

P.L.C. Opened For 40th Year Sept. 18

Dr. Tinglestad Presides at Formal Opening of School in Chapel: Officially Welcome New Students

For its fourteenth year of existence, Pacific Lutheran College was formally opened at exercises held in the college chapel Monday evening, September 18. Pres. O. A. Tinglestad, who was chairman of the first affair of this school year, welcomed the students on behalf of the school.

Lewis G. Hunter, instructor in band and orchestra at the college, played "Andante Religioso" as a violin number. A greeting was next brought by the students from the Board of Trustees by Rev. O. L. Haavik of Seattle, who is president of the group. The musical part of the program was concluded with the singing of "Enough to Know" by the faculty ladies' quartet, which includes Mrs. A. W. Ramstad, Mrs. P. E. Hauge, Mrs. C. O. Olson, and Mrs. J. U. Xavier. Mrs. J. O. Edwards accompanied the musicians.

Announcements concerning class-work at the school were made by Dean Phillip E. Hauge. Clarence Lemming extended a greeting from the Associated Students of which he is head. Other greetings were brought by Rev. L. Ludwig of Portland, president of the Northwest District of the American Lutheran Church; and by Rev. E. Arthur Larson of Tacoma who represented the Augustana Synod on the program.

Invite P.L.C. Students To Luther League Rally

Officers and members of the Tacoma Luther League extend an invitation to all students of Pacific Lutheran College to attend the fall rally which the group will sponsor this evening at the First Lutheran Church, 6th and I streets in Tacoma. After the rally program, there will be refreshments and a social hour at the invitation of the Luther League at that church.

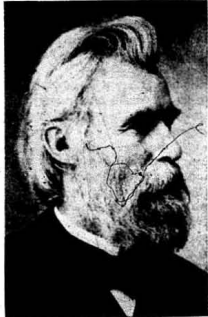

Rev. Alvin Lewis of Our Saviour's Lutheran church will address the group on "Ye are the salt of the earth." Musical numbers will include a violin number by Lewis G. Hunter of Pacific Lutheran College, a piano selection by Von Zanner, and a vocal duet by Mary and Agnes Tollefson of Tacoma.

Faculty Members Go From Mexico to Chicago to Spend Summer Vacations

With modest protestations of having spent very ordinary vacations, the faculty reviews its actions of the summer. Mr. Hauge leads the list, having spent his summer at the University of Chicago as a member of the American Lutheran commission studying trends in higher education. He was under the supervision of R. W. Worms, dean of students and university examiner. This committee's report, which is just being published, is to be the basis of faculty study at American Lutheran Colleges this year. Mr. Hauge also saw the world's fair.

Another member of the faculty, Mr. Highby, saw the fair, as did Miss Dahl of the business department. Miss Dahl traveled to the Middle West to do field work for Pacific Lutheran College in the Women's Missionary Federation, a family reunion in Minnesota. Later Mr. Highby's trip was made to attend

REV. HARSTAD PASSES

Rev. Bjug Harstad, founder of Pacific Lutheran College, and ardent Christian education enthusiast, who passed away at his home in Parkland last June 20.

P.L.C. Founder Dies

Rev. Bjug Harstad Dies in Parkland June 20

After an illness of several weeks' duration, Rev. Bjug Harstad, founder of Pacific Lutheran Academy, now Pacific Lutheran College, passed away at his home in Parkland last June 20. During his life, Rev. Harstad had been exceptionally active in Lutheran education, having also been the founder of the Franklin school, and of Burlat Academy in Portland, North Dakota.

During the first year after establishment of this school he served here as principal of the academy and later as a teacher. His interest in the school was so great that during the gold rush days he pioneered in Alaska in the hopes of benefiting Pacific Lutheran College.

Besides his work in establishing schools, Rev. Harstad served pastorates in the church which is now known as the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, but which at that time was three different synods. Aside from these interests, he was a student of the scriptures, and had a valuable library which was destroyed by fire here 12 years ago.

in the summer he again made the trip to the middle west because of the illness of his father who is now recovering.

E. Tinglestad, editor of the Pacific Lutheran Herald, did extensive traveling at the first of the summer. He and three others, Roll Preus, Irene Ludvahl, a former student, and Miss Dahl, drove to Minnesota. When he returned he drove a number of people to San Francisco for the convention of the Pacific District of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America. Later, he again traveled to the Middle West with Mr. Highby and two others. He claims that the only vacation he had was one-half day in the Dakota Black Hills.

Prof. Hoig went to Minnesota to attend the convention of the Norwegian Synod of the American Lutheran Church. While he was there he visited

22 Normal Grads Receive Positions

Fifteen Members of Last Year's Class Get Placements; Seven Others Receive First Teaching Jobs

Placement of twenty-two graduates of the Normal department of Pacific Lutheran College was accomplished this summer, according to the announcement of the Registrar's office. Considering present circumstances, the normal department and its faculty may be highly complimented for turning out so many satisfactory teachers, according to Dean Phillip Hauge.

