Lutes Destroy the Pride of McMinnville

A shudder went through McMinnville, Ore., last Saturday night. It was felt by the dads in the stands watching their sons on the Linfield College squad. It was noticed by the men in the purple and white uniforms, and it was most evident in Linfield's head coach Paul Durham.

The shudder was caused by the realization that Linfield, one of the nation's top-ranked small college powers, might just lose a game.

And what a loss it would have been. Linfield should have pushed the Pacific Lutheran University Knights right out of the stadium. Nobody expected the Lutes to give the Wildcats a battle: nobody except coach Roy Carlson and his squad.

Ranta

The week before they had humbled Pacific University. Last Saturday they disgraced Linfield. The final score was 24-21 in favor of the Wildcats, but that isn't important. What will be remembered is the fierce determination of the Tacoma team which led the highly regarded McMinnville crew on two different occasions. The scoreboard could just have easily read in favor of PLU.

The narrow victory on the part of Linfield will surely drop it out of the national ratings, and a chance for post-season honors.

Another shudder felt Saturday was caused by the three remaining foes of PLU. They have reason to worry.

PLU Has Stars Aplenty In Near Victory Over Top-Ranked Linfield

Individual stars from last Saturday's game against Linfield College are difficult to point out. The near-victory was a team effort at its finest.

The points were scored by Lee Davidson and Bill Ranta (left) and Dave Halstead and Fred Moe. All four were star performers, as were the entire offensive and defensive lines. The defensive secondary was outstanding, and Ken Harding, PLU's standout the week before, kept the Linfield defenders concentrating on him.

Davidson carried the ball 12 times for 166 yards. Halstead, in 13 attempts, racked up 103 yards, and Hans Lindstrom, in 11 carries, had 52 yards.

Mark Yokers and Phil Goldenman, key defensive personnel, blitzed the Linfield line on countless occasions to break up plays. Yokers had 11 tackles, while Goldenman's four tackles accounted for big losses to the Linfield running game.

Linebackers Al Fruetel, Bill Tye, and Skip Miller, had 35 tackles between them, and Paul Ferguson, a freshman starting in his first college game, had 11 unassisted tackles from his defensive halfback slot.

College of Idaho Next

The College of Idaho Coyotes meet the Lutes at 2 p.m., Saturday in the 34th annual homecoming game. The Caldwell, Idaho crew is 1-5 for the season, as are the Lutes. Their one victory was over Whitman College.

The Coyotes have lost to Pacific, the one team beaten by the Knights. As a team they rank behind PLU in total offense and rushing defense. They will rank behind the Lutes in wins following Saturday's game.

ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMS

REPORT TO ALC DIVISION OF COLLEGE EDUCATION

We have received an announcement from Harold Howe, U. S. Commissioner of Education of the Graduate Fellowship Program for individuals who are pursuing or who plan to pursue a career in elementary and secondary education. For 1968-69 the three parts of the program will have a common deadline: The Experienced Teacher Fellowship Program for in-service training, the Prospective Teacher Fellowship Program for pre-service training, and the Institutional Assistance Grant Program to develop and to strengthen graduate programs. All proposals must be postmarked no later than November 30, 1967 and successful programs will be announced on or before January 15, 1968.

Lesser priority will be accorded fields such as Library Science, school social work, guidance and counseling and special education for handicapped children, for which funds are available in other programs. On the other hand, high priority will be given to the continuation of in-service and pre-service programs presently being supported whether or not they are separate or combined.

In addition, it would be emphasized that high priority will be given to proposed programs dealing with elementary education, school administration and to programs for teachers of the disadvantaged. Highest priority will continue to be given to pre-service training programs which attract superior college graduates, irrespective of undergraduate majors and to in-service training programs designed especially for the trainers of teachers. Guidelines and other materials are available in Dean Moe's office.

FULBRIGHT
SCHOLARSHIP

The time is rapidly approaching when the State Fulbright Committee must make a selection of scholarship candidates to be forwarded to the national office. We are hopeful that this committee can make its selections at an early date in order to meet the deadline established by the national committee.

Recently we submitted a report to the Division of College Education, ALC, relative to Student-Faculty Ratio, 1967-68 and Advanced Degrees of Faculty, 1967-68. Later there will be a published ALC report giving these figures in relationship to the other ALC colleges. Our figures, compiled using the definition of terms provided for us, are:

I. Student-Faculty Ratio

A. Full-time equivalent faculty	141½
B. Full-time equivalent students	2207
C. Resulting ratio	15.6

II. Report on Advanced Degrees of Faculty

Number of earned degrees of faculty.
Percent of faculty total (not rank total).

