"Crusaders With Christ" Will Be Theme of Convention at Moorhead on March 4, 5, and 6

Crusaders With Christ based on Hebrews 12:12 is the theme for the Lutheran Students' Union Convention which will be held March 4, 5, and 6 at Concordia College, Moorhead, Minnesota.

A special feature of this year's convention will be a student communion service at Trinity Lutheran Church of Moorhead on Sunday morning, March 6, at eight o'clock. On Sunday afternoon the Concordia College Choir will give a special concert.

Rev. Andrew Burgess, a missionary from Madhesa, one of the convention speakers, will show some moving pictures of the heathen and the Christians in the African countries.

Other speakers for the convention are Dr. B. M. Christensen, Augsburg College; Rev. J. C. K. Preis, Executive Secretary of the Board of Education of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America; Rev. Frederick Scholtz, Duluth, Minnesota; and Rev. F. J. Schmidt, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Luther College Prexy Hands in Resignation

Coeducation Bone of Contention As Dr. Olson Leaves

At a special meeting of the faculty of Luther College recently Dr. Oscar L. Olson tendered his resignation as president of that institution.

The reason for his resignation was given to the effect that the failure of the acceptance of co-education did not go in accordance with his plans for the future of the school. It is his opinion that Luther College cannot flourish along other lines than those he has made for the school.

Dr. Olson became a member of the Luther faculty in 1901 and was appointed president in 1921. He plans to continue his work at the school until June when the resignation takes effect. His successor is to be elected at the Biennial Convention of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America next summer.

Students With Vacant Stares Seen in Halls

Is school just opening? would without a doubt be the question of the bystander in these days of turmoil during mid-semester exams and registration. Students wander aimlessly through the halls with vacant stares. Not because of unfamiliarity with the school and fellow students, but because of the lack of familiarity with the subject matter of a recent exam.

What to take? is indeed a subject which requires everyone's profound concentration. The office staff also are wont to believe that the members of the student body are much more undecided now than at the beginning of the year. Again they are correct, for now each student has the combined advice of his fellow students and his own knowledge as to which subjects require the most studying and how to avoid them.

But why should we complain? Registration and final exams come only after very ninety days of school.

Ed Note: We read a book once that had a lot of "sic's" in it, so we thought we'd spring a couple on you.

EDUCATION—THE ONLY SAFE INVESTMENT

An investment in real estate may shrink in value, an investment in stocks may dwindle to zero, even an investment in bonds may be a speculation and money in a savings account is sometimes lost.

But a small sum each month plus some time in a self-betterment program—in an education—gives you an investment that nothing can destroy, no one can take it from you. It will endure and pay you big dividends every year of your life in the way of increased earnings. After all an investment in yourself plus some self-confidence is the only safe investment.

WILL WE HAVE A SAGA? IT NEEDS COOPERATION

It still remains to be seen whether or not P. L. C. will have an annual this year. The faculty has given the Student Body until February 1 to make a detailed report concerning its financing. It is no more than fair that the Student Body be given this extension of time, since the requirements of the faculty were almost impossible to meet.

This action by the faculty is evidence of a real interest in the publication of the Saga. Approximately two-thirds of the Student Body should dispell all their doubts as to its certainty, and become a loyal booster.

Because of the time extension it is not too late to reserve a copy. You aren't losing any money by it, and there will be one more who wants the Saga this year.

BE A FRIEND TO NEW STUDENTS

As the semester starts, it becomes your pleasure to welcome new students to Pacific Lutheran College. Perhaps these new students are a bit timid and shy about mixing. Make them feel at home, and if you are somewhat hesitant, remember how glad you would have been if someone who knew everybody had said hello to you the first day or even the first week you were here. Remember how you felt the first day at school. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

STUDY—MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR EDUCATION

This is the first week of the second semester. The first semester has passed all too quickly. Today you will receive your grades, which are the permanent records of half a year at college.

Were those grades all they should and could have been? Why are you going to college? Do you realize that in a few short years you will have to earn your own living? The motto of this world is "The survival of the fittest." Only those properly educated will win the race of life. And you students who have practically your whole life ahead of you should realize that going to college is a great privilege and a great opportunity.

All those who could have done better should stop and think, as they read this quotation from an unknown author: "Lost yesterday, two golden hours, each set with sixty diamond minutes.—No reward is offered because they are gone forever." Time spent at college is valuable and this quotation may be taken literally as well as figuratively by everybody.

Fellow students say they are going to start studying this semester. They really mean it but they add with a laugh that they've made that resolution every year they've gone to school. This shows that at they realize they should study, but that they haven't the "stick-to-it-iveness" that is so desirable in this world.