Those who secured positions include: Arthur Spencer, Pacific City; Olga Overlie, Eatonville; Francis Andrews, Purdy; Margaret Hilmo, Mukilteo; Francis Newton, Fox Island; Mabel Jensen, Elgin; Ethel Hagman, Oakville; Olena Waagb, Gig Harbor; Bendicta Ieland, Bordeaux; Lorraine Thoren, Elk Plain; Alberta Schmitz, McMillan; Nellie Olson, R. F. D., Sumner; Delmar Mortenson, R. F. D., Puyallup; Kathryn Patten, Vancouver; and Ielf Klippen, Collins.

Those who are graduates of other years, and who have now received their first positions are Dagny Hjerstad, Anacortes; John Redne, Arlington; Walter French, Morton; Mildred Card, Castle Rock; Marie Gardin, Tokeland; Nina Swanson, Anderson Island; and Evans Carlson, Sumner.

P.L.C. Paper Seeks High Honor Rating

Mooring Mast Staff Writers to Be Chosen on Efficiency Basis: Credit Will Be Given for Work

To make the Mooring Mast an All-American Honor Rating paper as awarded by the National Scholastic Press Association is the objective in the minds of the faculty advisers and editor of the paper for this year. Since the Mooring Mast earned First Class honor rating last year, it is believed that the superior award can be earned this year, because of the large amount of journalistic talent among the new students, according to N. J. Hong, adviser of the editorial staff.

Under a new plan, students who work on the staff will receive one credit hour each semester for their work. However, in order to get the credit, it is necessary to have passed certain requirements to get the staff position, to do work up to the standard set by faculty members, and to attend regular meetings of the editorial staff.

In order that only those who are deserving of staff positions will be chosen to edit the paper, students interested in journalistic work are trying out on the first two editions of the Mooring Mast. The complete staff will be announced after the second paper. Those who worked on this first paper included Eunice Arneson, Virginia Boren, Margaret Craft, Evelyn Eklund, Jean-Marie Fowler, Milton Nesvig, Wilma O'Brien, William Phleger, Sarric Torpedal, and Emory Whitaker.

The business department will be headed by Marvin Hansen as manager. He was chosen Wednesday noon by the Board of Control. Clifford Moxford is advertising manager, and will choose his assistant later. Louise Jackson will be in charge of circulation for this paper. Jack Hudson will be the staff typist.

Faculty Reception Will Be Tomorrow Evening

To follow a custom of many years' standing, faculty members of Pacific Lutheran College will entertain the students at a reception tomorrow evening. The affair, which will begin at eight o'clock, will be held in the college dining and recreation rooms.

Program numbers as planned by the committee in charge will include short talks by Dr. O. A. Tinglestad, president of the college, and by Dean Phillip E. Hauge. Lewis G. Hunter will offer the violin numbers, and the Faculty Ladies' Quartet will sing. In the quartet are: Mrs. P. E. Hauge, Mrs. A. W. Ramstad, Mrs. C. O. Olson, and Mrs. J. U. Xavier. The accompanist is Mrs. J. O. Edwards.

After the program, there will be refreshments served from a buffet table, with the faculty wives and women of the faculty in charge. Plans for the entertainment at the annual event were in charge of a committee of Mrs. E. Reidler, Miss Fowler, Mr. Reid, and Mr. Ramstad. Vocal numbers will be given by Mrs. C. O. Olson and Mrs. P. E. Hauge.

Miss Jacobson to Leave P.L.C. Staff

Dean Phillip E. Hauge announces with regret the departure of his secretary Miss Margaret Jacobson, who leaves this week to accept a position with the firm of O. B. Guller Co., Inc. in Seattle. She takes up her new duties as secretary to the manager of the brokerage firm Monday.

Miss Jacobson has served in her position on the Pacific Lutheran College staff since May, 1931. While she has been secretary to the registrar, Miss Jacobson has been helping Sophia R. Fowler with the instruction in the girls' physical education classes. She has also coached the girls' basketball squad.

Due to the suddenness of news of Miss Jacobson's departure, no plans have been made as yet for filling the position.

Registrar Hauge, whose secretary Miss Jacobson has been for more than two years, stated in reference to the departure: "We feel very sorry Miss Jacobson is leaving; but realize her opportunity in her new position as secretary to the manager of this firm. It was especially difficult to con it, but her leaving, inasmuch as Mrs. Taylor will not be in the office this year. We certainly wish Miss Jacobson happiness in her new capacity."

New Day Girls Spread Freak Rumors As Delta Rho Gamma Initiation Nears

By Evelyn Eklund
Visions of wearing black stockings and white shoes to school, learning the Greek alphabet, or being thrown into Clover Creek float through the apprehensive minds of new day girls as initiations of Delta Rho Gamma, the day girls' organization, draw near. Plans for the event are kept a dark secret by the old members, as is even the fatal date.

If any boys should happen to see the initiates down on their knees scrubbing the chapel steps or the library floor, they might take note of it for use a few years hence. The same applies if they should see the girl friends washing their faces on the front steps.

