

Fink, Keith, Schmike, Gilbreath Win Posts

Election of the class officers for the scholastic year of 1952-53 was completed on Tuesday of the past week. Fifteen men and nine women were elected to fill class positions.

Stewart Gilbreath, graduate of Stadium in Tacoma, won the freshman presidency. His cabinet includes Stewart Morton, Berkeley, California, vice president; Kathryn Gulhaugen, North Sacramento, California, secretary; Millard Van Buren, Ritzville, treasurer; Elwood Rieke, Cashmere, Student Council representative; and Jerry Slattum, Salem, Oregon, Inter-Club Council representative.

Chosen to lead the sophomores are Gerry Schmike, Entiat, president; Maurice Fink, Odessa, vice president; Bonita Mulholland, Kennewick, secretary; Philip Wigen, Spokane, treasurer; Robert Curtis, Cashmere, Student Council representative; and Faith Bueltmann, Tacoma, ICC representative.

Alpha Phi Pledges 18 New Members

Starting the year with a "bang," the Iota Beta chapter of Alpha Phi Omega has chosen eighteen new members. These new members have been selected on the basis of their willingness to serve and their cooperation.

They have gone through a period of pledging where they were observed by their "big brothers." The pledge week was completed when PLC's station wagon took on a new coat of arms. So if you've seen fellows with worn out knuckles and sand in their hair you'll know what they've been up to.

After pledge week ended, a formal initiation was held. Those receiving new membership were John Reay, Walter Schwindt, Steve Brandt, Stan Jacobson, Adrian Knutson, Bill Katele, Ray Magnuson, John Jacobson, Roald Feness, Gordon Huesby, Lee Lemke, Don Morteson, Stu Gilbreath, Joe Evans, Jim Johnson, Jack Triplett, Jerry Slattum, and Jerald Farness. Each member received a lapel pin, and as a reward, spent the remainder of the evening at a campfire party in Camp Killworth.

Elected president of the Junior Class was Don Keith of Seattle. The other officers are: vice president, J. P. Carlstrom, Antioch, California; secretary, Kathy Henrichs, Yakima; treasurer, Percy Asper, Woodburn; ICC representative, Margo Tapero, Eatonville; and Student Council representative, Glenn Johnson, Oakland, California.

Senior Class officers, announced last Friday are: Al Fink, Odessa, president; Neal Amend, Trinidad, vice president; Molly Spitznagel, Souix Falls, South Dakota, secretary; Edna McCall, Portland, Oregon, treasurer; Bill Rieke, Cashmere, Student Council representative; and Roger Madsen, Hillsboro, Oregon, ICC representative.

Seventy-nine names appeared on the first ballot of the Freshman Class, all candidates having been duly nominated by classmates. This was the longest ballot in PLC history.

With the exception of the Sophomore Class, who selected an all-Washington slate, each class picked out-of-staters for at least half of its officers. According to Paul Wangsmo, student body president, over 80 per cent of the students participated in this year's elections.

Talent Show Slated By DRG, October 24

As the college clocks click forward to 7:30 next Friday evening, October 24, the Delta Rho Gamma girls will lift the curtain in the Student Union building on their all-school Talent Show.

Based on a TV theme, the show will feature all of the favorite programs. During the program, the Spurs will auction home-made pastries to lucky bidders.

Co-chairmen for the event are Barbara Espedahl and Joy Gilmore.

"Welcome You In '52" Is Theme Of PLC Homecoming Set Nov. 7-9

Belvedere Comes to Campus Tonight, 7:30

"Mr. Belvedere Goes to College," the first grade A movie to come to the PLC campus, will be presented tonight at 7:30. The film is being sponsored by FTA.

According to Nan Aageson, organization president, the film is being presented as an experiment. If enough interest is shown, more movies of equal calibre are promised for PLCites in the future.

Price for the affair, which will be held in the upper SUB, is 35 cents.

Strunk Will Speak at UW Pre-med Con

Pacific Lutheran's growing pre-professional department will receive a tremendous boost next weekend when Dr. William Strunk, professor of biology, gives a key address at the Pacific Northwest preprofessional conference in medicine and dentistry at the University of Washington.

