

Men in Service Write Regarding War Experiences

250 Alumni in Uniform Appreciate School Paper

From word coming to PLC directly and indirectly, it is certain that no one appreciated the December alumni issue of the Mooring Mast more than did the boys in service. The largest percentage of responses, either letters or contributions, have been from the more than 250 alumni now scattered all over the world who represent PLC in the armed forces.

Of these 250 or so, a recent tabulation showed that about 140 are students who have been leaving PLC directly for service since Pearl Harbor. The others are graduates or ex-students who had been out of school for awhile. Many of the boys whose college careers were interrupted by the war are definitely planning on returning to PLC at their first opportunity.

Writes Capt. Walter Simonson, to a faculty member, "I still intend to be a teacher; so when it is all over look for me in the front row of your classes. I'll be the one wearing a green beanie." And Bertil Eklund, sending Christmas greetings from a far-flung outpost says, "One of the things I plan on after the war is over is returning to PLC."

CHRISTMAS IN INDIA

Cpl. Robert Forness, ex '41, writes from India, where he says the Service Club is the center of social life. He describes their Christmas there, highlighted by services in an old church supposedly built around 1670 by the Spanish. He says, "Letters come from fellows in my class postmarked many places, such as Africa, up North, and that foreign place called the United States."

From Pfc. Ted Baird comes a long letter all about what we refer to as "down under." He is hoping to see Fred Miller and Bob Krueger, and if he does, it will not be the first meeting of that kind among PLC-ites far away. Ted has made use of the opportunity to get a first-hand geography lesson, and writes interestingly of the people, their customs, money system, food, churches, etc. Ted closes his letter with the prayer that those who left PLC to fight may return to their school again.

Lt. Ed Valentine recently wrote to Miss Nielsen to tell some of his observations of the English educational system. Among other activities, he has found time for a trip to Oxford.

NATIVES LIKE RED HEADS

Sgt. Clarence Monson, '34, writes a good letter from the South Pacific area and speaking of the natives, says, "They have an affinity for red hair (which makes me very popular)." He also sends greetings to his friends, particularly to the faculty, and adds that what they couldn't accomplish when they were teaching him "is being accomplished now, but what a way to get an education!" And, "I'll be looking forward to those Mooring Masts."

Marvin Howick sends greetings from Long Beach, Calif., where he is attending a course in dentistry at the U. S. Naval Hospital. From Cadet Ralph A. Bolstad comes word that he is completing his studies at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., and expects to enter the school of medicine at the University of Southern California at Los Angeles about March 1. Mrs. Bolstad is with him, at 309 Jackson Ave., Lexington.

Gladys Knutzen Changes Development Ass'n Slogan

Gladys Knutzen, '28, after having lived in Seattle since leaving PLC, is now in San Francisco working in the office of an accountant. Her address is 1375 Sacramento St., San Francisco 9. Gladys is the alumna who changed the slogan of the PLC Development Association from "at least a dollar at least once a year," to "at least a dollar at least once a month," and she has made much over 100 contributions.

Stork Defies Fog in Bringing Bundles to Graduates in Tacoma

The stork is a busy man these days as the birth lists in our daily newspapers testify. PLC grads are no exception when it comes to his visits. He worked overtime the first days in January. Threading his way gingerly through the fog blanketed metropolis of Tacoma, he deposited four future PLC-ites in the General Hospital in a week.

First one in the parade was Mark Luther Nesvig, son of Rev. '35) and Mrs. Milton Nesvig, born January 5th. Three days later on the eighth, the Daskoms of Roy had a boy, David Charles. Mrs. Daskom is the former Ione Prull, '30. She and Mrs. Nesvig were roommates during their confinement.

On the 12th, Joseph Paul Grande made his debut. He is the son of the Otis Grandes. Otis finished in the class of '38, and his wife, Volly Norby, in '36. The very next day Paul Larry Larson came into the world. He is the son of Paul Larson, '38, and wife, nee Nina Anderson, '41. Paul, Sr. is a teacher in the Parkland grade school. Otis Grande is teaching at Gault Intermediate in Tacoma.

On the same day that Mark Nesvig was born the Harold Berentsen's of Portland had a son, David John. Harold, '32, is director of the Multnomah (Portland area) chapter of the American Red Cross. He has enlisted in the Navy and expects to receive a commission soon.

And still more babies. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Skrivanich of Gig Harbor had a son, Martin David, November 15th. They also have a girl of four years, Mary Lee. Mrs. Skrivanich is the former Mary Nash, '35.

