Sophomores Top Contributions In Campus Chest Drive

A total of $375.47 was contributed by the PLC student body to the first annual Campus Chest drive, Co-chairmen George Nowadnick and John Liming announced yesterday.

Leading the class competition were the sophomores, with 63% of the members donating, and a total of $99.96.

The freshmen cyclashed the juniors for second honors, with 54% of the class giving, to 53% for the third-yearers. Totals were $108.20 and $70.65, in the same order.

Last on the list is the senior class, which contributed $52.95 for a 34% showing.

Apportionment of the funds will be as follows: Lutheran Student Action, 40%; World Student Service Fund, 30%; Community Chest, 20%, and Red Cross, 10%.

Fifty-two percent of the student body gave one dollar or more, the drive's goal, either in the collection in chapel or to the class representatives, who collected from those not able to give in chapel.

Faculty member donations totalled $30.

Manuscripts Soon Due For "Profile"

If you have a flare for writing, now is the time to make it known through the pages of the 1952 Washington Profile. A literary magazine, sponsored by the majority of colleges in Washington, the Profile will be published some time in April.

A short story, poem, or essay you have written, and which you believe merits consideration, should be turned in to the English department by March 17, 1952. Three of the best in each division will be published in this year's Profile.

Turn in your entries to Mr. Ranson Miss Knudson, Miss Blomquist, Miss Berge, or Mr. Heglund.

DEADLINE

Deadline for ordering senior announcements and caps and gowns is Saturday, March 15. Hoot Gibson, president of senior class, announced yesterday. Orders may be made in the bookstore.

Seniors Present Movie Saturday Night in SUB

"Down Memory Lane," with Bing Crosby, will be shown at 7:30 Saturday night in the SUB.

This movie has some of the stars of yesterday—Gloria Swanson and the Keystone Cops, for example—at their heyday. Old movies have been put together to make this one film, and the sound track is very good.

The senior class is sponsoring this show and the admission is 25 cents per person.

Three Elected To Regional LSA Offices

Three Pacific Lutheran college LSA members were elected to regional offices at the Northwest LSA Regional Retreat, held February 29, March 1 and 2 at Camp Wasowitz.

Kenny Johnson was elected regional vice-president. Also chosen regional officers from PLC were Helena Litau, financial secretary, and Miss Anne Knutson, treasurer. The other regional officers elected were: John Bloom of the University of Idaho, president; Carol Selander of Western Washington College of Education, secretary; and Hooken Hagen, an exchange student from Germany attending Washington State College, LSA action secretary.

The main speaker of the retreat, Pastor Harry Sorenson of Ellensburg, stressed Stewardship in his talks. Eight pastors from the region led the discussion groups on current topics. In the evening there were folk games,

Boreson To Crown Queen Of Saga Next Friday; Booths Go Up This Week

Highlighting the Saga Carnival coronation ceremonies next Friday night will be Stan Boreson, popular radio and television performer. Boreson, who has won acclaim in the Northwest with his rollicking imitations of Yogi (Yingle Bells) Yorgeson, will entertain with song and chatter and also crown the Saga royalty.

Other performers who will bring their talent to the forefront during the weekend's activities are the Puget Sounders, a quartet from Auburn, Washington, who placed second in the Forest Grove quartet contest recently; the Lettermen's Minstrel show and Roger Madsen, PLC acrobatic artist.

Door prizes will be offered at each performance on March 14 and 15. Tickets are now on sale for the coronation ceremonies.

Next Wednesday, construction of booths will begin in the gymnasium. All clubs must have their part of the carnival ready for business by Friday evening.

Ideas for unique booths which have been submitted to date include: a carnival sideshow, including two genuine

Okanogan snake charmers, complete with snake (nurses will be in attendance); an animal sideshow, and a fun house. Many games of skill will also be available for those interested in taking home one of the hundreds of valuable prizes.

