

Olson's Eleven Will Meet Fighting Irish In Homecoming

Gladiators Face Undefeated Eleven in Homecoming Game At Lincoln Bowl Saturday; Fadness Returns to Lineup

Saturday afternoon in the Lincoln Bowl, six Pacific Lutheran College regulars will conclude their football activities at our school, when they face the highly touted Columbia University eleven from Portland, Oregon.

Coach Murphy's charges from the Oregon city have so far sailed through the season undefeated and among their victories have been some of the strongest teams in the Pacific Northwest. Whitman College, who dropped a close game to the College of Puget Sound aggregation, Pacific Northwest champions, were completely submerged by the fighting Irish from Portland.

Since Coach Murphy is an exponent of Notre Dame, the Lutherans will probably come face to face with that deceptive Notre Dame shift. Many more factors may enter in which will cause the Gladiators a great deal of discomfort, but a game is not lost until the final whistle has blown.

The most intricate problem for Coach Cliff Olson to solve, however, is how his eleven will shape up in this contest. Since eligibility must be considered, this factor may weaken the starting lineup Saturday.

It is evident that much work will have to be done in the Lutheran camp to trim up the offense and pass defense. Since the backs are too small for intensive line play, it is probable that the Gladiators will center their attack via the air. McMillan and Moe are good passers and Levinson, Score and Willard are very capable receivers.

In the last contest, the Lutherans seemed backward about opening up their passing attack, until the latter part of the game. When they did open up it resulted in enough completed passes to cause the opposition plenty of worry.

Fadness, stellar center, who warmed the bench in the last game because of an injured knee, will be back in the game against Columbia and after his short period of rest, should be able to turn in a nice piece of work. Captain Ted Cronquist is still mud from the last game and should do considerable defensive work.

Yes, George, Hazel and Delores Love Exam Week—As Well as Our Parents Love to Pay Big Light Bills

"One night last week a lone reporter was wandering around town in the vicinity of South Eighth and I Street, and happened to look into the window of the Svenson home. There, wonder of wonders, was little George studying for his English test. Really, George Mr. Hong doesn't give VERY HARD exams. One mile away at the same time Hazel Monsen was burning the midnight oil (and she wasn't writing to Elmer, either.) Out at the dorm Delores Roe bought three new flashlight batteries, because the lights go off at 10:30, and she couldn't possibly get all her lessons studied by that time.

The "Dew-Drop Inn" charged Art and Tryg 50 cents extra for this month's board (additional light bill), and it seems queer that the depression is still on since all the homes about town wherein dwell P. L. C. students, have a light bill of twice the usual size.

Delta Rho Gammas To Have Monthly Luncheons

At noon, Thursday, October 27, Delta Rho Gamma members held the first of their monthly luncheons in the recreation room of the club. Instead of bringing or buying individual lunches, the girls provided various dishes for a pot-luck dinner.

A clock and a new couch cover were presented to the club recently by the Delta Rho Gammas who graduated in '32.

The organization is planning to have a candy booth in the gym on Drama Night. No meeting was held last Thursday.

2 Comedies, 1 Drama Scheduled Friday

Radio Program Will Be Heard During Drama Night Presentations in P. L. C. Gym

As one of the features of the homecoming program, the evening of November 11 has been designated as Drama Night. Three one-act plays will be presented by the Pacific Lutheran College Drama Club at 8:00 p. m. in the gym. To lend variety to the program, two of the plays to be given are comedies. The action of "The Bishop's Candlesticks," taken from "Les Miserables" by Victor Hugo, revolves around two beautiful silver candlesticks.

The comedies are "The Orange-colored Necktie," concerning the mystery of the whereabouts of an orange-colored neckpiece; and "The Economical Boomerang," dealing with a husband's attempts to force his wife to be economical in her dressmaking.

At some time during the evening, the audience will be given an opportunity to listen to the rally broadcast in the interests of the Columbia-P. L. C. football game of the following day. A radio will be installed on the stage in the gymnasium and, if necessary, the play in progress at the time of broadcast will be interrupted for the rally.

The following chairmen of property committees have been selected: group one, Clarence Monson; group two, Margaret Wesson; group three, Evelyn Irwin.

The Drama Club has begun work on a group of plays to be given just before thanksgiving holidays.

