

31 Lute Students Vie for Ballots In ASB Election Next Tuesday

May Day Fete And Coronation Today

ASB, Saga, And Cheer Leaders To Draw Student Vote

The names of 31 PLC students will appear on the ballot in next Tuesday's annual Associated Student Body election.

Highlight of the day will be the contest for ASB president in which Benson, Stan Elbersen, and Knutson will vie for votes.

A total of 10 other elective positions to be filled. They are ASB vice-president, secretary, and treasurer; Saga editor, associate editor, and business manager; and the four positions of ASB yell leaders.

The names of nine Lutes will appear on the ballot under the heading "cheer leader." They are Beth Alander, Bob Cook, Jens Knudsen, Bob Marvonek, Marilyn Micklebust, Janet Peake, Naomi Roe, Carol Schuler, and Marlene Schwenke. The four drawing the highest vote will lead PLC yells next year.

Three to Run for Saga Editor

The race for Saga editor will feature a contest between Linnea Johnson, Evelyn Mikkalson, and George Torgeson.

Voting will take place from 10:30 a. m. until 3:45 p. m. at three voting booths to be located at strategic places on the campus.

Organizations will be in charge of the balloting at each booth. The organizations are Spurs, sophomore girls; Tassels, senior girls; and Tawassi, men's honorary.

Other contestants and the offices they are to fill are: ABS vice-president, Bob Brass, Rolfe Lunde, Kenneth Moc, and Loren Rude; ASB treasurer, Don Reiman, Luther Steen and Ray Tobiason; ASB secretary, Marjorie Anderson, Maria Ogren and LaWanna Wellsandt; Saga associate editor, Hazel Johnson, JoAnn Nodtvedt and John Unis; and Saga business manager, Karl Bachner and Paul Bentson.

Festivities To Begin At 3 o'Clock In Gym

The crowning of Camilla Loftness, senior from Corte Madera, California, as Queen of the May will highlight PLC's annual May Day pageant this afternoon. The festivities, to be held in Memorial Gymnasium, will begin at 3 o'clock with the playing of the processional by the college band.

The program will come to a climax with the royal coronation of Camilla by Lionel Schmitt, president of the Tacoma Young Men's Business Club. Del Zier, PLC student body president, will read the May Day proclamation. Taking part in the processional, which in previous years has never failed to be impressive, will be 16 ribbon bearers, eight attendants to the queen, two flower girls, a train bearer, and a crown bearer.

Following the coronation there will be musical numbers—vocal and instrumental—and an exhibition of folk dancing.

Co-chairmen for the May Day affair are Kay Lucas and Walt Worley.

First in the processional will be the ribbon bearers (all senior girls). These will be Delores Wallen, Charlotte Mykland, Helen Kylo, Beverly Wiggen, Edna Haglund, Blanche Kilmer, Jean Hesla, Beverly Busch, Jeannette Larson, Peggy Ramberget, Eleanor Nelson, Kay Lucas, Margaret Schram, Beverly Leach, Phyllis Anderson and Evangeline Ordahl.

"Freshmen Dressed In Yellow"

Next will come the freshmen attendants to the queen, Shirley Sagehorn and Lenora Surface, who will be dressed in yellow.

Fay Olsen and Dee Kylo, sophomore attendants, will follow. They will be garbed in green.

The junior attendants, next, will be Marian Benjaminson and Pearl Jacobson who will appear in pink. Following them and dressed in blue will be Beth Gottwald and Shirley Rovang, senior attendants to the queen.

Delta Rho Gamma Takes to Sea To Tolo Cruise on Gallant Lady

By CAROL SCHULER

"Ha! Ha! Look at that bag of potato chips floating in the water!" They, Molter, catch this blanket, and this jacket, and this wallet, and

These are only a couple of the items ejaculated by the DRG girls, their guests, and their chaperones as they climbed down a ladder and then stepped onto the deck of the Gallant Lady.

Before the mighty ship, her crew of 20, and the 25 laughing couples aboard, Arne Helgeson perched himself on a ladder and shot them, as they posed, with his ever present camera. Although they said they couldn't be bothered, the couples gladly sat for a few more pictures—the glory-hounds!