Campaigning will begin today, Friday, March 7. No campaign posters will be permitted in the CMS building auditorium. Candidates for Saga King are senior men Bob Nielsen, Hoot Gibson and John Liming. For Saga Queen, five freshmen women have been petitioned as follows: June Humphrey, Bonita Mulholland, Marciel Fink, Helen Anderson, and Joanne Poenbet. The deadline for petitions was Thursday, March 6.

Elections for the royalty will be held on Thursday, March 13, with re-voting to be held on Friday, if necessary.

This issue will reach the alumni of Pacific Lutheran College to inform them of the coming event, and urge them to attend.

Ticket Sale Encouraging

"The results of the poll taken in chapel this week was extremely gratifying, with a total of 461 persons ordering tickets for the three-day PLC Drama-Music Festival," Professor Karl Weiss, co-director, stated Wednesday.

Students and faculty members were asked to place approximate ticket orders for the gigantic festival, scheduled for May 1, 2 and 3. 307 persons ordered 83 tickets, 127 wanted $7.50 seats and 27 were interested in the $10 duets.

Purpose of the poll was to give the Festival directors an idea of the amount of interest in the affair.

Choir Ends Tour Sunday At Yakima

Sunday evening at Yakima, the Choir of the West will make its last Silver Anniversary tour appearance.

Monday at 8 a.m., the Inland Empire will bid adieu to the 59-voice group, as they leave on the last leg of their 1952 tour. They are scheduled to arrive in Parkland the same afternoon.

The week has been a busy one for the PLCites and their director, Gunnar J. Mahmin. Twelve concerts and numerous smaller performances kept them in voice throughout the ten days.

Tonight the singers perform at Walla Walla in Emmanuel Lutheran church after traveling from Connell, which they left this morning. From Walla Walla, the buses will travel to Kennewick for a concert tomorrow evening at Kennewick high school.

Sunday morning the Parkland collegians will attend services at Grandview Lutheran Church, and give a concert in the same place in the afternoon. Last stop on the trek is Yakima, where they will sing for their Sunday supper and give the final concert in Central Lutheran Church.

Versatile Chemistry Prof. Is Subject of Book Entitled "Anders"; Wife Is Proud Author

For more than a quarter of a century, PLCites have known A. W. Ramstad as the head of the chemistry department, as an inventor, preacher, author and, above all, friend of everyone. Last week they were surprised to learn that he is also the sock-knitting champion of Goodhue county, Minn.

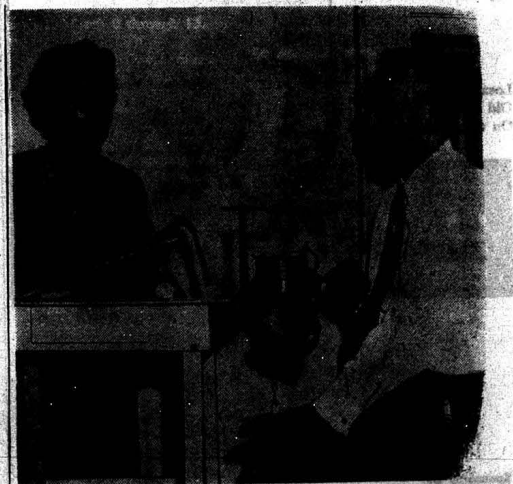

Prof. Ramstad's mastery of the sock-knitting business is featured in "Anders," a 60-page book published by Mrs. Ramstad, who first decided about 15 years ago that her husband ought to be the subject of a book.

Many of the colorful biographical anecdotes in the book revolve around Ramstad's operation of a quaint knitting machine for which his father had paid $10. This happened shortly after the turn of the century.

"You," Father Ramstad said to Anders, "shall make the family name famous, and win the family fortune! You shall be the knitter!"

Soon the Ramstad household, with Anders turning out socks at a frightening pace, became the envy of the

EDITORIAL

Today marks the beginning of a week long, spirited campaign for Saga Queen and King candidates. The campus will take on a new look, with every inch of wall space covered by posters of every size and description, bearing the names and pictures of candidates.