There were no evening engagements planned for this week, and instead of girl friends and Romeo, taking up the student's thought in the nocturnal hours, it was Protozoa and Pleurococci, James the First of England, General Wallenstein, and Louis XIV that took up the time.

Then psychology began at midnight sharp and continued until four. The less troubled sleep, wherein Homer, Milton, Dante and Virgil haunted those poor students of World Literature.

At seven o'clock, all the human forms (the brains and mind being lacking) proceeded to school. A day of writing answers to long questions (or was it filling sheets of paper?) followed.

Boy, but we like exam week! One consolation is that we won't have to study any more for eight weeks to come.

Pres. Tingelstad Will Attend A.L.C. Meet in Milwaukee

Board Decides at Meeting Monday to Send College Head and Pastor Svare to Middle West

That Dr. O. A. Tingelstad, College president, will attend the convention of the American Lutheran Conference to be held November 16 to 18 at Milwaukee, was decided at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Pacific Lutheran College held Monday at the home of Dr. Tingelstad. Five different Lutheran synods will be represented at the convention. Dr. Tingelstad will leave Saturday, November 12, and may not return until after Thanksgiving.

At the request of Paul Preus and Victor Elvestrom, who have already been petitioned to gather funds for the college in the middle west, the Board petitioned the Trinity Lutheran Church of Parkland to release Pastor T. O. Svare in order that he might give one month's service there. The five year contract of these field men was reaffirmed by the board at the meeting Monday.

At the meeting, Dr. Tingelstad and Prof. J. P. Pflueger, who attended the recent conference of the American Lutheran Church at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, gave reports of the convention. Ludwig, president of the Northwest district, gave a report to the effect that the sentiment of the church and of its leadership is strongly and definitely in favor of Pacific Lutheran College. This is proved by the fact that at a time when no other budget items were increased, the appropriations of Pacific Lutheran College were increased from $2,500 to $4,300, as has already been reported.

While action on the Preus-Elvestrom plan was deferred at the convention, delegates adopted the following resolution: "We recommend the continued support of Pacific Lutheran College and urge the American Lutheran Church to do all that the Lord directs and enables it to do to assure the maintenance of Pacific Lutheran College."

On basis of reports from the November 3 meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, the board took action which makes it possible for Dr. Tingelstad to give all his efforts for the time being to the supervision of the financial situation now confronting Pacific Lutheran College. One of the main decisions of the board at its meeting Monday was the assurance that though a financial crisis has been brought on by the prolonged depression, P. L. C. will not take a backward step because of it, according to Dr. Tingelstad.

German Club Plans Luncheon
At its business meeting last Tuesday, members of Der Deutsche Verein, the German club, planned a Thanksgiving luncheon for November 22. To close the meeting the group sang German songs accompanied at the piano by Kathleen Forath.

Fence Posts Cut, Wire Removed
Improvement has been made on the campus grounds in the front of the building by the painting of the posts. They were cut off to about one fourth their original size and painted white. The wire grating has been removed.

L. D. R. Meet Held Nov. 2; Hear of W. M. F. Work

Reports on the Women's Missionary Federation convention held at Poulsbo October 25, by Kathryn Johnson and Jenny Iverson were the outstanding features at the meeting of the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation held at the home of Mrs. J. U. Xavier last Wednesday.

Talks on the different departments of the Women's Missionary Federation were given by Mrs. A. W. Ramstad, Mrs. C. O. Olson, Mrs. E. Tingelstad, Mrs. J. U. Xavier, Mrs. O. A. Tingelstad, and Mrs. P. E. Hauge.

The musical program consisted of a violin solo by Wilma O'Brien accompanied by Nordis Arneson; piano solo by Ardis Aarhus, and a song by the faculty quartet, composed of Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. Ramstad, Mrs. Olson, and Mrs. Xavier.

Refreshments were served before the meeting.

W. A. A. Organizes Tentatively Oct. 27

Group Decides Sporting Activities To Be Included in Club Program

At a meeting held Thursday, October 27, in the chapel, a Women's Athletic Association was tentatively organized, with Olga Overlie as acting chairman. Group singing of W. A. A. songs opened the program, which included piano solos by Lila Rudd, a vocal solo by Mary Nash; Evelyn Monson entertained with a tap-dance, and a reading by Margaret Wesson.

