

Faculty Presents Annual Reception For Student Body

Many Attend Yearly Affair in College Recreation Rooms; Feature Vocal and Instrumental Music at Entertainment Saturday

In accordance with a custom of many years' standing, the faculty entertained members of the student body at a formal reception in the recreation rooms last Saturday evening. Because Dr. C. A. Tingelstad could not return from the middle west at the time scheduled, the affair was postponed from the previous week end, when it was originally scheduled to be held.

After students passed in the receiving lines, they were entertained at a program presented by members of the faculty and their wives. Women of the group then served the guests at refreshments provided in charming arrangement in the dining hall. Rooms were attractively decorated for the affair in autumn leaves and garden flowers.

Lewis G. Hunter opened the program with "Nimble Fingers," a saxophone solo. Vocal solos, "Ma Little Bateau" and "My Marguerite," were sung by Mrs. C. O. Olson and Mrs. P. E. Hauge, respectively. Mr. Edwards played two Cuban dances as piano numbers, after which the Faculty Ladies' Quartet, Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. A. W. Ramstad and Mrs. J. U. Xavier, sang "Will-o'-the-Wisp" and "Four Leaf Clover." They were accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Edwards. The last musical number was a violin selection, "Spanish Dance" played by Mr. Hunter.

To complete the program, Dr. Tingelstad greeted the students officially on the part of the faculty, telling of the ideals, aims, and meaning of Pacific Lutheran College.

Mrs. Kreller was chairman of the committee from the faculty to plan the affair, and was assisted by Miss Fowler, Mr. Ried and Mr. Ramstad.

Mr. Hong Announces Mooring Mast Staff

After tryouts held on the first two issues of the paper, the Mooring Mast staff for the fall semester is as announced. J. Hong, faculty adviser, and Hans Monsen, editor, made the choices.

Members of the staff were chosen both on journalistic experience and composition ability. Credit will be given for editorial work on the paper, in accordance with the quantity and merit of the work done, according to Mr. Hong.

Those whose work was accepted as creditable and who will continue as members of the editorial staff as reporters are Evelyn Eklund, Virginia Bon, Margaret Craft, Jean-Marie Fowler, William Carlson, and Emory Whitaker. Daniel Fjore will write the editorials. The position of associate editor will be held by Edmond Nelson, while William Jack has been named sports editor, and Evelyn Eklund features editor. Jack Hudson will do the typing.

In the business department, Marvin Hansen, business manager, has chosen Bert Myhre as his assistant. Chas. Mostard has not yet announced who will fill the position of assistant advertising manager. Louise Jackson will help Evelyn Eklund in the circulation department.

Rev. Roy E. Olson Will Speak in Tacoma Tonight

At an invitation of the South Puget Sound Luther League, Rev. Roy E. Olson, Director of the Prison Mission Department of the Norwegian Lutheran Church, and Chaplain of the State Reformatory at St. Cloud, Minn., will speak this evening in the Central Lutheran Church in Tacoma, at eight o'clock. Irene Dahl, president of the host circuit, announces that no admission will be charged for the program, and that all Pacific Lutheran College students are urged to attend.

"Having worked in direct contact with the criminals, Rev. Olson is able to give first-hand information regarding conditions which have placed more than one-half a million young people in America in penal institutions," states Miss Dahl. "Among other things, he will tell that the average age of the Chicago gangster is between 19 and 21 years, and that America leads the world in crime, one to ten times over any other nation."

Trinity Congregation Plans Homecoming

Present and Former Choir Members Will Sing; Flowers to Be Presented in Affair at Church Next Sunday

Rev. T. O. Svare, the college pastor and pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church, announces that the local congregation will hold a homecoming for former members next Sunday, Oct. 15. At the morning service, Rev. Svare will base his sermon "Christ Assures a Final Homecoming" on John 10:28. All former and present members of the Trinity choir will sing "Hark, hark my soul" at the service.

At this service a bouquet will be presented to the oldest couple in the congregation. Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Eggen will be the ones accorded the honor. Also, Rev. Svare announces that each charter member of the congregation will receive a rose.