These signs were not merely thrown together, but most of them reflect long hours spent in the making. Some of the posters, housed with photographs of the King or Queen aspirants, represent not only an investment of time, but of money also.

Immediately following the election Thursday, students will swarm over the campus, to take down the posters that they worked so hard on. However, too-often in previous years, eager souvenir seekers grabbed up the posters before the rightful owners were able to. Most college students have a bank account. They deposit the money and withdraw it. No one else has that privilege. So likewise, with the posters, if a student puts one up, he should be able to take it down and keep it. Let's keep this in mind when the polls close.

QUESTION of the WEEK

Do you think that the new C-M-S building should be opened to visitors on Saturday and Sunday afternoons?

Anne Stray: Yes, no doubt about it. Many times kids' folks and other visitors come out on week-ends and are not able to see the new building because it is locked and guides are not available. The present touring service should be changed.

Lauren Bloom: If I said no, Mr. Karl would cry, so I say "yes."

Glenn Werner: Yes, so Mr. Karl can practice his gestures on more visitors.

Chief Bob Brog: I have no more words! Ugh!

Jan Westland: Yes, definitely. Especially in the evenings.

Stan Kvern: I think so, especially on Sundays, when visitors are often on the campus.

Cordy Proctor: Yes. Then the doors would be open for students to use the lounge.

Harold Bakken: Yes. This would publicize PLC a little more.

Dick Krasnow: A building that is so good looking should be open for people to see.

Vern Newhouse: Yes, just so long as the visiting isn't made compulsory.

Gloria Jutte: Chapel building? I wondered why there weren't very many in the gym lately.

Bill Nieman: It should be open so that the people of the community know what a great asset they have. Why discourage visitors; they open Old Main, why not the new buildings.

Ted Carlstrom: It is PLC's main feature and it works as an ambassador to prospective students and supporters, therefore should be kept open at specified hours.

Kathy Hinricks: Yes, because Joyce Genz' roommate, Evangeline Rimbach, who lives next door to Irene Hansen and me, can't practice piano on Saturday. (She couldn't anyway because she works).

Irene Hansen: Yes, providing Spurs are allowed to open a hotdog concession to help support Blue Key.

Swing Band Reorganizes

The first public appearance of the year for the "Work-Shop" Band is swiftly nearing. For those of you who were on the PLC campus last year, the Work-Shop Band offered several programs of entertainment. Because of popular demand, the group, with several new additions, had been reorganized for a new season.

The five veterans of last year's organization who have been busily buying music and enlisting new members for this year's entertainment are: Paul Steen and Dale Keller, trumpet; Kathy Eide, piano; and Ernie Templin and Jack Selfors, sax.

A "sight-reading" band, they have a variety of arrangements that includes everything from Stan Kenton's "Painted Rhythm" to "Little Brown Jug." Vernon Lestrud will be soloist; featuring such numbers as "It's the Loveliest Night of the Year" and "Talk of the Town."

Added to this year's group of swingsters are the following: Ron Sterland, bass; Maurice Fink and Elaine Harms, tenor sax; Al Fink, baritone sax; Bob Rando, Floyd Ohnigen, Harold Hillesland, trombone; and Anton Johnson, drums.

This group of rhythm-loving students will perform next Thursday evening, March 13, at the SUB, where they will be appearing on the "Booster Night" talent show, one of the many big events of the next seven days that will be climaxed with the Saga Carnival on the 14 and 15 of March.

Ann Knorr Announces Engagement at Party

Dorothy Olsen and Gwen Hovey were co-hostesses at a Hard Time party given at the Knorr home in honor of Ann Knorr last weekend. About forty guests, dressed in hobo, Indian, and other Hard Time costumes, enjoyed watching TV and playing games. Later in the evening suckers were passed out with the names "Ann and Al" on them. Ann then revealed her engagement to Al Daniels, graduate of W.S.C. and engineer for City Light in Tacoma. The traditional song was sung to the pair. August 23 has been set as the wedding date.

Prexy Says . . .

