Eastvold Takes Post With California Lutheran Group

Dr. S. C. Eastvold, president since 1943 who is retiring July 31, has been elected executive vice president of the California Lutheran Education Foundation. He will take over his new post Sept. 1. The Foundation is the parent organization of California Lutheran College which opened last September.

Dr. Eastvold will have his office in Los Angeles and will do contact and public relations work with churches, community and civic organizations, businesses and individuals.

This past spring Dr. and Mrs. Eastvold have received plaudits and testimonials from many organizations and groups in recognition of their 19 years of service at PLU.

Many Tributes

The board of college education of the American Lutheran Church gave a banquet and presented a plaque. The university's board of regents gave a dinner and presented a certificate. The student body gave a special convocation and presented an oil portrait of the president which now hangs in the foyer of Eastvold Chapel. The faculty and staff gave a banquet and presented them with a color television set.

The Pierce County Board of Commissioners presented a testimonial plaque and the Downtown Tacoma Kiwanis Club held a "Seth Eastvold Day." The Independent Colleges of Washington, which Dr. Eastvold served as president from its inception 10 years ago, gave him recognition. The PLU Association at the North Pacific District of the ALC recognized his leadership. The American Lu-

DR. ROBERT MORTVEDT

Dr. Robert Mortvedt Elected President; Takes Over Aug. 1

Dr. Robert A. L. Mortvedt of Chicago was elected president of the University on March 5 by the board of regents. He will take over his duties August 1 to succeed Dr. S. C. Eastvold who is retiring after 19 years as president.

Dr. Mortvedt, 59, supervises 28 educational institutions as executive director of the boards of Christian

INAUGURATION NOV. 8

Dr. Robert Mortvedt will be formally installed as the seventh president of Pacific Lutheran University at inauguration ceremonies to be held on Thursday, November 8, 10:00 a.m., in Eastvold Chapel.

higher education for both the Augustana Lutheran Church and the United Lutheran Church in America. He took over the Augustana post in June, 1958, and the ULCA position Nov. 1, 1959.

Born in Illinois

The son of a Lutheran pastor, Dr. Mortvedt was born in Newark, Illinois. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he received his master of arts (1930) and doctor of philosophy (1934) degrees from Harvard University. He was awarded the Austin, Thayer and Dexter traveling scholarships while at Harvard and studied for one year in England.

Dr. Mortvedt taught at Wartburg College (Iowa) 1924-25; and was professor of English at St. Olaf from 1926 to 1937. He was professor of English at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., from 1937-1943.

Has Wide Experience

Possessor of wide experience in academic administration, Dr. Mortvedt was Dean of the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Kansas City (1943-47) and vice president (1947-53). In 1952 he was acting president at UKC. From 1953 to 1958 he was president of Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kansas.

He received an honorary doctor of laws from PLU on January 18, 1961, when he was featured on the University Year Lecture Series at PLU. Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois, conferred the same degree on him in June, 1961.

Served on Board

Dr. Mortvedt was a member of the Augustana Theological Seminary (Ill.) board of trustees from 1948 to 1958, and is chairman of the Inter-seminary committee now planning a merged Lutheran Seminary in Chicago.

He is a member of the College English Association and the National Council of Teachers of English.

Dr. Mortvedt is the author of the book, "Let's Talk About Literature," has written many pamphlets and brochures, and has contributed numerous articles to journals and magazines.

He was married to Gladys Twait on June 30, 1926. They have one daughter, Patricia Joan, now Mrs. Jack Arnesen, Elmwood Park, Illinois, and six grandchildren.

Eastvold Tells 233 Grads About Changing World

June 3 marked the end of two eras at Pacific Lutheran University. Degrees were granted to 223 seniors and retiring president Dr. S. C. Eastvold, made his final address to the school.

It was a colorful day as thousands flocked to the campus to hear Dr. Fredrik A. Schiøtz of Minneapolis give the baccalaureate sermon and re-name the university chapel in honor of Dr. Eastvold and to hear the retiring president give the commencement address. Parents and friends came from Hawaii, Alaska, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Idaho, California, Oregon and Washington.

Before a throng of over 3,000 which jammed the gymnasium, President Eastvold reminded the graduates that they live in a world of changes. "No generation has ever lived at a time when the world has been in such a flux as it is today. There are some things that must change or be out of gear with creation. All things must change in time," he said.

Changes Are Good

Then he assured them of God's presence. "It is well for us to remember that God will never lead us where the grace of God cannot sustain us. But let us take comfort in this, that it is good for us to have changes," he added.