"Motoren" Was Tacoma-Parkland Transport 50 Years Ago; Hauled Cattle, Milk, Students

B. FRIVOLD

Chug, chug! Clang, clang!
That was the old "Motor" or "Mortoren" as the local old-timers called it, pulling out from town with its load of PLC students, milk cans, bags of grain, bundles of hay and even, perhaps, a flock of sheep, black and otherwise—about fifty years ago!

The "Motor" was a train consisting of only one car that resembled a baggage contraption more than a passenger special. The seats were kitchen chairs that threatened to throw you out the window—or into a huddle with milk and feed at every turn. An antiquarian coal stove furnished a central heating system.

It was really an achievement if you reached school looking fit, without burlap lint all over your dark suit or skirt from the "farmer cushions" that surrounded you. But, ride you must, for the "Motor" was the only means of conveyance for the first students attending PLC in the early days—unless you owned your own horse

Annual Alumni Reunion Will Be Held on Sunday, February 20th

REUNION PREACHER . . . Rev. John Hopp of Christ Lutheran Church in Seattle who will give the sermon at the morning worship service in Trinity Church, Parkland, Sunday, Feb. 20.

Schoolmates Meet In Chicago Station

Pvt. Harry Solos, ex '43, visited PLC this week and told of a recent reunion of PLC men, who met at the Union Station in Chicago. Harty Hoff, Jerry Linder, Olaf Kvamme, Karl Olson, Guttorm Gregerson, Norman Hagen and Harry were in the lucky group. They celebrated by attending the Chicago-Wisconsin basketball game and concluded with a hamburger feast.

Knutzen Has Two Stores

Floyd Knutzen, '35, who has been working with his Dad in the Burlington store, is now in business for himself in Port Orchard. Floyd has two stores serving the huge housing projects in that area. The stores were opened the first of the year. His wife, Amy Gilbert, '35, and their two children have moved to Port Orchard. Brother Vern Knutzen, '36, is still in the store in Burlington.

and buggy or carriage and four!

If you had been a student then, you would have encountered other difficulties, too. You girls wouldn't have been able to climb those stairs in a skip and jump as you do now, but you would have had to carefully pick up your long, hooped skirts before beginning the perilous ascent.

And you would have had to allow yourselves an extra hour in the mornings for that "hair do" that either was piled high skyward or done in large puffs from east to west.

You fellows would have had to keep your chins up, regardless—those wing collars and celluloid masterpieces would have offered no alternative.

Regarding the surrounding countryside. There was no library, chapel, or gym adorning the campus and only a dwelling here and there dotting the prairies or gleaming through the uncut timber.

What changes the Old Main has seen! For it remains—a part of the yesteryears.

Rev. John Hopp to Preach; Concert, Banquet Features

Graduates and former students of Pacific Lutheran College will gather on the campus for their annual reunion Sunday, February 20th. Because of the success of last year's one-day affair the board thought it best to continue in that manner for the duration.

The Rev. John Hopp, '32, will give the sermon at the 11:00 o'clock worship service in Trinity Church in Parkland. This is in keeping with the custom of having an alumnus give the reunion day sermon. Rev. Hopp is the pastor of Christ Lutheran Church in Seattle. His wife is the former Margaret Rorem, '37. Rev. N. B. Thorpe, college pastor, will be the liturgist at this worship. The Trinity choir, under the baton of Walter Schnackenburg, '37, will sing.

CONCERT AT 3:00

The annual concert by the "Choir of the West" will be presented at 3:00 in the afternoon in Trinity church. The college orchestra will also be on the program, playing several selections. Both organizations will be under the leadership of Professor Gunnar Malmin. As is customary, former members of the choir will sing one number together with the present choir. The number chosen is "Beautiful Savior" as arranged by Christiansen.

Following the concert there will be "Open House" on the campus. Alumni will want to see all the new improvements in the main building, chapel and gymnasium. Latest change on the campus is the sanding and re-finishing of the playing floor of the gymnasium. The walls under the running track were painted white.

this dorm open house will be the showing of a room which has just been done over with knotty pine walls and ceiling. This room is a sample of how all of the rooms in the dorm will eventually be finished.

There will also be "open house" in the dormitories, so that you can see the re-decorated rooms and also how "Joe college" lives today. A special feature of BANQUET AT 5:30

The third big event of the day will be the banquet at 5:30 in the renovated and re-decorated recreation room. The price for the dinner will be $1.25 per plate. Circle No. 5 of the Trinity Guild will be serving the meal, which will be a roast pork dinner.