The aims and workings of the organization were outlined by the chairman. Temporary officers were elected as follows: President, Olga Overlie; vice president, Alice Roe; secretary, Jane Williams; and treasurer, Helen Collins. The club decided to include basketball, baseball, swimming, tennis, speedball, hiking, skating, and minor sports would be included among its activities. An executive committee made up of the officers and the faculty advisers, Miss Fowler and Miss Jacobson, will choose a leader for each of the athletic activities. The meeting closed with the singing of school songs.

Chapel Roof Repaired

Because of leaks during recent rains, repairs have been made on the Chapel roof during the last week. The work is being done by G. Schlanbusch and E. B. Thompson.

Mrs. Andrine Larsen Celebrates Birthday at Home; Despite 97 Years Still Is Active Friend of P. L. C.

Of interest to the students at Pacific Lutheran College is the 97th birthday, Friday, November 4, of Mrs. Andrine Larsen, who once donated a great deal of money to the school. Despite her age, she is all smiles and very spry. When interviewed, she gave her information willingly and unhesitatingly.

"I came from Norway when I was nine; I remember it well. From Norway I came directly to Racine County, Wisconsin.

"I was 21 when I was married. I would have been married on my birthday, but it was election day, and my husband had to vote.

"My husband was minister of the First Norwegian Church in Racine. After that for 22 years he was a minister in Harmony, Minnesota. From there we went to an Indian mission in Wittenberg, Wisconsin. We were there six years.

Alumni Will Return For Activities Here November 11 and 12

Parade Through Town, Drama Night, Radio Program, Football Game and Banquet Featured in Homecoming

Following several weeks of active preparation by students and faculty, alumni of Pacific Lutheran College will gather November 11 and 12 for one of the most elaborately planned homecomings in the history of the school. It has not been decided whether this homecoming will replace the annual alumni reunion, but those in charge of events expect a large number of graduates to be present, so that election of officers may take place.

Events, as planned, start with a parade of decorated cars leaving the college at 6:00 p. m., Friday, and going through the downtown streets. Yells will be given at ninth and Broadway.

At 8 p. m. the school drama club will present three one-act plays in the college gymnasium. From 9:15 to 9:30 a radio on the stage will be turned on, enabling the students to listen to the P. L. C. broadcast from station KVI.

The broadcast as planned by Bob Monson, school yell king, will be as follows:

Homecoming welcome—Clarence Ronson.

College Knights' Quartet—Bob Monson, Clarence Monson, Arnold Ormlund, and Art Sivertson.

Interview of Coach Olson—Bob Monson.

Interview of Ted Cronquist—Bob Monson.

College Quartet Number.

Saturday, students and alumni will gather at the homecoming game, to be played in the Lincoln Bowl at 2:30. Admission will be 40 cents.

The final event will be an informal homecoming banquet in the Peacock Room of the Tacoma Hotel. The event will start at 7:30 p. m., and will cost 75 cents a plate.

Trygve Runsvold, in charge of ticket sales, has appointed the following committees to aid in the sale of tickets: Homecoming game—Leonard Wesson, Clarence Learning, Alice Roe, Jean Marie Fowler, Jane Williams, Harold Meredith, and Bev Shuster; banquet—Kathleen Forath, Dickie Lealand, Margaret Wesson, Norman Westling, Gilbert Sydow, Donald Reid and Godwin Rorem.

Here she paused to inquire about the college.

"I haven't been able to read for ten years, and I can hear very little. But I am thankful for the little I can see and hear.

"I feel strange that I should live so long. I've been waiting 30 years, since my husband died, to go to my home in Heaven. I have had my grave dug and cemented for 15 years. I do not know why I should live to be so old. God alone knows, but I will find out when I meet him face to face."

Isn't that indeed wonderful, coming from a woman 97 years old?

WELCOME HOME, ALUMNI

Pacific Lutheran College is indeed a grand and glorious institution. It is situated in one of nature's choicest spots here in our great Puget Sound country. Its students are sincere, well-behaved young men and women who have just enough pep to keep things lively. The faculty members are good sports and can join in on the fun in everything. The president is the pride of every student for his kindness and competency as father of the "P. L. C. family."

A friendly spirit permeates the air here at all times. Examination week which is just over, was not half as bad as it might have been. Homecoming with all its joys comes this week end. With this in view, and with the grand and glorious P. L. C. feeling, we say to our alumni and former students, "Welcome home!"