"The Lord awakens us at times by giving us new challenges in order that He may bestow new graces. If there were to be no changes, then there would be no progress," he continued.

The speaker voiced the hope that the years of study at PLU for the class had moved them from questioning and doubting to the company of faith, hope and love. "Beware of false prophets," he warned. "This is a fickle age in matters of faith."

Challenges Graduates

The speaker laid down a challenge for the future. "Although we have accomplished much, yet we have by no means reached a supreme summit. With this magnificent country, and the population explosion, and with the leadership that God will give you, PLU has potentials for an even greater usefulness. Indeed, the Church and the State expect this to happen. You must never forget this. Stand loyal and true until the heavens roll up and Christ comes again," he concluded.

Two New Buildings Under Construction

Two buildings, involving an investment of over $1,100,000, are under construction on campus.

Construction began last winter on a residence hall for men which will house 212 students. The three-story structure is due to be completed by the opening of school in September.

The dormitory, being built by Sam Bergesen, Tacoma contractor, is of pre-stressed concrete beams and pillars and is similar in style and type of construction to the administration building. It is located just east of the gymnasium on the corner of S. 124th and Yakima.

Going up across the street, where the golf clubhouse formerly stood, is a dining hall-golf clubhouse building. This two-story combination structure will be ready in November.

First floor of the masonry and wood building will house the pro shop for the golf course, locker rooms for golfers, a coffee shop and storage areas. The second floor will have a kitchen, bakery, scullery and dining hall for 100 persons. Warner Construction Co. of Tacoma is the general contractor.

Schreiber, Livdalen Leave Bequests

Two friends of the university remembered the school with bequests in their wills.

Miss Louise P. Schreiber of Tacoma, who furnished the lounge in West Hall, left approximately $20,000 to PLU.

Ole Livdalen of Hatton, N.D., who gave annually to the university, bequeathed half a section of land (320 acres) located near Spokane.

Both persons died this spring.

Seniors Give Station

A transmitter and antenna for an FM (frequency modulation) radio broadcasting station was the gift of the Class of 1962 to the university. The gift of $6,500 in cash and pledges was given at the annual Senior Day convocation June 1.

LET'S GET OUT OF HERE—A sudden rain shower hit the academic processional of faculty and graduates enroute to commencement exercises in the gymnasium June 3. Umbrellas added color to the pageantry and the pace of the marchers quickened considerably. Warm, sunny weather greeted the group when the exercises were over. Heading the processional were the marshalls, Dr. W. C. Schnackenberg, left and Dr. Olaf M. Jordahl. Next in line are Dr. Philip E. Hauge, dean, and President S. C. Eastvold, followed by Dr. H. L. Foss, chairman of the board of regents, and Dr. Fredrik A. Schiøtz, president of the American Lutheran Church. Right behind the latter pair is the Rev. Norris W. Stoa of Seattle who gave the invocation.

13 New Faculty Members Added For Fall Semester

Thirteen new teachers have been obtained for the fall semester to fill vacancies for persons who have taken other posts or gone on to graduate study and to take new posts made necessary by the increase in enrollment and expansion of the curriculum.

Negotiations are underway with others to take over posts for fall, but their names were not available when this edition of the bulletin went to press.

Thumbnail sketches of the new faculty appointees follow:

Harry S. Adams, associate professor of physics, B.S., M.S., Kansas State College; Ph.D., University of Minnesota; teacher, PLU, 1947-51, Florida State University, 1960-62.

Wayne K. Aller, assistant professor of psychology; B.A., Northwest Nazarene, 1955, M.S., University of Washington, 1960, doctoral candidate, U. of Washington.

Roy E. Carlson, assistant professor of physical education and varsity football and baseball coach, B.A., University of Washington, 1948; M.S., Washington State University, 1962; teacher-coach, Olympia High School, 1948-1959; assistant football coach, WSU, 1959-62; U. S. Navy, 1941-46.

Judd Doughty, instructor in speech and assistant in radio and television, B.A., PLU, 1955; candidate for master's degree PLU 1963; teacher, Bethel High School, 1955-60; television coordinator for Pierce County Public Schools, 1959-62.

Earl B. Gerheim, professor of biology, B.S., University of New Mexico, 1941; M.S., New Mexico, 1947; Ph.D., University of North Carolina, 1949; faculty, Wayne University (Mich.) College of Medicine, 1949-50; University of Detroit School of Dentistry, 1950-53; University of Tennessee, 1953-54; biological research, Detroit, 1954-62; U.S. Marine Corps, 1942-46.