I have heard the comment many times that there is nothing to do around here! I don't think we can honestly make this comment.

We have had some difficulties with weekend activities this year, but there are reasons for them. The Inter-club Council handles all the scheduling of events throughout the whole school year. They have done a wonderful job thus far. However, (and I hope I don't step on too many toes) when organizations postpone or cancel their programs at the last minute, how can we help but have some poor weekends? If you know that your organization cannot put on its program, please notify the Dean of Women or let I.C.C. know immediately, so that someone else may use that date. This is very important, especially now that spring is here with so many things going on and so many clubs looking for open dates.

Another comment I hear frequently is, "even if there is something going on we never know about it in time to make plans to go." Advertising is half the program and that is where we have fallen down this year. It is good to get out advertising at least a week before the event takes place.

The last comment that I would like to make is that we be fair to our chaperones. Ask them early and make sure they are aware of the type of activity and everything which will take place.

BASKETBALL ENDS

The curtain descended on another PLC basketball season Wednesday night in Cheney. Again this year, in keeping with tradition, Coach Marv Harshman and his Gladiators have given Luteville a winning basketball team. Harshman's 1952 Lutheran edition will long be remembered as one of the most colorful to wear the black and gold. There were no McLaughlins or Lundguards on this team to stand out as individual stars. Instead, there was a squad of hustling ball players integrating their individual performances into a spirited team effort. The Lutes were hampered all season by a definite lack of height. Give this squad a big man to match against the opposition's giants and they could have gone far. As it was, they compiled an enviable record. There was that 9-game winning streak which included a victory over Willamette's Northwest League champs and two wins over CPS to cinch the Tacoma City Title again this year, and then that never-to-be-forgotten game against the strong Seattle U. Chieftains which was decided in the final two seconds. Yes, this was a team of which PLC is proud.

SENIORS

Three Lutes have turned in their final basketball performances at PLC. Gerry Hefty, Bert Wells and Ed Brown are these graduating seniors. Bert and Gerry entered Luteville four years ago and moved into the starting lineup. Bert, as a ball-hawking guard, who was voted last year's inspirational award by his teammates; and Gerry, as a forward, developing into a rugged backboard man. Ed, meanwhile, appeared on the PLC scene last year after playing at Olympic JC. This scrappy guard teamed with Bert to give the Lutes the outstanding pair of floor men in the conference. These three will be missed next year.

SPORTS SHORTS

... Professor Roe has called our attention to a controversial sports article worth reading in The Atlantic Monthly of October 1951, entitled "Too Much Football."

... Former Lute great, Gene Lundgaard, was named as one of the outstanding players in the World's Air Force tourney in which his Memphis Air Base team finished fourth.

... Ken Wright, former Lute and Whitman College athlete, has been named as an outstanding rookie pitcher in the San Francisco Seals' training camp.

... Did you know what a large SUB auditorium we have? Last Friday night, while the District B high school tourney was being played in Memorial gym on lower campus, a school bus pulled up in front of the SUB. Two dozen high school students tore into the building, glanced in the lounge, and ran up the stairs. The first girl to reach the top opened the door and called back, "Oh, we're too late. The game must be over. No one's here."

... John Schindler, Lute footballer of 1950, in his first year of coaching, brings his Lake Stevens team to the state B tournament in Tacoma this week as Northwest District Champs.

... How off to KMO, Stella's Flowers, Myrtle Mockle, Soine's Shoe Store and Johnson's Drug for making the Whitworth broadcast possible.

... Congratulations and good luck to Seattle U on being chosen for the National Invitational Tournament at Madison Square Garden next week.

... This column also owes a thank you to Jim Lord of Eastern for his co-operation in reporting the second NAIB game.

Central Parkland's basketball teams made a clean sweep of both intramural league championships when last night the University squad defeated Tacoma 35-33, in the playoff game. Tuesday night the Central "Bibs" won the College league championship by downing Ivy (b) 38-30.

Last night's game was a thriller all the way and ended with apparent victory for Central, but when the score book was rechecked the game ended in a tie, 32-32.