Directly after the service a picture of those attending the service will be taken on the chapel steps.

Dean Hauge Will Give 2 Educational Addresses

Dean Hauge has been scheduled to speak at two different programs during the succeeding two weeks. Next Monday he will address the Portland Ministerial Association on "Trends and Issues affecting Lutheran Higher Education." This, Dean Hauge states, will be in the nature of a report on his summer's study at the University of Chicago.

"Spiritual values and education" will be Dean Hauge's subject of a talk at the Pierce County Parent-Teachers Association at Ashford on October 19.

Mrs. Preus Entertains L. D. R.

Mrs. Paul Preus entertained girls of the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformatory at her home Tuesday, Oct. 3. The meeting was called to order by the president, Virginia Mahndke, for the purpose of electing new officers. Mary Nash gave a short report on L. D. R. activities. Girls chosen to officiate were: vice-president, Margaret Craft; secretary, Alice Peterson; and treasurer, Jennie Lee.

Name Miss Goff to Instruct Gym Work

Graduate of W. S. C. Will Be in Charge of Girls' Physical Education Classes

Miss Lorna Lee Goff of Tacoma will instruct the girls physical educational classes this semester, according to the announcement of Dean Hauge. Formation of classes for the gymnasium work is taking place this week, and a large enrolment in this department is anticipated.

A graduate of Washington State College in the class of 1931, Miss Goff has had two years of teaching experience in the physical education field. She will take over the work of Miss Fowler, normal supervisor, and Miss Jacobson, who has taken over a new position in Seattle.

Miss Goff announces that class work will consist of general gymnasium work, formal drills and basketball. She will give stress to the work of the Women's Athletic Association, and hopes through former members now in school to interest college and normal freshmen girls in its activities. Inter-class competition in basketball will be engaged in later during the year, she states.

Students Have Mixer To Replace Reception

Because President Tingelstad did not arrive from the East in time for the faculty reception scheduled for Saturday, September 30, a mixer to better acquaint the new and the old students, was held instead in the gymnasium. During the evening, games were played, a program presented, vials given, and refreshments served.

The program included a welcome to the new students by Clarence Lemming, a vocal solo by Ronald Martin, a reading by Margareta Wesson, a vocal solo by Osten Eliason, and trio numbers by Norman Jensen, Bob Monson, and Clarence Monson.

The board of control, assisted by members of the student body, had charge of the affair. Committees included: program—Kathryn Johnson and Bev Shuster; supper—Mary Nash, Alice Peterson and Lila Rudd; entertainment—Jean-Marie Fowler; Evelyn Irwin, Margaret Wesson, Hazel Monson and John Van Leuven; cleanup, Clarence Lemming.

W.E.A. Will Meet in Tacoma Oct. 27, 28; Plan PLC Luncheon

List Dr. Tingelstad Among Notable Speakers; Ellensburg Game Friday in Lincoln Bowl Will Draw Lutheran Alumni

Teachers from all the schools of Pierce County and Olympia will meet Oct. 26 and 27 in Tacoma for the annual meeting of the Washington Education Association. Meetings will be held in the auditoriums of Stadium High and Jason Lee Intermediate schools, and will feature talks by noted leaders in the field of education.

Alumni and friends of Pacific Lutheran College will be interested in the PLC luncheon which will be held in the Colonial Club, 505 Broadway, at noon Friday, Oct. 27. Dean Hauge, chairman of the committee for arrangements, will be toastmaster of the annual event. After the luncheon, many will attend the football game between the Pacific Lutheran College and Ellensburg Normal teams in the Lincoln bowl.

For the W. E. A. sessions, Tacoma schools will be closed for two days, so that all teachers may attend the meetings. Schools in Thurston, Pierce, Mason, and part of Lewis Counties will have representatives at the meetings. The public is invited to a Parent-Teachers Association gathering in the auditorium of the Jason Lee Intermediate school Thursday evening. Delegates will gather Friday evening in the crystal ballroom of the Winthrop Hotel for the regular banquet. Many luncheons are being planned for noon of the same day.