Schnackenberg Gets $5,000 Study Grant

Pacific Lutheran University has received a grant of $5,000 from the Medina Foundation to be used by Dr. Walter C. Schnackenberg, professor of history, in a study and research project in Europe.

Dr. Schnackenberg, who has been granted a year of sabbatical leave for the project, will study the Evangelical Academy movement in Germany. He will also study similar programs in Holland, England and Scotland.

He will leave for Europe in August. His wife and family will accompany him.

In addition to the Medina grant, Dr. Schnackenberg has received a scholarship from the Board of College Education of the American Lutheran Church to assist in underwriting his study-research project.

Dr. David Roe, '54, has been appointed to the faculty of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Kelmer N. Roe, chairman of the religion department, and his wife, Mrs. David Roe, nee Janet Olsen, finished PLU in '55.

Graduate Studies Attract Several Faculty Members

Three faculty members will return this fall after a year's leave of absence for study and two have been granted leaves for the coming year. Others are leaving the faculty to continue graduate study or to take positions at other institutions.

Mrs. Eline Morken, director of the school of nursing, has spent a year at the University of Washington. Charles Haydon, assistant professor of speech, studied at the Sorbonne in Paris, and Raymond Klopsch, associate professor of English, worked on his doctorate at the University of Illinois.

Lucille Johnson, associate professor of English, will spend the coming year on sabbatical leave doing doctoral work at the University of Colorado; and Dr. W. C. Schnackenberg, professor of history, will spend the year doing research in Europe.

Robert Olafson, English instructor, has received a $2,000 Martin Luther Scholarship through the Lutheran Education Conference and will spend the next two years at the University of Washington working toward a doctor's degree. Sven Winther, psychology instructor, will work toward his doctorate at the University of Oregon. Frederick E. Schwarz, assistant professor of chemistry, will return to the University of Iowa to complete his doctoral studies. Sue Christensen, nursing instructor, will do graduate work at the U. of Washington.

Dr. William Strunk, biology department chairman and health service director, has accepted a similar post at the California Lutheran College. Dr. Lee Ford, associate professor of biology, has accepted a post at Mississippi State College for Women. Dr. Junet Runbeck, assistant professor of education, will be head of the education department at Bethel College, St. Paul. Carl Spangler, instructor in French and Spanish, will return to his alma mater, Grove City (Penn.) College, to teach.

Chem Dept. Gets $13,070 Grant

The National Science Foundation has given the chemistry department a grant of $13,070 in the NSF's undergraduates instructional scientific equipment program.

Undergraduates in 163 colleges and universities will be offered improved instruction in science and engineering through the NSF matching program for the purchase of modern scientific equipment. A total of $5,009,180 was granted by NSF and the size of the grants was limited to $25,000.

Dr. Charles Anderson, chairman of the PLU chemistry department, said PLU will use the grant to enrich present courses by introducing new experiments and by giving chemistry majors improved opportunities for special study and research in areas outside their regular course work. Equipment for work in analytical and physical chemistry will be emphasized.

Major instruments which PLU will obtain include gas chromatograph, oscilloscope, electrometric titration apparatus, sampling apparatus for the department's infrared spectrophotometer, a colorimetric power supply, hydrogenation apparatus, temperature controlling devices and analytical balances.

Growth Noted

During his 19 years as president and business manager, the university has increased from 114 college students in 1943 to an enrollment of 2,409 in the year 1961-62. Net value of the physical plant has grown from $284,095 to in excess of $10,000,000.

Buildings erected during Dr. Eastvold's tenure include the Tacoma-Pierce Administration Building, Eastvold Chapel, Science Hall, College Union, West Hall, North Hall, South Hall, Classroom Building, Evergreen Court, Ivy Court, and Delta Hall. Harstad Hall has been refurbished at a cost of over $400,000, the Library completed and wings added to the Science Hall and the College Union. Sixteen frame structures were added to the lower campus for housing and shops. Recently new shops were completed. A total of 41 buildings have been added during his regime.

Cecil Vance Takes Post With Cincinnati Order

Cecil O. Vance, assistant to the president in charge of finance and auxiliary enterprises since 1958, has accepted the post of controller for the Cincinnati Province of the Sisters of Mercy of the Union. The organization owns 28 institutions in three states and serves 92 additional institutions.

Vance, whose resignation at PLU is effective August 31, will set up the new office of controller for this corporation. All of the institutions will come under his cognizance in their business affairs.

Summer Conclaves Will Draw 4,000

The annual convention of the North Pacific District of the American Lutheran Church held here June 11-14 ushered in a series of 18 conclaves, workshops and institutes which will attract over 4,000 persons from all over the nation to the campus this summer.