As the old girls had to wear house slippers and stocking caps to school for initiation last year, new girls probably won't have to repeat the stunt this

Report 11.4% Gain In Enrolment Over Last Year's Figures

Registrar Hauge Announces 210 Registered so far in 1933-34 School Year; 30 NRA Students Here

An increase of 11.4 per cent over last year in enrollment figures for the fall semester is announced by Registrar Phillip E. Hauge. This he states, does not include the number of students who have applied for admittance under the NRA plan proposed by the Government. The total registration so far for the 1933-34 school year is 211.

Although no definite word from the Federal Government has been received yet as to whether or not the plan will be adopted, Dean Hauge states that the school hopes to receive information soon. Under this provision, worthy and needy high school graduates may work their way through college receiving payment from a fund set aside by the Government for this purpose. The money, which may not exceed a dollar a day for each student, is given by the student to the school in payment of tuition fees and other expenses.

In order that students who intend to register under this plan will not lose out on the first few weeks' study, Pacific Lutheran College officials have allowed them to attend classes under one of two methods suggested. Under one plan students may register and attend classes on payment of $25 and the presentation of a promissory note signed by student and parent. The second offer made by the college is that students may attend classes until fu her notice of the NRA plan. If it does not materialize favorably the student will be expected to take care of his bill at once, in order to continue.

According to announcement of the registrar's office, more than 150 applications for this government aid have been received. Of this number, approximately 30 have registered under either one of the two plans offered by the school.

Should this plan materialize, faculty members anticipate the largest enrollment ever to be recorded in the history of Pacific Lutheran College. However, with the 11.4 percent increase in enrollment over last year's figures of a later date, school officials anticipate a successful year.

We doubt that girls will have to eat onions for breakfast and prove it when they come to school, the old would suffer as much as the new. Florence Post promises the initiates that they won't have to build Pacific Lutheran College a new building providing they don't wreck the old one.

We hope we haven't given any ideas to the initiation committee, made up of Georgiana McClure, Esther Hvidding, Jane Williams and Hazel Monsen. Delta Rho Gamma is headed by Florence Post, who hopes to have had every day girl on some committee by next June. The committees working so far have been the committee to greet new girls and the locker committee. The former was comprised of Virginia Mahneke and Margaret Weson and the latter of Evelyn Irwin and Margaret Weson. The club plans to give a luncheon every month for day girls.

A Belated Greeting

The word "Welcome" has been ringing from all sides toward the new students ever since their arrival here at Pacific Lutheran College. The Mooring Mast extends its belated greeting in the form of an admonishment.

New students: Become interested in the activities of your school. Practically every interest is centered in some club, of which we expect you each to join as many as possible. It is there where you can become more intimately acquainted with your schoolmates. Also, these groups develop the leaders who are to take over the reigns of the school next year.

Don't confine your school connections to classwork alone. Attend the parties, games, and entertainments which the different groups sponsor. It is mainly through these that you will meet the happy spirit which is so vividly stamped on Pacific Lutheran College.

Dean's Secretary Leaves

The Mooring Mast, too, hears with regret news of the departure of Miss Margaret Jacobson, secretary to Dean Haug, for new duties. After having seen her smiling face behind the office desk for as long as we have been here, we will find it hard to acquaint ourselves to something different.

Girls of the basketball squad and physical education classes will indeed miss her, for she has worked hard and faithfully with these groups. We are happy, however, that Miss Jacobson has been given such an opportunity as is now open to her, and wish her the very best of luck in her new position.

A New Attempt

With this issue, the Mooring Mast opens another year of publication. Since its beginning, it has grown both in size and quality. Last year it received the highest rating of its existence—First Class Honor rating, as given by the National Scholastic Press Association officials. This year, the goal is set one step higher, at the top rung of the ladder—All American Rating.

Whether or not such an honor can be achieved depends upon the staff and the students. It is our policy to print open letters of school interest, which the students submit. We invite your patronage. Then, too, any and all suggestions as to improvements on the paper itself will be gratefully received. With this cooperation, and the help of a competent staff, the Mooring Mast is bound to reach lofty heights.

Football in All Its Glory

Boys brandishing battle-scarred faces and sore or injured legs remind us that once again football is here in all its glory. With as healthy looking and capable a group of grid aspirants as have shown themselves at P.L.C. this year, the Lutherans are bound to make a showing.

When they go out to bring home the bacon, let's all be out there to help them. With three home games scheduled, our men ought to have substantial backing in the rooters' section. Fling your banners, flaunt your colors, and let the world know whom you represent. Here's hoping there's such a crowd at every game that it will be impossible to see everyone, but anyway, we'll hear you at the game.

PROTECTING The Athletes

Football Players are young and sturdy, yet the coach's first thought is for their protection—including headguard, shoulder pads and padded togs.

Another protection that students should have is Lutheran Brotherhood life insurance. Being young and healthy entitles you to low rates—which never increase (fixed by contract). And you can make your parents beneficiaries.

Write now, giving your age, and learn from us the low cost of student protection.

