PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The lamps of civilization have been darkened. The proud houses of western culture are shattered by bullets and bombs which, before they came from munitions plants, took form in the hearts and minds of men. The inevitable fruit of a pagan, fascist education has been degradation and death.

Yet there is hope for the world — hope in Jesus Christ and in his philosophy of life, which has never been tried by the nations. Herein lies the challenge to our colleges — to foster a new approach to world problems in the name of Christ.

With due humility Pacific Lutheran College accepts this challenge, re-dedicating itself at the beginning of its second fifty years to the training of Christian citizens as custodians and promoters of a Christian democracy.

Dr. S. C. Eastvold.

DEAN'S MESSAGE

In the fifty-first year of existence Pacific Lutheran College faces a world at war. The consequent problems confronting us present a challenge which calls for the very best effort we can make towards complete victory and the establishment of peace.

To those connected with PLC let this challenge be answered by a determination to do well our immediate tasks and to practice the freedoms for which we fight, lest the disciplinary and authoritative methods adopted to meet a war emergency undermine our democracy.

Dr. H. G. Ronning.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

To the Class of 1945:

The Board of Trustees takes pride and pleasure in again saluting a class of graduates, and the entire faculty and student body of PLC.

We are building a bigger and finer PLC. Much has been accomplished of late towards improving the physical plant, and the entire administration is proud of the accomplishment. However, this is just a beginning. We shall, by the grace of God, continue to improve and expand the facilities until we have a plant of which we all can be justly proud.

But the building which interests us most of all is the "building not made with hands." It is the "building" that has its foundation in faith in the Living Christ. It is the "building" made up of the young men and women of PLC who place the Kingdom of God first and who go out into life as Christians, determined to live the Christ-life personally and in all their associations.

May you, the Class of 1945, take with you out into life the Christian spirit of PLC. We are counting on you to spread your Alma Mater's name that others may be led to seek at PLC what we sincerely believe you found — Christ Jesus more intimately, and the training for a useful life.

The Board of Trustees,
H. L. Foss, Chairman.

Rev. Milton Nesvig

ALUMNI

Members of the Alumni Association were guests of the college Saturday, October 14, in connection with the five day Golden Jubilee Celebration. This day was designated as "Alumni Day" and took the place of the usual "Home coming."

The day's festivities included Open House in the afternoon, a banquet at 6:00 and a program at 8:00 with Governor Arthur B. Langlie as the speaker.

Major Philip E. Hauge, college Dean home on furlough from the Mediterranean area after 28 months overseas, was the feature of the Alumni Reunion held Sunday, February 11th. He addressed a banquet crowd of approximately three hundred. The Reunion began with a concert by the college choir and orchestra in the afternoon. The banquet followed.

Members of the Alumni Board this past year are Milton Nesvig, '35, president; Linka Deberry, '38, vice-president; Lillian Gullixson, '42, recording secretary; Virginia Jahr Strand, '40, corresponding secretary; Wilfred Jewell, '40, treasurer; Anna Marn Nielsen, faculty representative; Gertrude Tingelstad, '39; Ursula McDonald, '43; Carl Colton, '26; Delmar Mortensen, '32; Irene Dahl Hageness, '30, alumni executive secretary.

A. S. B.

PLC began its second half century with an enterprising student body under the leadership of a well-chosen cabinet.

Meeting weekly in the new ASB office to discuss campus activities and problems were Agnes Mykland, president; Betty Christensen, vice-president; Dorothea Olstedal, secretary; Joan Satern, treasurer; Dorothy Rasmussen (first semester) and Dorothy Nieman (second semester), business managers; Nora Kjesbu, Senior class representative; Carolyn Hawley, Junior class representative; Inga Johnson, Sophomore class representative, and Erling Nordeng (first semester) and Grace E. Gulhaugen (second semester), Freshman class representatives.

Traditional activities included the Lyceum Concert Series, Homecoming, formal Christmas Banquet, Saga Carnival, May Day Festival, Campus Day, and All-School Picnic. Among special activities were participation in Golden Jubilee Festivities, rewriting of the ASB Constitution, and selection of a standard class ring and pin design.

Upholding the PLC family spirit and ideals of Christian character the students of today look to the future and an even greater Pacific Lutheran College.

Classes

CHAPEL

When the clock hands move around to 9:50 a.m., comes a welcome break in the school day—it is chapel time. Students pour out of the second period classes to march up the steps of the small brown and white chapel on the edge of the campus, for here it is they find inspiration for the day's work and hear the talks which help them live more Christ-like lives.

