Saga Staff Asks for Willing Help

In earnest desire to help record the important story of this year at Pacific Lutheran University is the most important qualification for membership on the PLU yearbook staff, stated Susan Amundsen, Saga editor, at the Saga organizational meeting Monday night. Although the section editor positions are being filled by students with experience on the book, more staff members are needed. Students interested in the areas of sports writing, editing, or any of the other sectors, regardless of journalistic experience, are urged to contact Susan Amundsen, Saga office. Office hours on Monday days are from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m. The next Saga dinner meeting is scheduled for next Tuesday, October 3, 6:00 p.m. in Chris Knutson Clubship Hall No. 2. This is an important meeting, since the printer, proofreading, and the photographer, and the writer, will be on hand to discuss their aspects of yearbook production.

NOTICE

It is now time to appoint the standing committees for Student Council. This is going to be done by sign-up sheets which will be placed around the campus in various places. Should you be interested in serving on one of the committees, please sign the provided for that specific committee. Only those who sign will be considered for appointment to the committees.

With Bowed Heads We Begin . . .

The following prayer was offered by President Eastvold at the opening Convocation of Pacific Lutheran University on Thursday morning, September 21, 1961, at 10:00 a.m.

Lord, behold our family here assembled. As we begin our 71st year from the day our founding fathers laid the foundation for this school, we join our hearts in thanks to Thee for this place and for this magnificent campus on which this great family of administrators, faculty, staff and students will be working and fellowshiping together. We pray that there may be a deep and profound love to unite us and that Thou wilt look in loving kindness and tender mercy upon us and grant us peace and good will for every day.

We pray Thee to give us hope for today and for every tomorrow. We pray for health, strength, wisdom and courage in order that we might perform our work to Thy glory and honor and for the good of mankind. We thank Thee for the friends we have in all parts of the earth and for all the families represented in this great faculty-student assembly.

In this troubled, chaotic and peaceless world, we pray that we may be an oasis where peace will abound in this comparatively small company. Since we are by nature sinful and unclear, we beseech Thee that Thou wilt purge out of every heart any lurking grudge. We dare not believe that we will have the strength to avoid offense or to expect that there will be no offenders. In all of this, wilt Thou give us grace to accept and to forgive offenders and to bear cheerfully the forgetfulness of others.

In the midst of our many university gaieties, wilt Thou give us quiet minds. We thank Thee for our friends and pray that we may be privileged to keep them. We pray for those who may be our enemies and we pray that Thou wilt soften their displeasures.

If there are to be trials and tribulations that come upon us as an institution, wilt Thou give us strength to encounter that which is to come that "we may be brave in peril, constant in tribulation, temperate in wrath and in all things of fortune and down to the gates of death, loyal and loving one to another."

As Christian educators and students, we confess that without Thee we cannot accomplish the good we seek as our goals. Therefore, wilt Thou take us into Thy hand as a potter does his clay, and fit and fashion us for today and every day until life's little day is ended and we are in the company of the redeemed in that great good place where the mansions are being prepared for those who love Thee and wait for Thy coming. As we open this school year, we do it in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Campus Leaders Hold Third Annual Retreat

The student leaders of the University's campus organizations are scheduled to leave this evening for the third annual leadership retreat. Buses will transport the group to Lutherland Bible Camp on Lake Kilarney where the sessions begin Friday evening and continue until Sunday morning.

Dr. John Amend, Dean of the School of Education, will again act as general coordinator and faculty leader for the retreat. The program for the week-end has been planned by the participants themselves through a group of twenty students attending the retreat, who met this past week to act as a general steering committee. Included in the agenda are group discussions, forums and panels. The Rev. John O. Larsgaard will conduct the closing session, a worship service, at 8:00 a.m. Sunday morning.

Sponsored by the Student Body, the retreat is expected to attract nearly one hundred student leaders from the campus. Those eligible to attend are all Student Council members, AWS, AMS and Freshman class officers; the executive officers of the Student Congregation; the presidents, vice-presidents and chapel chairmen of all classes; the presidents, vice-presidents and counselors of all dorms; and the presidents and vice-presidents of all other campus organizations. Also invited to attend were the members of the Faculty Relations Committee which includes Miss Wagner, Pastor Roe, Dr. Schiller, Dr. Kiethe, and Mr. Elwell.

