will tell you with a smile on his face, "You are doing much better. Keep it up."

Dean Hauge, you are a God-send, not only to this college and to her students, but to the whole world of Christian Higher Education. You have been here a long time, but yet you are not old stuff, you are young in your ideas of just how a college should be run in the lines of learning.

God bless you in all the days you remain with us, in any office you hold. We love you and respect your ideas of college life and college learning. It is a blessing to sit at your feet not only as an educator but as a great man of our God. God bless you, Dean Hauge.

Student Paintings on Exhibit

by Donna Swanson

It's about time! Student art, a phase of campus culture too often neglected, is now being brought to the attention of the student body through displays in the new CUB. Previously, the only opportunity to view such works was at the annual exhibit in February.

The current display of canvases were done by first semester students of oil painting. One may find them located in the coffee shop, small dining room, and lobby.

The casual observer may loosely classify works of art as the traditional "pretty picture", or the modern "monstrosity." Actually there is a wide scale of variance between these two extremes, depending upon the degree to which the artist projects himself into his work. In the paintings now displayed, these differences of projection are apparent as the students express themselves through the media of oils.

The first painting, "Facade," is found in the Coffee Shop. It is a study in blues and greens of turn of the century buildings. The main emphasis of Jeannine Spencer's work is on design rather than a pictorial representation of the subject matter.

A sensitive portrait of a man painted by Myrna Nodtvedt in warm browns, yellows, and greens is the next canvas displayed. A painting knife was used to create

Cadet Teachers Learn by Doing

by Bev Svingen

Education to most of us on campus is a process where we are the recipients of the knowledge of others. But to the seniors in the Education Department, the learning process is seen, through experience, from the teacher's point of view by acting in the capacity of student or cadet teachers for the schools in this area.

The cadet teacher is assigned to work under a critic teacher whose job it is to assist and guide the "reerit" in working with the new situations of student relations and presentation of subject material. The first few weeks the cadet observes the class and methods of the critic teacher. As the semester progresses, the student teacher takes a more active part in the class responsibility for particular subjects or the entire period if on the high school level.

Daily lesson plans are made by each student for his class. This includes the presentation of material and evaluation of the class in terms of teacher and pupil accomplishments.

Each student teacher works on both the elementary and secondary level, with major college concentration used for class presentation. The student who participates in this program finds it well worth the time and effort expended in terms of actual experience and personal growth in the educational world.

'Great Books'

The set contains 443 works of 74 authors, spanning Western thought from Homer and the Bible to the 20th century. It totals 32,000 pages, comprising 25 million words. Editing the set required the work of 100 scholars for eight years at a cost of two million dollars.

It contains whole works, not excerpts, and complete works of 21 of the 74 authors. It is the only publication in English, aside from rare manuscripts or printings, of key works by Aristotle, Hippocrates, Galen, Euclid, Archimedes, Ptolemy, Copernicus, Galileo, Harvey, Pascal, Descartes, Newton, Kant, Montesquieu, Lavoisier, Fourier, Faraday, and Freud.

The one weak spot in the collection, and the reason why Mr. Haley refused to purchase it when approached previously, is the fact that the books included none of the writings of Luther. "How can you have a complete concept of Man without including Luther's concept?" asks our librarian. As it is, the $294 set is greatly appreciated, and is a welcome addition to the library. The books are shelved in the Reference room and the call number is Q28.3, G79G.

WHY

by Ruth Heino

A pondering, curious child, raising his voice in query urgent, searching, pleading, questions "Why?" Without a flicker of his eye. Then s ands and waits — Patient. Intent. Bewildered, you lowly murmur a sigh. "Why?" — For him there must be a reply!

Too soon the child shall learn, when grown, that numberless "whys" are never known.

Who's Who Reviewing Stand Annual Editor, Tassels Prexy Honored

"Blessed art thou among women" is a phrase used to describe Mary the mother of Jesus. Perhaps it could be applied to other Christian women who share and work in Christian worth. If this were true, Maude Straub could be selected as one of the many fine Christian women at PLC who have contributed much to this campus. She has many attributes of a good Christian worker: sincerity, leadership, intelligence and willingness to work.