Open Secrets

IT SO SEEMS.
Business has picked up at the Bugaboo;
Bud and Willie are still dueting;
Clarence Lemming is chauffeur of the secretary's car around;
Everyone has masterfully resolved to study;
Major is on the sick list again;
Big strong football heroes still rate first among the 1933 crop of co-eds;
The old apple orchard is proving a popular trysting place;
Anderson goes in for petite brunettes this semester;
The library is still nice and quiet, oh yeah!
The "far away" look in Byer's eyes reminds us that Martin is likewise;
Hazel sent Walt's picture to be auto-graphed;
Mesford is still open to bids from Freshmen co-eds;
Jack Hudson proved to be a good P. L. C. promoter in the land of the northern lights;
Milton Nesvig may be a freshe, but he already calls us all by our first names;
Owen Brownfield's sidekick, Marian Fennie, has gone over to the other camp;
Marg Wesson is the self appointed guardian angel of all Freshmen of the stronger sex.

Coach Olson: "You're great—the way you hammer the line, dodge, tackle your man and worm through your opponents is simply marvelous."
Tuffy Smith: "I guess it all comes from my early training. I used to go shopping with mother on bargain day."
—LA—
Virginia Boen (swimming at Florida beach): "Are you sure there are no alligators here?"
Guido: "No, mam. I'm very sure."
Virginia: "What makes you so sure?"
Guido: "They've got better sense. The sharks scared them all away."
—LA—
Mesford: "I heard you took a tramp through the woods on Saturday."
Mommosen: "That wasn't a tramp. That was Johnny."
—LA—
Len Wesson (to president of a large manufacturing company): "I am a brilliant senior in college and I am looking for an opening in this firm."
President: "There it is, don't slam it when you go out."

Miss Fowler: "Now, I am going to give you a test. Put your papers on the table before you pass out."

Chapel Gleanings

The only touchstone we have that can be proven is the word of God—Xavier.
People who follow the word of God and what it says for this life find enjoyment and peace in life—Ramstad.
Christ should be made the center of all our work and play life—Haavik.
God will not let us go; but it is we that let him go—Pflueger.
The prominent voice says that no un-Christ-like nation can flourish—Xavier.
We should be inspired to pattern our lives after that of the Apostle Paul, in order that we may not be entirely useless, but may leave a mark of good—Ramstad.
Christ taught that we can get away from our past—that he will forget and forgive—Haavik.
God warns us, not to alarm us, but so that we will flee to his everlasting arms, where we are assured of safety from falling from the high places—Pflueger.
We should strive to leave a mark of goodness when we leave this world. This can be accomplished only by living, according to the word of God—Ramstad.
Even the voice of the church cannot be trusted; we should put our faith in Christ Jesus alone—Xavier.
The worldly live in the valleys of spiritual darkness; but when we become Christians, God lifts us up to the grandeur of mountain heights—Pflueger.
The goal that God in Christ has set for us is eternal Salvation—Haavik.

PREXY'S CORNER

With the student body, the faculty and the many friends of Pacific Lutheran College cooperating, we hope that the year 1933-34 will be very successful. Working and planning together, we should be able to accomplish a great deal.
We hope our former students and friends will keep in touch with the activities of the college. As one means of keeping in contact with the college, we suggest that you all renew your subscriptions to the Mooring Mast.
To our present student readers: we wish to bring the message of Carl Sandburg when he said: "I love you for what you are, but I love you yet more for what you are going to be."
"I love you not so much for your realities as for your ideals. I pray for your desires that they may be great, rather than for your satisfaction, which may be so hazily little. You are going forward towards something great. I am on the way with you, and therefore I love you."
—Dean Phillip E. Haug.

HAVE YOU MET?

A certain young man, who wears a hat now, by the way? He has one of the heartiest chuckles in the school, and uses it freely, when he isn't chewing the ends of his fingers. He is enrolled in the Normal department, and has executive ability much above the average. This he uses to advantage in the school's largest organization, in which he holds a responsible position. Last year he headed the Drama-Ties, and later wielded the gavel at the meetings of the entire Drama Club. Now that we've told you all, have you met him?

The school's leading lady? Big brown eyes, lovely, long brown hair, and a very pleasing personality—there, that's a lot to say in one sentence, but it's all true. Besides all that, she is tall, studious, and shows excellent taste in the way she dresses. She is brainy and dependable, too, for she holds an office in P.L.C.'s largest organization. Aside from this, she sings in the college choir, and is actively associated with the Drama Club. Last spring she was president of the German Club. Despite all these activities, she finds much time to spend with her many friends here at school. Do you know her?

Board of Control Begins Activities

The first regular meeting of the student body of Pacific Lutheran College for the fall term was held Thursday, September 21. The student body president, Clarence Lemming introduced the other members of the Board of Control, who will work with him in managing school affairs. Members of the board beside Clarence are: Secretary, Kathryn Johnson; treasurer, Bev Shuster; commissioner of athletics, Paul Preus; advertising manager, Ray Hindler; graduating class representative, Jean-Marie Fowler; sophomore representative, Mary Nash; and high school representative, John Stuen. Harold Holmberg, vice-president, did not return to school this year; consequently it will be necessary to elect a new vice-president in the near future according to Clarence Lemming. A freshman class representative is also yet to be selected. The flower committee, whose duty it is to send flowers to members and friends of Pacific Lutheran College during illness, is composed of Jean Marie Fowler (chairman), Oetlin Ellan-georgiana McClure and Oscar Anderson.

