

Great Progress In Development Plan Is Brought

Installing of Dr. O. A. Tingelstad Here As President to Have Two Sessions

During the last month, great progress in the Pacific Lutheran Development campaign has been brought about mainly through the efforts of Mr. Victor Elverstrom and Doctor Tingelstad. These two men have traveled extensively in Washington, Oregon, and California for the benefit of this association. Addresses have been made to uniformly sympathetic groups at many places, including conventions at Pasadena, California; Silverton, Oregon; and Tacoma, Seattle, and Everett, Washington. Campaigns for membership to the association have been undertaken at Parkland, Kent, and in Mountain View Congregation near Puyallup, Washington.

The important purpose of this organization is to further the growth of Pacific Lutheran College, and to keep P. L. C. in touch with the people by having as many names as possible on the membership roll of the association.

Pacific Lutheran College can survive, grow, and serve only when it knows that the people of the Lutheran Church are behind it.

The work of the Development Association can be seen as one reads of the following recent improvements at P. L. C.

1. The new chemistry laboratory has been fitted out at a cost of $2,500.
2. The library has been improved and expanded at a cost of $1,000.
3. Dressing rooms and toilet facilities have been provided in the gymnasium.

Dr. Hoff Lends Helping Hand to Future Citizens

A helping hand in the form of lectures is being given every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock by Doctor Hoff, so that the students who are planning to become American citizens may get their citizenship papers. Both short-course and regular students are now preparing to pass the second test in order to take out their papers.

"Glad Players" to Give Four Act Play

"Little Women," a heart play in four acts, written by Marian De Forest and adopted from the story by Louise Alcott will be given by the "Glad Players" in the College gymnasium December 15, at 8 o'clock. The admission will be 50 and 25 cents. The last play, "Pollyann," presented by the same group was met with very great enthusiasm by all who saw it.

The cast of the play is as follows: Mr. March, Lawrence Hauge; Mrs. March, Mrs. Phillip E. Hauge; Meg, Miss Irene Padness; Jo, Mrs. Joseph Edwards; Beth, Miss Lydia Stixrud; Amy, Miss Ruth Padness; Aunt March, Mrs. A. W. Ramstad; Mr. Lawrence, Mr. Seymour Samuelson; Laurie, Mr. Phillip E. Hauge; Professor Fredrich Boer, Mr. Victor Elverstrom; John Brooke, Mr. Joseph Edwards; Hannah Mullet, Mrs. Valborg Bailey.

D. O. R. NEWS

The December meeting of the Daughters of the Reformation will be held on Tuesday, December 4, at 4:30 in the Girls' Reception Room. Mrs. Svare will address the group. Six members of the Pep Club will serve refreshments.

Cups Presented By Class of '25 Create Tradition

Scholarship, Manhood Womanhood, Factors Considered in Making Awards

When a new student enters Pacific Lutheran College, one of the first things he notices is the cabinet in the library containing four large and beautiful silver loving cups. These trophies were presented by the class of 1925 for the purpose of creating and promoting tradition in this school. They were purchased with the proceeds from the class play, "All on Account of Polly."

"Two cups were given to the boys and girls of the college department, and two were given to the boys and girls of the high school department. Each year the name of the boy or girl graduating from one of the departments, either the high school or the college, who has exerted the best influence on his or her classmates, is engraved on one of the loving cups. This serves as stimulus to students, urging them to strive toward the highest goals, not only in-school work but also in-outside activities.

The boys are chosen annually by the faculty, who are to base their decisions on the students' record as to fair play, clean sportsmanship, and to consider not only those qualities and characteristics that have to do with the finest type of work on the athletic field, but also the students' scholastic record, his respect for authority, his interest in the life of the school and his loyalty to traditions and to purpose of Pacific Lutheran College.

The girls who are to receive this distinction are also to be chosen by the faculty, who shall consider any girl of health and vigor eligible for the award, provided she measures up to the required standards of scholarship and womanliness. Scholarship is interpreted to mean earnest, confident, and honest.