MANAGING ONE'S SELF

Everyone likes to manage others. As a baby you try to show your mother how wrong she is in putting you to bed early. As you grow older you object to the food you eat and the clothes you wear. When you reach high school you think your lessons are too long and your examinations too hard.

As you finish high school and enter college, you think more about your own perfection; and, more than likely, you decide it can be improved. And so you start on a new venture, that of managing yourself instead of others.

You consider your conduct in chapel, in the library, and in the halls during study hours. You notice your attitude toward your teachers and your friends. You dig deep inside yourself and discover all your faults. By correcting these you prove yourself an efficient self-manager.

OUR CHAPEL PROGRAMS

One of the most inspiring messages we have heard in chapel this fall was that delivered by Dr. T. F. Gullixson on October 27. In stressing personality Dr. Gullixson brought home to many students the fact that their own Christian mothers were the most influential personalities in their lives. He also impressed on them the idea that God is the supreme personality, through the much-quoted Bible verse, "Let your light so shine upon men that they may see your good works and glorify your father which is in heaven."

Having an outstanding speaker such as Dr. Gullixson address us once in a while on student body program days is indeed a fine thing in an institution like P.L.C. The Mooring Mast feels that the Board of Control is to be congratulated on the programs put on so far, and say wholeheartedly, "Give us more!"

GOOD COLLEGE NEWS

Pacific Lutheran College at Parkland emerged from the recent convention of the Lutheran church at Fond Du Lac, Wisconsin, stronger than ever and with an increase in financial support voted by the Lutheran body. This was the good news brought back to Tacoma this week by Dr. O. A. Tingelstad, the president.

Some small colleges were voted into oblivion through mergers, others suffered a necessary curtailment in support. But Pacific Lutheran at Parkland was recognized as one of the foundation stones upon which the Lutheran church's educational program rests. Strategically located to serve the great Pacific Northwest, this school seems destined to a great future. Year by year its fame spreads, and now that its need and value are reaffirmed by the Lutheran church there is every reason to believe that this school will grow steadily and surely until it had become another of the West's great seats of learning.—Ledger.

WILLARD: "Then, man alive, be thankful you aren't one of the creditors."

HAVE YOU MET?

"Just a little fellow trying to get along? He has got along pretty well so far, for he will graduate this year, and P. L. C. will lose one of its busiest students."

Besides being an active member of several clubs, holding a responsible office in the student body, and contributing a great deal of time to the Mooring Mast, he plays Varsity football. He's good, too; we'd certainly hate to be a gridman on the opposing team and see him bearing down upon us.

This person has light brown hair and blue eyes. According to the latest reports, he is only six feet three, and we think he has stopped growing, at least we sincerely hope he has. Guess who?

An energetic freshman girl who is always in the thick of things? She has very dark hair, hazel eyes, and the kind of teeth you usually see in toothpaste ads. She has joined several clubs since entering P. L. C., and holds a position on the Mooring Mast staff. At all, this young lady can change from Johnny, on his first visit to the movies, into Aunt Susie, bewailing the feelings of the younger generation, for she is a talented entertainer. She is also exceedingly brave, for she intends to be a librarian, and this after taking a course in Library Instruction under Professor Xavier!

We must have education, but we need to come back to the simple principle, the fear of God, for by so doing we can come successfully through trials and tribulations seemingly insurmountable.

Last Thursday Lila Rudd, Mary Nash, Dickie Leland, Kathleen Porath, Clarence Roen, Oscar Anderson, and Walter Ustad drove to Monmouth for the game.

At her home in South Tacoma, Margaret Wesson entertained Jean-Marie Fowler and Jeanette Knutsen at dinner last Friday.

With his brother Ed Tingelstad, Pres. O. A. Tingelstad drove to Silverton, Oregon, November 5, to visit his father on his 80th birthday.

Alice Altnes was hostess to a group of her friends at the home of her parents in South Bend, Saturday. The guests were Nordis Arneson, Nedra Dubigh, "Buster" Roe, Dolores Roe, and Mary Lou Preus.

Several P. L. C. students gave a surprise party on Dorothy Delamarter, 32, on November 5.

Olga Overlie spent the week-end at her home in Eatonville.