From June 17-24, 500 high school youths were here for the American Legion's Boys' State.

The American Lutheran Church Women, North Pacific District, held its convention June 25-27; and the Washington Elementary Principals' Association held a workshop June 24-29. The national convention of the Lutheran Brotherhood of the ALC is scheduled for August 16-19 and over 1,000 persons are expected.

Luther League Leadership Training Schools scheduled include: ALC, June 25-30, July 30-Aug. 4; Missouri Synod, July 8-13; Pacific Synod, ULCA, Aug. 5-11; Augustana, Aug. 20-25; ALC Youth Directors, Aug. 27-31.

There will be an ALC home mission institute July 23-27, a Sunday School teachers institute, Aug. 13-15, and a Church music institute, Aug. 26-30.

The National Music Association festival will attract 100 students to PLU from August 8 to 11. The Washington State Physical Education workshop is slated for Aug. 20-25, and the Pacific Intercollegiate football officials will meet here Aug. 25-26.

Calvin Knapp, music faculty member, recently was elected president of the Tacoma Chapter, Washington State Music Teachers Association.

- Campus Notes -

Dr. Paul Vigness, associate professor of history, and his wife are spending the summer in Europe and the Middle East. They will spend a month in Turkey visiting with their daughter and family.

Homecoming next fall will be the weekend of November 2, 3 and 4.

William Chapman and John Anderson, German majors, will spend their junior year in Heidelberg, Germany, leaving here in August and returning one year later. William Batterman and Michael MacDonald were in Germany this past year under this "Junior Year at Heidelberg" program which is sponsored jointly by Heidelberg College (Ohio) and the University of Heidelberg.

Dr. Olaf M. Jordahl, physics department chairman, is spending eight weeks this summer at the University of Washington doing research on nuclear magnetic resonance and crystal growing techniques. He received a $1,428 grant from the National Science Foundation for this project.

Karl Gronberg, Seattle senior, will be student body president next year. Other officers include John Martilla, Port Angeles, first vice president; Edward Davis, Salem, Oregon, second vice president; Patty Hagerman, Kellogg, Idaho, secretary; and Donald Isensee, Klamath Falls, Oregon, treasurer.

Mark Lono, Tacoma, will be editor of The Mooring Mast, student newspaper. Saga (yearbook) leaders will be Doyle Jorgensen, Eugene, Oregon, editor, and Gerald Capps, Portland, business manager.

Two professors have received grants for summer study to complete their doctor's theses. Stewart Govig, religion, has a Lutheran Brotherhood scholarship, and John Kucethe, philosophy department chairman, got a Danforth Foundation scholarship.

Two staff members have been elected to offices in the Tacoma-Pierce County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Dr. Vernon A. Utzinger, dean of the college of fine and applied arts, was chosen vice president, and Carl Faulk, bookstore manager, secretary.

Dr. Robert C. Olsen, professor of chemistry, recently attended a seminar in gas chromatography at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Prof. Dwight J. Zulauf, acting dean of the school of business administration, was one of 12 Northwest educators chosen to attend a seminar on public utility economics given in Oregon in June by Pacific Northwest Bell.

Dr. Vernon A. Utzinger, dean of the college of fine and applied arts, has been elected president of the World Affairs Council of Tacoma for the coming year.

Dr. Burton Ostenson, biology professor, was a speaker at the national convention of the American Society of Mammalogists held in Middlebury, Vermont, in June. He spoke on his research in Alaska during 1960-61.

The Children's Theatre production of "Peter Pan" was featured in a four-page spread in the May 6 issue of the Seattle Times rotogravure section. Over 7,000 persons attended the seven performances of the play.

Carol Walters, White Fish, Mont., junior, represented Delta Iota Chi, student nursing student club, at a national convention of student nurses in Detroit, Mich., in May.

Dr. Bo Gronbech, visiting professor from Copenhagen, Denmark, gave a lecture here in May on the contributions of Scandinavian writers to the world community. His was the final lecture on the Sperry and Hutchinson Lectureship which sponsored five public lectures during the school year.

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of the University of Oregon and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in President Eisenhower's cabinet, gave a lecture here last spring on "The Grand Strategy of Peace."

The senior debate team of Richard Helstrom and John Stewart was one of 32 teams throughout the nation which competed in the annual invitational debate tournament held at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., in May.

Miss Margaret Wickstrom, assistant dean of students, attended the convention of the National Women Deans and Counsellors Association recently in Chicago. She is president of the Washington state branch of the association.