The board this week confirmed the appointment of Marvin Hansen as business manager of the Mooring Mast, to take the place of Clarence Ophelm, who did not return to school.

Mrs. Kreidler Desires Even More Depressors

Dorm girls stood around in bathrobes, and what have you Monday morning. Dr. Johnson hemmed and hawed; Mrs. Kreidler frantically rushed around for some keys, while in the coach's cupboard lay the innocent and necessary articles—longer depressors.

Someone said that the keys to the cupboard were in possession of Paul Preus. Immediately a boy was sent to get them. Paul, who was still in bed, instructed the boy to get them out of his pockets. The keys obtained, the messenger hurried back to school to find he had brought the keys to Paul's automobile.

Meantime, Jesse Pfeiffer produced another set of keys, the cupboard was opened, the tongue depressors were taken upstairs, and the examinations went merrily on.

Dr. Johnson was at school three mornings this week to give all the girls physical examinations. Dr. Frank R. Baker was also here this week to examine the teeth of the students.

Clarence Lemming and Kathryn Johnson were described in this week's Have You Met.

AMONG ALUMNI

Among alumni registered at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, are Carroll Jacobson, Ray Lerback, Carl Martin, Stanley Score, and Walter Young, all from the class of '33.

Bill Whalen '33 and Bill Shore, who was a student here in 1931, are playing football under Coach Jimmy Phelan at the University of Washington.

Mary Louise Preus, editor of the Mooring Mast last year, has entered the Mayo Brothers Hospital in Rochester, Minn., to train as a nurse.

Nordis Arneson '33 is studying this year at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn.

Anna Mikkelsen, former soloist in the college choir, is attending Augustana College. Anna graduated last year from the three-year normal course.

Trygve Runsvold '33, treasurer of the Associated Students last year, is attending Concordia College at Moorhead, Minn.

Marion Pennie is studying this year at the College of Puget Sound. She was enrolled in the Normal Department at P. L. C. last year.

Rosa Dahl, who went to school here last year, is working for the Washington Cooperative Egg Association, Roso, who was on the girls' basketball team, expects to return to school here next year.

Harold Holmberg is working at the Tacoma Grocery Company. He was to have been vice president of the Associated Students had he returned.

L.D.R. Reception for New Girls Held Yesterday

In the form of a welcome party for the new girls, the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation held their initial meeting of this year in the college recreation room yesterday afternoon. Jane Williams, Virginia Byers, Jean-Marie Fowler, Evelyn Irwin, and Lila Rudd acted as hostesses, and Mrs. Ramstad poured.

Kathryn Johnson and Alice Peterson were in charge of the program. Mrs. Preus, who was elected advisor last spring, spoke on the history and object of L. D. R. work.

Hazel Monsen was chairman of a committee to collect dues. Assisting her were Alice Alvness and Georgiana McClure.

All girls of Pacific Lutheran College are eligible to membership of this organization, which makes a study of christian missions. Virginia Mahneke is president of L. D. R., having been elected last spring.

We must never be satisfied with what we have accomplished either in earthly life or spiritual life; but we must always be pressing forward—Havvik.

German Club Chooses Margaret Wesson for President During Fall

Because Freda Hendrickson, the president elected last spring, is not returning to school this year, it was necessary to have a reelection at a special meeting of Die Deutsche Verein last Monday. Margaret Wesson was chosen to preside over club activities during the coming semester. William Zier will hold the office of vice president.

By unanimous vote of the club, it was decided to combine the two offices of secretary and treasurer, which position will be held by Oscar Anderson, Ervin Dammel and William Rueger will serve on the program committee with the vice president acting as chairman. Tentative plans for illustrated lectures of Germany to be given for the students were discussed.

6 He-Men Brave Dangers Of Oven Cooking; Report Bachelorhood Pleasant

Ladies and gentlemen allow me to introduce to you six of the bravest men of Pacific Lutheran College. These celebrated six have strong constitutions and hearty nerves, or they could not endure what they do.

Now, then, you pretty young lady in the corner, step right up and pick yourself a husband from one of these handsome gentlemen, Clifford Mersford, William Zier, Alvness Schlerman, Ed Schlerman, Al Gurllit, and Irvin Dammel. It matters not how domestic you are, they will be perfectly satisfied, because they have proved that they can endure anything; for, believe it or not, my dears, they eat their own cooking, and what's more, like it.

Every member of this shack union which occupies a five-room apartment above Dahl's Grocery store, seems perfectly satisfied with the way things are running; but for safety's sake, lets wish them the best of luck for future health.