	Earned		Master's		Bachelor's

FULBRIGHT (continued)

This is to remind you that we will need to have the applications from students in your institution in the hands of the committee prior to November 15th if they are to receive consideration.

American Economy Program Instituted

An educational program entitled "American Economy" has been organized this fall at Pacific Lutheran University, announced President Robert A. L. Mortvedt.

The A P is supported by private sources in the Pacific Northwest organized into the "Founder's Club."

Ronald Genda, a new faculty member in economics who recently obtained his master's degree from Purdue University, will head the program.

Genda said, "The AEP is the result of efforts and interest of members of the business community who wish to do something about the ever-growing level of economic illiteracy."

The main objective of the program is to stimulate a better public understanding and appreciation of the economic principles upon which private enterprise operates, he added.

Genda will serve as a member of the PLU economic staff, and will start an economic program in the public school systems, the private and public colleges, and among the general public.

At present he is preparing material for the University's library to supplement its collection of economic-reading texts. Next semester he will offer a college-credit course in economic education for teachers. This seminar will carry graduate credit.

In addition, Genda is assessing the economic-education needs of the Pacific Northwest to formulate a basis for the program. He will later attempt to provide leadership in the development of educational resources for use in elementary, secondary, and collegiate educational institutions.

Genda said he is hopeful that the program will project into the community to provide leadership for a general program in economic education for all levels of business, industry, education, and professional and civic groups.

Specifically, he said, the AEP will begin the instructional phase of its program in the spring semester. The course, "The American Economy in the Context of the Social Sciences," will be offered. This course, he added, is directed toward the experienced teacher as well as the student who desires to gain knowledge and experience in the application of economics.

Friday Noon Music

The Madrigal Singers will open this week's presentation of "Friday Noon Music" at 12:30 in Eastvold Chapel. The five-voice group, composed of David Flaskerud, Joan Norburg, Nancy Roberts, Mikkell Thompson, and Mary Helen Thompson, will sing "Cantata for Good Friday."

Other students performing this week are Deborah Jacquemin, Darlene Olson, Ronald Johnson, Roberta Allen, Mark Swinehart, Philip Nesvig, Marie Seifert, and Susan Richards.

Featured this week at the Friday recital will be works by Mikkell Thompson.

' . . . And In The Center Ring . . . '

"The Greatest Show on Earth" unfolds tonight with the coronation of Ann Erickson as "Queen of the Midway." Her attendants are Tarina Kirkeeng and Kim Morley.

Ray Charles and his orchestra, along with the Raellets, will take the center ring at 8:15 p.m., for their show in the PLU Memorial Gymnasium.

The annual homecoming bonfire will light up the skies over Parkland Friday night. A pep rally will accent the ritual.

Classes will continue as usual on Friday, but the festivities start again at 7:30 p.m., in Eastvold Auditorium when the annual Songfest competition begins. This is the first year that the 16 living units have formed teams for the competition.

Following the songfest, a pep rally and homecoming bonfire will be held on lower campus. Head coach Roy Carlson will introduce his team and give a brief talk about the upcoming College of Idaho game.

A coffee hour will be held at 10 p.m. in Stuen Hall for faculty and guests.

Early Saturday morning the women will take to the field for their Powder Puff field hockey game. The men take over at 10:45 for their annual Intramural All-Star game.

During halftime of the Powder Puff game, "Handsone Harry," the queen's escort, will be announced. Candidates include a dog, Bill Lennon's son, and several honest-to-goodness males.

The homecoming game starts at 2 p.m. at Franklin Pierce Field. PLU will go into the game as favorites for the first time this season. During the half, the queen will be introduced, the PLU band will play, and a pink panther and a baby elephant will entertain.

An after-the-game coffee hour will be held for alumni and faculty at Tingelstad Hall. At 6 p.m. alumni and faculty will get together again for a "circus feast" in the Columbia Center.

The homecoming dance, "Carousel," will be at the Tacoma Mall this year, and it starts at 8:30 p.m. It will be centered near the Bon Marche. Milt Klebe and his orchestra will provide the music.

Open houses and dedications will take place Sunday: Ordal at 1:30, Tingelstad at 2:30 p.m.
