Dr. Tingelstad was very happy to see that both churches were filled at the morning and the evening assemblies. It indicated the increased friendly sentiments toward Pacific Lutheran College.

Boys Give Hallow'en Party for Dorm Girls

Games Played on Campus by Light of Blazing Bonfire

On Hallow'en evening the Men's Dormitory Union entertained the Pep Club with a rather unique party. The first part of the program was presented in the college recreation room where the pep orchestra, composed of Frank Elliott, Jack Hudson, Art Hoppe, Walt Christenson, Ray Hinderlie and Nelda Perival, entertained with lively musical numbers. Walt Young, president of the M. D. U., gave a speech of welcome, after which Frank Elliott presented his interpretation of Senator Eliot from Wisconsin. Ruth Howard presented a novelty number.

The second part of the entertainment took place on the campus where light from a blazing bonfire afforded the sole means of illumination as the hosts and their guests played various group games.

The party later returned to the recreation room, where cider, sandwiches and doughnuts were served.

Rev. J. C. K. At the Fireside Hour preceding the Luther League meeting, Eric Hauke led the discussion of the theme, "What Pacific Lutheran College as a Christian Institute means to me." Various students participated in the discussion. The next meeting of the Luther League will be held on November 22. The topic for the Fireside Hour has not yet been chosen. Rev. J. C. K. ### Funny Names Jar Reporter

What's in a name? Nothing did you say? Perhaps a name doesn't make a man. Any way, ask any member of the Drama Club in the group under the leadership of Dagny Hjermstad what their names—T. D. (or D. D.)—means and all the satisfaction you get is a quizzical smile. Maybe it means something and, after all, maybe it doesn't.

Anna Mikkelsen, accompanied by Prof. Edwards, sang "Were You There."

"What Pacific Lutheran College should mean to the rest of us" was the theme of President Tingelstad's address. "Bless The Lord" was the Choir's final number. The service was closed with the Lord's Prayer and the Doxology, the manner in which each daily chapel period at the College is closed.

Entertain Delegates At Press Conference

Monson, Iverson, Preus Represent High School; Discussions, Banquet, Tours, Game on Program

Many helpful ideas were brought back by the three Pacific Lutheran College delegates who attended the High School Leaders' and Press Conference at the University of Washington on October 29, 1931. Jennie Iverson and Robert Monson represented the High School Department, and Mary Louise Preus the Mooring Mast.

The Press conference consisted of lectures by professors of Journalism at the University and prominent journalism students in charge of publications on the campus. Much time was given by all the speakers for the discussion of problems pertaining to high school publications.

High School leaders discussed questions of self-government, budget systems for organized student bodies, and means of stimulating interest in extra curricular activities.

Sportivities and fraternalities housed the delegates who were well entertained during their stay. On Thursday evening a banquet at the Commons honored the representatives, and on Friday night they were the guests of the University students at a down-town theater.

A tour of the Campus, a tour of the Seattle Times plant, and an hour of organ music in the University Temple were also features of the convention. As a climax, on Saturday afternoon the delegates were taken to the University of Washington vs. Whitman football game.

P. L. C. Granted Appropriation

DON'T WORRY ABOUT NOTHING

What is it that makes one day gay and another sad? Everything can appear gray to you if you look at it through smoked glasses, and everything equally bright by viewing the world through rose-colored ones.

Never sour this day with the thoughts of tasks to come, for they are like the bridges you may never be called upon to cross. Don't worry and fret about the flunk you'll get in psychology (or zoology) in the mid-semester test, but study and forget a flunk, and the test will take care of itself. Don't think your teacher will flunk you because he or she doesn't like you, for that is another bridge you'll never have to cross. Your teacher will give you a square deal, whether or not he approves of the way you tie your shoelaces.

Don't think that you will never have opportunities. Look up, and ignore the bridges you'll never cross. —S. H.

BE PATIENT

Fellows nowadays are in a terrible hurry to amount to something. They want to leave high school or college and be tremendous successes right away. They want to jump into something in a minute that will give them position and money. But we notice from reading a lot of history, that few great men have done it that way. Most of them fumble around for quite a while and try this and that until they find their places. Take Abraham Lincoln, for instance. He spent almost all of his life fumbling around, getting nowhere in particular. He seemed to be a failure. But into his last five years he crowded so much of greatness that his name will live forever. Probably he was discouraged and despondent many times—but he came into his own. Don't be discouraged if you do not rapidly secure fame and fortune. —H. C.

Remember! Patronize the Advertiser

Those who advertise are really the ones who make it possible for us to publish this paper every other week. If students and faculty will remember that it is advantageous for us, as well as for the advertiser, for us to PATRONIZE THE ADVERTISER, we shall experience little difficulty in obtaining funds to make the Mooring Mast a success.

Let us remember then, that the advertiser wants our business, that he wants to know where the business is coming from, and finally, that the success of the Mooring Mast depends upon our response to advertising. How about it? Are we all willing to cooperate? —Business Manager.

Dr. O. A. Tingelstad

That even a college President is human was discovered upon interviewing Dr. O. A. Tingelstad, president of Pacific Lutheran College.