Don't misinterpret this bit of advice. It is not meant nor is it desirable that you become bookworms. Work when you work, study when you study, and play when you play. But don't mix the three. It will never work.

THE BASKET BALL GAME

"Doesn't that bunch make a lot of noise?"
"Oh, look quick, here come our boys. Don't our redheads all look cute? I love red hair with a yellow suit. All their inen are so awfully tall. I really don't think it's fair at all. Oooh! Did you see Taft smag that ball?"
"Look, there's Lois, she just came in. Did you hear that she broke up with Jim?"
"Isn't she wearing a darling dress? I wonder how she likes C. P. B.?"
"Was that a basket? Oh, isn't that dumb?"
"I wonder if anyone has some gum? I surely feel like I needed some."
"Oh, gee, where'd the yell leader go? We want a touch-down! Oh dear no—I forgot it isn't that kind of a game."
"But I feel like yelling just the same. These dreadful benches—Oh, grab it Red!"
"I'm so excited I'm nearly dead! I think that referee must be crazy."
"And I know the scorekeeper's getting lazy."

"We surely have more than just 32."
"I don't think he's so good, do you?"
"And there's the gun. That means were thru."
"Oh dear, we lost, but all the same—Wasn't it just a perfect game?"
—Rachel Flint.

HUH!
"I've never seen anything like it: Never—in all my life. I can't go here. I can't go there. I can't do this. I can't do that. Without that—What's his name?"
"Yes, Johnny Zack. With hands outstretched In imploring manner. Shouting my name 'Till the halls do clatter, Asking me for— Can't you guess? My dollar for the Saga? Yes! —Helen Thrane.

Mr. Larson—Why is it that you are always at the bottom of the class?
Edgar—That's all right, pop, they teach you the same at both ends.

L. A.
Coach Olson (to football squad)—Now get on your backs and move your legs as though you were riding a bicycle.

J. Pfueger—Ahh, guess I'll stop.
Olson—Hey, what are you stopping for?

Jesse—I'm coasting!
L. A.

Professor Pfueger—in Philosophy class—What is a cynic?
John Hopp—Oh, that's where I wash the dishes.

L. A.
Paul Preus—I have to take off my hat to that man.
Felix—Why?
Paul—That's my barber.

L. A.

RULES

Listen my children and you shall learn Of the rules in the dorm you must not spurn; They must be obeyed for they're for our good; That each one will heed them is understood.

When the bell rings at seven, be where you please. All music and singing at once, must cease. He to your room, without losing time, And stay there and study 'till half past nine.

From then until ten there's a half hour free To do as you like and laugh merrily. You may visit your neighbor or get stuff to eat, Or mail a letter to your mother or sweet.

At ten-fifteen sharp the lights will go out, And none must laugh or sing or shout; For this is the time, as the Dean has said, That all good children should be in bed. —Pauline Schierman.

Those who didn't care to hike spent the time skiing or tobogganing. Several of the students hiked to Paradise Inn. Others went to Nisqually Glacier or Narada Falls.

Dinner was served at Longmire before the group returned.

Including the Christianity department, the Education department has the largest enrollment at Luther College this year.

Professor Bardon

One of the youngest teachers at Pacific Lutheran College is Professor P. J. Bardon. That statement is neither a misprint nor the effect of semester exams upon the reporter's brain, but refers to the age of his mind and spirit.

Professor Bardon's youthful outlook on life may be due to his friendly interest in the students who may be usually found in his office, or it may be because of his varied career.

Twenty-eight years ago he came to the coast from North Dakota and began teaching at Bethany College in Everett. Later he taught at Pacific Lutheran from 1912 until 1917, when war led to the closing of the school. He then lectured, sold bonds and insurance, engaged in public school work here and in Montana, and in 1929 came back to Pacific Lutheran to teach the students a little of what he knows about social science.

Professor Bardon's home is in Seattle, so it was impossible to visit the aid of his family in unearthing dark secrets from his past. However, investigation did disclose that he once wore a moustache, a wavy one. Also, there was the time up in Whatcom County when he was pursued by a man and a gun—but got in and ask him about that yourself, for the door to his office, as he himself says, is always open.

What Is the Cause For All the Silence. Woe—Report Cards

One would naturally think that, with semester exams a thing of the past, and a clean slate before each individual, joy would reign supreme at Pacific Lutheran College. But, alas, this is not now the case.

Why is it that, just as the new semester sets in, there is a general weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth? What on what, is wrong with the students? Where there were once smiles and joy, why is there now only silence and woe?

Dorothy Lehman's cheerful grin is no longer visible, as that individual was underabout the halls with a frightful scowl. It is impossible to look at John Zackrisson without sighing, for the goodnatured boy that he used to be.