Maude has held many leadership positions. She is president of Tassels, president of the Parish Workers' Club, secretary-treasurer of KRK, and treasurer of the student congregation.

In the line of intelligence, she has won school-wide recognition by being the only girl present at PLC to get a two year letter in Greek. Knowing the terribleness of Greek, this is alone enough to win her esteem.

All the committees and clubs that Maude has worked on prove her willingness to work. Also in the romantic whirl she has not taken a beat. She is engaged to a student at Luther Seminary in St. Paul and plans to be married in the not-too-far future.

"Go to the ant, thou sluggard:

consider her ways, and be wise." Prov. 6: 6. Although Elwood Reike is much interested in bugs, he certainly has not turned into an ant, but he does possess some of the characteristics for which the picnic raiders are famous—industry, efficiency and cooperation.

Elwood is at present busily involved in the industry of publishing the annual. This is practically a full time job, and one full of responsibility, since it is quite important to all Lutes to see their pictures in the annual. Elwood's interests range from soup to nuts, including choros to bugs (Linne Society). He is in intramural sports, Blue Key, has been Mental Health Drive chairman, on the Honor Roll, and on the Mooring Mast staff.

Elwood has received a scholarship during all his four years at PLC. This suggests his cooperation and efficiency, for usually people entrust their money to someone they know will cooperate with their aims and use it wisely.

Central Wash. First Foe on Road Trip

with Don Hall

Sharpening up for their coming road trip, our Lute cagers are taking advantage of a late season lull before beginning the all-important trip east of the mountains. Five games remain on the schedule, one each against Central and Eastern, and two against the Whitworth Pirates. The finale for the regular season is the traditional fray with College of Puget Sound in the Logger fieldhouse. Coach Harshman's quintet currently has a stranglehold on the league's top spot, but need three wins to clinch the title.

The eastern squads are all formidable burdens on their home courts, as Central proved earlier in the season. However, the Lutherans have added considerable polish since that encounter, and should return home with four scalps on their belt. The next to the cellar Loggers also figure to fall victims to the Lute steamroller, as they have done in the two previous encounters this year. The Heinrich boys have had trouble with the whistle-blowers this season, averaging nearly 30 fouls per game. Thus far their opponents have taken advantage of the trips to the free throw line which has often proved to be the deciding factor.

The Kansas City Tourney looms closer with each win. The road isn't as long as it appeared the first of the season, but it still has its bumps and chuck-holes to cross. It would be nice if the team would be greeted in Spokane with loyal following of rooters to shout their encouragement. It feels mighty good to hear a shout of joy in the midst of a foreign crowd when you dunk one in. It takes the ache out of your legs when you hear a familiar voice ring out, let's you know that "they" want you to win just as badly as you do yourself.

You don't have to go to Seattle or San Francisco to see a good ball Club. We've got one of the finest right here on our campus. Their winless record alone is enough to make them an outstanding team. But it goes deeper than that. Those are mere statistics. What about the team itself, the men who make it up? It isn't unusual for a college to receive letters commenting on their team's behavior on road trips. But it is unusual for the letters to contain praise for the team instead of reports of disturbances, etc. Now we're getting to the core of the matter. The quality of the individual men is what determines the quality of the team. That is where Pacific Lutheran teams have the advantage. Yes sir, a team we can be proud of, in every sense of the word.

CHATTER—The last-minute jinx UCLA held over the University of Washington in football seems to hold good over the cagers too. Last Saturday Willie Naulls tipped the ball in as the buzzer sounded to give the Bruins a 61-60 victory. At an Evergreen Conference meeting between athletic directors of the various schools held in Seattle last week, it was reported that there were some protests over the new 18-game basketball schedule which has replaced the old 12-game schedule this year. The Pirate football team got a shot in the arm last week when it was announced that Al Paulsen, a promising 210-pound fullback at Washington State College, would transfer to Whitworth for the spring semester. Congratulations to the Jack Hoovers on the arrival of their seven-pound baby girl, Jill Anne. The recent low scoring game between the University of California and the University of San Francisco, 33-24, brought to mind a story I printed in my column when Sports Editor at Whitman College. Welcome High School in Welcome, Minnesota, entertained Sherburne Hi in a contest that saw Welcome stall with the ball after Sherburne jumped to a 9-2 lead. They controlled the ball for 30 minutes, only trying three shots. The Sherburne team became so disgusted they walked to the showers and lost the game by forfeit.