DR. WILLIAM STRUNK

Dr. Strunk has been asked to lead off a 90-minute panel at the Saturday afternoon session. His 25-minute talk will be "Early Selection and Guidance of Pre-Professional Students in Selecting Alternate Careers."

The PLC professor is the only person listed on the all-day program from a non-state institution, with the exception of one from Whitman College who is slated for a 10-minute presentation. Pre-medical and pre-dental students and their advisers from 60 colleges and universities have been invited to the conference. Advance publicity stated:

"We would like to emphasize the fact that the main speakers and members of the discussion panels will consist of experts drawn from the faculties of medical and dental schools and liberal arts colleges of the Pacific Northwest."

Dr. Strunk commented that this recognition of PLC's advancements as a preprofessional training institution should prove to be of great advantage in improving PLC's relations with medical and dental schools in the Northwest. This semester, there are 17 pre-medics and five pre-dents on the campus.

Chairmen for the 1952 Homecoming committees have been announced by Mary Lynn Mykelbust and Vern Newhouse, general co-chairmen of the event. The theme, "The Lutes Welcome You in '52," was also revealed.

Beginning on Nov. 7 with the "Queen's Night," the coronation of the queen followed by a musical program, the festivities get under way. Immediately following the coronation is the traditional Bonfire Rally with an added feature this year—fireworks. There is a coffee hour for the Alums in the SUB. In charge of the coronation and entertainment is Joyce Genz with Mrs. Rhoda Young and Mr. Karl Weiss as faculty advisers. The yell squad, with Naomi Roe as chairman, is planning the pep rally. Paul Running is arranging for the fireworks and the Fresh will fix the bonfire. The coffee hour is being planned by the AWS.

Saturday begins with the traditional "Powder Puff Bowl" game. However, this year the freshmen women are challenging the sophomore, junior, and senior women. During the half-time of the game, Alpha Phi Omega's "Handsome Harry" will be crowned. A parade through downtown Tacoma will follow the game, ending up at Lincoln Bowl where the Homecoming game against Eastern Washington College of Education will begin at 2 p.m.

In the early evening the Alumni Smorgasbord dinner will be served in the SUB. Later that evening the Homecoming play, "Good Housekeeping," is to be presented in the CMS Auditorium.

Hermine Meyer is in charge of the Powder Puff Bowl game. Assisting Molly Spitznagel and Bob Johnson with the details of the parade is Mr. Robert Johnson. All groups wishing to enter a float, are to contact this committee. Half-time entertainment at the game will be provided by Mr. Harley Christopherson and the PLC band. Peggy Holbrook and Carl Fynboe, alumni representative, are making preparations for the Alumni Dinner. Rehearsals for the play are well under way, with the cast being directed by Miss Joan MacGregor and Mr. Theodore O. H. Karl. The drama department is in charge.

Homecoming will be climaxed with the Sunday morning worship at Trinity Lutheran Church. During the afternoon an open-house will be held in all the buildings on campus and a Coffee hour for students and alums will be sponsored by L. D. R. from 2:30 to 4:30 in the SUB.

Also in charge of details for Homecoming are Jud Doughty—P. A. system; Vern Newhouse and the Freshman Class—campus decorations; and Roy Olson, faculty adviser, and Phyllis Grahn—publicity.

Petitions for Homecoming queen must be turned in to either Mary Lynn Mykelbust, Vern Newhouse, or Paul Wangsmo on or before Friday, October 24. The candidate must be a junior or senior and the petition have the signature of 50 students.

Choisters To Picnic Sunday at American

American Lake will be the scene of a picnic this Sunday afternoon for the members of the Choir of the West.

They will be using the cabin maintained by Fort Lewis; and a picnic lunch will be served.

Because of so many new freshmen members, this is to be an opportunity to get acquainted with all members, new and old.

Political Free-For-All, Fall Retreat on LSA Agenda

A busy week is planned for LSA-goers with a political symposium planned for this Saturday night at 6 p.m. in the SUB and preparations being made for the regional LSA retreat at Camp Gormly, October 24-26.