Karen Hegstad and Bruce Bindel are the co-chairmen for this year's retreat. Acting under them to handle the arrangements are Gordon Stehaug for Matins and Devotions; Carolyn Bruer for publicity; Dave Kniefel for registration; Jon Malm for campfires and Ken Raud for recreation.

According to the Retreat Chairmen, the purpose they hope to achieve is to "develop an awareness of the responsibilities of leadership not only for the leaders of the campus as they affect school activities and organizations, but in a broader sense, to effectively train for leadership and responsibility in life."

PRESIDENT SETH EASTVOLD GREETES new Freshmen at the annual Faculty Reception, which was held last Friday evening for Freshman and transfer students. This event was given in order to afford new students the opportunity of meeting the members of the faculty and administration.

Margaret H. Belgum, freshman from Spokane, is the recipient of a $2,000 Washington State March of Dimes health scholarship for assistance during her college work in the field of Physical Therapy. She is one of five students in the state selected by a committee of state health leaders.

The required Health Lecture for freshman men will be held at 7:00 p.m. next Tuesday, October 3, in the C-M-S. Dr. Blandau from the University of Washington will be the featured speaker.

Try-outs for the 1961 Homecoming play continue this afternoon in the Radio Studio beginning at 3:30, as well as next Monday, October 2, at 3:00 and 7:00 p.m. Under the direction of Alpha Psi Omega president Dennis Knutson, the play chosen for homecoming week-end is MY THREE ANGELS, by Sam and Bella Spewack. All interested students are asked to attend try-outs either today or Monday. The cast includes seven men and

Big-Little Sister Tea Thursday, Oct. 5th

One of the annual events of the Big-Little Sister Program is the Big-Little Sister Tea which will be held this Thursday, October 5. Big sisters will invite their little sisters to their respective dorms for refreshments served between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. All off-campus big sisters will invite their little sisters to North or West Hall.

Anyone wishing a little sister may contact Judy Anderson, Extension 647-South B17. Any Freshman or transfer student who has not been contacted by a big sister, should see their counselors in the dorms.

During this school year there will be other Big-Little Sister events.

Rules Changed

Certain changes have been made in procedure at the PLU Library due mainly to requests made by students. No more periodicals may circulate any longer. This will insure that the latest editions will always be available in the Library.

The due date for books has been changed from Wednesday to Monday, with the exception of reserve books. This will facilitate students in remembering that every Monday library books are due.

Overnight reserves have been extended from being due after chapel until noon, but two-hour reserves checked out overnight will still be due at 10:00 a.m.

This Year Will Be Different?

Each year students flock back to college campuses all over the United States with one idea in mind. This year I'll do better—this year I'll study harder and not get behind. The Mooring Mast staff does much the same thing. We resolve to give you, the student body, a better newspaper than ever before.

We want to strive for a "student" paper. That is, an emphasis will be concentrated on expressing student opinion, and being more a voice of, and a service to, the associated students of PLU. We invite student opinion and will be glad to print "Letters to the Editor." Other features this year will include a regular column reporting the working of the student council; a series of thumbnail sketches on the new professors; frequent articles by student leaders and presidents of various campus organizations and other features which we might deem valuable in attaining the caliber and type of newspaper we feel our school should have.

We will strive to be of better service this year than ever and we can only attain this end with the cooperation of each and every student. We welcome suggestions, opinions and constructive criticisms, as we realize mistakes are inevitable. Let's all work together for a newspaper which will truly reflect you, "the student." — Ann Haggart, editor.

Mullen, Olsen Set Plans 1961 Homecoming Underway

Preliminary organization and planning is well under way for the 1961 Homecoming, scheduled for November 3, 4 and 5. Under the leadership of seniors Pat Mullen and Jon Olson, the general committee has begun organizing the varied activities which make up one of the most important weekends in the school year, with an eye to the future, as well as a backward glance at the great traditions begun in past years. By combining these two points of view, the committee hopes to achieve an unusual but yet traditional approach in their preparations.

Second in command to the co-chairmen is Orv Jacobson, who is general coordinator for all Homecoming activities. Her Majesty Nadine I-Nadine Bruins—Queen of last year's Homecoming festivities, will act as the head of the Coronation committee.