During the first three quarters both teams employed a zone defense which neither could penetrate. The result was that most of the shooting was from far out and a low score of 24 to 22 for Tacoma at the end of the third quarter.

The backboard work was very even, although Central had a height advantage in Bill Tollefson and LeRoy Johnson. Both squads were very even, which was verified by the number of times the score was tied. Don Koessler's outstanding ball handling and shooting helped keep Tacoma in the game all the way.

With four minutes left to play, Tacoma still led with the score 29-28. Then Central made a basket and Tacoma a free throw and there were only two minutes remaining. The score board read 30-30, so Central stalled until only 10 seconds remained, when Rick Stuhlmiller sunk one from the side of the key. As the buzzer sounded, Tacoma missed a desperation shot.

The teams were leaving the floor when it was discovered that the score actually was 32-32. In the overtime Stuhlmiller again swished it through from the side of the key and Punk Walhueter made a foul shot to give Central 35. Tacoma's only point came from a free throw by Koessler, so the final score was 35-33.

The Central "Bibs" were pressed hard all the way in squeezing by Ivy Hall (b), 36-30. It was the final game for both teams and if the result had been reversed there would have been a three-way tie, which is an indication of how close the fight for the championship was in this league.

Lutes Split In N.A.I.B. Tournament

The PLC Gladiators traveled to Cheney this week to try for their second straight state NAIB crown, but ran into a tall, sharp-shooting band of Whitworth cagers in the opening game and had to settle for third place. It was simply too much height in that first game as 6-8 Ralph Polson controlled the boards. It was 35-25 for the Pirates at half-time and they led by a comfortable margin throughout the second half to post a 69-49 victory. Polson scored 24 points while his sub, Bohannon, who stands a mere 6-6, dumped in 8 points in the final quarter. Jack Johnson, Lute center, and Jim Doherty, Pirate forward, each collected 12 points. Besides grabbing off the majority of rebounds, the Pirates hit 41% of their shots from the floor to the Lutes 34%.

It looked like another bad evening for PLC on Wednesday. The Central Wildcats pulled away to a 24-14 lead early in the first half and then, with Johnson, Hefty and Huffman taking over the boards, the Lutes got hot and moved into a 37-32 half-time lead. PLC stayed ahead the second half as Ken Teller, 6-6 center who collected 22 points, kept the Wildcats in the game until he fouled out in the closing minutes, and PLC turned in a 63-55 victory. Jack Johnson and Glen Huffman, with 16 and 14 points, respectively, led the Lutes.

Debaters Compete At Linfield Today

Members of PLC's junior and senior debate squads are today competing in the Linfield College forensics tournament, at McMinnville, Ore. PLC is the defending champ in the junior division of the three-day meet, which ends tomorrow.

Selected to make the trip by the coaches, Theodore Karl and Vernon Utzinger, are Jon Ericson, Bill Ricker, Alan Hatlen, and John Rydgren, in the upper division, and Joanne Schief, Janet Carson, Janet Klippen, Edith Engel, Charlotte LaQua, Joan Werle, Luck Borrad and John Sauer in the junior class.

Three Elected to LSA Regional Offices

and on Sunday afternoon, a fireside before the LSA'ers left for their own camp.

For the first time in the history of the Northwest retreats, PLC was not first in the registration statistics—there were 34 from the University of Washington, the host LSA chapter, and 33 from PLC.

At the convention, plans for the next national LSA Ashram, to be held the last week of August at Estes Park, Colorado, were discussed. All LSA members are urged to start thinking about this convention and it is hoped that the Northwest Region might have a large representation.

The PLC LSA members are asked to give possibility of attending this conference serious consideration as this is probably the furthest west the national LSA convention will come for some time.

Dramatists Prepare For Productions

The Drama department at PLC is buzzing as every minute of its spare time is going into preparations for a combined dramatic production in the new C-M-S auditorium, March 21 and 22.