"Campaign Blowout" is the title of the Sunday evening affair. Dr. Walter Schnackenberg, political science professor will act as moderator of a panel discussion and analyze and introduce the speakers.

Purpose of the symposium is to discuss the Republican and Democrat presidential candidates. Working from the Republican platform will be Janet Klipper and David Hestenes and on the opposite side, John Osburn and John Holum. After the discussion, the audience will be permitted to ask questions.

Retreat at Camp Gormly
Camp Gormly, on Chinook Pass near Yakima, will be the location next week of the fall retreat of the Pacific Northwest regional Lutheran Student Association. Central Washington College will serve as host to the three day session.

The retreat will revolve around the theme "Summoned To Serve" with the Rev. Roland Swanson, regional LSA executive, as speaker.

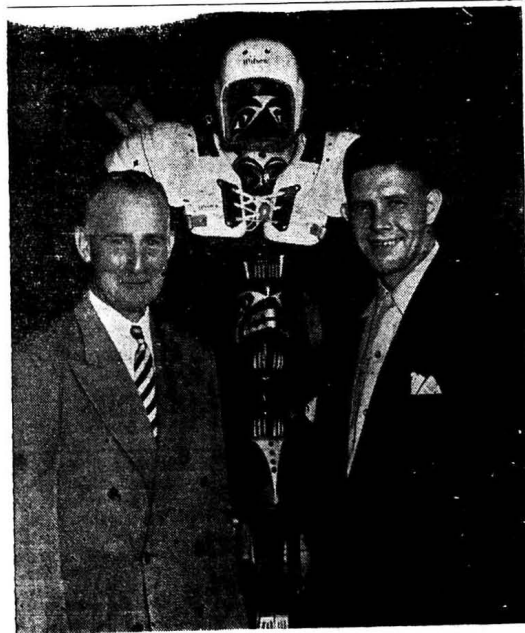

At this Sunday night's meeting, PLC students will elect two delegates to the business sessions. All other and a Bible. They should register, in Old Main before Wednesday.

PLC has three representatives on the regional LSA cabinet. Ronald Buchholz is the vice-president; Helena Littau, secretary; and Miss Anne Knudson, treasurer.

EDITORIAL

Last week the student council had the opportunity of hearing deans Eklund and Wickstrom explain the results of their survey on extra-curricular activities at P.L.C. Though the test was admittedly not preclusive of error, a number of interesting observations can be drawn from the survey. Among these are two very significant revelations—there are NOT too many extra-curricular activities, and participation in them, within reason, does not seem to bring down a grade point.

It is difficult to begin a crusade to interest more students in activities which are not required for graduation. Indeed, it is hard enough for some students to become worked up about their required obligations. The true spirit of a college, however, is reflected in its out of class life. If a school is a thriving, spirited group, that spirit is readily visible in its extra-curricular program.

The "college try" is most clearly seen in its student publications. The college newspaper is the real thermometer of campus activities, and we covet the support of the entire student body. If you feel that you can and would like to work on the paper, come to a staff meeting. The survey shows that you do not have too much of a burden, so put to action your love for alma mammy, lend a hand.

Caught In THE WEB

This week the "Web" will take the role of the answer man. We do this in answer to the thousands of questions and problems that have poured in through the mail. Our answers are strictly unbiased, unprejudiced and unhearsd.

The first letter seems to come from a troubled Frosh. It reads thusly:

Bustles, Girdles Prep For Annual Gal Game

Probably one of the most intriguing highlights of PLC's Homecoming celebrations is what has traditionally become known as the Powder Puff Bowl game.

Turnouts are already being held in preparation for the November 8 tussle to be held in the shrine of feminine athletics, located between the Library and the Science building. This year, for the first time in the nostalgic history of this grand old encounter, the opponents will be the "Galloping Girdles" of the upper-class women and the "Bruising Bustles" of the fresh.