Dr. Tingelstad maintains that he never has time for mere pleasure, but that he does participate in golf for his health. When he became president of Pacific Lutheran College he found that he had very little time for the sports he loved; in fact, he says he does not even take time to think about them.

During his school career he participated in baseball, organized a basketball team at Luther College, and learned to swim. Baseball and swimming have always been his favorites. At one time, it is reported, he swam across Lake Spanaway and back without the aid of a boat.

Dr. Tingelstad has a very good sense of humor, and he often illustrates a point by telling an amusing story. He says his favorite joke is himself, and he attributes his lasting youth to his long association with students. He says: "Students have helped me keep myself foolish, not make me foolish."

Prof. N. J. Hong

"Is this the correct way to use this word? Is it an adjective or an adverb?" asks a bewildered student.

"Ask Mr. Hong," is the obliging answer. "he will tell you."

If you want to know anything about grammar, punctuation, and so forth, just see Professor Hong—he knows all about it. If you don't know who he is, he is the tall, gray-haired man who walks with a slight tilt of his head, holds his finger tips together when he talks, constantly reminds you that you are in college now, and laughs the "Leather Stocking Laugh." Even though you can't hear him laugh, his jolly grin makes up for the lack of sound. Next to Professor J. U. Xavier, Mr. Hong has served Pacific Lutheran College longer than any other present faculty member. At one time he left Pacific Lutheran College to teach at Lincoln High in Tacoma, advancing there to the head of the English Department. After ten years he returned again to our college where he feels more at home.

Those who have been in his classes know better than to say "I can't" to him; Mr. Hong has sincere confidence in the power of the youth of today, and enjoys associating with young people.

Dignified School Marm's Enjoy Children's Games

Once a child, always a child—in spirit any way. For justification of this statement, step quietly over to the gymnasium on Mondays and Wednesdays during the seventh period and—what do you see? Surely it can't be those dignified would-be schoolmarm's of Pacific Lutheran College! But closer observation proves that it is they who are entering with much enthusiasm into the children's games which are always played in the first part of the period.

REV. LANE IN CALIFORNIA

W. M. F. Mission Work Discussed; Letter From Alaska Read

Mrs. M. T. Hokenstad, of Snohomish, Washington, gave a very interesting talk, a general survey of the Mission work of the W. M. F. of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, at the meeting of the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation on November 3, held at the home of Mrs. Clifford Olson. Dorothy Lehman read several items of interest from the news letter, "Eskimo Land," which is published at the Mission in Shismaref, Alaska.

In response to a request for an L. D. R. song, two were submitted and read during the business meeting. The president will appoint a committee to arrange for a joint meeting of the Pacific Lutheran College L. D. R. and the L. D. R. of Central Lutheran Church of Tacoma.

Mrs. Clifford Olson and Mrs. J. P. Pfueger were the hostesses.

Gladiators Win From Grays Harbor College

Wet Field Is Drawback; Lisherness, Jacobson Outstanding

In the last few seconds of play the old jinx that the Grays Harbor Junior College teams have held over the Gladiators was finally broken when a pass was completed to Jacobson over the goal line just before the whistle sounded to give the Lutherans a 14-8 victory over the Aberdeen school. The game was played on a water covered field that made all types of play hard to carry through, and which came near spelling defeat for the Gladiators.

The Jaycees scored early in the first half after a series of bad passes from cent. called over Moe's head to place the Gladiators in a tough spot. One of the passes landed behind the goal line and Moe was downed before he could get away, giving the Harborites a 7-0 lead early in the game. The Juniors added the touchdown a little later in the first half. A determined drive put the ball on the Lutherans 8-yard line before the advance was stopped. Moe got off a short punt that dropped on the 20-yard marker. From this position the Jaycees advanced slowly but surely against a very stubborn Gladiator team up to the 8-yard line again. Davidson cut through the line from this point for the touchdown. The line plunge for the point was just short.

Later in the second quarter the Lutherans started a determined drive from midfield that was destined to end in a score. With Lisherness carrying the ball on the majority of the plays, the Lutherans bit the line for the touchdown. Lisherness carried the ball into scoring turf. Lisherness stormed the line for the extra tally. At the end of the first half the score still stood at 8-7, favoring the Juniors.

Until the last few minutes of play in the final quarter the ball passed from one end of the field to the other on punts in which the Harborites were successful in holding the Gladiators from scoring territory. Later in the final count, a hard driving Lutherans attempt brought the play into the Junior's territory. With some four minutes of play remaining, Carlson dropped the ball dead to the pin on the 2-yard line, and the Harbor ball totter was snatched in his tracks. The Juniors kicked to their own 37 yard line. From there Carlson, Leque, and Lisherness began a determined drive that was finally stopped on the 7-yard ribbon. On three attempts the Lutherans could dent the Harbor line for but 3 yards. With the ball resting on the 4-yard line and the outcome of the game depending on the final drive coming, Leque dropped back and heaved a pass to Jacobson who clung to the slippery ball over the line for the score. Lisherness plowed the line for the extra point. The final score was 14-8.