Monday chapel periods are especially anticipated because of student or outside speakers. Thursday is weekly Student Day, when devotions are led by the student body president and a business meeting is held. Fridays were traditionally Dr. Pilueger's day.

During the first semester Eunice Torvend was chapel director on Monday, while Geraldine Olson filled that office during the second semester.

SENIOR CLASS

Under the vivacious and capable leadership of Mildred Brodland Martin the Senior Class has had a busy and successful year, taking an active part in all phases of school life. Other officers chosen by the class were: Vice-president, Annabelle Birkestol and Secretary-treasurer, Fern Erickson.

The thoughts of the Senior Class turn, with a mingling of pride and sadness, to those who entered college with them as freshmen but who will not graduate this year because they are in the service of their country.

The outstanding event sponsored by the class during the year was the entertainment, A Tribute To The Fighting Vikings, dedicated to the fifty-seven service men and women who were members of the class of forty-five.

One of the most pleasant memories of the year is of Senior Sneak Day when members of the class enjoyed a boat trip to Victoria, British Columbia.

The class is justly proud of its members who have held places of leadership in the various organizations of the school, who have been active in its musical circles, and who have made outstanding records scholastically.

Because of having attended a school whose aim is to build for character, the graduating seniors face the future, uncertain as it is, with courage, determination, and hope.

JUNIOR CLASS

The year 1944-45 found the Junior Class few in number but strong in spirit. As we finish our third year here we remember the many fellows who started with us in 1942 and realize that it is through their sacrifices that we are able to continue our Christian education.

Leading the class was President Doris Jurgerson with Annie Lien, vice-president, and Marian Butler, secretary-treasurer, as her assistants.

"Speak for yourself, Johnny," were Eunice Torvend's words to Alice Kaaland as they portrayed Priscilla and John in the ludicrous interpretation of Longfellow's "Courtship of Miles Standish" at the Feb Fun Mixer. Nor can we forget the Chapel program presented by the Junior Class.

As we turn to another year, the year 1945-46, we look forward to another exciting episode in our last scene entitled "Seniors."

Butler, Jurgerson, Lien.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Although considerably shrunk in size from its first year at PLC, the Sophomore Class, with only one male and twenty-eight female members, entered the second leg of their journey last fall.

The outstanding event of the fall for the group was the "hard time party" they sponsored in the gymnasium with a large group of students present to help make it a big success. At the "Feb Fun" the class sponsored a skit which was based on the radio program of John Anthony. In March at the Saga Carnival they took over the "horrors" booth, adding the biggest thrill to this gala year-book benefit.

Officers were Ted Reitz, president; Margie Carlson, vice-president; Anna Anderson, secretary; Geraldine Olson, treasurer; and Bob Larson, sergeant-at-arms.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Under the capable leadership of Ivar Pihl, the Freshman class began its first year of college. Early in the year they showed their pep and enthusiasm by sponsoring a "hay ride" which, incidentally, turned out to be a hike to Spanaway instead. Later in the year an abundance of talent was presented at the "Froshies Frolic of '44." "Gizz" Rosin acted as Master of Ceremonies of this event.

The other officers for the first semester were Gerhard Rosin, vice-president; Ingrid Martinson, secretary; Marion Knutsen, treasurer; Roy Larson, sergeant-at-arms; Earl Nordeng, ASB representative.

Because of losses to the Armed Services and Sophomore Class, new officers were elected for the second semester. Ed Berndt took over the gavel; Walt Kunschak became vice-president; Lydia Lentz, secretary; Mary Everson, treasurer; Gordon Gano, sergeant-at-arms; and Grace E. Gulhaugen, ASB representative.

FRESHMEN INITIATION

On that unforgettable midnight of September 19, startled frosh were dumped ruthlessly from their bunks and escorted to a "Court of Calamities" where hairpins and bright remarks were forbidden as those in question heard the fatal pronouncements of their Day of Doom.

At 5:30 in the morning the upper classmen, with the surprisingly humane admonition, "Throw on something warm," forced the frenzied freshies into the fog. Calisthenics in G. I. double-time continued until the outskirts of Parkland had been hemmed by hand, or in this case, by foot.

Dressed in everything from pigtails and peeled onions to laundry bags and lamp shades, the embarrassed frosh stopped busses "in search of an honest man," watered the lawn with teaspoons, and scrubbed steps with toothbrushes.