Intramural Tilts Played

In "B" League games played on Monday, the Clover Lovers fell before the Cotton Pickers, 65-30, and the Faculty trimmed the Villains 52-27. Russell Hause netted 19 points in leading the Cotton Pickers. Dean Libner and Harry Ganerud each garnered 13 points. In the Faculty-Villains game, Mark Saizman was high point man with 20, followed by Marv Harshman and Jon Ericson with 11 points.

The Missionaries, tops in the "A" League, won their sixth victory Monday with a forfeit over North Hall (3). North Hall (2) kept from joining Clover Creek in the cellar of the "A" League by defeating the Clover Creek Boys 49-31. Curt Howland was the big man for North Hall (2) with 26 points.

Last Friday the Villains humbled the Campus Trotters 60-22, and the Faculty won their first league con-

Gladiators Sink Viks, 95-41, Mon.

Overwhelming the Western Vikings 95-41, the Lutherans from Parkland gained victory number 12 in their quest for the Evergreen League title. Sparking in both offense and defense, the Lutes dominated last Monday's tilt from the opening tip-off to sink Western further in the league cellar.

Running Roger Iverson led the way for the Lutes, hitting nine field goals and two free throws for a total of 20 points. Every member of Coach Marv Harshman's squad hit the scoring column as he cleared his bench to give his reserves the needed experience. Jack Sinderson and Phil Nordquist each netted 12 counters, followed by Chuck Curtie

Lutherans Conquer Thunderbirds 83-55, 83-63, Over Weekend

by Jim Gies

Friday night the Lutes came up with a sharp performance to shoot down the Birds, 83-55, in a game that had no Lute fan worrying for a minute. After seven minutes of play, PLC led 17-2. It took the first 10 minutes of play for the Birds to score their first field goal. The narrow score gap of the game came in the second period when the Lutes led by a 50-36 margin after the Birds rallied 12 straight points.

The Lutes' hot scoring showed in their 47.8 percentage compared to the Birds' 26 percent for the evening.

Four Lutes scored in double figures. Chuck Curtie led the pack with 26 points and Rodger Iverson followed with 18. Nordquist had 13 and Denny Ross scored 11. Scoring for the Birds was led by 6-foot, 6-inch John McLeod with 21. Mike Frazer, another six sixer, and Lyall Levy each had 10.

A near capacity crowd of ardent fans and alumni saw PLC wax UBC to the tune of 83-63 in the second night of the two-night series.

UBC showed a better game of ball Saturday night, but the Lutes sharpened their aim from the free throw line. The Glads made 35 from

Lutes Tangle With Wildcats Tuesday

Invading the Central Washington Wildcats' cracker-box gym, the Pacific Lutheran cagers open their final five games in Ellensburg next Tuesday evening. The Lutes have split two previous encounters with the Wildcats, losing to them at Ellensburg, and defeating them here in the Parkland gym. The Gladiators move on to Spokane for an important two-game series with with 11, and Nick Kelderman with ten.

Showing their defensive strength, the Gladiators held the Vikings to nine field goals in 56 attempts for a chilly 16.1 percent from the floor. Meanwhile the PLC quintet hit 33 field goals in 70 attempts for a torrid 47.1 percentage.

Midway in the first half PLC led 23-6 and increased their lead to 44-13 at the intermission. Western threatened at no time through the game.

The preliminary game saw the PLC Jayvees surge from behind in the closing minutes of the game to defeat the All-Stars 62-51. Jim Van Beek led the Jayvees, garnering 19 points, and Don May was high for the All-Stars with 14.

the Whitworth Pirates next Friday and Saturday. The following Monday will see the Glads play Eastern before returning home.