Even Shirley Hecht, once bubbling over with good spirits—oh, where are those spirits now? If you value your life, speak not to Miss Hecht, for something dreadful has happened to that once sunny nature. She maintains a gloomy silence, and, if disturbed, positively glares at the offender.

Not once in the past two days has Ervin Dammel been smiling. And even Kathryn Lamb has grown disagreeable, ignores her old friends, and simply won't give anyone a cheerful word.

Oh, Pacific Lutheran College is a gloomy place these days. It just isn't what it used to be, anyone can see that. The kicking post is now used for verbal kicks, in fact the students don't have to go there to do their kicking, one hears it everywhere. Discourtesy, discord, woe, and misery fill the air. What is it?

The answer, dear reader, is simple. Members of the Student Body have just received their semester report cards.

Lutherans Win Brilliant Game From Columbia

Good Offensive, Defensive Plays: Moe, Mitton High; McCarty High for Visitors; Final Score 18-13

A very determined Gladiator hoop squad upset all the hope when they met and sent the Columbia University five of Portland home on the bitter end of an 18-13 score.

Throughout the game the Lutherans displayed a faultless defense that made the much vaunted attack of the Cliff Dwellers a minor event. The Gladiators flashed a fast breaking offense and was in for plenty of scoring opportunities, but was not getting a big enough payoff on the shots however. The Portlanders also displayed a well-regulated defense—and since the defensive departments of both outfits were working so well, there just was not any scoring being done. Regardless of this, the game was plenty fast and interesting, especially in the final quarter when a frenzied Columbia attack was in progress, trying to overcome the Lutheran lead.

Mighty midget Moe was dynamic against the Portlanders, playing as if he had a personal grudge to settle with the boys from the south. The diminutive forward scored 7 pointers to share high game honors with McCarty of the Irish. Mitton placed second in scoring line with 5 tallies. The entire Lutheran team, however, played heads-up basket ball and turned in one of the best games of the season. By the time this report reaches the reader the results of the second meeting with the Portlanders on their home floor will be known.

Gladiator Hoopsters To Play Three Games

Play Two With Oregon: One With Grays Harbor on Home Floor; Out to Win

Another period of hard work was a part of this weeks schedule for the Gladiator hoopsters with three games slated for playoff before the close of the present week. Two of the contests take place in Oregon, one already played since the Lutherans met the Columbia University five in Portland last night. However, the results were obtained after press time. The second contest of the week also scheduled in the southern state, will be played tonight in Albany with the Albany College quint. The tilt with the Albany five will mark the third Northwest conference game for the Lutherans this season.

The final contest of the week will be played on the home floor this coming Saturday night when the Gladiators are scheduled to take on the quint representing the Grays Harbor Junior College of Aberdeen. The Gladiators are especially anxious to send the Harborites back home on the bitter end of the score as the Jaysees have always been more or less of a jinx to the Lutherans teams. Last season the Aberdeen squads proved to be stumbling blocks for both the grid and basket ball teams, and the memory of the close squeak the gridgers had this year with the boys down the line still lingers with great vividness.

Sport Slants

By Southworth

Plenty of thrills have been dished up during the last few days on the basketball courts. Out on the Logger maples in the second game, the Gladiators flashed surprising strength and ran the Lumberjacks a merry chase for three quarters. It took a determined rally and the extreme height of the Northerners to pull the game out of the fire. Just a bit of carelessness in the closing minutes of play when the tight defense of the Lutherans relaxed, accounted for the difference in the scores—it did not reveal the actual game played. Then against Mr. Vernon, a tired Gladiator squad had us in doubts right up to the closing whistle, when a final spur put the game in the win column. But the best of all came when the Gladiators set the highly touted Columbia U. five down in defeat. Especially pleasing was the final quarter when the Lutherans gave the visitors a dose of their own medicine in the stalling type of play adopted—and beat them at their own game.

S. S.

The team—Speedy Dutch Moe who dashes around like a runaway cyclone and wears out opposing guards trying to keep track of him. The diminutive forward has been having a bit of trouble sinking his shots, but is improving with each game—gives promise of worlds of trouble for teams on the tail end of the Lutheran schedule. At the other forward spot comes Mr. Hergert, mysteriously nicknamed. Lately he has been a bit off on potting the old basket, but will undoubtedly begin to get better payoffs on his scoring chances. The Honorable Brick Mitton plays the forward spot, and it takes some jumper to reach into a higher altitude than Brick. The elongated boy plays a fine floor game and is in on practically every play, offensively and defensively. And at the guard posts there is Poffenroth and Carlson—no use trying to start out trying to describe the highlights of their actions—it takes too much paper and time. Puff and Red play together like two lovers.