Upper classmen then directed a fourth floor house-cleaning campaign while weary frosh climbed four flights of stairs with boards and bedsprings.

In spite of moaning muscles, the frosh were drawn to a twilight bonfire. Joining PLC's "one big family," they sang the beloved "Alma Mater" which now belonged to them.

Nora Kjesbu, Marjorie Edghill, Emma Thoren.

WHO'S WHO

Three senior women from our campus have been chosen to have their names and biographies printed in the 1944-45 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. Chosen for this honor are Nora Kjesbu, Marjorie Edghill, and Emma Thoren. All three are seniors and members of Delta Rho Gamma.

Nora Kjesbu has been prominent in DRG and is the present vice-president. She is vice-president of AWS, Senior representative to the ASB Cabinet, and a member of the Viking Club.

Marjorie Edghill is from Tacoma and is a student in the Department of Education.

Emma Thoren has been an active member of the Choir of the West during her years on the campus.

The candidates were recommended by the faculty scholarship and curriculum committee and elected by the faculty. Since a student can be listed but once in this book, last year the faculty voted to select members from the senior class only. Basic qualifications for membership are character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society.

Activities

MUSIC

Lovely music and a great deal of entertainment were provided by smaller vocal and instrumental groups organized from the Choir of the West and the Little Symphony. These musical groups performed at many school activities, over the radio, and at outside functions in Tacoma, Seattle and vicinity.

The men's quartette — Albert Kuhn, first tenor; Russell Murray, second tenor; Robert Larson, first bass; Ivar Pihl, second bass.

The girl's sextette — Ruth Jensen and Vedis Husebo, first sopranos; Jeanette Burzlaff and Sylvia Blomelie, second sopranos; Hjordis Rogen and Anna Anderson, altos.

Girl's trio — Francelle Schoch, first soprano; Agnes Roleder, second soprano; Miriam Hopp, alto.

String quartette — Betty Lou Rieke, first violin; Marion Soltman, second violin; Albert Kuhn, viola; Francelle Schoch, cello.

CHOIR OF THE WEST

Under Professor Gunnar J. Malmin's inspiring leadership, the 1944-45 Choir of the West was able to maintain its high standard of performance in a heavy schedule of appearances.

The first appearance was at the Golden Jubilee Celebration in October. By December 14th the choir was ready for its four day annual tour, which was made in Northern Washington this year. Rev. L. A. B. Nelson, business manager of the choir, kept things running smoothly on the trip as well as at the many other appearances of the choir.

Among their many public performances were those at the Shipyards, Union Station Depot, Fort Lewis, Tacoma Town Hall radio program, Old Folk's Home at Puyallup, and Sunday evening radio broadcasts over station KVI.

Soloists for the Choir this year were Marion Soltman and Lydia Lentz, sopranos; Hjordis Rogen and Anita Norman, altos.

ORCHESTRA AND GLEE CLUB

Our two year old "Little Symphony" has increased its membership over that of last year with the addition of eight more instruments. Director Malmin hopes to add still more to this number.

Among the appearances made by the orchestra this year were performances during the Golden Jubilee Celebration and the Alumni Reunion.

The Girl's Glee Club is a new organization on our Campus. It is open to anyone who enjoys good music and singing.

DEBATE

The debaters of the year 1944-45 were a small but very interested group. The resolution for the season was: "Resolved, that the Federal Government should enact legislation requiring the settlement of all labor disputes by Compulsory Arbitration when voluntary means of settlement have failed, constitutionality conceded."

The main event of the season was the Annual Tournament held at Linfield College, McMinnville, Oregon, in early March. Seattle Pacific College was host to the school debate team a few days later.

Mrs. Carol Johnson coached this year's class which was composed of four members — Virgil Savage, Charlton Bowman, Ruth Johnson, and Elaine Smith.

"WHY THE CHIMES RANG"

"Why the Chimes Rang," a one act play, was presented on December 12 by the drama class. The production was under the supervision of Mrs. Carol Johnson.

The scene for the play was laid in a peasant hut on the edge of a forest near a cathedral town. It is the story of how one little boy's love and self sacrifice won over the riches of the world and caused the heavenly Christmas chimes to ring once more in the old cathedral.

MOORING MAST

This year The Mooring Mast served the dual purpose of being a college newspaper to the present student body and an apparently avidly read news bulletin to the many Lutes in the Service.