French Club to Devote Meetings to Travelogues; Mrs. Tingstad Adviser

Plans are being made by the French Club to devote the programs during the next year to a travelogue, imaginary visits being made to numerous cities and districts in France. Since Carrie Hvidding has left school to enter the Lutheran Deaconess Hospital in Chicago, Pearl Homme, the vice president elected last spring will head the group. In her place Jane Williams was elected Tuesday to be vice president.

Joanna Manousos and Edgar Larson are working on programs made in the form of railroad tickets, so that the entire year's program may be completely outlined by the first meeting. It is unofficially announced that Mrs. Richardson of Tacoma, who has lived and studied in France for many years, will speak about the country at the meeting.

Mrs. O. A. Tingstad, because of the interest she has shown in French and the work of the club, was chosen to be the adviser.

Xavier Announces List of Thirteen Library Assistants

Under the guidance of Prof. Xavier, thirteen students are receiving experience in library work this year. Besides the experience obtained, the students, by indulging in this extra work are helping to pay their tuition, according to Mr. Xariff.

The assistants are: Virginia Boen, Virginia Byers, Irvin Dammel, Leonard Wesson, Margaret Wesson, Ruth Carlson, Anna Engen, Mary Nash, Evelyn Eklund, Melba Ross, Kathryn Johnson, Jane Williams, and Gwendolyn Brownfield.

KAMPUS... KOMMENTS

Greetings to you all at the beginning of this school year, and a special welcome to the freshmen to whom this first column is respectfully though regretfully dedicated. Ye scribe is letting you in on the ground floor, so to speak. If you wish to be popular and have a successful college career, carefully observe the following traditions and act accordingly.

Always meet your friends in front of the library. The noise won't bother the students inside, they probably don't want to study anyway.

If the prof is a little late, walk out of class. He's just as bored with class as you are.

Take your books from the reference shelf for weeks at a time. It doesn't matter if anyone else ever has an opportunity to use them.

Call your profs by their first names. For example, "Hi, Al!" or "Howza a boy, aul?" It helps to uphold the dignity of the faculty.

Only borrow the exceptionally brilliant students' notes. He has taken them for your benefit.

Skip most, if not all, of your classes. The more you know, the more you know that you don't know; so why give yourself more worries?

Always be loud and boisterous in the library. The student in charge will even enter into the sateky by tapping her pencil loudly.

If you can do all these things, the results will surprise you. Even the Greeks had a "bird" for it.

Our heartiest congrats and best wishes to Mr. and the recently acquired Mrs. Levinson.

Have you noticed that as soon as Len Wesson hears an infectious laugh in the distance he always informs us, "Bet that's my sis."

Note: There has been a rumor circulating about that the current price for having a name printed in this column is a nickel. Such a practice is frowned upon. The staff members are not graters. Sorry, Oscar.

Choir Plans Uncertain Until Edwards' Return

Because Prof. J. O. Edwards, head of the music department of Pacific Lutheran College, has been in California since the opening of school, no definite plans for activity of the "Choir of the West" for this year have been made as yet.

With the large increase in enrollment of the college this year, prospects of a better choir than ever before are in evidence. Several students of outstanding musical ability have enrolled in the school, and a number more are expected to enter in the near future, according to reports.

Mrs. Taylor Granted Leave of Absence

Leave of absence from duties on the Pacific Lutheran College faculty for one year has been granted Mrs. Louise S. Taylor according to the announcement of Dean Phillip E. Hauge. At the opening of this school term, Mrs. Taylor registered with registration, but has not taken over any classroom work this year.

Aside from her duties as assistant to the registrar, Mrs. Taylor has been instructor in English and French classes in the high school department. She has also been active in dramatic work, being adviser of the Drama Club and coaching the college plays. Her classroom duties are being taken care of by this year by E. Tingstad, editor of the Pacific Lutheran Herald.

During her leave of absence, Mrs. Taylor intends to remain at her home in arkland, and will assist with registration work at school when she is needed, according to Dean Hauge.

Ambitious Frosh Brings Candy to Prof. Ramstad

From all appearances Mr. Ramstad is going to be the most popular member of the faculty. Already he has received a box of divinity candy from Eunice Arneson, a frosh.

According to Ann Engen, another freshman girl, who was present at the opening of the box, the candy was made by an expert. It seems that Evelyn Arneson, a sister of Eunice, promised it to Mr. Ramstad more than a year ago when he accompanied her to apply for a teaching position. The bargain was that if she received the position, "Rammy" was to get a box of candy made especially for him by Evelyn herself.

40 Gridmen Answer Olson's Call for Men For Gladiator Team

Excellent Material Seen in Squad of 9 Lettermen and 31 Others Who Desire Places on Lutheran Eleven

The football season of 1953 got off to an auspicious start on Monday, September 18, when an eager group of aspirants trotted out on the gridiron. With material including nine lettermen and several experienced prep stars turning out, the chances of a winning team this year look very good, according to Coach Clifford Olson. He also states that Pacific Lutheran College has one of the best groups of backs that ever darkened the field and a powerful, rangy line. Coach Olson is well pleased with his material and is optimistic.