Record books show that in three previous matches, between the Delta Phi Kappa dorm girls and the Delta Rho Gamma day students, victory has each year been captured by the former combine. Since the day girl team was unable to stand up before the terrible onslaught of the DPK quadruple platoon system, a more equitable division has been made this year.

Many will mistake the terrific pounding received by the girls as a continuation of Freshman initiations. This is, theoretically, not so, since both teams receive equal punishment. In the past, little more than bloody noses, cracked sternums, pulled muscles, and incidental eye gouging has bothered the feminine warriors.

A trio of coaches, Bob Nielson, Al Fink, and Ole Magnuson, have been selected to work with letterwomen end and coordinator, Hermina Meyer, in moulding the football form of the veteran blood-thirsty upperclass squad. A secret practice, open only to the press and public, is scheduled for Saturday morning.

Little is known of the Bustle outfit. For her fine performance in three years of high school ball, Jean Coghurn has been chosen to captain the pride and glory of the plebe class. Under the master minding of Don Chesterfield, Jack Johnson, and Chuck Forsland, chalk talks have already been held.

In the weeks to come, your reporter shall endeavor to bring you more explicit information on the developing shape of these two great rivals.

Tacoma Gridders Win Two Games In Intramurals

It's a clash of muscle, a beat of hoofs, and here comes intramural touch football. The six teams which have risen out of the competition are Ivy Hall, Clover Creek, Tacoma, Eastern Parkland, Western Parkland, and Central Parkland.

Results of Monday's games are — Ivy Hall 12, Western Parkland 12; Tacoma 18, Clover Creek 12.

Scoring in the Ivy Hall-Western Parkland game were Glen Johnson, Erv Severson, Jack Hoover and Jim Jaeger. In the Tacoma-Clover Creek game Don Kessler, Larry Eggar, Virgil Weed, Norm Schaible, and Iver Eliason scored.

Wednesday's results find Central Parkland winning 24-12, against Eastern Parkland. Tacoma beat Ivy Hall, 18-0. Those who scored for the first game were Don Krejci, Wally Flax, Ron Hube, and Don Daniels.

Scoring in the second game were Watts, Kessler, and Nelson.

These have been very interesting games, so why not show your interest by keeping track of the games played.

Intramural Touch Football Schedule
Monday, Oct. 20—Clover Creek Hall vs Central Parkland. Ivy Hall vs Eastern Parkland.

Wednesday, Oct. 22 — Western Parkland vs Tacoma. Ivy Hall vs Clover Creek Hall.

Thursday, Oct. 23—Eastern Parkland vs Western Parkland. Central Parkland vs Tacoma.

Lute Rally Foils Bucs

The gladiators of PLC returned from Spokane and last week-end's game with Whitworth on the top side of a 14-7 score. This victory gave them their first Evergreen conference win.

The only score in the first half of the game was a TD carried over by Jim Ball. Whitworth went ahead in the third with a touchdown plus conversion, and held the lead until later in the third when the Gladiators' halfback, Art Swanson, tallied. Both Lute players were made from games by Glen Huffman.

Neither of PLC's attempts at conversion were successful, and their additional two points were made in the fourth period when Bill Borden safetied for the Gladiators.

Coach Harshman had special praise for Frank Karwoski and Art Swanson. Together they accounted for most of PLC's ground yardage.

Harshmen Hope To Tote Totem Pole Home

By DAVE NESVIG

PLC's Gladiators will be wielding their swords in full force against the axes of the CPS Loggers when the intricacy rivals meet on the Lincoln Bowl gridiron tomorrow night at 8 p.m.

This contest, which annually draws a crowd of 6,000 or more, will decide which school will display the coveted Totem Pole trophy this year.

The Parklanders haven't had possession of the traditional trophy, which is awarded each year to the winner of the PLC-CPS conference fracas, since it's inaugural in 1947 when PLC defeated the Loggers 14-7. If the Lutes conquer the North Enders it will also put them in strong contention for the Evergreen Conference title.

In a previous encounter this season, the Loggers edged by PLC, 7-0, on a fourth down TD pass by quarterback Art Viafore. Statistically speaking, the two squads were about even. Since that game, both have played three contests, and have shown great improvement, CPS most notably in its ground attack and PLC in all phases of its game.