Dianne Nelson, sophomore, will take charge of the special drill team for the homecoming game. Beth Erkkila is in charge of the Homecoming

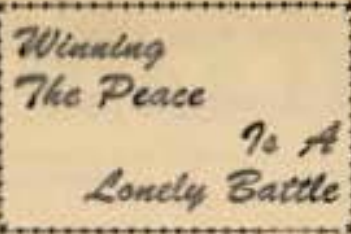

Alumni Banquet, while Susie Solie is arranging for the coffee hours. Christy Ulleland and Dee Arko are making plans for the Powder Puff soccer game, while APO is in charge of the Handsome Harry contest to select a consort for the queen. Steve McCallum rounds out the executive committee of Homecoming, acting as freshman general coordinator.

The well-kept secret of the Homecoming theme, always realtively hidden by the "few who know," and who constantly change their minds to confuse the rest, will be revealed next Tuesday, October 3, in Student Body Chapel. Following the announcement of the theme, applications for dorm themes will be accepted by Pat, Jon or Orv only during the Homecoming office hours in the Student Body Office. These will be from 4-5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday from now until the Homecoming weekend. Inquiries on any phase of Homecoming should be brought to the office during these hours.

1962 May Festival Tryouts Scheduled

Mrs. Rhoda Young, director of the annual May Festival, has announced tryouts for the 1962 festival. Now in its 29th year, the festival is one of the major events on campus during the school year, and according to Mrs. Young, a very unique program has been planned and she urges all interested students to try out, previous experience not being necessary.

Girls will try out on Monday, October 2, at 7:00 p.m. in the gym, and the men's tryout will be held the following day, Tuesday, October 3, at 7:00. Former participants must try out if they wish to be in the group again this year. For further information, Mrs. Young may be contacted in her office in the gym.

Using J.F.K.'s words, now made famous by our notorious first vice-president, Dan (Lyndon Baines) Elander, as a by-line, I extend to you the greetings of the Associated Students of PLU. This article is intended to express my views on student affairs and does not necessarily express those of the other council members. It is our hope to encourage and stimulate interest in your student body as our actions do affect you greatly.

I would like to thank all who worked so hard to help make our part in Freshman Orientation a success. Without all the help we received, we would never have been able to do anything of real value for the new students. Anytime we needed someone's assistance, we were never disappointed. From these beginnings, I predict a "great" year.

It is my sincere belief that any organization, to be successful, must have specific goals for which to work. The goal of this year's Student Council is an ambitious one—we propose to completely reorganize student government by junking the old system and installing a new structure of government. This must be done to make the government more workable and bring the administration of student affairs closer to you, the student. At present, the entire load rests upon a very few individuals when, ideally, it is the responsibility of every student.

Work on this change is beginning the first week in October, and should you have any idea or ideas to offer, by all means see a council member. Every idea will be listened to and weighed carefully. This is YOUR student body, YOU have to take an active role in maintaining it. Work is needed, griping won't do the job.

This, then, is our main goal. But it is important only as it is carried out in the light of our one great goal as children of God—that of serving first Christ and His kingdom, then all else shall be ours as well. With this in mind, we can serve to our fullest.

These have been a few random ideas which are uppermost in my mind as this school year begins. I encourage you to come to me with your ideas and criticisms, so don't hesitate to stop and talk with me.

—Charles Mays, ASPLU President

you do not need to be an accredited teacher. The other examination is for everyone else who wants to serve in the Peace Corps. There is no rigid passing grade for this test. Results are considered along with such other elements as background, special skills, and character references.

Three PLU Faculty Receive Growth Awards From ALC

Three members of the University faculty have received the Faculty Growth Award from the Board of College Education of the American Lutheran Church for 1961. Meeting recently in Minneapolis to allocate grants amounting to $50,000, the church board selected Stewart Govig, Assistant Professor of Religion; Peter Ristuben, Assistant Professor of History and Political Science, and Dwight Zulauf, Associate Professor of Business Administration and Acting Dean of the School of Business Administration, as recipients of these awards.

According to Norman D. Fintri, Assistant Director of the Board of College Education, the purpose of these awards is to encourage talented and dedicated teachers to continue their training so that the caliber of instruction in the teaching ministry of the church may be maintained at a high level.

Mr. Govig, with the University since 1958, received his B.A. from St. Olaf College, his B.Th. from Luther Theological Seminary, his M.Th. from Princeton Seminary and has done graduate work at the University of Oslo.

Professor Ristuben joined the faculty in 1960 after having received his B.A. from Concordia College and his M.A. from the University of South Dakota. He has done graduate work at the University of Oklahoma.