Dr. O. A. Tingelstad will be one of the speakers. Others scheduled include the groups include Governor Martin, Dr. Noah Howard, state superintendent of public education; Mrs. Wilson, field secretary of the state Parent-Teachers Association; Dr. Raymond Schwieger of the University of Kansas; and Worth McClure, superintendent of schools of the city of Seattle.

Mrs. Richardson Speaks

Mrs. A. M. Richardson of Tacoma, now president of the P. Y. G. group of the A. A. U. W. of Seattle, was guest speaker at a buffet luncheon given last Friday by the French Club of Pacific Lutheran College. The affair, the first major event of this year for the group, was held in the home of Mrs. O. A. Tingelstad. Miss Ruth Davis, last year's head of the A. A. U. W. French branch in Tacoma was also a guest at the meeting.

Germana Give Reception

To welcome new members, the German Club held a desert luncheon in the college recreation room yesterday noon. Violin selections by Mr. Schreik, accompanied by Miss Melba Ross, were featured on the program. Other numbers included a welcome talk by Margaret Wesson, and organ playing by German.

Prof. Edwards to Choose Final Choir Membership Today

Director Announces List of 40 Chosen Thus Far; Annual Trip To Include Much of Last Year's Itinerary

After more than a week spent in trying out the new voices, Prof. J. O. Edwards has announced the choir membership as selected this far. The rest of the group will be chosen this afternoon. Director Edwards believes much is in store for the "Choir of the West" this year, since many good voices have been discovered among the freshmen.

Plans for the year are still tentative, but a tour will be conducted in the spring, according to Mr. Edwards. The itinerary will include much of the same ground covered last spring, and will take the choristers into Oregon and either into California or "the inland empire, making the tour much more extensive than the last one.

Membership in the choir, which will total about 50, includes: Sopranos—(new) Ellen Bergstrom, Margaret Craft, Thelma Daniels, Rhoda Hokenstad, Mary Nash, Dillie Quale and Pauline Watts; (old) Ella Johnson, Evelyn Monson, Mildred Monson, Wilma O'Brien, Safric Torresdal and Jane Williams.

Parkland Soon Will Be Colony of 'Shack Unions'

Another shack union has been formed! Across the street from Dahl's Grocery another bachelor apartment has been set up. The Messrs. Brandt, O'Connor, and Archbold, football players by the way, find batching just the thing. They haul fresh fruit and vegetables are plentiful; but they're eating out of cans now. Visitors are welcome; but remember girls, boys will be boys.

Speaking of shacks, reminds us that there are four different groups batching in the various parts of Parkland this year. It's a great life, folks!

Norman Jensen to Head Drama Club

At its first meeting of the year held last week, the Drama Club chose officers to lead its activities during the fall semester. Norman Jensen will be the president. Others in his corps of officers are: vice president, Evelyn Irwin; secretary, Jane Williams; and treasurer, Bert Myhre.

In order that the first Drama night may be presented the end of this month, the president, appointed group leaders as follows: Georgeanna McClure, Evelyn Irwin and Norman Westling. Members of the groups will be posted this week. Leonard Weston will be the property manager for this semester.

A Good Investment

When the NRA recently disclosed a plan of helping needy young persons to acquire an education, the idea met with general approval. The advantages of such a plan were apparent at once. Besides helping boys and girls to become more valuable to themselves and society, the plan would remove thousands of youths from competition for jobs and thus be a direct blow to unemployment. The Child Labor Act was a splendid start towards a new deal for our less fortunate youth; this new plan would be one step farther.

In its frantic effort to restore prosperity our government is pouring billions of dollars into various reconstruction schemes, many of which may prove of little value to the younger generation. But the value of the student-aid plan cannot be questioned. And, as the rising generation will eventually have to take over the huge debts incurred by the government under the NRA, it is no more than fair that part of the money should be spent for its benefit. We hope the proposed plan will soon become an actuality.

