Lute Thinclads Win Third Straight Meet

Sprinter Glen Higgins, hurdler John Oberg and distance man Rob Gray continued to dominate their specialties Saturday as the Pacific Lutheran University thinclads won their third dual meet of the season, 80-65 over Willamette.

Higgins, a St. Helens, Ore., freshman, edged Willamette's Steve Krohn in both the 100 and the 220. Oberg, a freshman from Bend, Ore., won both the 120 HH and the 440 IH.

Gray, a Portland senior, won the mile and the two mile.

The Bearcats put the pressure on the Lutes' strong field events aggregation with victories in the shot, discus, high jump and long jump, while PLU was winning the javelin, triple jump and pole vault.

Mike Greer's 13-8 vault marked the third time the Tacoma junior has broken the old PLU standard of 13-3 this season. Phil Tundel uncorked his second +200-foot javelin toss.

The meet was held on the PLU college track.

KNIGHT DIAMOND SQUAD SEEKS FIRST WIN-AGAIN

The hitters are starting to produce, but the mound staff is still giving up too many runs.

Saturday the Knights came close to posting their first win of the season over the undefeated Pacific Boxers, but two Boxer runs in the seventh downed the PLU nine 5-4.

In the second game of the doubleheader the floodgates opened, with the Boxers coasting to a 12-4 decision.

After eight games the Lutes' leading hitters are infielder Phil Lavik and centerfielder Ron Toff. In conference games, Lavik and Bill Disbrow are top hitters.

Mike Greer sets new PLU pole vault standard.

PLU TENNIS TEAM SPLITS OVER WEEKEND

Another stubborn Willamette team was narrowly defeated by PLU Saturday, this time in tennis.

Rich Leake, Salt Lake City senior, and sophomore Jim Sheets, were double winners for PLU. Leake defeated the Bearcats' Larry Given and Sheets stopped Bill Land in the singles before the pair won their doubles match over Pete Beige and Given.

The final score was 4-3, PLU.

Earlier Saturday morning Oregon College of Education edged the Lute netters 4-3, giving the Lutes a split in the tennis double header.

PROFESSIONAL-SPECIALIZED
ACCREDITATION SHOWED STEADY
GROWTH DURING 1960s

Professional and specialized accreditation showed a steady growth during the decade of the sixties, both in terms of agency—institution contacts and in the number of agencies recognized by the National Commission on Accrediting to deal with the nation's colleges and universities. During the period:

- Fields in which the Commission authorized accreditation grew from 21 to 35, and

- Programs or curricula holding professional or specialized accreditation grew from 3,060 to 4,140.

The 14 fields in which agencies were recognized to accredit during the sixties included graduate schools of Theology (1960); master's degree programs in Speech Pathology and Audiology (1964); professional schools of Physical Therapy (1964); professional schools of Occupational Therapy (1964); professional schools of Medical Technology (1964); professional schools of Medical Record Librarianship (1964); professional programs of Dental Hygiene (1964); programs leading to the Doctor of Osteopathy (1967); technical programs in Nursing (two-year associate degree) (1967); master's degree programs in Community Health Education (1968); associate degree professional programs in Dental Assisting (1968); associate degree professional programs in Dental Technology (1968); associate degree two-year programs in Engineering Technology (1968); and professional programs leading to the Doctor of Podiatric Medicine (1969).

Agencies recognized during the 1960s accredit a total of 1,423 programs and have applications for initial accreditation pending for another 185. Agencies and associations which held NCA recognition to accredit prior to 1960 accounted for nearly 60 per cent of the growth from 1960 to 1969 in the number of programs or curricula holding professional or specialized accreditation. The latter group has 245 applications pending for initial accreditation.

The accompanying charts show agency-by-agency changes during the period.