A member of the PLU faculty in the period of 1949-53, Mr. Zulauf rejoined PLU in 1959. He has received his B.A. from the University of Oregon, M.S. from Colorado University, and has done graduate work at the University of Washington, the University of Oregon and the University of Minnesota.

WUS Commends PLU's Contribution

Pacific Lutheran University has received a letter of commendation from the Pacific Northwest office of World University Service for the contribution made in furthering international understanding during the past academic year. A special note of congratulations was extended to Ron Seine and the WUS Committee for their role in this endeavor through conducting a successful campaign.

A total of $127.73 from the annual WUS drive was contributed to international self-help and mutual assistance projects sponsored by WUS. This gift, coupled with those from campuses around the world, makes possible health facilities, housing accommodations, supplementary foods and educational equipment for needy students in the Middle East, Africa, Southeast Asia and the Far East.

WUS represents an international arm of academic life offering technical assistance to campuses in need on a campus-to-campus and student-to-student basis.

The third round of Peace Corps examinations will be held at that time in testing centers throughout the country. The examinations will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will last for six hours, with an additional hour out for lunch.

Each person will be given his choice between two types of examinations. One examination is designed for men and women who would like to be considered for positions as secondary school or college teachers. To take one of these tests, you need a bachelor's degree but

Lutherans Ready For Game; Vigland Will Miss Action

A much improved Pacific Lutheran Knight team faces an always tough Western team tomorrow night and the outcome is anyone's guess. Last year the Vikings spoiled the Knights' homecoming when they defeated our team by a score of 26-6. This year the two teams meet twice on a home and home basis.

Last week while the Knights were getting their first victory of the season over Pacific University the Vikings were beating the University of British Columbia by a 13 to 6 score. Tomorrow's game looks like a toss-up and should provide many thrills.

Jim Gabrielsen is expected to go with about the same starting line-up as last week with one exception, and that is big George Vigland, the starting left tackle. George will be out for several weeks due to a small bone in his back, which he broke during an earlier workout. Either Kev Thomas or Ed Branfors will fill the spot left open by Vigland.

New Team To Be Formed

Attention, all potential distance runners—a team of cross-country runners is being formed and they need your services. The team must have at least six members in order to be considered a letter sport. This is not only a chance to bring fame to the athletic powers of our school but also to earn a varsity letter award. Anyone interested contact Chris Halvorson, Mark Anderson, or Mark Salzman as soon as possible.

Lutes Win Opener; Defense Is Strong

Two touchdowns in the first half, one by Sophomore Mike Macdonald and a second by Senior John Hanson, gave Pacific Lutheran University its first win of the season over Pacific University. PLU's tough defense only let the Badgers score once and that was on a long pass play in the early moments of the game.

Standouts on defense were Marv Snell, Kevin Thomas and Phil Preike.

Knight Golf Team Wins at Conference

Last year's most successful Pacific Lutheran team was the golf team. Led by captain Erv Marlow, Jr., they rolled to a season's record of 10 victories, 2 defeats and one tie match.

The two blemishes on the record came at the hands of Seattle University's Chieftains, who were regarded as one of the top golf teams on the West Coast. The tie was recorded by the Fort Lewis team in their second clash of the year. The first match gave the Lutes their first victory over Fort Lewis in the history of the competition between the teams.

The conference championships for most spring sports were held at Central Washington College in Ellensburg and golf was no exception. Combining the Conference Championship with the NAIA district crown, the Lutes swept to commanding victories in both. Placing all four men near the top of the field, they dominated the entire tournament. Through the individual crown for the NAIA district was grabbed by St. Martin's Mike Jacobsen, Marlow brought home the Evergreen Conference championship for the second straight year. The previous year it had been won by the Lutes' Dave Evans.

During the first days of June, the golfers traveled to the national NAIA championships in Shawnee, Oklahoma. There, plagued by bad luck, the four—Marlow, Evans, Ed Davis and George McCune—gained eighteenth spot in the nation, and rated their season highly successful and enjoyable.

The future looks even brighter, however, for all four are returning. Joined by new recruits and previous teammates, they should gain even greater success next season.

John Mades Is Co-Capt.

John Mades, better known as "Silent John," is one of the mainstays in Jim Gabrielsen's 1961 Knight football squad. John, who played his high school football at Nooksack Valley, was chosen co-captain last year along with Doug McClary and will be making all of the defensive calls this year. Known mostly for his defensive work, John is also moving well at offensive guard this year behind the Lincoln twins, Norm Jaggert and Dick Johnson.