Outstanding change in the Mooring Mast this year was the transferring of the printing job from Johnson-Cox Company in Tacoma to the Beard Printing Company on the College campus.

Co-editors Anita Stuen and Alice Brudie shared the blue-pencil job. Theodore Reitz was associate editor. Members of the journalism class served as reporters, under the able direction of Mrs. Ruth Franck, editorial adviser.

Keeping record of the dollars and cents was Business Manager Dorothy Nieman. Her first-hand assistant was Marian Butler.

Others on the business staff included Inga Johnson, business secretary; Corinne Erickson, advertising manager; Cecelia Gardlin, circulation; Annabelle Birkestol, servicemen's circulation; and Grace Birkestol, exchange. Mr. O. J. Stuen was adviser to this staff.

SAGA

Selecting the Golden Jubilee as the theme for this year's Saga, the staff has endeavored to make this annual one to be remembered.

Editor of this year's Saga was Eunice Torvend, who handled the worries and responsibilities of planning the record of the year's activities. Anna Anderson was the assistant editor. Other active assistants were Marion Soltman, faculty pages; Nora Kjesbu, senior editor; Ruth Johnson and Jeanette Burzlaff, art editors; Ruth Bjerkan, write-ups; and Ted Reitz, who was in charge of snap shots.

Seeing that the Saga was held down to its budget was the job of Bob Larson, business manager, with Ruth Jensen as his assistant. Grace Gulhaugen was in charge of advertising and Lois Tollfeldt headed the circulation department.

Faculty advisers were Miss Blomquist, Miss Berg, Dr. Ranson, and Mr. Stuen.

D. P. K.

The D.P.K. is one of the largest organizations on the campus, being made up of all the "dorm" girls of the college.

The "dormites" started their year of activity by giving a "get acquainted" pajama party in the reception room during the first week of school.

In October the D.P.K. gave a party for a group of soldiers from Fort Lewis.

Two banquets were sponsored; an informal one at Thanksgiving, and a formal one in spring.

To bring the Christmas spirit to the "Old Main," the D.P.K. together with the "dorm" men dressed the buildings for the oncoming holiday.

Aiding President Alice Kaaland were Doris Jurgerson, Anna Anderson, Dorothy Nieman, and Agnes Roleder. Council members were Cecelia Gardlin, Carolyn Hawley, Gerry Olson, and Afton Hjelm.

D. R. G.

Delta Rho Gamma got off to a good start this year with their annual installation banquet. President Betty Christenson and vice-president Nora Kjesbu installed the newly elected officers: Janet Hauge, recording secretary; Annie Lien, corresponding secretary; Mildred B. Martin, treasurer; representatives Marjorie Edgehill, senior; Marian Butler, junior; Margie Carlson, sophomore; and Alice Kjesbu, freshman.

In November the club sponsored an all-school ice skating party at Lakewood Ice Arena. Later in the year they were hostesses at a luncheon given in honor of the day boys.

The Annual Christmas party was held amid holiday decorations at which time presents were brought for the day room.

N. Kjesbu, Christenson, Martin, Lien, Hauge.

February 17th was the date for the slumber party which was a preview of the annual house party which climaxed the year's activities.

Mrs. Olai Hageness is the adviser for the group.

Because of the absence of men in the armed forces, the number of dormites (known as Doc's little angels) was the smallest in many years. During the first semester ten men, surrounded by the fairer sex, carried on the traditions of dumping beds and short-sheeting. At the beginning of the second semester, Gerhardt Rosin was invited to join the armed forces. However, the wind blew two new dormites in from California, and one from Tacoma, to raise the number of male students to twelve.

Realizing the lack of men, those who were around were active, and did a lot to make this year's activities as successful as possible. Six of the dorm students were on the small football team and nine were active on the basketball squad.

The day boys did not form an organization, but have been active on the campus participating in football and basketball.

A. W. S.

All of the girls on the campus worked together this year under the leadership of Marion Soltman, president of the A.W.S. As helpers she had Nora Kjesbu, vice-president; Janet Hauge, secretary; Anita Stuen, treasurer; and Miriam Hopp, publicity chairman. Miss Grace Blomquist, faculty adviser, guided the work of the cabinet.

The friendly and cooperative spirit of A.W.S. was evidenced at the beginning of the year in the Big-Little Sister program at which the new girls were welcomed by our first lady, Mrs. Eastvold; our adviser, Miss Blomquist; and all of the upper class girls.