The only common opponent of the cross-town rivals was Western Washington. The Harshmen earned a 7-7 tie with the Viks, but the Loggers were beaten, 13-6. In other tilts, CPS tied Willamette, 20-20, and clobbered Eastern, 34-0, while the Glads lost an eyelash decision to Humboldt State, 7-6 and downed Whitworth, 14-7.

PLC mentor Marv Harshman's biggest worry in preparing for the Totem Pole tilt has been how to stop the Logger backfield, which John Heinrich considers the best he has ever had. Last week against Eastern, CPS gained some 300 yards on the ground as the backs went wild. The starting quartet consists of veteran Art Viafore, quarterback, Dale Meskhe and Spike Schrette, CPS newcomers at the halfback slots and co-captain Wally Erwin, fullback. It was Erwin who ruined the Lutes with an 85-yard kickoff run-back last year and Viafore passed them dizzy.

The locals will attempt to stop the Logger offensive machine with a defensive team that has yielded only three touchdowns in the last three games. Linebackers Ron Billings, who is well-known throughout the conference for his exceptional defensive prowess, Dick Larson, Glenn Werner, Don Morris, Gary Gale and Roger Larson will keep a sharp eye for passes.

Keeping the PLC secondary from being heavily trespassed will be such defensive specialists as Dick Griswold, Bill Borden, Arnie Faulk and Roger Larson. Doing double duty playing offense as well as defense are co-captains Ole Magnuson and Chuck Forsland; guards Doug McGrath and Ray Barnes and ends Bob McAdams and Jim Ball.

In the backfield, Harshman hopes that the Lutes can produce that much needed scoring punch that has been absent thus far. Handling the quarterback. At the halfback position he can banking chores will be Glenn Huffman upon Frank Karwoski, Art Swanson two speedy diminutive swivel-hippers, plus Dick Larson and Jack Burrell. Al Fink, who has been bothered by weak ankles for the past two weeks, and Roger Madsen run from the fullback post. Don Chesterfield, ace freshman ball-carrier will raise PLC's hopes considerably if he is able to play tomorrow but on Wednesday was still on the doubtful list.

"Our line is as good as any in the Conference, Harshman asserted, and how well the backs of both teams perform will determine the outcome."

Long Awaited Organ Here; Installation Takes 3 Weeks

Music students and professors have been hovering anxiously around the chapel-music-speech building at Pacific Lutheran college after the word spread across the campus that the great new Casavant pipe organ had finally arrived.

The excitement began a week ago Wednesday when the first truckload of parts backed up to the rear entrance of the building. For two full days, a moving van shuttled between the college and the railway siding east of Parkland, where two freight boxcars had come all the way across the continent from the factory in St. Hyacinth, Quebec.

The expansive PLC stage took on the aspects of a plumbers' warehouse as the draymen carted in hundreds of mysterious crates, many with pipes sticking out. The organ has no less than 3,260 pipes in all.

Students and faculty members, peering about in the stacks of crates for clues as to what the various parts were for, got little satisfaction because many of the labels were in French. However, they learned quickly that the oft-repeated "Nr Tournere Pas" meant "This Side Up."

St. Hyacinth, headquarters of the Casavant company, limited, one of the two leading organ manufacturers in the western hemisphere, is a quaint French-Canadian village in which nearly the entire population is employed in the organ factory. Organs are made with painstaking care by craftsmen whose old-world skills are passed on from generation to generation.

MOORING MAST MEETING

Important Mooring Mast staff meeting in the Mast office in the SUB at 4 p.m. Monday. Any others interested in the paper are invited to attend.

Only 59% Gave To Campus Chest

The drive for Campus Chest ended on Tuesday of this week with a total of $263 contributed by the student body.

Leading the classes in the percentage of students giving with 69 per cent was the freshman class. Second went to the juniors with 56 per cent and third place was shared by the seniors and sophomores with 48 per cent of the classes donating.