A Look Ahead

As this issue goes to press, nearly one-fourth of the semester is gone; yet many of us have not begun to take our studies seriously. We "kid" ourselves into the belief that examinations are a long way off, and that there is plenty of time.

Because most of us are young, we do not understand the value of time, forgetting that by wasting a moment, we throw away part of the very stuff life is made of. Therefore, in our work, in our play, in our prayer we owe it to ourselves, our parents, our school, our Creator to do our best.

These are trying times; the future looks dark. Problems have arisen with which the world's combined intelligence seems unable to cope. Some of the best minds predict a radical change in our civilization or even its fall; others, its rise to new heights. Uncertainty and confusion reign on every hand. Naturally, then, we are tempted to ask: what's the use.

While the world seems on the threshold of a great change, no one can foretell the exact nature of that change. But this we know: Whatever happens, those with the broadest culture will most readily adjust themselves to the change and be best prepared to solve the problems as they arise. Therefore, let us study and work. Let us keep our intellects keen, our hearts sympathetic, and our conscience clear. Then, whatever happens, we are ready.

Public Opinion

Someone else's feelings, someone else's happiness, and even someone else's reputation is often thrown to the winds by those many people who have let themselves become slaves to public opinion. To allow this powerfully evil force to get the better even of the minds and hearts of educated students and professors certainly is not a compliment.

As Christians we have been taught to be forgiving, forgetting, and helpful to our weaker brothers who have fallen by the wayside. God reminds us that we should pluck the beam from our own eye before we search for a mote in the eye of another. His Holy Word tells us that God came not to call the righteous, but the sinners, to repentance.

Let us, then, not think or speak evil of our fellow men until we have taken account of our own shortcomings and feel sure we are allowed to speak. Then, let us as Christian students in an institution founded on God's Word, seek to help the erring ones back to the straight and narrow road of righteousness, rather than to ostracize on account of faults which they are trying, under Christ, to overcome.

Barber (shaving Ronald Martin rather vigorously): "Will you have anything on your face when I'm finished, sir?"
Ronald (the victim): "Well, it doesn't seem very likely."

Neva: "What's your little brother crying for?"
Eula May: "He's not crying for anything; mother just gave it to him."

Mary N: "I fixed Pearl so she'll never cry from me again."
Alice P.: "How so?"
Mary: "She was copying from me in the English test, so I just put down the wrong answers so she flunked it."
Alice: "That's good, but how'd you get them?"
Mary: "Gee, I never thought of that."

Audrey Dale (to mother): "I am afraid I will have to give up some of my gym so I can study more in Latin."
Mother: "Well, it's about time. Any one who finds time to write a four page letter to Jim every day deserves to get an E in Latin."

Mr. Stuen (explaining an algebra problem): "Now watch the board carefully, students, and I will go through it again for you."

Johnny (in midair): "Who would have thought we should meet like this? I'm falling out of my airplane."

HAVE YOU MET?

A boy in the second year normal class who has curly brown hair? He is tall, somewhat heavy, and is very useful around school. His deep voice has been heard quite a good deal of late—at school and elsewhere. Last year it was mostly elsewhere (or, as a member of the debate squad, he let everyone know what he thought of the war debt situation. He is popular, and it isn't only on account of his car. He sports a school sweater from an appointment to which he was recently chosen. On account of this capacity, even faculty members talk when he wants them to.

The busy young lady who always has a smile for everyone? She is of medium stature, has curly hair, and works hard at any task set before her. This young member of the graduating class is interested in Delta Rho Gamma work, and has served in official capacities in that group. She has also held office in the Drama Club, another group in which she is actively interested. Her smiling face is often seen behind the desk in the library, too. Prolifications beckon, also, for she has held editorial positions on the Mooring Mast. Her name is also listed among the swimming club and L.D.R. enthusiasts. "A busy schedule," some would say, but all this popularity has not influenced her, since her name is always found among those students scholastically honored, and once she even took top honor in that, too.