Then the year's work began in earnest as old and new girls alike worked together in planning skating parties, a bowling party, a Christmas party, a Red Cross project, the May Tea, and a Saga Carnival booth.

The girls also promoted a patriotic spirit among the students by selling War Bonds and Stamps.

Perhaps the most trying task of the year was the completion of the A.W.S. constitution, but after much persistent effort the job was finished. This is our contribution to the A.W.S. of the future.

The Viking Club

The Viking Club is an organization of students who have a knowledge of one or more of the Scandinavian languages.

The officers are: President, Jean Lovvold; Vice-president, Carol Elefson; Secretary, Fern Erickson; Treasurer, Margie Carlson. Professor Stuen is adviser.

Activities this year included a Christmas party, a Scandinavian booth at the Saga Carnival and a picnic in the spring.

Ice Skating Club

The Silver Blades Ice Skating Club is composed of girls interested in the sport of ice skating. The organization sponsored one party early in December, and it was a huge success.

Mrs. Rhoda Young acted as adviser. After the resignation of Betty Christenson as president, Ruth Jensen took over the duties of that office. Working with her were Annie Lien, Vice President; Sylvia Blomelie, Secretary; Shirley Morgan, Treasurer.

L. S. A.

Every Lutheran student on the campus is a member of the Lutheran Student Association. The activities of this association are controlled by a coordinating council composed of two representatives from each of the following organizations: LDR, Mission Society, Fireside, and Campus Devotions. These students together with their adviser, Miss Nielsen, meet twice a month.

The LSA sponsored their traditional Hallowe'en Party, "302 Day," at Lutherland again this year.

In February the Pacific Northwest area conference was held here on the campus, at which time students from Ellensburg and the University of Washington were represented.

Officers of the Council were: Joan Satern, president; Nellie Risa, vice-president; and Telma Metzger, secretary-treasurer.

L. D. R.

The Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation have enjoyed the meetings of fellowship held monthly in faculty homes. At Christmas the girls sent gifts to the Parkland Children's Home in Everett, and in the spring they sponsored a Mother's Tea.

The officers were: Eunice Torvend, president; Rumohr Gulhaugen, vice-president; Leta Metzger, secretary; Ruth Jensen, treasurer; Vedis Huseboe, historian; LSA representatives, Dorothy Rasmussen, Joan Satern, and Lorraine Purvis. Mrs. J. P. Pflueger was the adviser.

CAMPUS DEVOTIONS

"To help mould the spiritual lives of P.L.C. students." This is our purpose in Campus Devotions.

Officers for the semester were: Geraldine Olson, president; Inga Johnson, vice-president; Arleen Cordes, secretary-treasurer; Jo Lynne, Nellie Risa, L.S.A. representatives.

Second semester officers were: Ruth Bjerkan, president; Telma Metzger, vice-president; Corinne Erickson, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. J. Enge was the adviser.

MISSION SOCIETY

The officers for the first semester were Ted Reitz, president; Nellie Risa, vice-president; and Etta Clausen, secretary-treasurer. During the second semester the new officers were Etta Clausen, president; Betty Hoyt, vice-president; and Signy Vik, secretary-treasurer. Betty Lou Rieke was P.T.M. secretary and Dr. Pflueger was the adviser.

Missionaries who addressed the group were Rev. A. Olson, missionary in China for thirty years, and Miss Lenorah Erickson, missionary in both China and the Philippines.