P. L. C. IS REPRESENTED AT HIGH SCHOOL PRESS CONFERENCE BY GIRLS

The Annual High School Press Conference held on the University of Washington Campus, November 23 and 24, was attended by Dorothy Lehmann and Irene Dahl as representatives of Pacific Lutheran College. This convention was held in connection with the Annual Conference of Washington High School Girl and Boy leaders.

Schools from all parts of the state were represented by delegates, numbering over four hundred who, during their two days' stay as guests of the organized houses, fraternity and sorority, enjoyed a real taste of university life. In addition to the several lecture sessions, special entertainment was provided, making the convention truly enjoyable as well as profitable.

At the first gathering on Friday morning words of welcome were extended by representatives of the University faculty and students. After this session, all the delegates attended the All-University A. S. U. W. Activity Assembly at Meany Hall, Friday evening.

OUR TEAM

Our football team, this season, has presented a peculiar problem, one of interest chiefly to psychologists, perhaps. Nevertheless it should prove of value to future athletic presentations of Pacific Lutheran College.

We have no alibies to offer for the team's unimpressive record, yet a hasty analysis of the situation reveals several interesting facts. It can be said that in the Lutheran lineup were men who would be a credit to any of the teams which opposed us on the gridiron. Another notable fact is the quality of football the team displayed on various occasions thruout the season. In several of the games the "Gladiators" flashed into the limelight, playing their opponents entirely off their feet, only to fall back again to the listless, spirit-lacking manner of play which was prevalent thruout the season.

Although several reasons might be assigned for such a situation, training and the spirit displayed by the team itself are undoubtedly the chief ones. The basketball season is at hand with all its colors and thrills. Pacific Lutheran College has possibilities of one of the best basketball teams in years. Everyone who is turning out shows a responsibility and should do his utmost to change the situation which handicapped us during football season. Let us cooperate and make our basketball season a success, whether we win or lose.—E. J.

HOW TO GET ALONG WITH YOUR ROOM MATE

By Edna Erb

1. Have all to say about the choice of the room.
2. Always over-rule any objections your room mate might voice.
3. Choose the better bed and the quietest corner for your own.
4. Have your room mate place her things where you want them.
5. Have the furniture placed for your convenience.
6. Never permit your room mate to study when you are in no mood for it.
7. Always continue the conversation on subjects in which your room mate is not interested.
8. Do not fail to borrow your room mate's clean hose, new shoes, or latest dress.
9. Get assured that if the above advice is faithfully followed, you will never have any difficulty in securing and keeping a room mate.

Complete success alienates a man from his fellows, but suffering makes kinmen on us all.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

Sixty-eight volumes have been recently added to the library. Among them are a Garden set of six volumes and an eight-volume set entitled, "How Things Work." Books on fiction have also been added, and the old Webster's Unabridged has been replaced by a new one.

November 23—Last football game of the season was played today. Now for basketball.

November 26—How are you going home? Will there be room for me in your car? Only two days left until Thanksgiving! Yipeye!

November 27—One more day left.

November 28—Today is the day! Hope you have a good time! Don't eat too much! Such exclamations were heard as the students departed homeward.

December 3—Yes, everybody studied hard during vacation and all knew their lessons perfectly today.

December 4—Will someone come forth with statistics telling us how many hours are left until Christmas?

December 5—Do your Christmas shopping early! (original)

Chapel Talk

"Thanks be unto God for his unspcakable gift."

We are thankful for many things but we are especially thankful that we are American citizens. We are thankful that we are connected with Pacific Lutheran College, and we should try to make our college mean more to our teachers and to those who may come in contact with it. We are thankful to be raised in Christian homes. Our parents have made great sacrifices for us, and we should try to live a life which would make them more happy. We are thankful for something even greater—that we are Christians and have the opportunity of hearing God's word. We are thankful for that unspeakable gift, Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who gave himself for us. So let us carry this spirit of thankfulness through the years that are to be ours and not only through the Thanksgiving week.