Sport Slants

By Southworth

Just one more time in action and the curtain will be drawn on this year's football program. Saturday morning the Gladiators will swarm out on the College lot for a bit of action against the forces of the Whitworth College of Spokane. Although there have not been any reports as to the strength of the Spokane outfit, Coach Olson and his squad will be prepared for the worst. Whatever type of team the Easterners puts on the home lot Saturday, the Gladiators are determined to send them back home the possessors of the short end of the score. Let's all be out and see the final performance.

Coach Olson had several proposals for additional games this season, but conditions did not warrant the acceptance of any of them and as things now stand, he states that the Saturday contest will end the season for sure this time. The Reserves were originally booked for one or two more contests, but faculty opposition to the amount of time used, or wasted as it was stated, prevented the carrying through of these games. Apparently the Reserves have ended their season with the contest some weeks back, and can content themselves with coming out of their extremely short program with a spotless record. In the four contests the Seconds did not have their goal line crossed at any time.

Last Saturday afternoon a movie thriller was enacted in real life. The Gladiators were trailing the Jaycees, by eight point with but seconds to go, four yards to travel, and one down to get there. Leque dropped back, took a slippery ball and threw to Jacobson who hugged the elusive griskin to his chest and stepped into scoring territory to win the game for the Gladiators. Before that final 30 seconds, the Lutherans were visited by a whole flock of bad breaks, and they did not come singly, but in couples, trios, and on up the line.

So far this season "Red" always introduces himself with a nice 20, 30 or 40 yard run on his initial handling of the ball. And then there is Levinson, who has been playing bang-up football at the end post. You can't fail to hear him tell where the play is going, and has anyone yet heard him call them wrong? Old plowhorse Lisherness was doing some real ball carrying against the Juniors Saturday. When he hit the center of the line, it just meant another two or three yards. On the first touchdown, Jack drove the line consistently for the first score, and he was not even slowed up until the score was made.

Last Game at Home

Play Whitworth College of Spokane Saturday

Next Saturday morning at 10:30 the last act of this season's football program is scheduled to take place when the Gladiators oppose the forces of the Whitworth College of Spokane on the home field.

When the Lutherans swing into action for the last time it will be with the express purpose of sending the Easterners home on the short end of the score. The season has favored the Lutherans so far in most of the contests and another win will put the school through the season with but 3 losses in the record book. In view of the fact that this year for the first time, the Gladiators were opposing collegiate teams or teams of equal standing in all contests, it might be said that another win will give the Lutherans a record year.

Although very little is known about the Spokane team, nothing will be overlooked in getting prepared for the contest. The final week of practice will be one of the toughest gone through this year and all angles of the game will be reviewed and brushed up for the closing act in the football year.

Reserve Strength Helps O. N. S. Win

Aided by a plentiful supply of powerful reserve strength, the Monmouth Normal eleven finally took the measure of a stubborn and hard fighting Lutheran squad by the score of 28-8.

Throughout the first half the Lutherans battled the Oregonians on even terms and came through the period with the score against them by only one point—7-6.

The Parklanders marked up the first score with a sleeper play that caught the Normals napping early in the first canto. The Lutherans received a punt on their own 39-yard line and advanced the ball straight up the field to the Oregon 33-yard stripe. Here the Lutherans reached down into their bag of tricks and pulled out a sleeper play with the ball going to Carlson who galloped around end for the distance to the Oregon goal line. The try for point failed.

Teachers Use Tricks
 A little later in the first half the Teachers pulled out their own list of tricks and selected a complicated fake play that was good for the score. The Normals had obtained the ball on their own 39-yard line, and two hidden plays were good enough to make the distance with Gordon carrying the ball over. Engerbraten passed to Edwards for the point. The remainder of the period was passed with both teams threatening but with nothing coming up as results.

The Lutherans returned in the second half and fought hard to hold the Monmouth outfit until late in the third quarter. The Teachers gained ground on an exchange of punts, taking the kick on the Lutheran 26-yard marker. A pass, Engerbraten to Gordon was good, placing the ball in scoring territory. Little kicked the point. After the second Oregon score, the weight advantage and superior reserve forces began to tell, and the Teachers marched 43 yards down the field against a stubborn P. L. C. eleven for the third score. The third try for point was good and the score read 21-6.

Normal Intercepts Pass
 Toward the close of the fourth period the Normals intercepted a Lutheran pass on the Parkland 45-yard line.

The Teachers pulled a double pass which ended its flight in the hands of Phillips who placed the ball on the 1-yard line. A plunge through the line was good for the last touchdown. Another pass added the extra tally. The final score was 28-8.

Although the Lutherans completed their scoring early in the game, they trespassed time and time again during the entire game. "Red" repeatedly made good with his shifty running, and more than once was almost tried for the score. At one time Levinson broke through fast to block and recover a Monmouth punt on the 8-yard line which was followed by a penalty that put the griskin on the 1-yard line. The Teachers broke through and threw one play for a loss and on the next the Lutherans passed over the line and lost the ball. Carlson and Jacobson both intercepted passes and traveled far into the Oregon territory, but the Lutherans could not push over the score. The entire Gladslang squad turned in the best performance of the year.