Milton Nesvig, '35, alumni president, will be the toastmaster at the banquet. "Through The Years" will be the theme of the banquet as this is the Golden Jubilee year of PLC. Instead of one main speaker there will be short talks by five representative alumni whose college careers span the fifty years. Two who have promised to speak are Fred Heany, '38, principal of the Jefferson School in Tacoma, and Edwin Tingelstad, principal of the high school at PLC. There will be musical selections and community singing. Dr. S. C. Eastvold will speak, and give a greeting to the alumni.

RESERVATIONS

The committee in charge of the banquet desires to know how many will attend. Please send in your reservations by Feb. 14. Clip the coupon on page 3. Members of the committee are, Anna Marn Nielsen, LinkaDeBerry and Ursula McDonald.

Approach

While lying in an overseas hospital recovering from wounds, Pfc. Marv Shaw, ex '43, recently awarded the Purple Heart, wrote the following lines:

I step along the pathway close in rhythm with my heart.
I walk along with measured step—the tempo slow at start.
The path winds down a long defile, a canyon still and deep—
A road with walls of granite rock, so high, so hard, so steep.
The dark above me deepens as I walk the downward slope.
A star above me flickers a silver ray of hope.
A Styxian stream among the stones flows silent at my side.
And up ahead a fog is hung, the depths below to hide.
I now begin to hasten and my walk becomes a run.
I cry aloud a fierce desire to see the blessed sun.
Then, suddenly, amid the mist a black-robed form appears.
I stumble in my headlong flight, my throat is choked with fears.
The head beneath the hood is blurred, a painting new effaced.
The hands are long and bony, and with phosphorescence laced.
I tremble now, I check my rush, and freeze upon the track—
A clammy sweat is on my face, my shoulders and my back.
The thing comes gliding toward me as I watch with frenzied eye.
Will those cold arms embrace me, or will they pass me by?
Oh, good rich things of earth, I long so achingly for you!
I long to see a snowy peak beneath a dome of blue.
I long to hear Pacific's roar, to touch a daffodil.
I want to smell again the pines that grow upon the hill—
I want to thrill to highways on which I used to roam.
I long to send the comfort and the peacefulness of home.
And so, black angel, pass me by; I have one life to give.
But let me keep it for awhile—I've just begun to live!

Fibs and Facts

By WALTER SCHNACKENBURG

As I sit here and munch on this piece of ry-krisp, I see it is in the middle of the night. The paper is wet with the tears that flood the paper a/c President Nesvig's request for a column from me. These are tears of remorse over the debacles that were mine as a would-be columnist for the M.M. (shortly after the Civil War, that was), tears of compassion over the horrible plight of the modern-day reader who, must again vacillate in agony—to read on or to burn the paper, and tears of joy that the monster no longer comes to gnaw at me bi-weekly.

That churlish slur from one Bob Monson (the fanciest columnist in the history of PLC) which he cast to some effect or other... can't remember just now... never could remember what he said for very long... it was the odor of the way it was said that stayed... O Retaliation! O Revenge! His magnificent wit was always a challenge for many. I guess there are some people who had trouble with the sixth grade. Nevertheless, it is still my ambition to get that old quartet together at some Reunion. Remember how Anenson used to comb his hair? HAW.

For those of you that may be interested, John Niles, a character many of you will have forgotten, has a new address, as follows: A/c Esq John Niles, 4th bgst NVRA c/o Figli, 76554-7937650086957846082365 - 0018 Rg. OBY 2nd Branch, 17th Mng. 4-T of the Ofc. Blg. Q. Fla. MNEP A/S, Room 21.

The editor (fatherly balding) stated that it would be politic to mention names. He said it was important to get names into the paper. It was, I freely admit, with a good deal of satisfaction that I dispatched my duty and mentioned names.

He also said "Write news." After pondering this demand, and finally realizing that it would be next to impossible for me to write news interesting for all alumni, I vowed to go ahead with it, and make a real attempt to please. Read the paragraph that pertains to you, and follow the instructions for best understanding.

If you graduated in the 40's read on: (Insert names) have a (Choose one—new wife, new job, permanent, case of measles, husband, boy friend, axe-to-grind) and she/he/it is (select one—fat, tough, pretty, far away, small, ambidextrous, pudgy). That's what your group is most likely interested in. A preposition is the wrong thing to end a sentence with.

For grads of the 30 era, this: (Insert names) have (Choose—three, a new, two, ten, the biggest, the fattest, the cutest, a large) (Cross out one—baby, children) and it/they has have (Choose—red hair, full set of teeth, mumps, large features like mother/father, no manners, every advantage).