The Faculty Club met Monday evening at the home of P. T. Larsen with Mr. and Mrs. Ludvig Larsen entertaining.

DO YOU REMEMBER:

Bill Nyman? He's a Mr. Hyde while at P. L. C., but changes into a Dr. Jekyll when he teaches.

Ruth Jacobson? She is the girl who had the habit of falling down in churches when the choir was marching in.

George Cronquist? He was the one who started the vogue of calling everyone "sister" and "mother."

Ruth Brown? She could out-Greta Garbo and Filii Dorsay to shame with her acting.

Alvene Schlerman? He was even good looking when he was angry.

Ruth Howard? A pest, and will be remembered as a stealer of sample music.

Eric Hauke? One who accepts shirts from utter strangers.

Helen Tingelstad? She could "out-wisecr" any Chicago fruit peddler ever born.

Bill Shore? Bill was a tough guy, and could "do the drag" to perfection.

Myron Letze? He was nearly the death of Jesse.

If we really believe that God is our Father and man is our brother, should we not pray that the Prince of Peace may come among us and bring us lasting peace.

Professors Speak

Preach Reformation Sermons in Tacoma, Spokane, Idaho

Rev. J. P. Pfeuffer, professor of religion, occupied the pulpit of Luther Memorial church, Tacoma, Sunday, November 6. Rev. Mikkel Lono, pastor of the church, was in Portland that day, where he spoke at a joint Lutheran Reformation festival and Gustavus Adolphus tri-centennial celebration. On October 30, Reverend Pfeuffer preached a Reformation day sermon in the American Lutheran church at Lewiston, Idaho.

Rev. T. O. Svare, college pastor, went to Spokane to preach a Reformation sermon in the Lutheran church of which Rev. M. B. Tollefson is pastor.

More Than 100 Attend T. L. L. Banquet Friday

With more than 100 persons attending, the banquet of the Tacoma Lutheran League last Friday evening in the First Lutheran Church of Tacoma. "Crooked spines made straight" was the topic of the main address delivered by Rev. E. M. Hegge. He stressed the fact that what young people needed was not something to make their spines straight, but something to keep them straight. That "something" according to Rev. Hegge, was faith in the Word of God.

Rev. O. J. Edwards led the group in opening devotion and in benediction. Other numbers on the program included greetings from the presidents of the Lutheran Leagues in Tacoma, as well as several musical numbers. Vocal solos by Don Cory and Anna Mikkelsen, whistling numbers by the Wadsworth Brothers, and a piano selection by Carl Svedberg comprised the music on the program.

The dinner was prepared and served by the ladies of Circle 2 of the First Lutheran Church. Walter Young was toastmaster.

Have Special Meeting

Delta Rho Gamma girls held a special meeting at noon, Monday, November 7, at which they decided that the girls should take charge of selling the programs at the Columbia-Pacific Lutheran College game, Saturday, Nov. 12. It was also decided that the club should put in its bid for the candy booth for Drama Night, Nov. 11.

College Choir Sings

The Pacific Lutheran College Choir contributed three musical numbers at the evangelistic meetings held by Reverend T. F. Gullixson in the Central Lutheran church, of which Reverend Hegge is pastor.

The first song the choir sang was "O Sacred Head," depicting the Crucifixion of Christ. The Resurrection was shown in the second number, "In Heaven Above." The choir sang for its last number "Beautiful Savior."

The Choir was served refreshments in appreciation of their singing. The following numbers of the P. L. C. Choir Repertoire are now in the process of study: The Three Kings, Lord Our God have Mercy, A Snow Mountain, O Praise ye God, Night and a Lonely Star, O Sacred Head, In Heaven Above, and Beautiful Savior. Other songs which are to be taken up for future study are "He is Blessed" and "Hosannah."

As yet there are no definite plans, though there have been numerous requests for concerts.

The president of the Choir is Bill Whalen, and its sergeant-at-arms is Norman Westling.

Flappers or Football Men Bedeck Major With Rosy-Colored Features

"Dashes of mercurochrome and little bits of paint.

Make our college mascot look like what he ain't."

Extry! Extry! At last we've found the person (dog to be exact) who doesn't like to be unique and different. Poor Major has been a forlorn looking being for the past few days. Whether it was flappers or football men who so bedecked our faithful canine friend, only the guilty party and the martyr will ever know, but since neither will speak—one can't and the other won't—the action will always be a mystery.