The worst of all your troubles are
The ones you've never seen;
It's fearing, dreading what may come
That makes your life seem mean.
Now smile and cheer the friends you meet,
Don't search for fancied foes!
Forget your borrowed troubles and
Be rid of half your woes!

Dear Ma and Pa:

Well, here I am back again, like the collector says, and I suppose you are glad to hear from me. Everything is the same at school as when I left it, except that some can look forward to silk stockings for Christmas instead of turkey like they did before Thanksgiving. I think this is a better place for a Real Silk salesman than the common rabble supposes. The chairs here are made for the express purpose of snagging stockings. It spoils my appetite for knowledge when my stockings get snagged like that, as you know how saving I am with your money.

I have started work on a tremendous poem, entitled "The P. L. C. Clock." As you undoubtedly want to see it before it appears in print, I shall write it for you now.

O, the College Clock
That hangs on the wall
Is sort of good looking
But that's about all.

2.
It tells us the time
Which isn't half so,
As it always is either
Too fast or too slow.

3.
It's tuff on the fellows
Which catches the cars
To see his best girl
By the light of the stars.

4.
When he misses the car
It makes him so mad,
If he wasn't so good
He'd almost be bad.

5.
It's tuff on the classes
To get dirty looks
Which makes them feel worse
Than the biggest of crooks.

6.
For they get the blame
For shirking their duty.
O, why can't a yegg
Take this clock as his booty?

The prof has gave me the advice to devote my talents to prose, but there is times when I just have to burst into poetry. I think there is an atmosphere about this one; don't you?

Your talented daughter,
CHEROBA.

Final Game of Year Is Dropped To Lincoln High

Decisive Victory Is Gained by "Abes" in 42-0 Score at Parkland; Aerial Game Used by Both Teams

The curtain of the Gladiators' 1928 grid season was dropped Friday afternoon, November 23, on the home lot, when the Lincoln High School R.I.I. splitters earned a decisive victory over the Lutherans by winning 42 to 0.

Pacific's fighting spirit was good Friday despite the large "Furthermore, they were playing against a heavy odd shortly after the game started. Right after the whistle had blown Lincoln started a march for the Gladiators' goal line which they crossed inside of four minutes. This was soon duplicated by another touchdown in the score 13 to 0. A score like this in the early part of the game may tend to weaken a team mentally, but despite this great handicap, the home boys fought gallantly till the end of the game.

In the second quarter the Abes blocked one of Parkland's punts on their own 40-yard line. A series of line plunges netted them 13 points.

The Ralispitters, with fresh material, came back in the second half as strong as ever. The first score of the second half came when Buck, the Lincoln quarter-back, intercepted a pass and raced for a touchdown. The Abes scored again on another drive a long pass from Mazza to Pederson. Before the final whistle had blown they crossed the Gladiators' goal line for two more touchdowns.

Both teams used an aerial game with Parkland resorting to it more than the Lutherans. Although they gained more yardage, it was not as effective as Lincoln's. Five of the touchdowns that the Presidents scored were made from the air route. Three being tossed across the chalk line. The other two were thrown for small tosses where the receiver dodged his way through the Pacific's secondary defense to score.

The Lutherans fought hard, but they were unable to stop the charging forces of the Lincoln's backs. Several times the Gladiators were able to bring the oval within threatening distance but could not muster the strength to cross their opponent's goal.

The lineups were:

Parkland (6)	Lincoln (42)
Colton	L. Giers
Weise	L. E. Kenny
Floe	L. T. Nace
Jacobson	C. W. Wise
Schoel	R. G. Srsen
Hauge	R. T. Senn
Kreidler	R. E. Pederson
Carlson	G. Buck
Knudsen	L. H. Sorboe
Anderson	R. H. Fawcett
Palo	F. Mazza

Substitutions for Parkland were: Hansen for Weise; Nyman for Jacobson; Lisherness for Floe. For Lincoln: Gleva for Srsen; Oliver for Nace; Stojack for Wise; Cronquist for Kenny; Preston for Stojack; Bamment for Preston; Sather for Giers; Dayton for Pederson; Wise for Ritter; Sorboe for Vasey; Ritter for Wise; Hall for Mazza.