Contrary to what was written in last week's Mooring Mast, the Gallant Lady steamed around Point Defiance and under the Narrows Bridge which is still under construction. Still sailing over Puget Sound, the ship passed Point Fosdick, no relation to Fearless, past Gig Harbor to the little, quiet hamlet (it was until the ship docked there) of Warren, Washington.

By the time we reached Warren, Dorothy Sweet, Grace Keys, Bob Brog, and Glen Werner had rounded up all the food and prepared a delicious meal of hot dogs, pop (we tried to get him to stay home, but Mom made him go), pickles, and potato chips. Out on the beach our attention was turned to the horseback races as Lee Krumm and Dick Johnson galloped to the finish line to win over Norm Wang and Marilyn Patterson, and Jack Johnson and Shirley Sagehorn.

While we sailed around the bay, we were entertained by such personalities as Glen Werner and his ukelele, Mr. Larson who walked the deck with a flashlight, and some amateur choristers.

Back at the Tacoma dock, the tide was in, eliminating the need of the afore-mentioned ladder. Jumping from the deck to the boardwalk, a dangerous feat, we made our way to the closest gas-propelled conveyances on our sea-farin' legs. All in all, the cruise was quite a success even without Spider Keller and Lowell's little chaperone, Bob Knutson.

Soph Class Beach Party Is Called Off

The Sophomore Class beach party originally scheduled for tomorrow night, tentatively will be held Saturday, May 20, when it is hoped that warmer weather will prevail.

Scheduled Mixer Of Junior Class Is Off

The Junior Class mixer scheduled for tonight has been called off. Ray Tobiason and Bob Brass report that the decision was made because of difficulties beyond their control.

NW Librarians To Meet at PLC

Delegates from 15 Northwest colleges and universities will meet at the PLC library tomorrow for the thirteenth annual meeting of the Northwest College Librarians. Thirty-five delegates have announced that they expect to attend the conference which will open here at 10 a. m.

Participating in the program will be Mrs. Carma Zimmerman, Washington State College librarian; and Dr. James W. Brown, supervisor of the Industrial Materials Center at the University of Washington. Also on the program will be Mr. W. L. Perry, librarian at the College of Puget Sound.

Other schools represented will be Everett Junior College, Seattle University, Lewis and Clark College, St. Martin's College, Centralia Junior College, Gonzaga University, Clark College, Linfield College, University of Portland, Pacific University, Western Washington College, Central Washington College, and Seattle Pacific College.

Lunch will be served at one o'clock for the visiting librarians. At three-thirty an informal tea will be served in the Student Union Building.

The purpose of this organization is to standardize library procedures for colleges, and, in an informal way, to meet and exchange ideas about library work. The last three annual meetings have been held at Whitman, Willamette, and Pacific University, respectively.

Chamber of Commerce Commends PLC Men

The Tacoma Junior Chamber of Commerce has expressed its thanks and commendations to Sig Skartland and his committee of PLC people for their aid in the recent American Cancer Society fund drive.

Tag Day, April 22, was the date set for the campaign. Sig and his committee composed of Walt Masters, John Dobos, Warren Peterson, and D. J. Zulauf, canvassed Parkland and part of South Tacoma to ring up a total of $73.49 before the day was completed.

Henry Ollard, Tacoma Jaycee committee chairman, thanked the PLC campaigners for their fine efforts in aiding the fulfillment of the $26,000 Pierce County quota.

Graham Givan Special Award

Donald Graham, senior from Los Angeles, received a special forensics award at Pi Kappa Delta's initiation banquet last night.

This award, the first of its kind to be given at PLC, initiated a new policy of the Department of Speech. Henceforth, the award will be given to any graduating senior who meets the pre-set qualifications.

The presentation of the award was a part of the banquet program. As the plans for the award had been a closely kept secret, Don was pleasantly surprised. The trophy, a beautiful one, resembles a first-place forensics award, although larger. On the front of the trophy the following words are engraved: "DONALD L. GRAHAM, in appreciation of forensic accomplishment for the speech department of Pacific Lutheran College." Don's forensic record is listed on the band at the base of the trophy. It includes thirteen first places, four seconds, and three thirds.

In the future a trophy of this type will be awarded to any graduating senior who has won a total of 10 first places or a minimum of fifty points in inter-collegiate competition, this last to include at least six first places. The points will be counted in the regular tournament fashion—five points for a first, three for a second, and one for a third.