Then came the rain, the clean, refreshing, and (most important to Major) the cleansing rain from heaven. Although some greeted it as coming, it caused Major's reputation to become again on the square as all the spectators, mustaches, lips, flushed cheeks and improved eye-brows were obeyed by its gentle cleansing power.

Although Major reminded us of the ghastly little character in "The Hound of the Baskervilles" we all like him just as much as ever. How would we get along without our school mascot? Here's to Major!

Young people, thank God for your Christian homes!

Vice-President Leads Mission Meeting Oct. 26

The Mission Society held its regular meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 26, in the recreation room, with Leonard Westling in charge, in the absence of the president. Ardis Aarhus led in devotion and prayer. Walter Ustad rendered a vocal solo, and the topic was led by Leonard Westling.

A short business meeting was held, in which emphasis was placed on the importance of the Pocket Testament League. The society decided to buy a poster for the League, which is now on display on the bulletin board. The meeting was dismissed by a word of prayer by Rev. Pfeuffer and the singing of the Doxology.

Delores and Alice Roe and Alice Alvnes Hostesses

At the Pep Club meeting October 27, Alice Alvnes and Alice Roe acted as hostesses for a Hallowe'en party.

Place-cards and appointments in the Hallowe'en motif were used in decorations at the tables. Alice Roe and Delores, dressed in black cat costumes, served the refreshments, while four fortunes.

The program included a song by Mary Nash and Alice Peterson, accompanied by Lila Rudd; a reading by Margaret Jacobson; piano selections by Ruth Howard.

A short business meeting followed by program.

Hoover Wins in P. L. C. Straw Ballot Election

At a straw ballot held here Monday, November 7, Hoover was elected president. He won over Roosevelt by ten votes. "Coin" Harvey came in with 10 votes and Norman Thomas with 7 as compared to Hoover's 56 and Roosevelt's 46.

The balloting followed a political convention held in the recreation room of the school. Oscar Anderson, acting chairman, introduced the four speakers. Speaking for Hoover, Leonard Westling stressed the fact that Hoover had done things and that "you can't change horses in the middle of a stream."

Representing the Liberty Party and "Coin" Harvey, Walter Young spoke on the revision of the money system. Virginia Byers, speaker for the Socialist Party, told in behalf of Norman Thomas how the revision of the money system would prevent the accumulation of all the wealth into a few hands.

Clarence Lemming, who spoke on Roosevelt, based his argument on the fact that Hoover has not done anything for the last four years.

Gullixson Speaks

Dr. T. F. Gullixson, vice president of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America and president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Saint Paul, Minnesota, addressed the student body at its regular program Thursday in addition to his course of sermons given in Central Lutheran Church in Tacoma, throughout the week, October 23 to November 30.

Personality was the theme of Dr. Gullixson's talk, in which he said that the greatest power men exert over one another is exerted by personality which may be either a good or an evil influence. He stated that a Christian personality is a great influence for good and that the power for good in a mother's personality is one of the greatest Christian influences within the scope of human beings.

Dr. Gullixson came to the coast for the express purpose of delivering a series of addresses as the first of a course to be given twice yearly over an extended period of time in Central Lutheran Church, Rev. E. M. Hegge's charge.

There are 122 students in attendance at Luther Theological Seminary, one of whom is a former P. L. C. student.

'Little Fairies' Hike To Mill Pond Oct. 27, Porath Goes Wading

"We are little fairies," cried Lila Rudd and Mary Nash, as they danced among the gay and beautiful autumn leaves near the Mill Pond on Spanaway Lake, where the Hiking Club took its first hike of the season on October 26.

Suddenly there was a shout rending the woods, "Catch my camera," cried Porath as she laboriously heaved it across a vast expanse of water. The camera was saved from a watery grave but poor Porath—it's hard to relate what happened to her. Wonder if her shoes shrunk from that soaking?

An unexpected member of the group, of the canine family, appeared upon the scene just in time to take a bite of a tomato sandwich—a dog vegetarian huh? Grande, believing the dog hungry and in need of a little bit of nourishment, gave him the whole sandwich. (That was just an excuse for not eating what the other dog left).

As it was later discovered, none of the girls had attended the Olympics, so they instituted a running marathon all the way back to school.