Central's main guns this season have been Bill Cordes at center, and Tom Oxwang and Jack Brantner at forwards. The Ellensburg quintet goes into Tuesday night's fray with a 7-4 record against a 12-1 record for the Lutes.

In their last trip west of the mountains, Central met an aroused University of British Columbia squad which set them back two nights in a row. However the Wildcats figure to be much tougher on their home court.

Before league play started, Central also took the measure of the PLC team in a pre-season tournament in the College of Puget Sound fieldhouse.

The series against Whitworth will be all-important in the final league standings as the always dangerous Pirates will be out to avenge the 96-63 pasting the Glads handed them here several weeks ago. The Pirates are led by Marv Adams, 6-foot, 5-inch center, and Jack Thiesen, 5-foot, 9½-inch guard.

Winding up the road trip will be a contest with Eastern, who lost two encounters to the Lutes earlier in the season in the Parkland gym. Eastern pulled an upset earlier this week by defeating Whitworth 63-61 in the Pirates' home court.

The finale for the scheduled season will be against College of Puget Sound on the Loggers' court after the PLC squad returns from the Cheney game.

Student Paintings

this man with the impelling eyes. Louise McKay's modified cubistic landscape is triangular in composition. Forms are reduced to angular planes and softened by the glow of the moon. One thinks of a child's kalledéscope made up of orange, blue, green and brown pieces, when viewing the scene.

Mike Griffen created interesting patterns with his "Crane," one of the more abstract pieces. Painted in a free manner, the startling white crane stands out from a cool, dark background of greens, grays and blues.

"City Landscape" shows the steaming industrial districts in vivid tones of red, yellow and orange. Vertical lines were used by Sue Hatch in creating an illusion of power.

One steps into a friendly hallway in Hope Hammerstrom's house scene. Here we find the realistic and familiar done in a flat, smooth texture technique. This is also true of Hope's other picture of the small town landscape.

"The Three Magi," by Larry Peterson, brings to mind the work of certain Mexican artists with its color and the figures outlined in black. The definite balance and muted background add to the overall effect.

Two contrasting styles are located in the small dining room. Don Kvamme's use of sharp color and line against a solid dark background gives an expressive mood to his "Man in a Helmet!" In the other extreme, Vern Hanson's portrayal of some of PLC's first buildings is done in a realistic manner with subtle blending of color.

Since the exhibits are to be frequently changed, observers will have ample opportunity to become further acquainted with student artists.

Miss Quast, the Art department and others responsible for these exhibits are to be sincerely commended.

Leaguers To Plan Conclave

The Northwestern District (ALC) Luther League will hold its general Board meeting this evening in the CUB. The main purpose of this meeting is to discuss and lay plans for the District Convention which will be held at Whitworth College, June 15, 16, and 17.

District President John Milbreath expects the session to last into the wee hours of the morning and considers it essential to make the convention a success. District officers are Elwood Rieke, treasurer; Eather Keller, 4th, secretary; and Rev. Bob Rie, 1st, Seattle, advisor.

The Federation presidents in this district include several PLCites: Janet Smith, Dick Foege and Chuck Tucker. Other presidents include Fred Cochran, Baker, Oregon; Henrietta Stolte, Gifford, Idaho; and Ardella Bungan, Wenatchee.

They are all combining their efforts to assure an enjoyable and profitable convention. One of the highlights of the June meeting will be an address by an officer of the International Luther League.

This year all the hens are going to Miami! It seems it's much healthier to lay in the sun.

SPURS THAT JINGLE

by Jan BonDurant

Ye lads and lasses lend an ear,
Bring out the hearts and candy.
St. Valentines is almost here,
This year 'twill be a dandy.
The Spurs are working extra hard
To make it a success.
So if you want to get your gal
Just give them her address.
A Valengram they'll bring to her
With verses sweet and pretty.
Or if you're the romantic type,
They'll sing a simple ditty.
It's guaranteed to do the trick,
Be ye Harry, Dick or Sam.
So don't be shy, step up
And buy your gal a Valengram!