This drive, taken over a year, and initiated last year, makes up the campus support to I.S. Action, World Student Federation and the United Good Neighbors.

Percentage-wise and money-wise this year's drive was not as successful as that of last year. A total of over $350 was taken in last year, including the contributions of some 40 faculty members. Sixty-two per cent of the student body gave last year as against 59 per cent this year. Faculty contributions were not included in this year's drive.

Since the instrument is made part by part, the PLC organ has been over a year in the processes of manufacture. It had been expected on the campus this summer, but a serious epidemic at St. Hyacinth shut down the factory for a period.

Now uncrating the many pipes and installing them in two grilled chambers on either side of the auditorium stage are Cleo D'Auray and Russell Morrell of Portland, Casavant representatives in the Northwest. They expect to be virtually camping in the building for the next three weeks completing the installation and making hundreds of adjustments.

The only other Casavant instruments in Washington are two in Seattle that were installed some 20 years ago. PLC's instrument will be very flexible, combining the qualities of a liturgical and a baroque organ.

Martin and Kiwanis Chorus Entertain

Charles Martin, accompanied by Grace Elaine Fink, and the Tacoma Kiwanis Chorus presented a concert last night in the PLC auditorium which was greatly enjoyed by an audience of Tacoma and Parkland citizens.

Mr. Martin sang selections from Schubert, Brahms, Massenet, and Tosti. Selection from Schumann's "Scenes from Childhood" were played by Mrs. Fink. The Kiwanis Male Chorus, directed by Mr. Martin, presented these numbers: "Halls of Ivy" by Russel Knight, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by Bach, "Lullaby" by Brahms, "The Creation" by Willy-Richter, and "Land Sighting" by Grieg.

Charles Martin has gained recognition on concert tours, and as a leading tenor soloist in the PLC Choir on the coast and in the middle west. Grace Elaine Fink was an outstanding and active student in the music department at PLC before her graduation. The Kiwanis Chorus is an ensemble of 21 Tacoma business and professional men whose musical interests have led them to become known and appreciated in this area. Mr. Martin, who has been their director for one year, is much enthused with this growing organization.

The Spurs were ushers at the concert.

Campus In Dither All Week

From the standpoint of publicity of dubious value, this week has been a great one for PLC. All week, the college has been in and out of the state's headlines, not only on the political front but also in sports.

The latest blast occurred just this morning, breaking in the Friday Seattle Post Intelligencer. In an Associated Press dispatch from Vancouver, B. C., PLC was listed as one of three colleges accused by an official at the University of British Columbia of violating the Evergreen Conference codes on athletic scholarships and academic eligibility standards. Western Washington College and Puget Sound were also accused.

Earlier this week, the campus found itself in the crossfire of a bitter attorney-general battle. PLCites were somewhat surprised to find the name, Lou Innerarity, involved in the hullabaloo. Innerarity, a former Mooring Mast editor and top-notch debater, was linked with Don Eastvold in residence misrepresentation charges filed by the incumbent.

Another story of doubtful value was regarding the bus accident which jolted PLC choir members on the Seattle-Tacoma highway Sunday evening. Radio newscasts and newspapers told of the PLC bus careening into oncoming traffic and smashing into two automobiles.

DRG Installs New Officers At Dinner

The DRG held its annual installation of officers at 6 p.m. with a potluck dinner prepared by the freshman girls. Kay Engebretson was in charge of preparing and serving the dinner.

Phyllis Maltzman, the new president, installed Norma McGrath as vice-president; Kay Engebretson as secretary; Barbara Esprahl as treasurer; Ruth Moe as ICC representative; Beverly Green, Lucille Wheeler, Carol Paul and Lucille Lentz as class cabinet members. Each new officer received a lighted candle in acceptance of her office.

Mrs. Peggy Miles was welcomed as the new adviser for the DRG girls. Miss Wickstrom was guest of honor with Mrs. Miles.

Campus capers call for Coke

There's bedlam in the stands when the team is on a march to the goal. Keep things going! Refresh now and then with a frosty bottle of delicious Coca-Cola.