For those in the 20's: (Name or names) is (Pick—getting false teeth, getting better, a card, an old grouch, too old, violent, perking up some, feeble) and is living in (Pigeon Creek, Paris, Oklahoma City, Edmonton, Chungking, Naples, Bellingham, Chicago, Silverton).

1910-20 group: (Names) won't (get up, play golf any more, smoke cigars now, ever get used to his wig, smile, frown, change sox).

Did you finish in '08: (Choice of either name), has (twenty five, forty seven) (Choose—grandchildren, automobiles, insurance policies, worries, diseases).

Now these are only intended as examples, the close study of which will enable you to set up much the same kind of system for your many friends. You'd be surprised how this facilitates correspondence. There is no reason why you too cannot have pen pals.

Like to add a reminder to be sure to come to the Reunion—it's coming up soon—if at all possible come back and visit. Might be a pretty good idea to pay your dues, too. The Alumni Ass'n. can be really a big thing when it gets unified and activated. Do your part. Tear the top off a Pontiac and send it in with 25 cents (coin) to Pres. Nesvig. You will be amazed to receive different things in return.

Life at PLC is much the same as it always was, except that this year there is a distinct premium on males, there being so few around. Now and then someone out of the past returns to gladden the hearts of the swooning feminine group. It does something for one's perspective to return to the old Alma Mater as a part of the faculty. I see myself as others saw me. In fact I see pretty nearly all the old gang as someone else saw them. OUCH.

Believe me, I am in a spot. Trying to revert to type under some circumstances is the height of nerve. I had better turn off the faucet before some student accuses me of willful and premeditated guidance. Tough sledding. No snow. Toodloo's. Pay your dues. Never again... never again.

Grandchildren of Pioneers Attending PLC This Year

Among children of PLA alumni enrolled at PLC this year are two girls whose mothers are sisters, daughters of the late Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Foss, Virginia Michelsen, completing her third year, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Michelsen of Seattle. Mrs. Michelsen is the former Jennie Foss.

Barbara Fixen, who entered PLC this fall, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Fixen of Everett. Her mother is the former Clara Foss.

Also attending PLC is Barbara Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Newton, of Oakville. Her mother was formerly Agnes Christensen, whose father, in turn, the Rev. N. Christensen, was a member of the first faculty when Pacific Lutheran University, as it was then known, opened its doors on Oct. 25, 1894.

Ed Sandvig Is Elected Fireside Group Prexy

New officers, all of them freshmen, were elected by Fireside, Sunday evening, January 23. They are Ed Sandvig, president; Agnes Roleder, vice-president; Barbara Newton, secretary-treasurer; and Ted Reitz, fire-chief. Louis Johnson will continue as candle-lighter for chapel services. Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Eastvold were host and hostess to the Fireside group on Sunday evening, January 30. Dr. Eastvold gave his third talk on "Life After Death." Refreshments were served after the general discussion which followed the talk.

Mrs. Eastvold Speaks

Mrs. S. C. Eastvold was speaker for the L. D. R. on Wednesday, January 19, which met at the home of Mrs. P. E. Hauge, former adviser. Co-hostesses were Mrs. C. O. Olson and Mrs. C. A. Barofsky. Eunice Torvend played a piano composition, and Anna Anderson gave a reading.

Barney Janssen, '34, is receiving clerk at Washington Hardware in Tacoma.

Gladiator Hoopmen Drop Pair to Army Fives From McChord

Displaying a balanced attack, the "fall timbers" of McChord Field (863rd G. D. Squadron) overcame a shorter Gladiator squad by a score of 37 to 19 on the college maples, Monday evening, January 24. The tilt, the second of the season, saw the home casaba five keeping the score considerably lower than that of their first encounter with an outside team.

After many attempts by both quintets to sink the first counter, the 863rd came through with the initial tally, and commanded the situation from this point on. Carl Fynboe succeeded in hitting the hoop for a foul shot for the Lutes' first score. Breaking through the air, mens' defense, Jerrol Enge potted a field goal and followed with a successful free toss. Les Storaasli eluded his 6 ft. 5 in. guard to make his only basket of the evening, ending the half-time scoring at 16-6 in favor of McChord Field.

Starting off the second half for the Lutes, John Baglien talked three points. However, all attempts at rallying were submerged by the long arms of the McChord Field five. Taking advantage of fast breaks and poor Lute passing, the 863rd increased their lead and the final count read 37-19.