FIRESIDE

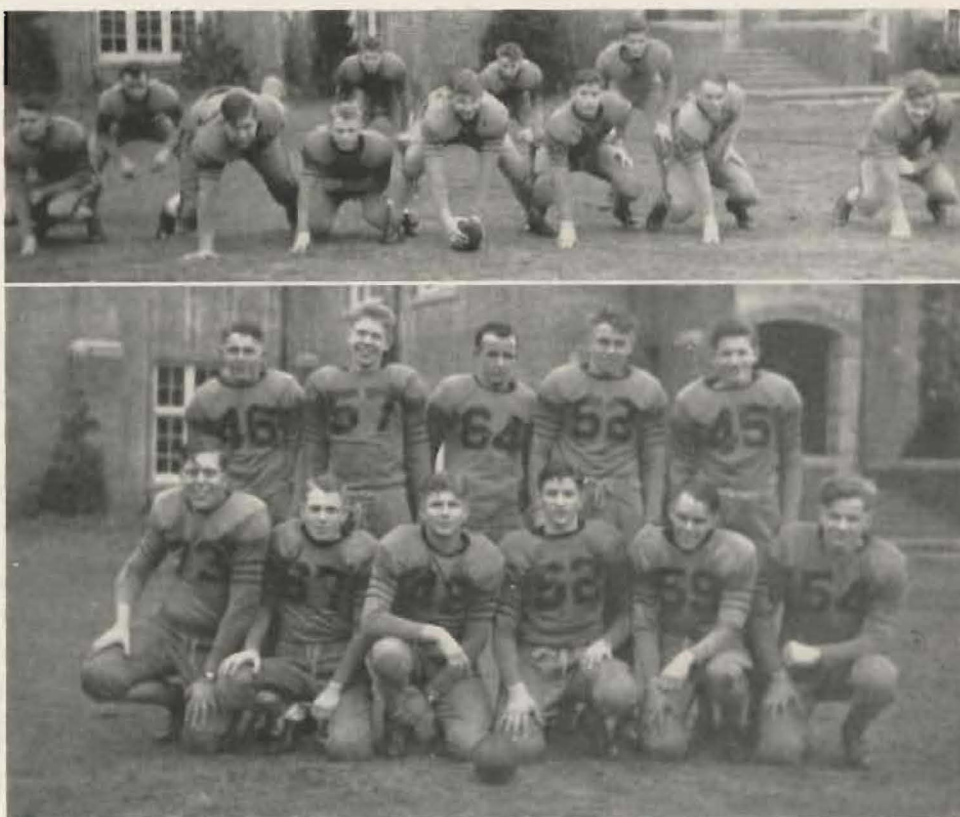

The Fireside Group is an informal organization which meets nearly every Sunday evening for discussion or "singspiration," frequently inviting outside speakers.

Officers for the first semester were: Anna Anderson, president; Gerhard Rosin, vice-president; Norene Skilbred, secretary-treasurer; Gordon Gano, fire-chief.

Second semester officers were: Arleen Cordes, president; Anita Roth, vice-president; Ardys Bredvold, secretary-treasurer; Nancy Fant, fire-chief.

FOOTBALL

PLC did have a football team this year. Although it was far from the type of team, in strength and numbers, that PLC could put on the field in former years, it did well for itself and its school. The squad was made up entirely of freshmen, and at no time numbered more than thirteen members. The players turning out did so for the fun and exercise, not to get any glory for themselves. Due to their lack of material they were forced to seek opponents among the local high schools. The team did play an abbreviated schedule of three games, winning one and losing two.

BASKETBALL

Basketball at PLC this year, though limited by numerous factors, did enjoy what could be termed a successful season.

The squad, composed of all freshmen, was not a true varsity squad.