According to Mr. Theodore O. H. Karl, speech department head, the purpose of this trophy is to take the place of all the trophies and honors won for the school by these forensics winners. As a result of this new policy, these people will have something to show for their successful efforts.

Due to the extreme difficulty of amassing 50 points in one college career, it is not expected that very many of these awards will be given. "It would be nice to give at least one each year, however," stated Mr. Karl.

Chapel Gifts Considered By Senior Class

The Senior class received a stiff challenge from President Eastvold in a meeting held in the SUB Thursday afternoon, April 27. Rumors are flying that many seniors are accepting it. This class of 239, the largest to yet graduate from PLC, is considering Wohlhueter Recital Tues.

The Department of Music is sponsoring a vocal recital by Lowell Wohlhueter, baritone, next Tuesday at 8:15 in the Student Union Building. Accompanying him will be Joyce Larson, a sophomore from Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Wohlhueter, who is from Anacortes, Washington, has studied under Mrs. Mabel Metz Dilts for four years. He will sing 13 songs in four groups. Between the first and second groups Gene Ahrendt will play two selections on the violin. Marilyn Hannich will accompany him.

Comprising Mr. Wohlhueter's first group will be "Ave Maria," by Schubert; "Die beiden Grenadiere" by Schumann; "Non i ver," by Mattei; and "Erlkonig," Schubert. The second group will include "Goin' Home," by Dvorak; "Nobody Knows," "Were You There," and "Hard Trials," by Burleigh; and "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," by MacGimsey.

"To Thee, O Heavenly Father," by Schubert and Schumann; "Shepherd Psalm," by Dvorak; "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Knapp; and "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, will comprise the third group.

Jean Hesla, Caryl Roeder, and Evangeline Ordahl will usher.

the tremendous task of buying the steeple and chimes for the proposed new chapel building, and presenting them, in appreciation of the learning received here, as an example to future classes. If realized, this gift will represent an unexcelled sacrifice by those concerned.

Other matters discussed at Friday's meeting were the president's reception to be held in the SUB from 7 to 8 p. m. on Tuesday, May 23, and the coming graduation exercises set for Sunday, May 28. Reverend Konrad Kooshmann, president of the California District A. L. C., will give the baccalaureate address in the morning, after which the graduating class and faculty will march to the gymnasium.

Northwest Luther Leaguers Will Meet In Tacoma

The North Pacific District young people's Luther leagues will meet in Tacoma this week-end. Leaguers will meet at 8 o'clock Friday evening, at Central Lutheran Church, convention headquarters, where Dr. Olaf Storaa, International Luther League president, will give the opening address.

A comprehensive program has been planned for Saturday and Sunday, including Lenora Ingman, parish director at Central Lutheran.

Pastor Kelmer Roe, convention leader and professor of religion at PLC, will lead in a Bible study Sunday morning. This will be followed by discussion groups, led by members. The convention theme for this year is "Behold Christ Crucified." Election of officers will take place at the business meeting.

At 3:30 Saturday the leaguers will take a tour of the campus at PLC, where college LSA members will act as guides. A coffee hour at the PLC Student Union Building will finish the day.

Dr. Storaasli will speak again at the Pocket Testament banquet in the evening following which there will be a musical program by the Phinney Youth Choir.

Following the communion service Sunday morning, Pastor Kelmer will lead in another Bible study. Dr. C. Eastvold, president of Pacific Lutheran College, will speak at the worship service at 11 a. m.

The program will conclude with a Student Union concert at 3 p. m. at the PLC gym.

Graham Places 3rd In State Oratory

Don Graham, PLC senior from Los Angeles, took third place in the state Hearst 1950 Tournament of Orators held Monday on the Seattle Pacific College campus.

First place in the state finals was taken by James Welsh of Everett Junior College. The oration subject was "James Madison."

Outstanding as a speaker in collegiate competitive circles, Graham has won thirteen first place speaking trophies in his collegiate career. He is a holder of a superior rating in extemporaneous speech from the 1949 Pi Kappa Delta national tournament, which was the largest national collegiate tournament ever held in the United States.