CHOIR FOUNDER VISITS—Joseph O. Edwards, center, who founded the Choir of the West in 1927, was a featured guest June 2 on the annual Alumni Day program. Edwards, who now lives in Fresno, Calif., was present for a reunion concert by present and former choir members celebrating the 35th anniversary of the organization. Pictured with Edwards are two members of the reunion committee—Anita Norman Gray, '47, left, and Stella Samuelson Jacobs, '29.

Edwards Returns For Alumni Day

Hundreds of alumni from all over the west flocked to the campus for the annual Alumni Day June 2.

A highlight of the day was the return of Joseph O. Edwards, founder of the Choir of the West and director from 1927-37, for the reunion concert for the choir's 35th anniversary. He and Prof. Gunnar J. Malmio, director since 1937, directed a massed choir of present and former members in a concert given in Eastvold Chapel.

Dr. Glenn Giddings of New York, educational consultant for the General Electric Co., gave the banquet address on "Who Is The College?" The Rev. Lowell E. Knutson, '51, alumni association president, presented a citation of appreciation to President S. C. Eastvold.

Mr. Knutson was re-elected president of the association at the alumni board meeting, and Carl T. Fynboe, '49, principal of Clover Park High School, Tacoma, was elected vice president.

The board decided that the alumni project for 1962-63 shall be a drive for funds to further improve the science facilities at the university. During the past school year alumni gave over $3,000 toward setting up the Ramstad research laboratory in the science hall.

PLU Choir Releases New Hi-Fi Recording

"Chapel Time" is the name of a new long-play Hi-Fi recording just released by the Choir of the West.

Singing under Prof. Gunnar J. Malmio, now in his 25th year as director, the famed choir has produced an outstanding recording of great sacred music.

Side one includes "We Worship Thee," Kalinnikoff; "Over the Hills Maria Went," Eccord; "Who with Grieving Soweth," Schein; "Savior of Sinners," Mendelssohn; "Bethlehem Down," Warlock; and "Exultate Deo," Poulenc.

The second side includes "Ascendit Deus," Gallus; "Let Us Cheer the Weary Traveller," Dett; "Have Ye Not Known," Thompson; "Be Not Afraid," Bach; and "Nunc Dimittis," Lutkin.

Price for the new album is $4.00 including tax. They may be ordered by writing to the Department of Public Relations.

Fifty-six librarians from the Pacific Northwest attended the second annual church library workshop held here June 11 and 12.

14 Seniors Will Enter Theological Seminaries

Fourteen members of the senior class will enter Lutheran theological seminaries in the fall.

The six who will go to Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa, include Ivan Larsen, Paul Matthias, Verne Pease, Sidney Shelver, Neil Thompson and Robert Zimmerman.

Going to Luther Seminary, St. Paul, will be Gerald Erickson, Orville Jacobson, Charles Mays and Ronald Thoreson.

Daniel Erlander and Andy Jacobson will enter Augustana Seminary, Rock Island, Ill., and Walter Aalto and Roy Tahtinen will go to Chicago Seminary.

Two Recent Grads Join Peace Corps

Two PLU graduates have been accepted for duty in the Peace Corps.

Leilani Marsh, who was graduated in June with a bachelor of arts in education degree, reported in Puerto Rico last month for a summer of intensive training after which she will be going to Sierra Leone in West Africa as a high school teacher.

James E. Kuball, '61, sociology major, flew to the Republic of the Philippines in June where he is serving as an educational aide in rural primary schools in the Visayan Islands. Kuball, who was a social worker in San Diego the past year, took a training program at Pennsylvania State University in preparation for his Peace Corps duty.

18 Lettermen Return For '62 Football Team

The Knights' new football coach, Roy Carlson, will have a nucleus of 18 lettermen around which to build his 1962 team. The schedule follows: Sept. 22—Pacific U. at Forest Grove, Oregon, 8 p.m.

Sept. 29—Central Washington at Ellensburg, 1:30 p.m.

Oct. 6—Univ. of Puget Sound at Tacoma, 1:30 p.m.

Oct. 13—Eastern Washington at Tacoma, 1:30 p.m.

Oct. 20—Western Washington at Bellingham, 8 p.m.

Oct. 27—Whitworth at Spokane, 1:30 p.m.

Nov. 3—Central Washington at Tacoma, 1:30 p.m. (Homecoming)

Nov. 10—Puget Sound at UPS, 1:30 p.m.

Nov. 17—Lewis & Clark at Tacoma, 1:30 p.m.