"The shades of night were falling fast. He stepped on it and rushed past, A crash. He died without a sound. They opened up his head and found 'Excelsior!' (with apologies to Longfellow)

Ronald S.: "Yes, so the tailor told me."

Mr. Bardon: "Carroll, parse the sentence 'Bob married Anne'."
Carroll E.: "Bob's a noun because he's the name of something; married's a conjunction because it joins Bob and Anne; and Anne's a verb because she governs the noun."

Gunhild: "I believe that everybody has a former existence."
Ferdinand: "That sounds reasonable. It amuses me to think that I was probably a butterfly or a little bird."
Gunhild: "It amuses me, too."

Eunice A.: "What is the first real sign of spring?"
Helen B.: "Keep off the grass."

If a boy is a lad and the lad has a step-father, does that make the lad a step-ladder?

Janasen (to man injured in wreck): "But you can get damages."
Svinth: "Damages? What I want is repairs."

Florence P.: "Do you know her to speak to?"
V. Byers: "No, only to talk about."

Open Secrets

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH:
That a certain blonde couple are that way about each other;
That everybody indulged in some intensive hard exercise last Saturday night;
That little green bibs are very becoming on little green freshies;
That the better-halves of the faculty are accomplished artists;
That Mr. Bardon selected Deiamarter as his luncheon partner at the reception;
That Len Wesson and Ella Johnson broke bread together at the reception;
That the boys and girls of P. L. C. invariably preserve a nice boundary line at all social functions;
That Saturday's game looked like a track meet;
That this is absolutely the first time Gwen Brownfield and Osten Elason's names have appeared together in print;
That Norm and Mildred will soon hold the local record as the school's steadiest and steepest;
That apples never did grow on lilac trees anyway.

Rhoda H.: "A pedestrian she'd just run over! Here's a ten spot. I'll give you more later."

Lloyd K.: "What's the idea? I do not choose to be run over on the installment plan."

Walter (to Harold Dempster in restaurant): "And how did you find your steak, sir?"
Harold: "Oh, I just moved over that little piece of potato and there it was."

E. Eklund: "I'm!"
Mr. Hong: "You must say 'I am.'"
Eklund: "I am the ninth letter of the alphabet."

Milton N.: "Is the doctor in?"
Thelma D.: "No, he stepped out to lunch."

Milton: "Will he be in after lunch?"
Thelma: "No, that's what he went out after."

Delta Rho Gamma's Give Froshies 'Works' 'Get-Even' Party is to Be Friday Evening

To make announcements concerning the initiation week, the sophomore and graduating class members of Delta Rho Gamma entertained the new day girls at a tea in the college reception rooms last Friday afternoon. Gwen Brownfield (chairman), Jane Williams, Virginia Byers and Esther Hvidding were the committee in charge of the first affair of the year to honor new day girls.

At the tea, Georgianna McClure, chairman of the initiation committee, announced that informal initiations would come Friday, to be climaxed with a "get-even" party that evening. Jane Williams and Hazel Monsen assisted Miss McClure in planning the initiations. Those named by Florence Post, president of the group, to be in charge at the party Friday evening include Virginia Byers (chairman), Alice Nolan, Anna Oness, Agness Langness and Sarita Torresdal. Informal initiations will be held all this week, according to announcements as well as ordinary eyesight. But isn't it really a pleasure to see freshmen girls acting naturally? With pale faces, arms loaded with books and without jewelry, the new girls must use the side entrances and are forbidden to speak to students of the same sex without due regard for their superior Delta Rho Gammas. Penalties for not wearing green bits over middles and skirts as well as for other misdemeanors will be inflicted during the day Friday when the "real stuff" comes, according to members of the initiation committee. That those who are "faithful froshies" will be justly rewarded at the entertainment for new girls that same evening is the confidence offered.

KAMPUS... KOMMENTS

Wasn't the mixer lots of fun? We had a keen time and hope that some time in the not-to-distant future we can have another such gathering.