The backfield contains many good players. In Bev Shuster we have a sweet back, who is fast, heavy, and hard-hitting. We'll hear plenty from him this year, as he's the new signal barker. Then there's little Dutch Moe, tricky ball-carrier and two-year letterman. Tuffy Smith, star fullback at Stadium last year, is superb at passing. Another letterman, Hal Votak, will furnish many a thrill with his speed and shiftness. From Endroit High signed a three-year letterman, Elmer Gerlitz, who knows and plays real football. Other promising backs are Reems, Erickson, Colburn, and Sanderson.

Captain Swede Willard makes the line very gratifying. Swede is the best wingman on the squad and ranks as one of the best in this section, according to reports. The other end is in doubt; but Gene Jack, switched from the backfield, handles the position competently. Bill Mackie, ex-Bellevue star, and Clarence Monson look good. At tackle there is a veritable giant, Ted Cronquist, who captained the Gladiators last year. Very little ground will be made through him this year. The other tackle position is open as yet; but Smith and Gunderson look pretty good. At Guard, another mainstay, John Schierman, has returned filling quite a gap in the center of the line. Marv Hansen, a half last year, Dammel, and Logan are leading the pack for the other guard post. The center position has several aspirants, namely: Bob Levinson, converted wingman; Johnson, two-year letterman from Lincoln in Tacoma; Martin, and Piper.

These players mentioned are not all those turning out so don't be surprised if someone unmentioned makes a name for himself. They're all out there to make the team and the best man wins. Following is a list of all those who have been issued uniforms to date: Gene Jack, Haugan, Ostin Ellason, Hal Votak, Erickson, Tuffy Smith, Drebelbis, Marv Hansen, Loyal Sanderson, Ervin Dammell, Huddling, Bev Shuster, Bill Mackie, Clarence Monson, Bob Leylson, Archbold Brandt, O'Connor, Gunderson, Potter, Logan, Munch, Svint, Jesse Pflueger, Jim Reema, Milton Nesvig, Martin, Swede Willard, Colburn, Dutch Moe, Frank Elliot, Names, John Stuen, Ted Cronquist, Piper, John Schierman, Enoch, Elmer Gerlitz, and Johnson.

Sport Slants

By Milton Nesvig

This column needs no introduction but I would like to explain its purpose to the new students. This column will present briefly interesting items of sports which can not be advantageously printed in our regular sport news. We plan to make Sport Slants just as interesting as ever and earnestly hope that you will read and enjoy it.

S. S.

The inauguration of the 1933 football season will take place Saturday, Oct. 7, when we play Linfield College at the Lincoln Bowl in Tacoma. Our opponents will present some stiff competition and the outcome of this battle will give us a good idea of the strength of the Gladiator machine.

S. S.

At this time we want to extend our heartiest congratulations to Bob Levinson and guess who? his bride, Mrs. Levinson, formerly Miss Ann Pentecost. Yes, he took the fatal step last week with Swede Willard as best man. To the newlyweds we extend our best wishes for lots of success and happiness in the future.

S. S.

This fall we find several of our graduated lettermen turning out at other schools: John Fadness at Washington State, Bill Whalen at U. of W., Chuck McMillan at St. Martins, and Carol Jacobson, Stan Score, Walt Young, and Carl Martin at Luther.

S. S.

The scrubs who take all the dirt and get little or no glory will finally come into their own this year. Coach Olson has obtained a few games for them so they will get a chance at some interschool competition. We might add that the reserves this year are unusually strong.

S. S.

The past summer has found some of our golfers very busy. Ray Hinderlie won the cup for the Parkland Course Championship and some of the boys won Sunday Tournaments. A school tournament will soon be under way and all club swingers are urged to enter.

S. S.

Coach Olson spent part of last summer aiding Bernie Bierman, coach at the University of Minnesota, at the Luther College coaching school. The school was attended by many coaches from the Middle West schools. Mr. Olson assisted Mr. Bierman in class work and instruction.

S. S.

The Minnesota system and shift, which Coach Olson taught this season, will be used by the Gladiators this year. The shift is snappy, eliminating the slow huddle system, and adds more class and style to the game.

S. S.

In conclusion, a word about school spirit. We're going to have a good football team this year, but no team ever gets any place without support. Let's attend all the games and let them know that we're behind them, win or lose. If they have that assurance, nothing but a superior team will stop them.

Faculty Members Report Enjoyable Summer Vacations (Continued From Page One)

Prof. Ramstad's wife did the traveling for her family. While her husband kept house and farmed, she went to the middle west to do field work for the college.

After having taught summer school for two weeks, Mr. Bardon quit in time to go to the hospital in Seattle where he spent three weeks. He finished his vacation studying the development of capital at the University of Washington.

Mrs. Bondy and Mrs. Kreidler both stayed in the northwest; Mrs. Bondy at her home in Seattle while Mrs. Kreidler visited in Seattle with Miss Strud, a former P.L.C. teacher. She also visited with her sister in Tacoma and in Olympia.

Miss Fowler was a volunteer worker with the Family Welfare Association. For her pleasure trip she went to Hood Canal.