FALL ENROLLMENT UP
New students accepted for the fall semester at press time totaled 719, according to J. E. Danielson, admissions counsellor.

TROPHY DONOR AT AWARDS DAY CONVOCATION—Mrs. Louise Randall of Portland, above, has given four trophies to the university to be presented annually to outstanding students in athletics and scholarship. She is holding the Emma Storaasli trophy, given in honor of her mother, to be awarded annually to the outstanding freshman scholar. On the left is John S. Hanson, Tacoma senior, whose name will be placed on the Rev. O. T. Storaasli trophy for the outstanding senior member of the track squad. On the right is Allan Blomquist, Seattle senior, holding the Louise Randall trophy for the outstanding member of the baseball team. Mrs. Randall has also given a trophy which is given annually to the outstanding senior on the track or tennis teams, won this year by senior golfer, Ervin Marlowe.

Scholarships and Awards Granted

Outstanding Pacific Lutheran University students received recognition for academic achievement at the annual Honors Day convocation. President S. C. Eastvold conducted the program and announced and presented the awards.

National Defense Act fellowships went to Gordon Slethaug in English for doctoral studies at the University of Nebraska, and to Morris Kostoff for doctoral study in physics at the University of Texas.

On to Graduate School

Graduate assistantships, fellowships and scholarships were announced for the following: Timothy Firgens, German, Washington State; Carol French, English, Kansas; Carl Helms, mathematics, Washington State; Eugene LeMay, Jr., chemistry, Illinois; Peter Madsen, chemistry, Oregon State; Edward Walters, chemistry, Minnesota; M. Norton Wise, physics, Washington State; Edith Wollin, English, Kansas; Dixie Likkell, anatomy, Washington. Frederick Bindel, English, Michigan State; Roger Hildahl, business, Nevada; Roger Wong, chemistry, Oregon State; Michael Czyhold, medicine, Washington; Gary Gray, law, New York; Dennis Knutson, David Olson, medicine, Washington.

PLU undergraduate assistantships were awarded to Richard Bakken, English; Christy Ulleland, biology; Sherwood Glover, history; John Martilla, business; David Cameron, education; Emily Lou Erickson, music; Carol Walters, nursing.

Given pre-graduate assistantships through the University of Washington were Carole Byberg, English; William Hoyer, biology; Marilyn Lundblad, chemistry.

The Dr. Richard Blandau scholarship for the outstanding junior pre-medical student went to Christy Ulleland, and Gary Vestal received the George Fisher award as the outstanding senior athlete.

Medical School Acceptances

Students accepted for the University of Washington medical school include Michael Czyhold, Chris Halvorson, Dennis Knutson, Paul Kraabel, and David Olson.

Jon Kvinsland and Robert Gross have been admitted to the University of Washington school of dentistry; and Lawrence Gervais to the University of Oregon dental school.

Gerald Larson received the chemistry award for the freshman who has made the greatest progress during the year, and Wickham Loh received the mathematics award as the freshman who made the greatest progress in that area.

Carolyn Moellring received the Phi Beta Drama award, and Dennis Knutson the drama advancement award.

Summer Research Choices

Chosen to be in the PLU summer science research program were LeMay, Miss Lundblad, Jon Malmio and Edward Walters.

Other students who have been accepted for graduate study were announced. These include Ronald Hanna, psychology; Duane Johnson, physics; Lynn Jones, psychology; Carolyn Keck, philosophy, all University of Washington; Isaria Kimambo, history, Northwestern; Robert Moore, history, Western Reserve; Marilyn Paulson, French, California; Reta Rempt, history, Kansas; David Smith, psychology, Maryland; John Tietz, philosophy, Claremont.

Lutheran Brotherhood scholarships were awarded to Eldon Anderson, Christy Ulleland and David Yokers.

Joseph T. Enge Dies From Heart Attack

Joseph T. Enge, 63, member of the maintenance staff for over 12 years, died June 22 in Tacoma from a heart attack suffered June 17. Funeral services were conducted June 25 by President S. C. Eastvold and the Rev. Reuben Redal, pastor of Central Lutheran Church where Enge belonged.

He is survived by his wife, Anna, PLU bookkeeper since 1943; a son, Jerrol of Tacoma; his mother, two sisters, two brothers and four grandchildren.

A talented and dedicated man, Enge served as machinist and mechanic in the university shops. He had just returned from taking a group of students and teachers to the field school at Holden when he was stricken.

an Church, gave the baccalaureate sermon to a throng of 1,300 which packed Eastvold Chapel. Another 300 persons viewed the event by closed circuit television.