PIECES OF MY MIND

By A. Stude

There is too much hubb and confusion in the post office in the mornings when the students all rush over to get their mail. Think, students! You are representing a large institution, and you want to give it a good reputation. So be orderly and respect your elders. Don't come crowding into the post office, pushing everyone else out of the way as though they had no business there.

HOOP PROSPECTS LOOK PROMISING

With the battered molecules tucked away for a year, A. W. Stamstad finds solace in material for a promising basketball team with which to redeem the defeats of the first act of his athletic calendar for '28-'29.

Just what the Gladiators will do this year is too early to say, but from all indications, the future outlook is bright to say the least. The loss of six lettermen from last year's team may be felt, but the return of five letterman and another letterman of two years ago overbalances the loss to a certain extent. With as bright an outlook as this the Coach has something in which to build a strong working combination.

The inter-class games last year were a great step, inasmuch as it gave the coach a better chance to find the playing material. In this way he has a chance to look over some of the new players, as every one has a chance to show his ability in the different class games.

The College "Frosh" of last year cupped the pennant, but whether they can repeat again this year remains a question, although at present they look as if they are a winning five. The high school seniors, however, are a team not to be ignored in the least. This year's College "Frosh" have some promising material and should be able to make a strong bid for the pennant. The rest of the high school classes may not be as strong, but if arrangements are made to let the three lower classes unite they should make a strong team. With four teams in the running for the school pennant the contests should prove interesting affairs, at any rate it will make a good preliminary to the coming basketball season.

PROFESSORS ARE SOMETIMES GUMAN

By Ben Palo

In a rear seat of the class room sat a freckle-faced boy deeply absorbed in the American Magazine, while in charge of the class was a professor, whose only pleasure in life seemed to be some new specimens of moss or other plant life. Before long the boy's inattention drew the professor's attention. With a hasty glance at the page the boy was reading, he removed the magazine from the student's grasp.

The next morning, much to the boy's surprise, he returned the magazine. "I know you must be anxious to finish that good story by James Oliver Curwood, for my interest in it was the cause of my being late to dinner last night."

Peggy: I don't believe that I deserve zero in this test.
Mr. Ramstad: I'm sorry, Peggy, but there is no lower grade.

Girls-Miss Gym Classes

There have been no girls' gym classes for the last two times. The Tuesday before Thanksgiving vacation the gym was too "filthy" to be in. Last night the classes could not be held because the varnish was not dry. Miss Sturud was ill yesterday and unable to take charge of the class also.

OBSTY CORDS?

Look around you, students, and notice which of the boys are wearing dirty "cords." What do they remind you of? Do you estimate the boys because you think they are cords, or do you simply think they overstep in the mornings, not taking time to find a clean pair of trousers to wear while they have their cords laundered? Boys will be boys, you know, and they have their peculiar traits.

Therefore we think it is up to the girls to see that the boys look respectable and have their cords washed at least once a month. If the girls point the way, the boys will surely follow.

Girl's First Team lineup Is Chosen

That the definite line-up for the first team has been chosen is the announcement of Coach Sturud. The team consists of: forwards, Pauline Larson and Emma Kaaland; guards, Eva Knudsen and Martha Cline; jumping center, Elenore Loftus; and running center, K. Gardin. As yet the substitutes have not been chosen but this will be done early next week.

The game that was to be played off this Friday night has been called off by the Five team.

According to Mr. Ramstad arrangements are now being made for a full schedule for the girls' and boys' teams during the winter. The schools with whom negotiations are taking place are as follows:

Boys' team: Cheney, Centralia, Mt. Angel, Lanfield, Pacific, C. P. S. Revere, Mount Vernon, Bellingham, Bremel, Ellensburg, N. and Spokane.

Girls' team: Mt. Vernon, Centralia, Silverton, R. Lanfield, P. and R.