The "Hoicha Trio," Norm Jensen and Bob and Clarence Monson, stole the honors with their ultra-modern songs. For an instant I looked as though Norm was going to sit on the piano and play the chair; however, his rhythm was well received.

Our very best wishes to Margaret Jacobson. We'll certainly miss your cheerful smile and sunny disposition. Please don't forget us.

When asked if he was going to teach bacteriology this semester, Prof. Highberger rejoined "Oh, don't bacilli!"

Pay no attention to the weird sounds that issue from the boy's dorm each noon! In case you are in doubt, we'll take the pleasure (?) of informing you that P. L. C. has a saxophone quartet. We shall also take the liberty (this is a pleasure) of divulging their names. They are Lewis Hunter, Jack Hudson, Don Reid, and that most versatile of musicians, Norm Jensen.

A group of freshmen girls believe in absorbing sunshine with knowledge. Eulah Mae Goff, Enid Hutson and Elspeth Andree were studying industriously in the front steps after chapel period one morning.

It is rumored that Harold Dagman carries a fly swatter about with him. His reason? Oh, he's just not taking any chances of getting ru over by Marie Johnson's Austin.

We discovered that Norman Westling is a man of action. You should have seen him move when the radiator in 113 erupted Tuesday morning.

Audrey (Blonde) Dale and Don Piper are among the first of the freshman couples to take the time honored stroll to the kicking post.

PREXY'S CORNER

We, his former pupils on the Pacific Lutheran College staff, together with thousands of others, keep in loving remembrance the Christian character and faithful service of Dr. Laur. Larsen, the centenary of whose birth, August 10, 1833, is celebrated at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, this week. First President of our first school for 41 years and for nearly 50 years a member of its staff, he remains for all time "THE GRAND OLD MAN OF LUTHER."

Fire Prevention

The subject of fire prevention calls to mind the negro mammy who came to an insurance office and said, "Does yo' all hab dis yar fire insurance?" "Why, yes, Mammy," replied the salesman. "We sell fire insurance."

"Well, Ise lak to get some for mah husband," she said.

"What you wa t is fire insurance, no fire insurance," said the man, with a tolerant smile.

"No, suh!" replied Mandy. "Ah's gwine git fire insurance. Ma man's been fired t'ree times already dis month, so ah wants fire insurance."

Fire prevention is almost as little understood by many of us as fire insurance was by this old mammy. Fire prevention is the concern of every one of us. This is fully realized by civic and business organizations everywhere.

Hundreds of organizations that are interested in promoting the welfare of their cities and the people in them are engaged in fire prevention activities.

Pacific Lutheran College is a small city to all the students. Why not become your own fire inspectors? Observe Fire Prevention Week by seeing that our school is kept safe for habitation.

There are many things that can be done. See that no articles are placed upon steam pipes. Are your clothes lockers clean and in good repair? Is there any dirt or rubbish under radiators or in any part of the premises? Are the smoking rules observed at all times? Are the required fire extinguishers, hose, and chemicals in good condition? Do your lightning fuses cords come into contact with anything?

These and a million other things can be done. If the students will see to these things, not only will they be safeguarding the school itself, but also their own lives and property. Do your part, and no one can ask "Is your school a fire trap?"

P.L.C. Holds Linfield To 19-6 Score in Ragged Grid Opener

Votaw Makes Spectacular 90-Yard Run for Lone Point of Lutheran Aggression; Gladiator Passing Weakness Revealed

In a ragged but spectacular football contest, Linfield College defeated a fighting Pacific Lutheran College team 19-6, last Saturday at the Lincoln Bowl. Displaying a powerful offense, featured by well executed passes, the visitors had the Lutherans on the defense throughout the game. The Gladiators made several creditable defensive stands in the ten-yard line; but a decided weakness was revealed in the pass defense.

A capacity crowd of about 5,000 fans witnessed the game, which was the first of the season for the Lutherans.

The visitors' first score came early in the first period, after a sustained drive advanced the ball into scoring position. After completing two passes for a total gain of 30 yards, the visitors applied straight football, scoring from the third yard line. Conversion failed.