Frustrations Coming

The visiting cleric warned the graduates that they would face frustrations in life, assured them that their God, however, would always be at their side, and urged them to be witnesses of their faith in God to their fellow men.

Using the imagery of Christ as "professor" and the disciple as a class which studied under Him for three years before their commencement, Dr. Schiøtz took words of Christ and applied them to the Class of 1962.

Chapel Re-Named

In conducting the impressive chapel re-naming ceremony, Dr. Schiøtz said, "The American Lutheran Church recognizes that in the past two decades we have been experiencing a golden, Athenian age at PLU. I dare say we can make this statement that no presidential term in the future will see such a change in the complex of buildings as under Dr. Eastvold. It is fitting that one of these buildings be named in your honor. Inasmuch as you have had a deep concern for the cause of Christian education, it is proper that the chapel be so designated." He then declared that the Chapel-Music-Speech Building now bear the name, Eastvold Chapel.

Eight New Members Elected to PLU's Board of Regents

Eight new members have been elected to the university's board of regents and they will take office at the annual fall meeting October 10 and 11.

Elected by the Pacific Lutheran University Association June 12 here were Dr. Paul Bondo, Tacoma; Dr. Eric Paulson, Spokane; Richard W. Stratton, Anchorage, Alaska; and the Rev. Eugene V. Stime, Seattle. Re-elected were Mrs. Milton Nesse, Bremerton; and The Rev. Dr. S. C. Siefkes, Seattle. The PLU Association is comprised of pastors and delegates to the North Pacific District convention of the American Lutheran Church. The district, through the association, owns and controls the university.

Harold Nelson, Tacoma, and the Rev. Philip Engstrom, Pullman, were elected by the Columbia Conference of the Augustana Lutheran Church. The Rev. Karl Brevik, of Kalispell, Montana, was chosen to represent the Rocky Mountain District of the A.L.C. H. E. "Bud" Anderson, Tacoma, was elected by the PLU Alumni Association, and T. Olaf Hageness, Tacoma, was re-elected by the alumni.

Physicians Elected

Dr. Bondo, Tacoma physician since 1941, is a graduate of Dana College (Nebraska) and has a bachelor's degree from Jarvis Collegiate Institute, Toronto. He has a doctor of medicine degree from the University of Toronto. From 1942 to 1947 he was on active duty as a doctor in the U. S. Navy.

Dr. Paulson has been a Spokane physician for 15 years. He is a graduate of Augsburg College (Minn.) and of the University of Minnesota Medical School. He is a prominent choral director and vocal soloist.

Dr. Stime has been president of the Lutheran Bible Institute, Seattle, since 1948. He taught at LBI in Minneapolis for five years and served a parish in Prince Albert, Sask. He is a graduate of Augustana College (S.D.) and Luther Seminary, St. Paul. PLU conferred an honorary doctor's degree on him in June, 1961.

Political Leader Chosen

Stratton is an Anchorage oil distributor. He is a representative to the state legislature and is running for state senator.

Nelson, a certified public accountant, is treasurer of the Weyerhaeuser Co. When elected to that post in 1952 he had been with the General Timber Service, St. Paul, for 20 years as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Engstrom does Lutheran student work at Washington State University, and prior to that was a parish pastor in Troy, Idaho. He is a graduate of Augustana College and Seminary (Ill.).

Former Teacher Selected

Mr. Brevik is a graduate of Concordia College (Minn.) and Luther Seminary, and has done graduate work at Syracuse University. He has taught at Concordia and Augsburg colleges, and was an associate pastor at Central Lutheran Church, Minneapolis, for five years prior to coming to Kalispell in 1961.

Anderson, class of '31, was graduated from the University of Washington with a bachelor of laws degree and practiced law in the state before going into business in Tacoma with Washington Hardware Co., and later with Washington Steel Products. Currently he is an executive with George Scofield Co., Tacoma.

Family Man Works Way Through School

DADDY MADE THE GRADE—Five year old Sherrie Lynn Kostoff proudly hands her dad, Morris R. Kostoff, his cap prior to commencement exercises June 3. Sitting on her dad's knee is Terrie Leigh, 2, and behind is wife Effie holding four month old Matthew James. The family dog, Dophne, also got into the act by hopping onto the dovenport just before the photographer snapped the picture.

Where there's a will there's a way. In 1958 Morris R. Kostoff, then an Air Force Lieutenant, talked his future over with his wife and they decided he should get a college education. They had no funds, but he vowed to work himself through school and that if and when he got a degree it would be "ours alone."