The show will be made up of two major phases; the one-act melodrama, "Her Fatal Beauty," and the formalized reading of the three-act play, "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

The daring "mello-dramer" is complete with the dashing and brave hero, the slinking, sneaking and dangerous villain, and the sweet, innocent heroine. The audience will be coming face to face with eight real "characters" when introduced to "Her Fatal Beauty."

All that can be said about the formalized reading is that its choice dialogue and intense dramatic appeal will be something new in PLC drama history. It is certainly an event that must be seen and heard to be truly appreciated.

The respective directors of these two productions are Howard Farley and Margaret Kutz, with Rosella Albrecht as assistant director on the melodrama. The following committees have been organized and are making last-minute plans: stage manager, John Moore; stage crew chairman, Ted Sieh; members are Bob Curtis, Alan Fried, Marian Christiansen and Lætitia Baschore.

Make-up chairman, Bob Keller; members are Colleen Uhre, Doris George, Helen Jensen, Iris Nordmen.

Costume chairman, Kathy Eide; members are Marceil Fink, Karlene Killdahl and Judd Doughty.

Property chairman, Marion Leonard; June Nelson.

Publicity chairman, Kathleen Hinrichs; Glenn Johnson.

Lighting chairman, John Unis; members are Steve Kennedy, Harold Hilliland.

Program chairman, John Rydgren; member, Floyd Ohman.

Landscaping Around C-M-S Building Started

Landscaping plans for the new Chapel-Music-Speech building are well under way, according to Mr. Ken Jacobs, plant manager. Mr. Jacobs explained that there would be grass where the ground is roped off and north of the building. A driveway in back of the new building will connect with the one by the Science building, and there will be a walk from the C-M-S to the Library and to the Class building across the street.

Shrubs from the school nursery will be planted around the building, some of them the flowering variety.

The old chapel building will be removed this summer and landscaping done on that corner.

Orders Being Taken For All-college Ring

The 75 signatures for the proposed all-college ring have been more than met at this time. This is most encouraging and shows that the students are willing to back up the note of confidence they expressed in the ring in Chapel last week.

A $5 down payment can be deposited now and the ring can be sent C.O.D. to the buyer two, three, or even four years from now if the student does not have the full price for the ring at the present time. If the 75 orders are covered by March 21, the rings can be delivered in less than two months to those who have the full price.

All specifications and preferences of the students' order are made now—size, color, the three initials and year of graduation, are all included on the order along with the date and place where he wants the ring set.

On March 19 and 20 the Balfour Company's representative will be on the campus to take orders and answer any questions concerning the new ring. Until then, Bob Johnson, Del Olsen, and Vern Newhouse will accept orders.

In order to make this ring a reality, 75 orders are needed now. The sooner they are met, the sooner the ring will be ordered.

Ramstad Book

neighborhood. People from miles around started inviting the young capitalist and his contraption to their homes so they too could take advantage of this "miracle of the machine age."

When Mrs. Ramstad first heard about her husband's sock-eling career, she immediately decided it was worth publication. When the two visited the old homestead in Minnesota in 1941, the first thing they did was to climb to the attic and recover the old machine.

PLCites may see the curious looking gadget for the next few days in the college bookstore. And if they would like to see a product of "Rammy's" genius, they may drop around to the household of the Neil Reids in Parkland, where several members of the family are walking around in Ram-made socks.

Students and faculty members here haven't had much opportunity to congratulate Mrs. Ramstad for her amusing book because she left with the Choir of the West just a few hours after the first copies came off the press.

Prof. Ramstad is taking the whole business quite modestly. Being the subject of a book is just another milestone in his colorful tenure at PLC.

When he arrived in 1925, he and Mrs. Ramstad moved into Old Main and he took over his duties as teacher of math and religion, dean of men, coach of men's and women's athletics, manager of the boarding club and bookstore. Mrs. Ramstad taught typing and served as secretary to the president.

Incidentally, the professor plans to visit Norway this summer. And he'll probably pack a bunch of books along to prove to his relatives in the old country that he is a success—the sock-knitting champ of a whole township.