Winner in the high school division of the Hearst tourney was John Rydren of Seattle's Franklin high. John intends to enroll in PLC next fall.

Critic Commends Curtain Call Players

By SHIRLEY MOLTER

Three cuttings from famous plays were presented last Friday night in the SUB by PLC's Curtain Call Club. The plays were The Adding Machine by Elmer Rice, Of Mice and Men by John Steinbeck, and Journey's End by R. C. Sherrif.

In The Adding Machine Hyman Fish played the part of Zero, a re-used soul who was about to be sent back to earth again; Don Graham portrayed an angel—a wonderful part for Don.

Of Mice and Men featured Stan Elbersen as Lenny, a young lad a trifle "off his nut." Stan played his part exceedingly well—almost a natural. Bob Ericson was George, Stan's guardian friend. Bob played his role very well, considering how he had to brace himself against Lenny's stupidity.

Morry Hendrickson, the coward, acted the part of Lt. Hebbert in Journey's End and Don Graham appeared on the program again in the role of Capt. Stanhope. Both did a wonderful piece of acting, showing how nerve tension mounts up on the battle front.

All others on the cast and various committees are to be highly commended for their fine work.

Inmates Being Given Lute Sociology Class

The sociology department of PLC is sponsoring a sociology class for the inmates at McNeil Island this semester. Classes are being held each Monday night for three hours and are open to all inmates of the penitentiary who wish to take the course. Del Zier is the instructor for the present semester.

The penitentiary appreciates the fact that the sociology department is offering this course to its inmates and hopes that PLC will send students out to the island (as teachers) in future years to continue the fine work.

Wildcats Nip Lutes In Track Meet at Central

It was a nice day," said about all the Lute track team about the triangular meet held at Central Washington College last Friday. The Wildcats' margin of victory came in the last two events as they took all four places in the 100 and barely nipped the PLC team in a "Hollywood type" race between Central's Hal Dritten and PLC's Andy Ambuchl. The final score read 74 points for PLC, 64 for PLC and 24 points for Martin's, the third entry. The dominant for the Lutherans was big Habegger, who tossed the discus and the shot 45' 8 1/2", to take both events. PLC hit the mark in the discus by taking all three places, with Habegger, Magnusson and Shindele finishing in order.

It was that will be felt in the coming Martin's relays, was the impression maintained by Dale Keller, one of the best pole vaulters. Keller broke his bone last Monday while training and will be out for the rest of the season.

Looking of the St. Martin's relays, all members of our track team journey to Stevens field in Olympia where the meet is held every year in an attempt to qualify for the finals. This year as the relays grow larger

Sport-Rate

Lowell Knutson, the pitcher on the Lute mound this season is Lowell Knutson, a model junior from Seattle. Lowell Knutson is in history and plans to continue in the ministry. The 20 year old Knutson is currently playing his senior season of varsity baseball.

Well lettered in football, basketball and baseball at Queen Anne high school. In football he was selected to the all-city team that played in the all-state team in 1947.

Pacific Lutheran Lowell has earned three letters in football, one in basketball, and will have earned four in baseball at the end of the season. Lowell is president of the class and is prominent in many school activities. He is one of the candidates for student body president in Tuesday's elections.

Wildcats Beat Western

The Western Washington tennis team showed to the Pacific Lutheran team by a score of four matches to one last Friday on the Parkland

The final doubles match between Andrey and Richard Boyd, the number two doubles combination, and Bob Larson and Jack Knutson of the Lutes was the deciding match. The Lute pair took this match with identical scores of 6-3 in both sets. Bob Larson has been lost to the team due to his very serious injury in a recent automobile collision, the details of which appears elsewhere in this issue.

SINGLES:
Gabrielson (PLC) over Don WWC) 6-0, 6-1.
Barden (WWC) over LeRoy (PLC) 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.
Andrey (WWC) over Jack (PLC) 6-0, 6-4.
Larson (PLC) over Richard (WWC) 8-6, 6-2.
Pearson (WWC) over Larry (PLC) 8-6, 6-3.

DOUBLES:
Gabrielson and Spitzer (PLC) over Knutson and Davis (WWC) 7-5, 5-7.
Knutson and Larson (PLC) over Boyd and Boyd (WWC) 6-3, 6-3.

and more teams are invited, it is necessary to run preliminary races to eliminate some of the participants in the dashes and the hurdle events, because there is not enough room to run them all in one race.