Mr. Xavier and Mr. Stuen both joined the loggers ranks. They sawed wood for this winter.

Mr. Beck had a thoroughly lazy time at American Lake. It's the first time in seven years he hasn't gone to summer school.

Mr. Reid, accompanied by his brother Donald, visited with his sister in Los Angeles.

Mr. Pflueger and Mr. Hunter, spent quiet summers at home. Mr. Pflueger did some field work and gardening while Mr. Hunter did a little private teaching.

Coach Olson assisted in a coaching class at Luther College the last two weeks of July, after he had done field work for the school in the middle west. Of the business staff, Mr. Larson worked as usual, and played golf. Miss Jacobson spent her month's vacation in Seattle and at Seaside. Mrs. Davis camped all summer at Spanaway, and Miss Knutsen went to California and Mexico. Mr. Hinderlie the janitor spent his summer working as usual except for one week.

One thing more, almost all the faculty taught here at P.L.C. either the first six weeks or the second.

3 Home Games, 3 Trips On Gridders' Schedule

Due to conflicting dates, Coach Olson has been unable to secure a game for September 30 which was to have been the opening date of the season. However, there may be a game; but no definite word had been received when this issue went to press.

This year the schedule affords a chance to see the Pacific Lutheran College team in some of its biggest games. Three of the games will be in Tacoma and three away from home.

The incomplete schedule is as follows:

- September 30—Undecided
- Oct. 7—Linfield at Tacoma
- Oct. 14—St. Martins at Olympia
- Oct. 21—Albany at Tacoma
- Oct. 27—Ellensburg at Tacoma
- Nov. 4—Columbia at Portland
- Nov. 10—Bellingham at Bellingham

Seven Preachers' Sons Reside in Boys' Gym

Have you heard of all our P. K.'s? Now don't be misled—we don't mean Wm. Wrigley's chewing gum confection which seems so popular among coeds and collegiates. If you don't know, its high time you're learning, because these letters promise to play a great part in the future of P. L. C. There are just exactly seven P. K.'s (Preachers' Kids) now residing in the boys' dorm, to say nothing of the day students and those of the fairer sex who claim a similar title.

Well, these boys who are expected to live up to that ought-to-be-President-some-day reputation, are truly a class of super-men in themselves. It's easy to pick them out from the rest of us. That look-deep thought on the visages of such lads marks them as P. K.'s, immediately. I'm sure you'll all want to meet these curious but they're sort of a bashful lot and so we'll have to introduce you.

First comes Milton Nesvig, the spokesman of the group. Maybe he's not as bashful as reputed but he's going to make a name for himself. He's one of those guys that go skating up and down the hall in football togs. Rolf Preus and Mr. Nesvig are the only living members of the P. K. S. W. S. (The last three letters standing for Sp't. Wad Society), which most august body has daily target practice in chemistry class. It may be added that though Nesvig lacks Raj's technique, Preus had the worst of it during the last two rounds. (Nesvig was in the back seat.)

Ronald Martin is the big fellow with the blond curly hair who draws the co-eds to the football field to watch practice. Just call him Ronny. He's from Astoria, Ore., where the choir had such a good time on its tour.

Then comes another young man who hails from Seattle. He's Roland Swanson, the blond who's so very particular about how you say his first name. We sort of feel like he's a friend of ours, too, since he was joint host with his father to the choir at Getsemane last spring.

First Swim October 7

Cards, Signed by Physician, Necessary to Enter Pool

The first splash party of the year to be sponsored by the Swimming Club of Pacific Lutheran College will be in the Y.W.C.A. pool next Saturday evening, October 7. Hours will be from 7:30 to 9:30. Tickets, which may be purchased from any of the club officers, are 15 cents each.

In accordance with a new rule adopted by Y.W.C.A. officials, no person will be allowed in the tank who has not a card signed by a doctor stating that the person is physically fit to enter the pool. These are good for a year, and may be secured from Willie Pflueger, who last year was elected to the presidency of the club.

At Monday's meeting, those elected to serve as officers with Willie during the fall semester were: Oscar Anderson, vice president; Norman Jensen, secretary; and Havel Monsen, treasurer.

CHEER LEADERS CHOSEN

That John Van Leuven will be yell king, and Jean-Marie Fowler and Mary Nash will be yell dukes, was decided at a ballot election of the student body yesterday noon. Other contestants for the positions were Clifford Westford, Shirley Savage, and Sigrid Holmgren. Clarence Lemming, president of the Associated Students, urges full cooperation with the new leaders at all games.

To Give Tea

That the new day girls will be invited to a tea sponsored by old members of Delta Rho Gamma next Friday afternoon was decided at a meeting of the group yesterday. Plans of the initiation for the following week were discussed.

Name Mascot Committee

At the regular student body meeting yesterday, motion was carried that a committee be appointed to look into caring for Major, the college mascot, who has the mange. On the committee appointed for this are Jean-Marie Fowler (chairman), Oscar Anderson, Virginia Mahneke and Clarence Lemming.