John is a physics major and plans to complete his studies here at Pacific Lutheran this year and has made no definite plans for the future. He spends his summers in Alaska working at a cannery. When asked to make a statement about this year's team, John replied, "we are few in number but mighty in spirit!"

IN POSITION is John Mades, one of the mainstays of the Knights' 1961 football squad. John is sharing the honors of team captain with Doug McClary this season.

SPLINTERS FROM THE BENCH

With PLU's win over Pacific University last Saturday another year of competition has begun for our athletes. High hopes for this football season and the basketball team, which promises to be one of the best in years, could make this one of the brightest years for PLU, fans . . . Congratulations to Kev Thomas, Dick Johnson, and Gary Vestal—these three football players all joined the married ranks this summer . . . Doug McClary and John Hanson claim to be the best two miniature golfers on campus—any challenges? . . . After a four month delay, the Lettermen finally had their annual picnic last Sunday. A good time was had by all the fellows and their dates . . . Warren "Flash" Lee has done wonders for the equipment room this year—for the first time the vitamin pills are stacked in neat rows of ten . . . I understand our golf team saw a few snakes at the national golf tournament—didn't bother you, did it, boys? . . . Steve Setterland, a transfer from Long Beach JC, kicked 73 out of 78 extra points in the first week of practice . . . The other day, Denny McPoland, who is 6 feet, 3 inches tall, was playing basketball with three other ball players and he was by far the shortest man on the court—we could have a fairly tall team this year . . . Hot Rod Bob Brodhan may soon turn his talents to drag racing. Bob is the proud owner of a blue '36 Ford with a '56 Cadillac engine.

Intramural action got off to a good start this week as the third floor men beat first floor 24 to 6. It looks as if Jim Sendall and Denny Gudal are going to be a tough combination to beat as they teamed up for two spectacular touchdowns in their first game . . . A lot of credit should be given to Mark Salzman and his assistant, Jerry Protector, who do such a good job in handling the intramural program . . . Big Dave Soede, 230 Knight tackle, has earned himself a new name—"The Spider" . . . Dave Olsen, All-American prep football player, recently had this to say to Coach Gabrielsen after watching the film of the Pacific game, "well, coach, football's a rough game." The pictures had just shown Dave about killing some poor Badger lineman . . . Anyone needing the service of a prowler exterminator notify Dave Bottemiller or Norm Jaggert—they both do fine work—right, girls of Ivy? . . . The San Francisco 49'ers had scouts at the last Knight football game to watch big Doug McClary. I understand they were really impressed.

YOU... and the wonderful world of books

As a college student, you are aware of expanding horizons as you move with increasing familiarity in the world of books. In doing so, you will find agreement with the sages, one of whom said:

"Words—blessed letters
Small drops of ink
Falling like dew upon thought
Forces men to think."

Francis Bacon proclaimed that "reading maketh a full man," and Joseph Addison insisted that "reading is to the mind what exercise is to the body." Your work, too, can take on added dimension as you make good books an integral part of your college experience.

Augsburg Publishing House, publishers of good reading materials, recommends several new titles for today's collegian:

YOUR NEIGHBOR'S FAITH, William A. Peovey, $1.75—History, teachings of America's religious denominations.

CHRISTIAN FAITH AND THE LIBERAL ARTS, H. H. Dittmann, H. V. Hong, W. A. Quanbeck, $4.95—Current liberal arts programs in relation to the church.

WHAT YOUTH ARE THINKING, W. Gordon Smedsvold, $3.00—Insights from Lutheran Youth Research.

THE WORLD AND MEN AROUND LUTHER, Walter G. Tillmann, $5.95—A study of the forces and personalities of the Reformation.

THE ANSWER OF FAITH, Kai Jeusen, $2.50—The power of the Christian faith to put meaning into life.

University of the Seven Seas Announces Unique Program

The University of the Seven Seas, a new concept in education, is being readied for its first round-the-world voyage, and will depart from an East Coast port in October of 1962 with 500 students and thirty-five faculty members.

The brainchild of William T. Hughes, California industrialist, the University was originally sponsored by the Rotary Club of Whittier, California. Since then it has become a not-for-profit corporation devoted to education and chartered in the State of California.