During the second period, the Lutheran defense tightened. On two occasions Linfield was in scoring position, but an intercepted pass and a stone-wal defense checked their scoring attempts.

Hal. Votaw, diminutive halfback thrilled the crowd at the opening of the second half when he received the kickoff, on his own ten-yard line and dashed 90 yards to a touchdown. The attempt to convert was blocked.

With the score tied at 6-6, Linfield retaliated with another offensive thrust which resulted in their second score of the game. Three completed passes advanced the ball to the Lutheran seven yard line. With their backs to the wall the Gladiators checked the onslaught momentarily, but a pass, Bachelor to Heiser, was completed across the goal line for the score.

Marked by numerous fumbles and intercepted passes, the last quarter was a see-saw affair with the ball being in Pacific Lutheran territory most of the time. The invaders combined passes with short line bucks to score the final touchdown of the game.

Although the Gladiators lost their first game, the fact still remains that we have a good football squad. Play was ragged, that's true; but when it functioned, the Lutheran defense was impregnable and the offense looked very promising. Snap and pep were the things lacking in Saturday's game; but we predict these essentials will be present for the remainder of the season.

Coach Olson's plan was successful! As a result of his opening the gates to admit everyone free, a banner crowd of 5,000 presented itself. In return the stands showed their appreciation by filling the "hat" between halves. The success of this venture was so gratifying that the same system will be used at our next home game when we play Albany October 20th.

The old jinx, injuries, has struck Bev Shuster again. In the first game of last season he received a wrenched back which put him out for most of the season; and now in his first game this year a hand injury will keep him out for two weeks. Bev's one of our best men and his loss will leave a gaping hole in the lineup.

This week's bouquet goes to our fleet halfback, Hal Votaw. His brilliant ninety-yard run to a touchdown in returning the kickoff at the beginning of the second half furnished the biggest thrill of the Linfield game.

The return of every letterman except Ted Thompson makes the prospect for a fine golf team look very good. Several other experienced golfers have entered school and promise to fill the vacancy left by Ted and to give the rest some keen competition. By entering the annual fall tournament which starts this week, all you aspirants have a chance to get out and show your stuff.

Linfield has a tough team; but our next opponent, St. Martins, has a team equally as strong. Unless our team displays an entirely different brand of football than that of last Saturday they are doomed to defeat. If they get in and play sixty minutes of real football none of their opponents can lick them.

In conclusion, a word to the team: We know you can take the Rangers next Saturday. All you have to do is get in and play a full game of heads-up football. We're right behind you. Are you going to deliver?

Men's Dorm Union Meets; Elects Jensen President

For the purpose of organization and the election of officers, the first meeting of the Men's Dormitory Union was held Monday, Oct. 2. To open the meeting, Dean Olson gave a short talk on what is expected of the dorm students. Burton Kredler, assistant dean, also spoke to the men.

Following these remarks a short business session ensued in which officers for the coming term were elected. The results of the election were as follows: President, Norman Jensen; vice president, Milton Nesvig; secretary, Harold Dempster; and treasurer, Glenn Gustavson.

Major 'Taken for a Ride'

Once more Major, the school mascot, was taken for a ride. But this year his purpose was very different from that of last year. Last year a scraggly pup, friend of all the students at Pacific Lutheran College, he was sent to the humane society to die or be sold, only to be returned in a few days, no more as a wandering dog, but as P. L. C.'s official mascot. This year he was taken to a dog hospital to have infections on his eye and body cleared.

He is again back at school, after a few days at a veterinary, well on his way to recovery and as playful as ever.

Hold Mission Society Meeting

The first meeting of the Mission Society was held in the recreation room last Wednesday evening. The program presented included a piano number by Rhoda Hostenstad, a reading by Salfre Torredal, and a piano selection by Harold Dempster. Officers other than the president, William Pfueger, who was chosen last spring, were elected. They are: vice-president, Ella Johnson; secretary, Alice Alvines; and treasurer, Harold Dempster.