Based on pre-season performances it looks like Eastern will be the team that will knock Central, last year's winner, off the throne. Not to be counted out of the struggle is UBC, which is strong in the field events and distance races. However, any team that obtains a few good breaks could nose out the favorites. The relays could be looked upon as a dress rehearsal for the Conference meet. Evergreen coaches get an idea of what their teams will be running against when the big meet of the year comes along.

Bowron In Hospital, Hurt In Accident

Jack Bowron, Lute tennis player, is in St. Joseph's Hospital as the result of a serious automobile accident last Friday in Parkland. Jack suffered four breaks in his pelvic bone, two breaks in his jaw, and severe lacerations.

Bob Larson and Ben Lothian, who were picked up with Bowron as they walked along the highway, escaped with minor injuries. Larson was hurled 40 feet by the impact and was knocked unconscious.

Jack will be in the hospital eight weeks. Those who would like to visit him will find him in room 227.

Hurry, Sign Up For Intramural Tennis

There is still time to sign up for the intramural tennis tournament. Due to bad weather it has been delayed.

All the games are singles and the winner's names are put on the bracket that you will find in the gym.

If you have not yet signed up for this tournament you may do so by contacting Darel Satern. A limited number of positions are still available, so if you have the desire to participate, sign up as soon as possible.

Glads Split Twin Bill

The Lute diamond squad split a drizzly double double-header with the University of British Columbia yesterday on the PLC ball field.

The Glads took the first of the seven inning tilts 11-2 by virtue of the superb four-hit twirling of south-paw Lowell Knutson. The Parklanders blasted the Canucks for 14 hits. Four of them were made by gig Glen Huffman in as many trips to the plate.

The Lutes dropped the wind-up puddler 6-4. PLC's Wes Saxton gave up seven hits, the same number that the Gladiator batters got from the Thunderbirds.

Intramural Ping Pong To Begin Next Week

There will be an intramural ping pong tournament next Thursday and Friday, May 11, and 12 in the main lounge of the SUB.

Men wishing to compete in this tournament please sign the roster placed on the bulletin board in the SUB, Old Main, and Gym. The rosters will be removed during noon hour on Wednesday, and if the contestants are not signed up prior to this time, they will not be eligible to compete. Contestants should sign their own name and give the number or name of the intramural club to which they are assigned.

The tournament will be a single elimination type (one loss and the contestant is out). The single elimination ladder will be displayed on the SUB bulletin board with the draws for the first round on Thursday morning.

The tournament contestants will contact their opponents and play them at a mutually convenient time Thursday or Friday. The opponents will play three games with each other, the man winning two games eliminating the other contestant. The one failing to appear at the mutually agreed time will be eliminated.

Bill Landis was the winner of the ping pong tournament last year, and the intramural ping pong plaque bears his name.

Lute Nine Wins Three, Leads Western Division

The Lutes defeated Western Washington College of Education in both ends of a double header last Friday at Battersby Park in Bellingham to move into first place in the Western division of the Evergreen Conference. The scores were 7-0 and 4-2 in favor of the Lutheran nine.

Lowell Knutson won his second game of the season in the opener. He allowed only four hits during the seven inning contest. Lowell's hitting also played a leading part in the Lutheran victory. In the fifth inning he hit one over the fence in left field only to have the ball hit a post and bounce back inside the fence for a double. Hagenson singled and Knutson scored.

In the sixth inning four hits, a walk, a sacrifice, and an error accounted for five more runs for Pacific Lutheran. Glen Huffman homered in the seventh to score the final run of the ball game.

Pacific Lutheran bunched their four runs in the third inning to defeat the Vikings 4-2 in the second seven inning contest. Hagenson, Huffman, and Reiman scored when Gene Keiber's sharp grounder got by the second baseman and rolled between the outfielders. Both runs off Saxton were unearned.

Lutes Dump CPS 10-9
The Pacific Lutheran Gladiators pulled a game and a half in front in the Western division race by defeating the College of Puget Sound 10-9 at Tiger park Monday afternoon. This victory saw a total of 27 hits and 11 walks given out by the three Lute and three Logger pitchers that went to the mound.