Letter Received
From Dr. Hoff's
Son In England

The following letter was received by President Tingelstad from Ebbe Staff, son of Doctor Hoff, Ebbe and his brother, Hebbel, who is the Rhodes' Scholar from Washington, are attending Exeter College at Oxford, England.

My dear President Tingelstad:
It is really after one has been away from home and old acquaintances, that one realizes the way one comes to love them. Hebbel and I often sit by our little fireplace and talk over our pleasant visits to Pacific Lutheran. Although we are working hard and taking work while courses, we are already talking about the time when we will be coming back to the West again, and renew our acquaintances at P. L. C.

England seemed very strange to us at first. The houses, the way people talk, even the side cars drive on the street, are all different. We are commencing to feel more familiar with our surroundings now, but we shall never feel entirely at home here.

We have enjoyed the scenery to be found around Oxford, too. As both of us have bicycles, we have been able to make some extensive tours into the country. Perhaps the thing that impresses us the most in England is the extreme antiquity of everything. There are old churches, old schoolhouses, and old houses. One little church we visited was built as early as 1200 A. D., and the old tombstones were so weather-beaten that the inscriptions were worn completely away.

Many of the country scenes I have seen remind me of Scott's "Ivanhoe" times. One wouldn't be the least bit surprised to see an armoured knight or hooded friar come walking down the road, or a band of vagabonds and highway men dash out from behind some of those huge oaks. And there are fields full of hops, feeding on acorns. Just as it was in the days of "Sherwood Forest" and "Robin Hood." It seems that this antiquity and survival of traditions has made an important stamp on the British people. I cannot exactly describe it, but you notice it everywhere you go.

While we are deeply absorbed in our own work, still our interest will always extend to you all at P. L. C. I hope this year will be the most successful Pacific Lutheran has ever had, and that it will be the beginning of even greater strides forward, in performing the important mission of Christian education. It is a task worthy of the finest effort, and most earnest prayers—the carrying out of Christ's great commission.

Give our kindest regards to Mrs. Tingelstad, and to the faculty members we know. Also our sincerest wishes go to the whole student body for a successful and profitable year's study and for a successful athletic season. Nothing would be more pleasant for us than to be able to pay you all a visit.

Very sincerely yours,
EBBE HOFF.

VIOLIN CONCERT TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY

On Friday evening, December 7, at 8:30 P. M. Grover Fylling, hardening violinist, will give a concert at Normanna Hall in Tacoma. The instrument this musician plays as well as being a very valuable one is an unusual kind.

Tickets to this concert may be secured from Mrs. Krellier. The price is fifty cents.

"BOBBY" BURNS
FORESEES P. L. C.
CAMERA RESULTS

"Oh would some power the gift give us
To see ourselves as others see us."

Robert Burns surely summed up the photographic situation when he sat down and dashed off the above little bit of immortal verse.

If certain P. L. C. students could have summoned to their minds this little quotation so full of wisdom, while the bad man with the camera made funny faces to get the naughty children to smile and look pretty, perhaps our picture would bear inspection after all.

Please note the coy expressions, the enticing smiles, showing acres of tonsils and gold fillings, the bashfully hanging heads, the stabbing toes—all denoting that sweetest of all virtues, modesty, always made doubly apparent by that infernal machine, the camera.

The day student room is still a bus of practice teaching details and other problems of vital importance.

Two of the members of this room have made the girl's team for the first basketball game of the season.

Dorothy Eberole is trying to fulfill her duties as a manager for the girls' team and her pecking at the typewriter can often be heard.

Mrs. Mabel Schwerdfeld has quit school to take up her duties as a homemaker.

Debate Question for
This Year Announced

The Phi Kappa Delta, National Forensic Honorary Society debate question for this year will be, "Resolved that a substitute for trial by jury be adopted."

The try-outs for the College Debate squad will be held early in December. John Wise, Forensic Manager, is arranging the schedule which will be published later. The tentative outline schedule includes debates with Bellingham Normal, Spokane College, St. Martin's College, Seattle Pacific College, Centralia Junior College, and the College of Puget Sound.
