'Camelot' Musical Scheduled At PLU

Thursday was a memorable day at PLU as the university presented Mauricio Lasansky, right, the nation's foremost print maker, with an honorary Doctor of Fine Arts degree. Lasansky at the same time donated six of his famous prints to the university, which are now on display in the Gallery. Greeting Lasansky and his wife are Dr. and Mrs. Richard Moe as Lasansky's "El Cardenal" looks on from the background.

Ericsson Urges More Black Mgmt.

American business should "build a black managerial group as soon as possible," William G. Ericsson, co-chairman of the National Urban Coalition economic development task force, told PLU, UPS and St. Martin's College students at PLU Monday.

PLU To Host High School Debate Tourney This Week

More than 700 students from 50 Washington high schools will compete in the annual High School Debate Tournament at Pacific Lutheran University Friday and Saturday, April 25-26.

"Almost every room on campus will be used for competition," Cathy Collins, student chairman for the event, announced. "That includes dormitory rooms, classrooms, lounges and the like."

The tournament is sponsored by the Washington Interscholastic Activities Association.

This will be the last tournament of the year for most of the schools, according to Miss Collins. "The schools will be sending their top teams," she said. "This is a terrific opportunity to prepare for the national tournament."

At least six Tacoma area high schools will be represented, based on registrations received this past week, including Wilson, Stadium, Federal Way, Sumner, Puyallup and Olympia. Several other local schools are expected to participate.

Categories include impromptu, interpretive and extemporaneous speaking, debate and oratory.

Competition will be underway from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. Friday. The Saturday schedule begins at 8 a. m., with all individual finals set for 2 p. m.

Ericsson's appearance was the first in a three-part S & H Foundation-sponsored urban affairs lectureship series at PLU.

"Training for these positions must come as a result of practical experience," he said. This lack of experience, he indicated, has held back the black community throughout their history in this country. They have been deprived of the ability to accumulate capital and knowledge of management skills.

"But a significant start can be made for black capitalism in today's climate," he maintained.

He urged that white businessmen "listen" to the black community to determine problems they feel will solve the problem, which really are often no more than means for the whites to achieve personal recognition, he added.

"It's almost impossible to get these programs untangled," Ericsson continued. "What we need to realize is the insignificance of these individual efforts. Only when everyone is involved will significant progress be made."

He also pointed out that American businessmen are oriented towards problem solving. "But in this case the problem can't be resolved overnight, as they expect," he said. "Too many give up the effort after a short time because they are discouraged with progress being made."

He criticized the Nixon Administration's black capitalism approach because it is geared to incentives for white businessmen rather than the development of a black managerial class. Blacks are also against it, he added, because they don't want outside solutions.

"And," he asserted, "if a man needs a tax incentive, his commitment isn't deep enough."

Students Present 'Bernarda Alba'

"House of Bernarda Alba," a tragedy by Garcia Larca about women alone, will be presented at Pacific Lutheran University April 24-26.

"CAMELOT" MUSICAL

"Camelot," one of Lerner and Loewe's most successful musicals, will be performed at Pacific Lutheran University May 8-10.

Based on T. H. White's novel, "The Once and Future King," the production has been eminently successful as both a Broadway play and as a movie.

Produced by Theodore O. H. Karl, chairman of the PLU speech department, the PLU production of "Camelot" will feature student performers, several of whom are veterans from previous university musicals.

King Arthur will be portrayed by Brad Miller, a junior from Sacramento, Calif. He appeared in "South Pacific," staged at PLU two years ago.

His queen, Guenevere, is played by Roberta Allen, a senior from Bellevue. She performed in the PLU musical "Song of Norway" three years ago.

Dennis MacNealy, Dennis Goin and David Richardt are veterans of Children's Theatre and other student productions. In "Camelot," they portray Merlyn, Pennimore and Mordred respectively.

David Chance, a senior from Franklin Pierce in Tacoma, is slated for the role of Lancelot.

Choir of the West director, Maurice Skones, is the music director for the production, which includes some 30 selected instrumentalists and voices. Eric Nordholm, creator and director of the Children's Theatre, will direct the musical.

Rehearsals began just before the Easter Vacation break.

The student-directed play will be performed in Eastvold Auditorium at 8:15 p. m. each evening.