The Loggers took a 2-0 lead in the first inning off Glen Huffman. Singles by Blevins and Klippert, plus two walks accounted for the runs. In the second inning Huffman was in center-field and Marv Kasemeier was on the mound for the Lutes.

Innerarity Is Now Justice of Peace

Lou Innerarity, PLC junior and former editor of the Mooring Mast, has recently been selected to be justice of the peace in the newly created College Precinct of Pierce County.

A pre-law student majoring in speech, Lou was appointed by county commissioners Harry Sprinker, Les Hudson, and Paul Neuman to hold office in the new district comprising the Parkland area.

As justice of the peace, Lou will be empowered to hold court in cases involving misdemeanors (violations of state law punishable by 90 days or less in jail), gross misdemeanors (violations punishable by jail sentences up to a year's duration), and civil cases involving $100 or less.

Specific cases which may come to the court of the new justice of the peace are those of destruction of property, drunken driving, vagrancy, game law violations, and many other minor offenses.

Although Lou doesn't relish the idea, state law also prescribes that the justice of the peace shall marry people who so desire and can meet the requirements of the law.

The justices of the peace throughout the state have the important job of handling the thousands of civil and criminal cases of lesser importance which otherwise would unduly burden the superior and supreme courts of the state.

There are 92 cities of more than a hundred thousand population in the United States.

Curt Holum, Elva Brunt Have Stories In Washington Profile

Stories by Curtis Holum and Elva Brunt were selected for the May issue of the Washington Profile, a creative writing magazine.

Edited by the ten colleges and universities in the state, the Profile selects the best manuscripts submitted by creative writing students on our Washington campuses.

Curtis Holum's short story "From Peron to Dere" which appears in the May issue is his second work meriting publication in this magazine. "A Funeral For Keller" written by Curtis was printed in the January issue of the Profile.

Majoring in literature, Curtis completed his work at PLC last January and is now living in Portland.

Strengthening PLC's representation in the Washington Profile, Elva Brunt's short story "A Valentine for Ami" was also picked by the editorial board and published. Perhaps better known as Mrs. Donald Eastvold, Elva is enrolled as a special student. Before coming to PLC she attended the Universities of Alaska, Minnesota, Washington, and the College of Puget Sound.

Editorship of the Profile is rotated among Washington colleges and universities. The May issue was edited jointly by Washington State and Whitworth colleges.

Copies of the Washington Profile are now available in the college book store.

In 1892, Charles E. and Frank Duryea operated the first American gasoline car on the highways.

Lute Nine Wins 3

the first half of the fourth inning only to have the Loggers garner two more in their half of the inning. This 4-1 lead was the best the Loggers could do, however. Swanson, Reiber, and Huffman got hits in the fifth inning to account for the three runs that tied the score.

Two errors, a balk, and singles by Hatley, Reiman, Reiber, and Huffman brought in four runs in the top half of the sixth inning to put the Lutes ahead by a score of 8-4. A walk and a double in the Logger half of the sixth narrowed the Lutheran lead to three runs.

Lutes Hold 10-5 Lead

Two runs in the seventh inning ended the Lute scoring for the afternoon and gave them a 10-5 lead that at the moment looked like a safe margin.

The Loggers started a rally in the last half of the ninth inning. Garry Hersey and Cam Haslam singled, three men walked, and PLC made an error in the infield to bring home four runs. Lowell Knutson had come in to pitch for the Lutes in the ninth as Kasemeier had weakened. With two men on base Lowell got Earl Birnel to hit to the infield and the game was over.

Blevins Gets 3 For 3

Bud Blevins of CPS led the hitters with three hits in three trips. Team mate Cam Haslam had three for five, while Murphy and Birnel each contributed two hits to the Logger cause. Gene Reiber led the Lutes with four hits. Swanson, Kasemeier, and Huffman garnered two hits each for the Gladiators.

Marv Kasemeier was the winning pitcher and Don Semmern, the Logger starter, was credited with the loss. Keith Predmore pitched two innings and gave up two runs and five hits. One of these hits was a terrific smash through the box by Jack Johnson which caught Predmore on the leg. Snodgrass came in to pitch for Puget Sound in the next inning and held the Lutes scoreless the last two frames.