Home of the University will be the S. S. Jerusalem, of the Zim-Israeli Company, a recently constructed ship which is completely air-conditioned and equipped with stabilizers. Comfortable accommodations, ample space for classrooms and study areas, plus the elimination of roll make the ship an ideal educational headquarters.

The first semester trip, October 1962, will be from an East Coast port around the world to a West Coast port. It will include stops in many countries including: Liberia, Ghana, Nigeria, Union of South Africa, Mozambique, Kenya, India, Ceylon, Malaya, Formosa, Japan, Hawaii, and, finally, a port on the West Coast of the United States. Here the students will leave the floating campus, and return to their various colleges and universities throughout the world.

At the end of each semester, the work of the student body will be evaluated by an impartial committee of educators selected from the faculty of colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada.

Because of the tremendous response to the initial announcement, it is obvious that competition for admission to the University of the Seven Seas will be keen. Each applicant, therefore, will be carefully screened, and will be expected to have high academic standing, and to demonstrate seriousness of purpose, good character, and reasonably mature conduct.

Lee, Former Navy Ace, Now Religion Professor

by Mark Lonn

A "preview of coming attractions" was presented to PLU students last spring when KPLU-TV telecast to its campus audience a thirty minute segment of the "Navy Log" television program. This particular episode dealt with the exploits of an ace Navy pilot during the last war. That pilot, decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross, Silver Star, and Unit Commendation, is on this campus now as a professor of religion.

Dr. Knute W. D. Lee is a versatile personality, prepared for his job here by a variety of experiences. After graduation from Luther College in 1937 he taught music in high schools in three Midwestern states, then enlisted in the Navy in September of 1941.

Lee Earns Wings

First assigned to Sandpoint, near Seattle, Dr. Lee then went to Texas where he earned his wings. His active duty assignments placed him on anti-sub duty on the Pacific Coast, next flying dive bombers in the Pacific Fleet, and finally piloting Grumman Helicat fighters from the carrier Ben Hornum Richard and the Randolph. While flying anti-sub patrol in August of 1943 he sank the Japanese submarine I-17, the vessel which had shelled the coast at Santa Barbara and at Seaside, Ore.

During the war Dr. Lee decided to become a minister, and at its completion he entered Luther Theological Seminary in Minneapolis. He graduated in 1948 and was called to be pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bremerton, Washington. Members there still talk about his failure to show up at church one Sunday, and his explanation the next Sunday when he said, "Now you know how I feel when you skip church."

Off to Greenland

The church postponed his plans to go on to graduate work in 1951 when it asked him to go instead to Thule, Greenland, to be the chaplain at "Project Blue Jay." His job was to minister to the rugged workers there that were building a secret and fabulous defense base under nearly impossible conditions. His job was a tough one; but as J. A. Aagaard, President of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at that time, said, we should "thank God that an evangelical preacher proclaimed the Work of God to that group of men, away from home and friends and living in cold and darkness a great deal of the time." Aagaard said that Dr. Lee preached to the men "straight from the shoulder." Those messages have been published by Augsburg Publishing House in a book titled Plain Talk In An Arctic Chapel.

In 1953 Dr. Lee entered Columbia University in New York to begin the graduate study that led to the Doctorate in Education degree conferred upon him this past summer. His graduate work dealt with social and philosophical foundations of education. While in New York he was an interim pastor at Lutheran churches in Brooklyn and Glen Head, Long Island.

Teaches at Luther

For the past eight years he has been an Assistant Professor of Bible and Religious Education in his Alma Mater, Luther College. Luther alumni claim that he will live long in the memory of the college, particularly for his chapel talks, often given in serial form. His arrival at PLU has prompted him to comment that he is pleased to find the same kind of friendly students that he had known at Luther. "You just can't help but notice it," he said. Remembering his Naval and pastoral stints in the Northwest, he also commented that he felt he was now "coming home."

Dr. Lee's arrival has already been felt in the school and community. He has preached at Lutheran churches in the area, last Sunday addressed an all-city Youth Rally, and plans to help at Bethlehem Lutheran in Tacoma while it awaits the arrival of a new minister. He has been heard from in the classroom also, where his Old Testament course is taught both "live" and via television. Either way, as Sophomore President Jan Mahlin says, "His vigorous approach keeps the class on the ball."

Dr. Lee's dynamic character and solid training make him, as Religious Department Chairman Pastor Keltner Roe said, "especially suited to college training." Said Roe, "He is a man's man . . . and a man of God."