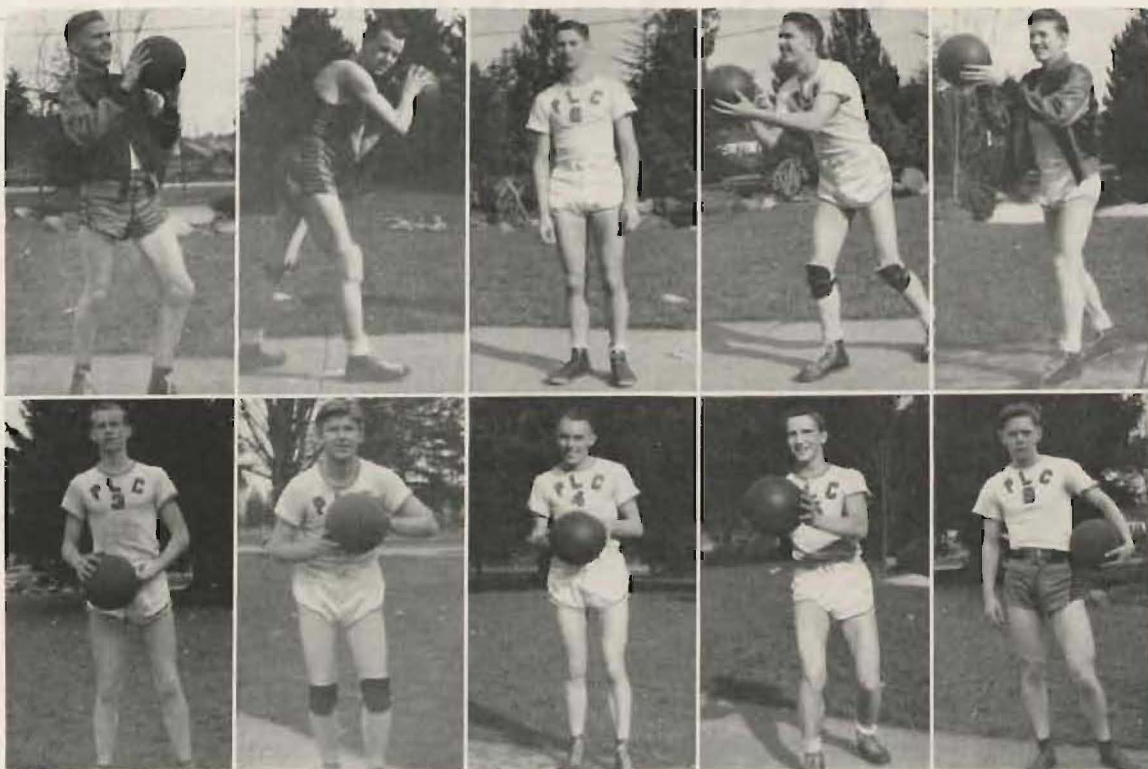

Despite their inexperience, they worked together nicely and won two-thirds of their games. The team remained undefeated until mid-season when service calls took away several of its key players.

The opponents for this reason were drawn largely from independent teams in the vicinity.

Highlights of the season were the two games played with the traditional cross-town rival, CPS. The Lutes lost both of these contests by the closest of margins, but only after a determined struggle had been waged all the way.

The fellows who played did so for the enjoyment they got out of the game. The team's playing helped to keep alive good school spirit on the campus and to show that sportsmanship and a keen competitive spirit still exist at PLC.

This year's team was not a great team, but it was a good team, and one of which PLC can be proud.

W. A. A. CABINET

Heading the active W.A.A. this year were such capable officers as Cecelia Gardlin, president; Alice Kaaland, vice-president; Fern Erickson, secretary; and Margie Carlson, treasurer. Mrs. Rhoda Young acted as adviser.

The remainder of the cabinet was composed of sports managers. Annabelle Birkestol was in charge of volleyball; Lois Tollfeldt, basketball; Jean Lovvold, baseball; Carol Elefson, badminton and tennis; Carolyn Hawley, golf; Jewel DeBaun, roller and ice skating; Helen Peterson, bowling; and Annabelle Birkestol, horse back riding.

To bring out the skill of the prospective big league pitchers and others who just try for fun, the W.A.A. sponsored a baseball throw at the annual Saga Carnival.

A swimming party for the girls of the school was held at Y. W. C. A. Rounding out the season, a picnic style party was held at Spanaway Lake. After hiking the distance of two miles, appetites were high and a typical PLC good time was enjoyed by everyone attending.

LUTE LASSIES

WAA is open to all girls who are interested in sports and are anxious to promote women's athletics at PLC. Their goal is the development of better sportsmanship among the girls as well as a spirit of fun and willingness to work.

Every girl has an equal chance of earning her letter or pin. To receive her letter a girl must earn 550 points. These are made by turning out for the four major sports—volleyball, basketball, baseball, and soccer—which net 100 points each. Minor sports are varied and the girls may choose among ice skating, bowling, badminton, golf, tennis, or hiking, which net 50 points each. In addition to receiving 100 points for being on a major team, a candidate wins 25 points for being on an honor team or on the WAA Cabinet.

In working for their letters the girls enjoy many hours of fun and frolic.

Alpha Psi Omega

The Theta Pi Cast of Alpha Psi Omega is the only national fraternity on our campus. This year the group was not as active as in previous years, not having been organized until the spring, because of the fact that none of the members from last year returned to school to initiate those who were eligible.

However, in May three former students of PLC came back to school and initiated the new members—Anita Norman, Mildred Martin, Marian Butler, Dorothy Nieman, and Eunice Torvend. The group then made plans for presenting several one-act plays to be given in May.

The Printers

Just as students enjoy participating in a variety of campus activities, so also they are always interested in additions to the curriculum which make it possible to obtain a balanced education. The printing course is the latest addition to PLC's educational program.

Students taking this course will study the history of printing and the basic principles of type setting, proof reading, printing presses, printing inks, paper, color, and linotype operation. This course is open to students interested in any phase of the field of printing.