Barbe and Sava of the Air Squadron tied for high point honors with 11 points each. Leading Coach Olson's squad was Jerrol Enge with 7 points. Other tallies for the locals: Storaasli 2, Fynboe 3, Bachner 1.

Taking on the second strongest team of the McChord Field League, PLC Gladiators attempted to stop the "array air cory" in their initial basketball game January 17, only to be downed by a score of 47 to 36. The game, the first of a series with service quintets, was played on the refinished floor of the college gym.

Despite the effort of the Gladiators to hold the lead the McChord Fielders (who had several members from last season's "All Star Team" picked from 16 squads at the Field) overcame the Lute margin and took over by a score of 21 to 16 at the half. The PLC boys showed more determination than skill in an attempt to cop their first game of the season.

Coach Olson's team consisted of high school and college boys turning out for the Thursday evening P. E. Class. The games with outside teams are keeping the seed of PLC's sport program alive during the War.

Haakon Kirkebo, '41, is a pilot instructor at the Naval Air Station in Hutchinson, Kansas.

Rev. Rasmussen Speaks at Mission Society Meeting

Election of officers was held at Mission Society meeting, Wednesday evening, January 26. Paul Funk again wields the gavel as president; Ted Reitz is now vice-president; and Dorothy Rasmussen holds the office of secretary-treasurer.

Rhoda Lee led in Scripture reading and prayer, after which the boys' quartet sang several selections. The Rev. C. P. Rasmussen of Seattle gave a talk on the wartime mission activities of the Lutheran Church in the Northwest.

Dickey Leland, '33, is working at the Veteran's Hospital at American Lake near Tacoma. She is the secretary to one of the staff doctors.

The Dean's office has received advance registrations before, but the Kreidler twins in applying for admission to the class of '65 breaks all records. Myron Bradford is the lad on the left and Chandler Peter is on the right. They were born the 28th of September. Parents are Lyeil Kreidler, 35, and wife, nee Louise Jackson, '35. Do you have someone you would like to enlist for future classes at good old "alma mammy"? Send the names in to Irene Hageness, our alumni secretary in Parkland. They will be run in future alumni publications.

Swanson Accepts Call From Yakima Church; Nyman, Monson Teach at Boeing in Seattle

Rev. Roland Swanson, '35, has accepted a call to the Central Lutheran Church in Yakima. He will be installed there on Sunday, March 5th. At present he is serving a congregation in Bakersfield, California, where he has been since the first of August, 1942. The Swansons have a son, Paul Rupert, born one year ago.

Workers at the Boeing airplane plants in Seattle go to school as well as assembling fighting dreadnaughts of the air. On the teaching staff of this school are two of our alumni . . . Bill Nyman, '31, and Donald Monson, '39. As most of you know, these men have alumna for wives . . . Beanca Jorgenson, '30, and Marie Johnson, '36. Don and Marie are proud parents these days. Carolyn Marie is the name of the new addition who came into the world December 14th. The Nymans and Monsons are neighbors in a government housing project for Boeing personnel.

Kay Johnson McClary, '34, is teaching in Puyallup while her husband, a lieutenant, is overseas.

Gertrude Brunner Krause, '36, is working at the North End Grocery in Tacoma.

Harold Berentson, '32, is married and lives in Portland, Ore. (1506 S. W. Alder St., address), where he is manager of the local Red Cross Chapter. He has been in Red Cross work three year. His chapter has a staff of 84; and also 36,000 active volunteers. He writes that his brother, Stan, '30, who married last year to Marie Switzer of Seattle, is at officer's training school at Fort Knox, having previously received training in Georgia, Alabama, the Carolinas and Tennessee.

Ruth M. Enroth, '39, is teaching the fifth grade at the Coriway Consolidated School, R. 5, Mt. Vernon. Pearl Walden Irby '40, teaches at Orient.

Alma Stolee, '37, former secretary to Dr. O. A. Tinglestad, is a stenographer in Vancouver, Wash.

Olai Hageness Receives Educational Post in Navy

Lt. (jg) T. Olai Hageness, '31, on leave of absence from his position as Pierce County Superintendent of Schools, is stationed at present in the 13th Naval District with headquarters in Seattle. His work is in the Training Aids Division of the Training Office of the Bureau of Personnel. Lt. Hageness spent four weeks in Washington, D. C., studying the program at its source.

EVERY YEAR since its first year, Lutheran Brotherhood has shown a steady and consistent growth. It has always operated on the sound foundation of the time-tested legal reserve plan, based on the American Experience Table of Mortality. Lutheran Brotherhood is purely mutual—it belongs wholly to its policy owners.