Penny Fishback portrays the title role in an all-woman, 11-member cast production.

Karen Drebbs is the student director.

"House" is about women kept out of the flow of life, shut up in a house in a Spanish village, a stifling kind of experience that results in a slow living death.

Tickets for the performances are on sale at the Eastvold Auditorium box office weekdays from 1-5 p.m.

Poncia, portrayed by Janice Fortune, left, senses disaster threatening "The House of Bernarda Alba" during the Pacific Lutheran University student production of the tragedy April 24-26. Her fears are expressed to the servant, played by Charlotte Brockman.

Guest Lecturers, Tours Highlight Summer Sessions

Foreign study tours, guest lecturers, workshops and an all-time high 164 courses highlight the 1969 summer sessions.

The first session will be held June 16-July 18; the second is July 21- Aug. 22.

Dr. Paul Reigstad and Dr. Joseph Lowe will conduct foreign study tours. Dr. Reigstad, English department chairman, will take his group to England and France to study early 19th century literature: Coleridge and Wordsworth. The tour runs from June 3-July 18.

Political systems of East Asia will be studied during Dr. Lowe's tour. A former colonel in the Republic of China Army, Dr. Lowe, assistant professor of political science, will take his group to Japan, Hong Kong, Nationalist China and Korea. Tour dates are June 14-July 16.

Among 16 guest lecturers this summer are Lou Whittaker, one of the conquerors of Mt. Everest; Dr. Daniel Moe, well-known choral composer from the University of Iowa; Dr. Ervin Goldenstein, head of the department of history and principles of education at the University of Nebraska; and Karl Christiansen, a professional artist from Iowa.

Whittaker will conduct a workshop in basic mountaineering; Dr. Moe heads a choral literature and conducting workshop; Dr. Goldenstein's courses include advanced educational psychology and comparative education; and Dr. Christiansen will teach a course in ceramics.

Among the other workshops are eight in education, three in music, two in physical education and one each in drama, art and television.

Regular course offerings feature 22 subject areas. There are 37 education courses, 15 in music, 14 in health and physical education, 12 in psychology, 11 in business administration and 10 each in English and art.

Schwidder, Roskos Create Bronze Crucifix For Church

A 12-foot hammered copper crucifix, designed by Ernst Schwidder and created by George Roskos, both PLU art professors, will be hanging soon in the chancel of Grace Lutheran Church in Bellevue.

The work is part of an entire altar design Schwidder has prepared for the four-year-old church, served by Rev. Charles Bomgren. It will hang suspended 23 feet above the altar.

Nearly 200 hours were spent by Roskos and an assistant, Darell Smith, in completing the crucifix. Smith, a PLU grad, teaches art at Lakes High School.

Although accustomed to working with a variety of materials in his creations, this was the first hammered bronze piece undertaken by Roskos.

The results, as the photo indicates, are quite spectacular.

PLU Receives Texaco Grant

Clayton Peterson (v. p. development) left, accepts a check for $1,500 from James E. Tomlin, assistant district manager, center, and George Schrieber, district supervisor, both of Texaco.

* * * * *

PLU has again been selected as one of the privately financed colleges in the United States to receive unrestricted grants under the Aid-to-Education program of Texaco Inc.

The grant of $1,500 awarded for the 1968-69 academic year is the second such grant awarded to PLU by Texaco.

PLU is one of 300 colleges and universities included in Texaco's program of educational support. In addition to providing direct financial support to 150 privately-financed schools, the program includes scholarship and fellowship assistance to 90 educational institutions, both private and tax supported.

Curtis Pearson, a business administration student, has been chosen the "Outstanding Marketing Student of the Year" at PLU.

He was honored this week at an American Marketing Association dinner in Seattle.

Funeral Services Held For Dr. Rolf Espeseth

Dr. Rolf Espeseth, 57, former associate professor of music at PLU, died Friday in a Tacoma hospital. Funeral services were held Monday (April 21) in Spanaway Lutheran Church with the Rev. John Briehl officiating.

Dr. Espeseth came to Tacoma in 1963 and was minister of music at Central Lutheran Church for about one year. He joined the PLU music faculty in 1964. In 1967 he retired because of illness.