P.L.C. Nets 20-0 Win In Practice Game

Last Tuesday, Oct. 3, the football squad journeyed to Port Lewis to play a practice game with the service men. Three full teams made the trip and all saw action before the game was over.

The first team started the game and had no trouble in tearing off gains against the opposition. The end of the first quarter found the score 13-0 in favor of the Gladiators. "Turfy" Smith scoring both touchdowns, one on a plunge and the other on a lateral.

The second quarter found an entirely new Lutheran lineup facing the army men. This team had little trouble in making gains but lacked scoring punch. The score was unchanged at the end of the half.

To start the second half, Coach Olson fielded a third team. In this quarter, army plays through the line still proving ineffectual, they reverted to the air. Several large gains were made but a scoring position was never attained.

Toward the last of this quarter, the first string returned to the game and at once took the upper hand. Another score was soon forthcoming, this time Gerlitz going over for the touchdown. Score 20-0.

At the end of the third quarter the game was called due to the fact that it was getting late and darkness was coming on.

Although very weak competition was offered, this game aided Coach Olson in finding both the good and bad points of his team and gave everyone a taste of scrimmage against another squad.

Students Aid at Grid Game; Award Sweaters To School Cheer Leaders

At the last student body meeting plans were made for a program during the game against Linfield which was held the following Saturday. Clarence Lemming, student prexy, appointed Clarence Monson, Bob Monson, and Eldon Anderson to announce the game over a loud speaker in the Lincoln Bowl. Among the things to be announced through the megaphone was an article on the statistics of football written by Jesse Pfueger, a history of Pacific Lutheran College football by Alvine Schierman, and an article explaining the game of football by Herbert Norgaard.

Six girls, with Hazel Monsen as captain, were asked to "pass the hat" between halves of the game. Other girls beside the captain who took up the collection were Sigrid Holmgren, Pearl Homme, Shirley Savage, Irene Sharland, and Berglitt Vogen.

Clarence Lemming appointed Clifford Mesford (captain), Orwall Dahl, Rolf Preus, Henry Olson, Willie Pfueger, and Lloyd Thompson as policemen at the game to see that no outsiders sat in the P.L.C. roofing section between the 30 and 60 yard line.

At the same student body meeting, sweaters were awarded the new yell leaders, John Leuven, Mary Nash, and Jean-Marie Fowler. Following the meeting a short pep rally was held.

Lutherans, Rangers Will Clash for Grid Victory Saturday

With the sting of defeat still upon them and the desire for victory their aim, the Gladiators will face St. Martins at Olympia next Saturday, Oct. 14. The Rangers are a strong aggregation and the Lutherans will have to be at their best to take them.

Both teams have failed to place in the win column, this season, which means, of course, that both will be battling with that end in view.

The Rangers have taken on some tough competition and have given their opponents some real opposition. In their first game with the College of Puget Sound they had ten first downs to their opponents' ten and the margin of victory was only 7-0. Their second game, with the West Seattle Athletic Club, was rather disastrous in that they were smothered by an aerial attack. Although the final score was 27-0, it was just a case of playing against a superior team; in fact, one of the strongest semi-pro outfits on the coast.

Coach Ralph Reed will field a team with a powerful line and fast backfield. Coach Olson promises to send a rejuvenated team on to the gridiron that will be out for blood. It's going to be one real battle when these two teams clash next Saturday at Olympia and "victory" will be the watchword.

Normal Student Is Persistent Golfer

Playing golf every day for six weeks, and every other day for almost as long, would be some people's idea of Paradise. Virginia Boen, second year normal student, did this as a matter of course all last summer.

Although Virginia is slight of stature, she showed considerable athletic ability in winning eight golf balls in the tournaments of the Meadow Park Ladies' Golf Club. Of course, Virginia is modest, asserting she has never gone below 100; but we expect she will have more balls to show for her prowess next year.

John Van Leuven and Virginia Byers were described in this week's "Have you met?"