On June 3rd this handsome 28-year-old father of three was graduated from PLU with a major in physics, one of the toughest courses in school. And the close-knit family of five was debt free.

Married Texan

In 1953 Kostoff enlisted in the Air Force and subsequently received a commission and became a navigator-instructor for four years at Waco, Texas. During that time he met petite, blond, Effie Whitfield of Vanderbilt, Texas, who became Mrs. Kostoff.

Kostoff's work kindled an interest in mathematics and astronomy and he felt the need for a college education. So off they went to PLU.

He had the GI Bill ($160 a month) to assist him, but this wasn't enough for a family of three. They then had a 1-year-old daughter, Sherrie Lynn. So Kostoff got employment with the Tacoma Post Office making mail pickups in the late afternoons. In the summers he has worked full time. "The postal authorities in Tacoma have been very good about this," he said.

Kept Air Force Ties

He kept his ties with the Air Force by enlisting in the reserve program, and every Saturday he has driven up to Paine Field near Everett for duty with the 97th Troop Carrier Squadron. This has brought added income and has resulted in promotion to the rank of captain.

Kostoff hit his books hard. This paid off in scholarships. He was the Senator Magnuson scholarship winner his second and third year of school and this year he had a Lutheran Brotherhood scholarship.

Two children have been added to the family. Daughter Terrie Leigh came during the sophomore year and five months ago Matthew James was born. The son was born the night before a final physics examination. "I sat in the hospital waiting room that night," he recalls, "trying to study for that test but I was up most of the night and didn't do too well on the exam."

Burned Midnight Oil

Kostoff did his studying at night from 8 o'clock after the children went to bed and stayed up until he was ready for the next day of classes. "It's been a tough grind but it's worth it." His dark eyes flashing, he had words of praise for the wife who has maintained their home, an apartment which the university has for married students. "Effie has been a tremendous help and inspiration," he said proudly. "She made the adjustment from a comfortable income to one of just getting by without complaint."

Back to Texas

But the success story doesn't end here. Kostoff wants to be a college teacher. Recently he applied for graduate scholarships. Next fall the native Washingtonian will be heading to his wife's home state.

The University of Texas has awarded him a National Defense Education Act fellowship for three years of doctoral study in physics. In financial assistance this means $6,600 for Kostoff and $4,800 for the family, for a total of $11,400 over the next three years. "We have to pinch ourselves to see if we're awake," the young couple said in commenting on this award.

Hard work has resulted in a college degree with honors and in the not too distant future this hard working youth will no doubt be on some college campus as Dr. Morris R. Kostoff, professor of physics.

Four PLU Associates Summoned by Death

Four members of the university family died recently.

Gus Nieman, vice chairman of the board of regents and Spokane business man and city councilman, died February 24 after an illness of three months. His three children are PLU graduates.

Robert Wells, Seattle attorney and representative to the regents from the Columbia Conference of the Augustana Lutheran Church, died suddenly of a heart attack on February 23.

Dr. William Rosenblatt, the university physician for many years, died in Rochester, Minn., March 9 at the Mayo Clinic where he had been under treatment. He was a prominent Tacoma doctor and active Lutheran church worker.

Mrs. Lora B. Kreidler, professor emerita since 1943 and former dean of women, died in Tacoma February 24. Mrs. Kreidler, 93, was on the faculty from 1920 to 1943.

Goethe Collection Set Up in Library

A fund to provide Bibles, Testaments and other biblical and religious writings in foreign languages has been established at PLU by C. M. Goethe of Sacramento, Calif.

As the books are purchased they will be placed in the Matthias Goethe Collection in honor of the donor's grandfather. The Rev. Matthias Goethe was a pioneer Lutheran missionary who established some of the first churches in the Sacramento Valley and later served as an advisor to President Porfirio Diaz of Mexico.

The Goethe Collection has been established for the use of foreign students, American students of language and linguistics, and students preparing to be missionaries.

In establishing the collection C. M. Goethe expressed the hope that other persons would become interested so that PLU could eventually have a complete set of Bibles in all the languages of the world.

MAY FESTIVAL COURT—The 29th annual May Festival this spring attracted over 4,000 persons to its two performances featuring folk lore from many lands, music and pageantry. Karen Hegstod, lovely blond senior education major, reigned as queen over the event—and her court was comprised of two princesses from each class. In the first row, from left to right, the group includes Mary Olson, freshman; Shoron Baumeister, sophomore; Queen Karen; Joyce Nelson, sophomore. Second row, Karen Toffle and Sandra Tynes, both seniors; Shirley Johnson and Jeane Tausley, juniors; and Jean Andrews, freshman.