Gladiators Win Two Lose Two Contests

Win From Mt. Vernon, Columbia; Bow to C. P. S. in Two Games; Carlson, Hergert High

Two wins—two losses—reads the balance sheet of the Gladiator Varsity hoopster for the past two weeks' activities. The College of Page Sound Varsity five was twice the victors over the Lutherans, while the Mt. Vernon and the Columbia University quintts fell before the determined attack of the Olson five.

In the first C. P. S. encounter, the Glads just did not click and it was evident from the start of the game that the Northerners would annex the contest. The final tally revealed a score of 48-29 favoring the Loggers. Hergert and Carlson carried the scoring burden for the Lutherans, dropping the pellet through the hoop for 7 pointers each. Poffenroth, with 5 markers to his credit, turned in a stellar performance—he added that needed pepper and punch which was lacking in the Lutheran's play. In the second fray, the Gladiators flashed much improved game ability and dropped out to lead the scoring at the half. In the final quarter, the Loggers finally cracked the Lutherans defense and, using their height to great advantage, pulled away from the Gladiators as far as scoring was concerned. Score: Loggers 45; Gladiators 34. Here Moe and Mitton worked together in great shape and marked up 9 and 8 points respectively. The entire Lutheran five played a remarkable game, and flashed evidences of great power.

It was a weary Gladiator team that faced the Mt. Vernon Jaysees for the third game of the week, and it was a very determined and almost successful Jaysee team that met the Lutherans. A scoring rally in the closing minutes of the final half resulted in a Lutheran victory by the scant margin of 3 counts—27-23. Hergert and Carlson did the scoring work for the Lutherans, with 9 and 8 pointers apiece. Speed demon Moe had his finger in the pie throughout the contest and proved to be one of the visitors main troubles. The final contest of the week was the upset victory chalked up by the Gladiators, when they sent the Columbia University home on the short end of an 18-13 score.

Girls Chalk Up String of Wins

Win From Sumner, Poultry, Alumnae, Telephone Team; Good Reserve Material

In the past two weeks the Girl Basketeers were hard at work turning out four more victories to add to their already long list of wins. The Collegians faced and defeated the Sumner High outfit, Tacoma Poultry sextet, Alumnae team, and the Pacific Telephone team.

The first and most satisfying of the wins was probably that one turned in over the Sumner High outfit when the final score favored the College outfit by 3 tallies, 25-22. Last season the Sumner sextet won the final meet of the year and the girls were out to wipe out that defeat. A hard fought, close scoring game marked the second game of the week with the Tacoma Poultry team. The Collegians were put to hard work in the final half in order to pull the game out of the fire after the Tacomans had gained a lead over the Parkland second. The whistle sounded when the score finally read—P. L. C. 24, Poultry 21 (not a stock quotation). Another low scoring contest was, turned in when the girls of the school met some of the former team members. The scoring finally turned out perfect when the books showed the Collegians had the best of a 11-9 score. In the final game of the week the girls went to work to show just what a scoring outfit Coach Ramstad had turned out. Against the Telephone sextet the girls did practically all of the scoring to turn in a 28-7 victory. Superb checking by the regular guards and fine teamwork by the forward courts made the Tacomans helpless as far as basket ball was concerned.

In practically all of the games, Coach Ramstad has used his entire squad. The first string lineup usually consists of: Alvness, Hilmo, Kasland, Monson, Howard, and Collins. In LeLand, Winsor, Preus, Lehman, Pochert, Gardlin, Porath and Iverson, Ramstad has a wealth of reserve material.

Reserves Win Game

Defeat Men's Club; Bow to C. P. S. Mt. Vernon

A much defeated Reserve squad trudged through a series of very discouraging losses only to snap into it and chalk up their first victory of the season when they set the Parkland Men's Club quiet on its ear, to win by a 18-15 score.

Twice during the past weeks the Reserves were outclassed by the Logger seconds on the Northerner's floor. In the first game the Lumberjacks scored 28 while the Parklanders annexed a mere 9 points. In the game. Score came out with high point honors for the Gladiators with 3 points. Warwich had high game honors with 7. In the second game the Lutherans had a better time and the final score read a bit differently—C. P. S. 22, P. L. C. 15. Weeks of the Loggers had high game honors with 14 counters, while Hudson led the Lutherans with 9 pointers. The third encounter found the Lutheran seconds taking another beating in a slow, low-scoring contest with the Mr. Vernon Reserves. The final score was Mt. Vernon 15, P. L. C. 10. Carl Marfih was the supprime lead. Moore, Jaysee center, scored 9 pointers, or almost enough to defeat the locals' singhanded.

The seconds were scheduled to meet the Roy High five on the home floor last night, but the results were too late for this edition of the paper.