He is survived by his wife, Loleta, assistant registrar at PLU; two daughters, Margaret, a PLU sophomore; and Miriam; a son, Jon; two brothers, Marvin and Evelyn both of Oslo, Minn., and a sister, Miss Ruth Espeseth of Oslo.

Calvin Knapp of the music department was organist for the funeral services and the pallbearers included Dr. Emmet Eklund, Charles Nelson, Frederick Newnham and Dr. Sherman Nornes.

Julie Taylor, Woman of the Year at Pacific Lutheran University selected by Associated Women Students, accepts a bouquet of flowers from Mrs. Robert Mortvedt, wife of the university president. Looking on is Dr. Thomas Langevin, academic vice-president at PLU.

PLU Golfers Grab NWC Classic

ROBINSON LEADS PLU TO COLLEGE CLASSIC LINKS CROWN

PLU's Jay Robinson won a sudden-death playoff for the individual medal at McMinnville, Ore., Saturday, to assure the Lutes of the team championship in the Northwest Small College Golf Classic.

Competition was so close between PLU and Lewis and Clark that a win by Robinson's L & C playoff opponent, Terry Gilbert, would have meant the championship for the Pioneers. Robinson and Gilbert had tied at 302 after 72 holes.

Final standings at the end of the four-course tournament were PLU 74, Lewis & Clark 69, Willamette 42, Oregon College of Education 34, Pacific 32 and Linfield 26.

The team medal for accumulative scoring went to OCE (low cards of four of six players), 1236 to PLU's 1238.

The Lutes set the pace in the six-ball phase of the competition, winning by four shots at 262.

Behind Robinson, PLU scores included Paul Campbell, 313; Bob Iverson and Rick Nelson, 315; Rick Ross, 318; and Fred Jensen, 330.

In the only two-way competition since the College Classic began two weeks ago, PLU linksters lost to University of Washington frosh 13-4.

Team record at present is nine wins and three losses, with an 8-0 mark in NWC action.

LINFIELD SLIPS BY LUTES ON CINDERS 85-60

PLU cindermen succumbed to Linfield's field strength in a dual track meet at McMinnville Saturday, losing 85-60.

The Lutes took 16 of 28 places in track competition, but picked up only seven of 21 in the field.

Again strong in the middle distances, PLU swept the two mile with Jerry Gugel, Don Milholland and Chris Buck (10:28.6). Gugel and Milholland were 1-3 in the mile (4:35.4), while Mark Woldseth and Frank Wilson finished 1-2 in the 880 (2:00.3).

Other PLU winners were Doug Jansen in the 100 (10.6), Randy Jorgenson in the shotput (tie-45-8½) and Phil Tundel in the javelin (183-7).

The Lutes had a triangular with University of Puget Sound and St. Martin's College Tuesday and face a dual meet with Pacific Saturday.

PLU ROWERS FINISH FOURTH IN OREGON RACE

PLU rowers faced crews from four top West Coast universities Saturday. They came away long on experience but short on honors.

The Lute varsity finished fourth behind University of Washington, Stanford and Oregon State in eight minutes flat. The Huskies won easily in 7:20.4.

PLU Jayvees also finished fourth in 7:59 behind the victorious U of W jayvee squad.

PLU BASEBALLERS DROP NINTH; WAIT FOR FIRST WIN HAS BEEN FRUSTRATING

PLU baseballers played only one game this past week as a scheduled contest with the University of Puget Sound was rained out.

A leaky defense, which has plagued the winless Lutes throughout the season, spelled defeat again as the Linfield Wildcats came from behind to win 12-7.

PLU suffered seven miscues, three during a Linfield six-run eighth inning that iced the game.

Bill Tye, Al Fruetal and Bill Ranta all got two hits for the Lutes; Fruetal hit his first homer of the season in the sixth as PLU pulled ahead 6-5.

After nine games, leading Lute hitters are catcher Jim Flatness, .320; third baseman Dave Johnson, .296; and Fruetal, .290. Center fielder Ron Toff is hitting only .267, but has been on base 48 percent of the time.

RBI leaders are Fruetal and Tye with five apiece. Fruetal has four stolen bases.

Hitting and pitching have been adequate, but 31 errors in nine games have been the Lutes' downfall.