Margaret Wesson and Carl Martin were described in the "Have You met?" column this week.

Monmouth Normal Downs Lutherans On Muddy Field

Gladiator Backfield Forced to Resort to Straight Football and Lose by 19-0 Score: Willard and Whalen Excel

In a field of sticky mud, the Monmouth Normal from Oregon marched for three touchdowns last Friday to defeat the Pacific Lutheran College eleven 19 to 0.

The slippery condition of the field handicapped the Lutheran pony backfield, who had to resort to straight football tactics. This proved to be a bigger advantage for the Oregon team, whose weight was a deciding factor in this method of play.

The Lutherans failed to threaten the teachers' goal once during the contest, but on several occasions had the ball in the enemy's territory.

The Teachers' scores came in the first, second, and third periods. Scroggins, normal full, bucked the first from the Gladiators' one-yard stripe, after a series of line plays, with Mahan and Scroggins taking the leading role. Edwards carried the ball over for the second counter on a run around right end for nine yards. Scroggins ended the scoring in the third period with ano her buck through center for one yard.

Whalen and Willard were the shining lights for the Gladiators in the line, while Willard was by far the most outstanding performer on the field. McMillan and Shuster clicked in the backfield and turned in nice work.

Scroggins, McKenzie, White and Edwards were outstanding on the Teachers' team, with Scroggins doing most of the ball toting. These four men proved to be a constant worry for the Lutherans.

The lineup:
P. L. C. (0) (19) Monmouth
Score LER Phillips
Cronquist LTR Gustafson
Runsvold LGR McKenzie
R. Frye C Harp
Whalen RGL Weldon

Scoring: Monmouth—touchdowns: Scroggins 2, Edwards 1; try for point, White.
Substitutions: P. L. C.—McMillan, Shuster, Monson, Knutzen, Fadness, Levinson; Monmouth—White, Gordon, Allen, Bennette, Burke, Tipin, Haymon, Hyatt.

Sport Slants

By C. Monson

Next Saturday afternoon in the Lincoln Bowl our orange-clad troopers call their 1932 football campaign to a finish. A dramatic finish would seem in order, judging from the suicide schedule that we have battled against this year.

S. S.
If Coach Olson could have had the reserves that romped around our camp last season, the schedule would have been meat for our boys. But our coach isn't a psychic.

S. S.
Some of the teams we met this year were considered the best in the Northwest and not one of them crossed our goal line enough to give us a drubbing.

S. S.
Out of a squad of twenty-two men, our mentor had about fifteen or sixteen gridders that were experienced enough to be used. The odds were against us. If one of our regulars was injured, it affected the whole team. And they say the president has a tough job.

S. S.
In full strength (which was not very often) we had a team that was on par with any of them. Although our pony backfield was too small to be a serious threat, they had a line to stand back of—and permit me to add, what a line!

S. S.
Without fear of contradiction, I can truthfully say that our forward wall was the sweetest front line of defense of any small college in the state. That line put more dents in the opposition's shins than they could have received had they bent their methods of transportation against a concrete step.

S. S.
It's fun to win, but it's no disgrace to lose, considering the opposition, their record and the battle we gave them. This is no "Tom Brown at College" epistle; it just happens to work out that way.

S. S.
Peculiar—once in a while you meet a few students who find it difficult to suppress their school spirit. Seven in number fell victim to that instinctive call and followed the football team to Monmouth. It must take school spirit to ride in "Tiny's" car that far.

S. S.
But leaving all joking aside, our rooting section of seven made the Monmouth section appear as if they had throat disease. Even Anderson was so touched by this minimum display, that he yelled so hard his glasses fell off.

S. S.
This is just an example to show what each individual has to play in making our homecoming a resounding success. We've got to show our alumni that this homecoming is more than just an occasion—it's for them.

S. S.
Those who are in charge of this gala affair are working hard and since we all voted to have this homecoming, there is no reason why we can't make it a big one.

S. S.
Let's all remember this: next Saturday afternoon at 2:30, Ted Cronquist, Carl Martin, John Fadness, Bill Whalen, Trig Runsvold and Carroll Jacobson, don the Gladiator uniform for the last time. Their work on our team has been above the average, and their absence next year will be a severe blow to our grid hopes. When we witness their last game, let's give these boys a hand, they deserve it.

S. S.
Just a few years ago, three or four, I can't remember, a green high school kid turned out for football. He was small all over, except his feet, and the regulars, disregarding this, used him for a punching bag.

S. S.
The next year was the same. Then like lightning out of the clear sky, his feet became bigger and his body actually grew in proportion. He made the first team by sheer persistence.

S. S.
For three years now he has played regular on the Lutheran team and has turned out to be one of the best pivot men in the Northwest. A real player, as I see him, and a decided improvement from his initial turnout.

S. S.
Against Columbia, he plays his last game for P. L. C. and judging from the work on the Lutheran team for the last three years, I take this privilege of paying my highest tribute to John "Fud" Fadness, known by his associates as "A beauty in disguise."

P.L.C. Team Defeats Fort Lewis 40 to 0

Lutherans Seem To Score At Will In Each Period of Game At Army Field October 29

On October 28th, the Pacific Lutheran College gridders journeyed to Fort Lewis and proceeded to wallop the Army eleven 40 to 0. The Gladiators seemed to score at will throughout the game and were not in serious danger once during the game.

The Lutheran forces seemed to take the Army eleven right off their feet from the opening whistle and after a number of plays marched down to Uncle Sam's twenty-yard stripe. On a reverse, Jacobson took the ball and sped around left end for the initial counter.

The rest of the Lutherans' scores came in each period of the game. Shortly after the first touchdown, the Gladiators again worked the ball into scoring territory and Norman Frye, hard hitting fullback, tucked the pigskin in his arms and smashed off tackle for the second counter. The second period opened up with another rally by the Lutherans and after a series of line bucks and end runs, the Gladiators were again in scoring territory and, with Frye carrying the ball, the third counter was made.

The last three counters were put over by Hanson, Moe and Score and the result of the aerial attack and wide sweeps around the Army's ends. The Gladiators totaled 375 yards from scrimmage to the Army's 100, and made 10 first downs to the Army's 5. The Lutherans completed 8 out of 12 passes to 3 out of 8 for the Army.

McMillan, Moe, Frye and Jacobson were the big guns for the Lutherans in the backfield, while Cronquist, Martin, Whalen and Willard shone in the line. Berry and Bryan were the only Army backs who made any yardage against each other's charges, and Lepp, right end, was the main threat in the line.

Dorm Plungers Will Meet Noted Dames

Coach Willard's Aggregation Prepares to Battle Coach Moe's Team Between Halves on Sat.

What will be the result of the exciting game when the Noted Dames meet the Dorm Plungers Saturday afternoon in the Lincoln Bowl, only time will tell. Under the direction of Coaches Swede Willard of the former team and Dutch Moe of the latter, a real football battle will be staged between the halves at the Homecoming game. At a meeting yesterday afternoon, the girls elected Mary Nash manager of both teams.

The Noted Dames, represented by the day girls, have organized an eleven that would put any conference winning team to shame. Captain Helen Collins has given positions in the lineup to many of the most menacing girls in school and has a group of benchwarmers that tends to remind one of a standing army at ease. Dille Quale has been chosen water boy, doctor and chief nurse for the Dames, while Irene Ludahl will be manager and yell leader.

The Dorm Plungers have prepared a lot of secret plays, it has been reported, so this eleven, under Buster Roe, will offer the visiting aggregation plenty of stiff opposition. The subs on the Plungers' team have not been announced, but Coach Dutch Moe will not be without reserve power in this crucial contest. Mary Nash will carry on services of water boy, doctor and yell leader.

Lineups are:
Noted Dames Dorm Plungers
Evelyn Irwin REL Dickie Leland
Anna Mikkelsen RTL Dorothy Peterson
Jane Williams RGL Olga Overlie
Margaret Wesson C Kathleen Porath
Shirley Hecht LGR Ella Johnson
Mary Lou Preus LTR M. Schlermyer

French, German Clubs Planning 'Foreign Night'

At the business meeting of the French club November 5, plans were discussed for a foreign night, at which time both the French and German clubs will cooperate in giving an evening's entertainment.

After the conclusion of the business session the members played the French game, Si Nous Dinons.

At a meeting of the French club, Friday noon, October 28, members decided to devote one meeting a month for a social time, at which French songs and games will be featured.

The French club president, Edgar Larson concluded his talk on the city of Paris.
